

Am I A God 751

Chapter 751: Machines

The fleeing refugees were all commoners so they would not have the mentality of Chinese apostles to choose to return and save their companions.

Both parties were locked in an endless heated argument. The Chinese apostles, who were without their superpowers, were a minority as compared to the natives. They were about to be outvoiced.

A blinding light shone over them and caught everyone by surprise. Facing the light source, they closed their eyes as the light was too bright.

They had not seen light for a long time and they were overjoyed to experience brightness again.

“Is that light?”

“Someone brought along a torchlight.”

“Yay! We can see again.”

Zhao Yao scanned the refugees with his torchlight to look for traces of the Chinese apostles as they were worth 200 experience points each. Though Zhao Yao had many experience points, his philosophy was to take care of the pences and the pounds would take care of themselves.

A group of refugees, led by their leaders, gathered around Zhao Yao.

Zhao Yao turned his head, illuminated them, and asked curiously, “Is there anything wrong?” Zhao Yao swept his blinding torchlight over them and they covered their eyes, turning their heads away.

The young girl, Blue Butterfly, who brought along Zhao Yao, covered her eyes shyly and said, “Brother, will you lend us your torchlight? We are going to break out of here. If the leader has the torchlight, we will have a higher chance of success.”

Blue Butterfly's face blushed from embarrassment.

Underground, a normal torchlight had become the most critical and yet rare item for lighting and leading the way. It was also the source of hope for the refugees who had not seen light for a few days.

Blue Butterfly was embarrassed because they were forcing Zhao Yao to give up his torchlight.

Zhao Yao was not bothered with their concerns. He shone the torchlight on a few Chinese men, who were beside the natives and activated his superpower to question them, "Are you apostles from China? Uncle Ho asked me to rescue you."

They looked at Zhao Yao, pleasantly surprised, and said, "How many of you came? Do you still have superpowers? Do you have supercats?"

"I am the only one and I still have my superpowers." At the mention of supercats, Zhao Yao replied warily, "My supercats are privately owned and I do not lend their abilities."

The Chinese apostles were disappointed but they were thankful that Zhao Yao still had his superpowers.

They said anxiously, "Our companions were captured by those strange ghosts. We have to rescue them."

Zhao Yao asked, "Do you know the way?"

The natives were puzzled to see the Chinese apostles speaking Mandarin. As Zhao Yao was activating his superpower to communicate, they only heard the the voices of the Chinese apostles and not Zhao Yao's voice.

A middle-aged native came forward and said, "Enough idle chat." He spoke to Zhao Yao in English, "Hand your torchlight over to us, we need it to break out of here."

At this moment, the ground started quaking. With numerous roars, countless strange figures emerged from the darkness.

“The ghosts are here.”

“Run! They are coming for us!”

With the appearance of the ghosts, the natives panicked and fled in all directions. Their formation collapsed without any attacks by the ghosts. They were most likely to suffer casualties from their stampede.

“Keep quiet.” Zhao Yao scorned at the natives and activated his power of illusion. Energy waves radiated from his location.

All the refugees collapsed to the ground, their faces completely blank.

“The ghosts are scary! Fleeing is even more terrifying. I shall lay down instead.”

“Humph, let me rest here. If I move, I lose.”

“Well, if I had a can of coke, I would be the happiest person in the world.”

The effect of Zhao Yao’s Great Flow of Idleness was too strong so he only activated it for a short while. He stopped the superpower once everyone laid down quietly on the ground. Everyone gazed at him in astonishment as he confronted the ghosts.

As Zhao Yao stepped towards the ghosts, Roly Poly made his head invisible.

Looking at the familiar silhouette of the Headless Horseman, the ghost army trembled in fear and backed up a few steps.

Blue Butterfly looked surprise as she uttered, “The ghost army... retreats?”

The middle-aged native was bewildered and said, “Why do I feel like... the ghosts are afraid of him?”

They were all wondering about the actual identity of Zhao Yao.

Kun Wu’s voice was heard coming from the rear of the ghosts, “Brainless, why are you always against us?”

“Brainless?” Zhao Yao’s gaze froze as he glared at the ghost army and said, “I hate it when people call me brainless.” He grabbed Mango from the Dimension Portal and tossed him to the ghost army.

Roly Poly activated his superpower and made Mango invisible as well.

Kun Wu was not aware of the invisible Mango and said, “We didn’t harm the people of this city. Instead, we protected them. We did so many things to save the Earth. A shocking evil has awakened. With your current power, you are unable to defeat them...”

“I am not listening to your b*llshit.” Zhao Yao glared furiously at the millions of ghosts and said, “I am giving you diarrhea!” A strong feeling of constipation was sent to Mango.

Mango frowned, his mouth puffy with anger as his whiskers curled up with agitation.

Kun Wu was shocked to see all the monsters collapsing to the ground and having diarrhea of metals, batteries, and engine oil.

“What... what is happening?” Kun Wu did not believe her own eyes as it was illogical.

Kun Wu found it hard to accept that the nano robots were having diarrhea of metals and microchips. She felt it was too incredible to see them having diarrhea of AA batteries.

“Humph, my previous experiments were not in vain.” Zhao Yao was very pleased that he had tested various superpowers on the female ghost. Besides electrical attacks, Mango had the greatest effect on her.

Zhao Yao realized from his experiments that the ghosts were not evil spirits. Rather, they were robots constructed out of some dark technology. Hence, Elizabeth's power of illusion was ineffective against them. Even Zhao Yao's Paralysis Ring and Roly Poly's Titanium Dog Eye were ineffective as well.

Zhao Yao was amazed by the fact that Mango's superpower was extremely effective against robots and the precedence level of the superpower was very high.

Looking at the ghosts having diarrhea of AA batteries, Zhao Yao thought, "I wonder if I can cause gold bars to have diarrhea. What is the weight of a gold bar after that? It is worth a try."

Chapter 752: Kun Wu and Doll

While Zhao Yao was making plans to become rich, Kun Wu was shocked and ordered the withdrawal of her ghost army.

The ghosts were actually nano robots made by the supercat, Doll.

Everything had started with Kun Wu's dream.

Originally Kun Wu was a normal cat.

Two years ago, with the appearance of a comet in the night sky, she suddenly became knowledgeable and gained both intelligence and superpowers.

He became stronger everyday and his body changed from a normal cat to a horned, azure-furred, fire-stepping creature.

At midnight, in her dreams, a pair of cat's pupils would stare at him.

He was powerless against the pupils in the dream. He ignored the pupils and stopped his thoughts like a frozen mouse.

The contents of the dreams became clearer and detailed.

The evil in the pupils became a substance. Kun Wu was able to see the reflection of numerous disasters in the pupils.

Countless supercats were killed, cities after cities were destroyed, human armies were annihilated, the Earth trembled in her gaze.

He could feel the other's contempt and malevolence towards all life.

Eventually, she was able to see what the other party was looking at in the dreams.

A pure white room, a powerful apostle, various kinds of comics... the master of the pupils had awoken.

At this instance, she understood that the nightmares were not illusions but reality.

An evil that had never been seen before had awakened and would lead the Earth to its downfall.

Kun Wu had been trying hard to create a force to fight against this evil. He met several potential supercats and helped Professor Xu in the feline girl experiment, however, they were not satisfactory.

Until he met the supercat, Doll, a subordinate of the King of Death.

Modifications, robots, and evolution... Doll's superpower was unique and full of possibilities. She was not a warrior but a representation of the fighting robots. Kun Wu saw the chance of salvation in Doll so she helped her upgrade her superpower in order to save the world.

Kun Wu rescued Doll and left a clone of Doll in the factory while they fled to OX city.

OX city did not have the strict control of the government. With assistance from Kun Wu, Doll developed rapidly by buying or stealing resources from the human city and assimilated vast information from the internet.

With time, the robots under Doll multiplied and evolved such that their abilities became stronger.

However, the appearance of a Meteorite Fragment wrecked their plan.

Kun Wu and Doll sent out a robot unit in order to obtain the Meteorite Fragment. To hide the presence of the robots, they disguised the nanorobots as ghosts so that people would believe it was a supernatural occurrence.

In the process of obtaining the fragment, the robots and the Chinese apostles got into a conflict. After a series of incidents and news leak, the city went into a curfew and was surrounded by the army. Many apostles and countries were embroiled in the bid to obtain the fragment.

After the appearance of the Headless Horseman, Doll was forced to put all her energy to deal with him.

They were puzzled what superpower the Headless Horseman had activated to cause the nano robots to have diarrhea.

“This superpower is... too disgusting.” Kun Wu could not stop thinking about the diarrhea.

Zhao Yao yelled at him, “Hey Kun Wu, are you around? Let me touch you for a while and I will stop the diarrhea.”

Kun Wu retorted with a mixture of shame and anger, “You are dreaming!”

“Hahahaha, you are very disobedient.” The Headless Horseman shouted, “Don’t blame me.”

More and more ghosts collapsed to the ground when an invisible force swept over them. The ground was filled with incapacitated ghosts.

The ray of the torchlight searched frantically as Zhao Yao’s voice was heard saying, “Where are you, my little kitten?”

“Despicable. His superpower is very unorthodox.” Kun Wu shouted, “What is happening to the robots? Why are they falling?”

"I don't know." The Doll analyzed calmly and said, "The robots are in a normal condition. I don't know why they are having diarrhea."

"Little kitten? Where are you?" A light ray swept over and Kun Wu said anxiously, "What shall I do? What shall I do? He is coming for me."

Doll comforted him and said, "Do not panic, I have deployed the latest half-mechanized warriors to support you."

"Half-mechanized warriors?" Kun Wu asked curiously, "You used humans to develop the robots? Didn't I prohibit you from using the humans?"

Doll replied calmly, "They are villains and I showed them 52 pages of the risks and side effects to which they agreed and willingly underwent the modification. You can't blame me for it. The Headless Horseman is indeed very powerful. I am unable to defeat him now."

Kun Wu encouraged her and said, "No problem, I did not expect to see such a superpower. Diarrhea superpower is just diarrhea. It cannot be compared to your potential which is the most powerful that I have seen. I think your ability has even breached the limit of superpowers. You are not adept in face-to-face combat so you are only required to stay behind and develop the robots.

With enough time, you will be the most powerful supercat. I am sure you will be able to defeat both the Headless Horseman and the great evil. We can always flee OX city when the situation turns bad."

Doll said, "Hmm, that's what I thought so I fled."

"What!!" Kun Wu was so infuriated that her head burst into flames. She shouted angrily, "Are you fleeing without me?!"

The clone of Doll said, "Don't worry, if the half-mechanized apostles are unable to defeat him, I would be useless even if I stayed."

Kun Wu was even more enraged as she said, "Is there any comfort in your words?"

Doll thought for a while and replied, "You are unable to die."

Kun Wu began hollering with a great temper, “I am about to lose it!”

Doll pondered carefully and said, “I will exact revenge for you.”

Kun Wu was thinking of what to say when she felt her body flash and she appeared in mid air.

Chapter 753: Bad Influence

“What’s going on? What happened? I did not teleport.”

She felt a large hand pinching her throat and a trained hand supporting his buttocks while she was being carried. It showed a highly skilled way of carrying cats.

Kun Wu felt a strong desire to rest in the other’s arms.

She was given a hard knock by her pride of being the Goddess of Cats. She turned her head and saw the Headless Horseman carrying her. Kun Wu shouted, “What are you doing? Release me immediately!”

Zhao Yao happily carried Kun Wu in his arms and said, “You won’t get pregnant in my arms.” He peeked at Kun Wu’s buttocks and said, “So… you are female.”

Kun Wu did not like being carried and pressed her paws on Zhao Yao’s chest. She replied angrily, “I hate being carried! Do not treat me as a normal cat!”

Zhao Yao lifted a bag of Dust Ball catmint and tossed it over Kun Wu, who sniffed and shivered. Her eyes showed whites and she drooled incessantly. She allowed Zhao Yao to cuddle her.

Doll, who was at the side, asked out of surprise, “What have you done?”

Zhao Yao looked over and noticed a shiny metal cat talking to him. It was a robot clone of Doll.

Zhao Yao laughed sinisterly and said, “Something to make her high. Who are you? Are these robots created by you?”

Zhao Yao knew that the ghosts were all robots in disguise. However, it was his first time seeing robots transform, go through walls, reassemble and possess other strange superpowers. He suspected they were created by some superpowers.

Doll was Zhao Yao's prime suspect but she was already captured by Uncle Ho.

Doll was unwilling to tell the truth so she ran up to him and yelled, "I will not allow you to take advantage of Kun Wu!" The surrounding nano robots were incited by Doll's shouting to attack. Once they neared Zhao Yao, they froze and fell to the ground. A layer of frost formed on their surfaces.

Zhao Yao extended his Deflective Field and sealed the surrounding space to prevent the ghost army from bothering him.

Kun Wu had totally relaxed her body in Zhao Yao's arms. Even her horn flexed down and covered her face.

Zhao Yao put Kun Wu on the ground, smiled at her indulgence and said, "You are the kind of cat that likes catmint." He caressed her head.

Doll rushed in front of Kun Wu to protect her and said indignantly, "Away with your dirty hands! Do not touch her!"

"Get lost." Zhao Yao sent Doll flying with a slap and scattered a packet of catmint on Kun Wu's body. She arched her body and licked the catmint with her tongue.

Zhao Yao gave an evil laugh and said, "She likes catmint. Why don't I give her more?"

Kun Wu turned and tossed her body in the pile of catmint and curled her tail with pleasure. She was dazed. Doll was very upset and screamed, "Headless Horseman! You will suffer a terrible death!"

"Hahahaha, many cats and humans who wished that I was dead have passed. You are next on the list." Zhao Yao cuddled Kun Wu's stomach and she tossed and turned in sync with the cuddling, occasionally purring with pleasure.

“No!” Doll raged and charged forward but she was slapped down to the ground by the Deflective Field. She looked on helplessly as Zhao Yao continued playing with Kun Wu. She turned her head in anger but was forced to face them by the Deflective Field. Zhao Yao pried her eyes open as he wanted her to watch them.

“You are a scumbag! This is infuriating!” Doll exclaimed.

Zhao Yao cuddled Kun Wu with satisfaction and said, “Think of a proper explanation for your actions. I am dealing with you next.” Zhao Yao was not aware that the Doll in front of him was a robot clone.

Roly Poly who was on Zhao Yao’s shoulder thought to himself, “Beast.” He took out his cell phone to take photographs as evidence.

Behind the Dimension Portal, Elizabeth, Diana, Matcha, Lightning were cursing at Zhao Yao, “Beast.”

Kun Wu recovered from the stimulation of the Dust Ball catmint. She raised her paws and emitted white incandescent flames to block Zhao Yao.

“Don’t... Stop immediately... I will shout for help...”

“Hahahaha.” Zhao Yao pinched Kun Wu’s two paws and laughed. “Shout for help. Even if you scream until you are voiceless, no one will rescue you.”

“Let her go!”

A grim voice was heard and three figures waded through the Deflection Field towards Zhao Yao.

The eyes of Doll lit up as her reinforcement unit had arrived.

The three figures were Edward, Bason, and Philip. After being captured by Doll, they volunteered to be modified as half-robot warriors.

They had changed in appearance. Their skin was covered with a layer of silver and their eyes lit up with two crimson rays. The ground shook with their every step.

To resist the low temperature of the Deflective Field, Doll gave them heaters that continuously emitted white mist. The heaters were like huge stoves that provided extremely high temperature so they were able to move freely in the sub-zero temperature.

Zhao Yao lifted his head to glance at them. "Oh? It's the three of you?"

Roly Poly had made Zhao Yao's head invisible so Edward and his companions recognized the headless silhouette immediately.

The three of them did not have the fear that they had had when they first met the Headless Horseman and faces exuded confidence.

After modification, their bodies were fully equipped with a plethora of nano devices. They looked overloaded with equipment.

Bason blocked his companions and said, "My companions, let me deal with him. Is that alright with both of you?"

"No, no." Edward smiled merrily and said, "A mouth of kimchi, a mouthful of feces. I have to feed him personally."

Philip blocked his companions and said, "Both of you stop right there. I will give you 1 million euros each for the chance to deal with him."

Bason sneered and said, "Who wants your filthy money? Let's decide with rock, paper, scissors."

"Rock, paper, scissors, rock, paper, scissors." Edward said, "Whoever wins gets the chance to deal with him."

"Rock, paper, scissors, shoot..."

Seeing their insolent behavior, Zhao Yao was astonished and infuriated. The three insignificant losers treated him with contempt and he had to teach them a good lesson.

Chapter 754: Beating

Zhao Yao narrowed his eyes as he gazed grimly at the three men.

Edward, Bason, and Philip were either not aware of or indifferent to Zhao Yao.

Under the orders of Doll, the ghost army retreated to prevent casualties. Their withdrawal carved out a large empty space.

The refugees at the rear were unaware of what was happening. With the ghost army's withdrawal, they witnessed Zhao Yao restrain two cats and confront three men and were confused.

After their game of rock, paper, scissors, Edward laughed heartily as he came forward looking as though he had struck the lottery.

In Edward's eyes, the Headless Horseman whom he feared previously was merely a small fry. After Doll's modification, he was completely changed from head to toe.

His internal propulsion system, superalloy bone structure, and impact joints gave him the power to kick a trailer truck with ease.

The propulsion accelerator, titanium outer skin, nano-transformable weapons expanded his fighting capabilities and boosted his confidence.

The important point was that the modifications were not superpowers, which would expire and become obsolete. The modifications allowed him to have superman's fighting capability all the time.

If he was complemented by superpowers, his fighting capability would increase by leaps and bounds.

"Heh heh, as compared to my modification, the Meteorite Fragment is not a big deal." Edward saw himself killing all his former enemies, becoming a cat king, owning more than 3000 supercats and attaining the pinnacle of his life.

He leaped gently. Exhaust pipes protruded from his back and emitted turbulent flames and hot air currents, propelling him into the air with high speed.

Edward tore through the sky, leaving a trail of blurred images as he circled around Zhao Yao like a fly with supersonic speed.

Edward laughed heartily as he flew in the sky, “Well? Are you able to catch up to me? My highest speed is more than 500 meters per second, fully automated by AI. The ballistic supercomputer will assist in flying and help me dodge all attacks. Are you able to hit me?”

Edward laughed wildly as he accelerated in the sky, causing strong winds from his location.

“Did you see that? My capabilities are more powerful than you can imagine!”

Edwards activated his Psychokinesis to grab Zhao Yao.

“I got you!” Edward’s eyes lit up and as he tightened his grip around Zhao Yao and placed Kun Wu behind his back.

“Done!”

In the next moment, cannons protruded from his chest, stomach and shoulders and fired plasma flames at Zhao Yao. Bright light and immense heat engulfed Zhao Yao and the entire underground space quaked violently, as though it would collapse any time.

The refugees exclaimed at the sudden explosion and looked fearfully at Edward, who was hovering in mid air.

Bason frowned and said, “Is Edward mad? He used such a powerful plasma cannon in such a tight underground space! Is he burying us alive?”

Philip swept away the dust that flew towards him and coughed as he said, “Edward, do not be rash. Finish him quickly.”

Edward laughed sinisterly and said, "He may already be finished. The plasma cannon is powerful enough to sink a battleship."

A gust of strong wind blew across the battlefield. After the dust settled, Zhao Yao appeared intact in front of everyone.

"What?" Edward was shocked as he looked at the pristine Zhao Yao.

Zhao Yao asked grimly, "Are you done?"

"Humph?" Edward accelerated in the sky and shouted, "You managed to survive my plasma cannon, I shall let you have a taste of my..."

Zhao Yao said, "You are irritating me."

Zhao Yao stepped out as Edward spoke halfway in his sentence.

Time stopped. When time resumed, a loud explosion was heard and Zhao Yao was stepping on Edward's head.

Edward was frozen in mid-air during his acceleration and viciously thrown by Zhao Yao onto the ground, forming a depression where he landed.

Zhao Yao looked at the foaming and unconscious Edward and thought, "Did I step too many times? Forget it. He should be alright."

After trampling Edward like he was stepping on a cockroach, Zhao Yao gazed at Bason and Philip and said, "What were both of you saying just now?"

Bason and Philip were terrified when they witnessed their companion being trampled. When Zhao Yao's grim gaze swept upon them, cold sweat formed on their heads. They felt like they were being set upon by a ferocious beast.

They looked at each other. Their backs emitted plasma flames as they flew in a pincer formation towards Zhao Yao.

Bason's body emitted large quantity of liquid metal and transformed into a three-meter tall giant. Armed with his metallic superpower, he charged wildly toward Zhao Yao like a juggernaut.

Philip's back emitted large volume of crystals and his body was illuminated with a white brilliance. The crystals transformed into beams of golden light that slashed down on Zhao Yao.

Whether it was Bason's ramming or Philip's beams, they passed through Zhao Yao as though he was just an illusion.

Zhao Yao, who was standing behind the Dimension Portal, said calmly, "It seems like all of you are very unhappy with me. I didn't take care of you properly the last time."

The two of them attacked Zhao Yao viciously. Bason's liquid metal transformed into various weapons like swords, guns and maces, making him look like a porcupine. He swung his weapons at Zhao Yao like a runaway tornado.

Philip's body emitted more and more prismatic crystals. Complemented by his body's white light, beams of dense light extended towards Zhao Yao.

Their attacks were unable to penetrate the Dimension Portal or hit Zhao Yao.

As Bason fought harder, he became more anxious, "What is happening? Why am I not able to hit him?"

"What superpower is that? Philip inhaled a gust of cool air and said, "Sonar is unable to detect his presence yet the infrared imaging is able to see him. Why? What state is he in?"

Chapter 755: Complete

Zhao Yao informed Sphinx cat telepathically, "Sphinx cat, restrain the two of them."

Sphinx cat ran out from the Dimension Portal, slapped Bason and Philip to the ground and held down their heads.

Bason and Philip were more powerful than before. They struggled violently to free themselves even after being held down by Sphinx cat.

Their propulsion systems kicked into full gear as plasma flame jet powered up on their backs like two fighter planes taking off. The ground underneath them cracked open and the layers of cement ruptured from their violent struggle.

They felt as though a mountain was weighing down on their heads. Regardless of how they struggled and broke the cement ground underneath, their heads were pinned down and they were unable to get up.

Zhao Yao walked to them and activated his power of illusion.

“Seems like you weren’t satisfied with a mouthful of kimchi and a mouthful of feces.” Zhao Yao said, “This time I will serve a tough dish guaranteed to satisfy you.”

The illusion engulfed both of them and the devilish voice of Zhao Yao reverberated in their minds.

“A mouthful of urine, a mouthful of feces, are you satisfied now?”

Bason screamed, “No!”

Philip wailed, “Argh!”

Everyone saw Edward and his companions being slapped onto the ground and screaming out in agony. They were not aware of what happened but their screams were pitiful. Zhao Yao was more terrifying than the ghosts.

“How did he torture them?”

Blue Butterfly and a few refugees looked at each other and felt it was a close shave. They were trying to force him to give up his torchlight just now. They should be thankful that he didn’t rob them then. They were just inches from death and the feeling was nerve-racking.

Kun Wu recovered from the addiction to the catmint. Hearing the faraway screams, she instinctively wanted to climb up and flee.

“This is too terrifying, he is merciless against his own kind. I have to escape quickly.” She limped and struggled to stand up. A passageway flanked by flames appeared before her.

As Kun Wu was about to enter the passageway, a red dot floated above the ground, accompanied by a buzzing sound.

Kun Wu turned her head and pounced on the red dot in a flash. She chased after the shifting red dot in a circle.

Doll asked impatiently, “Kun Wu! What are you doing?”

“I... I don’t know!” Kun Wu was almost moved to tears as she replied, “I can’t control myself.”

“Heh heh heh heh.” Zhao Yao smiled merrily as he walked over, twisting his Paralysis Ring and said happily, “Kun Wu, you are able to play like a normal cat, isn’t that enjoyable?”

“Meow...” Kun Wu was exasperated and said angrily, “What are you trying to do? We can give you the Meteorite Fragment, will you let us go?”

“No, no, no.” Zhao Yao shook his head and said, “Only kids make choices. As an adult, I take all options.”

Zhao Yao knelt down and aimed the Paralysis Ring at his own chest. He opened his arms to Kun Wu and said, “Come over here Kun Wu, Uncle loves you.”

Kun Wu looked in fear at his open arms while her body moved on her own towards Zhao Yao.

As her body was about to leap into Zhao Yao’s arms, she yelled furiously, “I will never yield even if I die!”

Kun Wu burst into flames, burnt fiercely and smoldered into numerous sparks that scattered in the thin air.

Zhao Yao extended his hand to grab her but in vain. The sparks gradually extinguished in his hands.

Zhao Yao was dumbfounded and said, “You rather die than to let me hug you? Forget it, I am looking for the Meteorite Fragment.”

Kun Wu’s voice was heard from the remaining sparks, “I don’t want to die!!” All the sparks vanished.

Zhao Yao turned his head and gazed at Doll’s robot clone. He focused his attention and activated the Deflective Field to pull her towards him.

“Is Kun Wu really dead?” Zhao Yao asked, “Answer me honestly, otherwise...”

“Hahahaha.” Doll laughed loudly and said, “Kun Wu has an invincible body! This body is a robot clone of myself. We have escaped!”

She looked viciously at the Headless Horseman and shouted, “Headless Horseman, we will remember you! We will stay in the shadows and watch you! You won’t be so lucky the next time!”

Zhao Yao smiled and said, “Very good... she is not dead.”

...

About ten kilometers away, Kun Wu was reborn from the flames and she slapped continuously on Doll’s face.

“You are so foolish! Why did you tell Headless Horseman that I am not dead?”

Doll said defensively, “To threaten him! It will be a loss of face if we leave without threatening him.”

“Idiot! Idiot! Idiot!” Kun Wu was so angry that she slapped Doll’s head consecutively. “We are going to be stalked by this lunatic!”

Doll said, “Don’t worry Kun Wu. Although we fled, I kept the data and resources from OX city. Next time, I will protect you.”

...

Zhao Yao looked at the self-destructed robot clone and shook his head. He wanted to capture the remaining ghost army but they collapsed to the ground one by one, disintegrated into silver powder and disappeared.

Zhao Yao sighed as he regretted letting Kun Wu and Doll escape. They must have fled with the Meteorite Fragment. Zhao Yao felt that it was a great loss for him.

Seeing the nearby Chinese apostles, Zhao Yao smiled. At least he was able to earn the experience points for completing his mission.

Zhao Yao spent his time gathering the Chinese apostles. Without the obstruction of the ghost army and with the help from the natives, Zhao Yao found all the apostles in a short time. He knocked all the apostles unconscious, shoved them into the Extradimensional Belly and brought them back to China.

The Meteorite Fragment was not found in Doll's base. Instead the defector who had run away with the fragment was found imprisoned in the base.

Zhao Yao rescued more than 80 apostles, earning 16 400 experience points and brought back the defector which was considered a great feat. He also showcased his superior abilities to the foreigners.

The next two days, Zhao Yao frequently browsed the cat web to see if there were any related reports.

Chapter 756: Gravitational Force

Maine, United States.

In the laboratory, the Professor sighed continuously at the statistics before him.

“All the supercats that had their superpowers boosted by Project X improved in varying degrees. The weakest had an increase of 12% while the strongest showed an increase of more than 235% in its superpower. Unbelievable.”

He started to read another report. "But the most important thing was that once these supercats had their abilities boosted, the powers that they lent out increased as well. Hmm... up til now none of the 50 test subjects experienced negative after effects from the ability boost and the duration of their abilities remains at 24 hours. This is really hard to believe."

The Professor stared excitedly at the lab report as he began thinking about his next research topic. Just then, a few soldiers opened the door and barged in.

The Professor frowned. "Who are you guys? Who gave you permission to come in?"

The leading officer said, "We are from the International Special Operations Forces. I believe Project X is here?"

"I don't know what you are talking about," The Professor replied angrily. "Everything here is classified information. Get the hell out of here unless you want to be court-martialed."

The officer smiled and said, "We have the approval of the United States Department of Defense. Your superior will contact you over the phone soon. The country needs the help of Project X's powers now. Hope you can understand and cooperate with us."

"Impossible. The Department of Defense will never agree to this. You all don't understand the importance of Project X..." Before he could finish his words, the phone in front of the Professor rang. His face changed slightly as he saw the officer smirking at him.

"Answer it."

The Professor took the call. His expression changed multiple times within the next moment, before he finally sighed. "That's too risky, we still haven't figured out Project X's abilities and how it works. If there are any consequences..."

"Don't worry Professor," The officer said. "My men are more than capable to withstand all kinds of tests. A mere cat won't be a problem."

"You don't understand at all..." The Professor looked up and glanced at the man. He sighed in resignation and took them into the laboratory.

Not long after, a supercat was placed in front of Project X in a clean and white laboratory.

The supercat glanced at Project X and asked curiously, “You’re considered a cat too? Why do you look like that?”

Project X, who had been reading a comic book, looked up and stared the other cat in the eyes. His eyes flashed in the next moment as his lips curled into a smile, “Finally, a cat I can use.”

He turned and stared at the other party as he asked, “Hello, what’s your name?”

“I’m Coffee,” The supercat stared at him curiously, “They said you can boost my superpower. Is that true?”

“Of course it’s true,” Project X waved his paw at the cat and replied gently, “Come, child, let me stroke your head.”

Coffee was slightly abashed but still walked over obediently and stretched his head towards Project X.

Project X stroked the other party’s head as he quipped happily, “What an obedient child.”

Outside the laboratory, the Professor was still trying to dissuade the officer. “We have yet to come to a conclusion about Project X’s background and power. It might be too risky if we decide to use his power on a large-scale. What if there are side-effects?”

The officer shook his head, “Professor, you’ve been cooped up in the laboratory for too long so you probably do not know how dangerous the international arena is now. Just a few days ago, an incident where a human apostle fought against a whole army happened again in the Southeast Asian region.

In the desert regions in the East, some apostles even led armed rebels to overthrow the incumbent government and fought against our own country’s troops there.

This has drastic consequences on the future of our country’s international standing and military interests in both the Asia-Pacific and the Eastern desert regions and can be considered a threat to national security. So we need to have stronger superpowers and even stronger apostles.”

As he said that, he stared at Project X in the laboratory and smiled slightly. “A supercat that can boost the abilities of other supercats, isn’t this the best weapon? With him, our country will continue to dominate the international order and the supernatural realm would be no exception.”

The Professor sighed once more, knowing that he could no longer dissuade him. The officer only knew how to make use of superpowers for riches and power. He was totally ignorant of the dangers associated with superpowers.

The officer continued confidently, “Coffee is a supercat that has undergone much training with us so there is no doubt about his loyalty to the country. Even if there’s a problem with Project X, there will surely be no problem with Coffee.”

However, at the next moment, shouts of astonishment filled the control room.

In the laboratory, Project X’s mouth shot open and extended to 270 degrees, baring its fangs which looked no different from rows of daggers as it chomped right down on Coffee’s head.

“MEOW!” Coffee let out an agonizing scream and started to struggle violently with his whole body as he kicked with all his might at Project X with all four limbs. However, Project X bit down on him tightly and there was no way the cat could struggle out.

The officer roared in anger, “Quick stop him!”

The Professor shouted back, “Be careful. Don’t kill Project X. He’s very precious.”

One by one, automated mechanic hands stretched towards Project X and Coffee. However, no matter how much the mechanic hands pulled, Project X bit down relentlessly on Coffee’s head, fresh blood gushing out from his mouth as he refused to let go.

After a few seconds, Coffee’s agonizing screams became weaker before it completely died down and stopped struggling altogether. The officer outside the laboratory screamed in rage and agony, “What the f*ck? What did this monster just do?”

Project X had already had its four limbs and head caught by the mechanic hands as shots of tranquilizers were injected into his body. However, he continued to bite down relentless and did not release his grip at all.

“This won’t do! The tranquilizers are totally ineffective.”

“Increase the concentration of the shots.”

“D*mn, did he fake the effects all along when the tranquilizers were injected previously?”

The officer grabbed the Professor by the collar and screamed, “Do you know how important Coffee is? The whole gravitation unit’s superpower comes from him! Quick, save him!”

“We are trying our best but Project X’s teeth had sunk right through Coffee’s bones. It’s not so easy even if we want to separate them now.”

“Then let us do it,” The officer shouted and the next moment, he barged into the laboratory with his men.

“No, you all can’t do this!” The Professor tried to stop them but was immediately pushed aside.

The officer immediately pointed a gun at Project X and shouted, “You monster! Quick let him go, or else I will blow your brains off this instant. I know you can understand what we are saying, so listen to my command now!”

Project X’s eyes flew open and his eyeballs spun towards the soldiers. It was as if there was a look of glee in his eyes.

The next moment, an enormous gravitational force burst out from a few soldiers’ bodies, shrinking them into small balls as they dropped on the floor. The whole laboratory began to shake violently after a loud boom was heard. The steel house began to bend and distort under the intense gravitational pull.

Chapter 757: High Interest Rates

A few hours later, Project X stepped barefoot on the cement road. Coffee followed behind him, looking at Project X passionately with full admiration and respect for him.

However, X just shut his eyes and twitched his ears and nose as if he was sensing something.

“Have they caught up?”

In the distance, the sound of an armed helicopter gradually approached them as all kinds of kind thoughts, evil thoughts, enmity, and murderous intentions flowed into his brain continuously.

Just as Project X was about to close off his senses, he suddenly frowned. “Blackmailing, threats and violence against supercats...”

“I feel a strong evil force... somewhere far far away... westwards from where I am.”

...

Millionaire’s Cat Wonderland, in an underground location.

Zhao Yao slumped on the sofa, playing games as he heard the supercats chatter around him.

A tri-colored cat lay on the floor as he kept pleading with Zhao Yao, “Brother Yao, Brother Yao, I will pay up after three days. Please give me another three days. Please, I’m begging you.”

Zhao Yao scratched his head and said lazily, “Roly Poly, how much does she owe?”

Roly Poly took out his phone and checked the ledger before replying in a stern voice, “Brother, she owes a total of RMB 127 500.”

The tri-colored cat immediately replied, “No... that can’t be. I didn’t owe so much originally.”

Roly Poly narrowed his eyes at her and said, “Miss, there’s interest when you borrow money. Though we are a small business, we can’t let our brothers starve.”

Zhao Yao asked as he continued playing his game, “How long has her payment been overdue?”

Roly Poly glanced at the ledger and said, “Two weeks, Brother.”

Zhao Yao sighed and glanced at the tri-colored cat as he said, “Mei Mei, I saved you from the hands of the Mao Gang, right?”

The tri-colored cat called Mei Mei immediately nodded, “Yeah, yeah, thank you Brother Yao for saving me back then.”

Zhao Yao shook his head and continued, “You are considered an old cat. By right I shouldn’t be pressing you so hard for payment.”

Mei Mei nodded her head vigorously.

Zhao Yao continued, “But even a landlord doesn’t have extra food to spare. Don’t be deceived by the looks of this Cat Wonderland. Though it’s big and business is good, everything about it needs money. I still owe the bank a few billions worth of loans, I can’t sleep every night because of that.”

Mei Mei started crying. “Brother Yao, I really didn’t mean it. How would I know that Portugal would lose to Uruguay... I talked to Cristiano Ronaldo’s cat on the phone yesterday. He clearly told me that there would be no problem. Who would’ve guessed that they still lost in the end.

I actually climbed all the way up to the rooftop. Then I thought I should pay my dues to you properly so I came back down.”

Zhao Yao shook his head and said, “Then tell me, how do you intend to pay off your debt?”

Mei Mei bit on her teeth before she said, “I don’t need my pay for the next two years. I can use that to pay off my debts instead. Would that be okay?”

“No no, if you don’t have your pay how will you eat and play? I will still have to give you your pay.”

Mei Mei let out a breath as she thought how Zhao Yao still had that bit of humanity in him.

However, Zhao Yao continued to say, “But you’re earning too little down here. You should go up and work from now on.”

Mei Mei’s face changed as she replied, “Go up? Brother Yao, you want me to go up and attend to customers?”

Zhao Yao nodded, “Yeah, why? You don’t want to?”

Mei Mei cried, “Brother Yao! I’m a cat from a decent household too. Can you give me another job?”

Zhao Yao’s face darkened. “You’re saying that my business is indecent?”

Mei Mei immediately crossed her paws as she replied, “No, that’s not what I meant.”

“Then that’s right. You will have many opportunities up there,” Zhao Yao said sincerely. “I took your looks into account, that’s why I recommended you go up. After working for a few years up there, you can earn enough money to retire on Cat Island, that’s not too bad right?”

Seeing how Mei Mei was about to rebuke him, Zhao Yao waved a hand to stop her and continued, “Where’s Matcha? Bring him up to talk her into this. Don’t mistake good intentions for ill intent. Once you make big money you will understand that it’s all for your own good.”

Matcha jumped from the sofa at the side and smiled lewdly, “Leave it to me. I will definitely educate her well.”

Mei Mei was immediately dragged away by Matcha and his cats. However, once this incident was settled, Fūjin was seen trotting over right away before he whispered into Zhao Yao’s ear, “Brother Yao, bad news: Cannon is seeing red after losing money from betting above. Now he’s even betting on his tail and forcing us to place bets, what should we do?”

“That rascal,” Zhao Yao said angrily. “Roly Poly, go and drag him down right now. From today onwards, he is not allowed to step into the casino.”

After settling Cannon's problem, Zhao Yao lay down on the sofa again, shaking his head as he sighed. "Each of them cause trouble all day long. It's really hard to lead a team."

At the thought of this, he took out his phone and started to surf the cat web. "How come no one ever talks about the situation in OX city? Has the news been censored?" His face changed when he checked the news headlines.

"Armed rebels in desert countries attack the capital with the help of apostles, occupying the whole country and defeating the American Peacekeeping Force."

"An extraordinarily huge supernatural incident occurred locally in America. More than 200 apostles were killed."

Zhao Yao frowned at these two headlines. "They actually stole the headlines from me." He searched for a long while before he found in a small corner 'OX city Supernatural Incident, supercats disguised as ghosts and monsters, scaring apostles from many countries'.

"What's going on? Even if they don't know me, they can't just write some crap in the news. Shouldn't it be 'Mysterious apostle saves the whole city, battling thousands of ghosts and monsters singlehandedly'?"

Zhao Yao sighed and started to search for news about Kun Wu. He was still very concerned about this special supercat. Furthermore, Doll's abilities were not to be underestimated. Zhao Yao had already reported the situation to Uncle Ho and his men. Hopefully, they would be able to find traces of both Doll and Kun Wu.

On the other side, Matcha was just done with educating the wailing Mei Mei when a supercat suddenly walked up to him and said, "Manager Cha, there's a cat looking for you. He says he knows you."

"He knows me? Who's that?"

"Matcha, it's me!" Yellow Mud stared at Matcha, slightly abashed, as he said, "They said this Cat Wonderland is run by you guys. I didn't believe them at first, but wow Matcha you're really amazing! You're already a manager at such a young age!"

Matcha patted Yellow Mud's head affectionately and said, "So it's you, Yellow Mud. Come, come, let me treat you to some meat. We brothers haven't met in such a long while."

Not long after, plates of fish and meat were served on the table. Yellow Mud gaped at the food before him and said agitatedly, "Matcha, this... this is really your treat for me?"

"Yeah, go ahead and eat."

Yellow Mud looked at the meat that was still being served and immediately waved his paws and gestured to stop as he said, "Enough, enough, we can't finish so much food." Especially after seeing the price of the food on the menu, Yellow Mud was so shocked that he dropped a whole bunch of fur. He told Matcha in a small voice, "Matcha, this place is so expensive."

Matcha waved him off and said, "Relax, you don't need to pay when you eat with me."

"Really? Matcha you really made it big now, how amazing..." Yellow Mud's eyes immediately glowed with admiration.

After three rounds of meat, Matcha looked at Yellow Mud and asked, "Old friend, is something bothering you? Is there something you need my help with?"

Yellow Mud rubbed his paws together as he replied shyly, "Recently there has been a massive clean up of the streets so there's been less and less food available..."

...

Chapter 758: Working and Escape

After listening to Yellow Mud's complaint, Matcha's eyes gleamed and he thought to himself, "Is he here to borrow money from me? Yellow Mud has taken care of me for a period of time. I can lend him 50, no, 20 dollars."

While Matcha was analyzing Yellow Mud's motive, Yellow Mud continued, "Now, it is harder and harder to live on the streets. The leftovers are getting scarce. More and more people like to eat spicy strips and rear dogs. The dogs love to chase us around. It is unsafe to continue living like this. It is not good for Floret too. So I was thinking of getting a job.”

Yellow Mud looked at Matcha sincerely. “Matcha, I heard that you are the manager here so I came to ask if I can work here.”

Upon seeing Matcha’s expression change, Yellow Mud said immediately, “Burying cat litter, tidying cat beds, licking fur, mopping the floor, and cleaning, I can do all of that!”

“This...” Matcha fell silent and looked at Yellow Mud’s appearance. He thought, “The fastest way to make money is the top floors. As long as there are customers asking for him, he will have no problem surviving with his sister. But, Yellow Mud looks too ordinary, he is no match for the flirtatious bitch above.”

Thinking of this, Matcha rejected the idea. “Then, work below? But, Yellow Mud does not have enough combat powers and isn’t fierce enough. He isn’t as resourceful and sophisticated as me...”

Just as Matcha was in a dilemma, Milk Tea ran over happily and had a rat in his mouth. He shouted as he ran over. “Brother Matcha, let’s go. You said that you would catch rats with me today.” He ran into Matcha’s stomach and snuggled happily.

Matcha’s eyes were filled with sorrow. “Who wants to catch rats? It’s so childish. Adult cats play Mobile Legends.” Milk Tea, who was on his tummy, looked at him with anticipation. Matcha could not bear to reject him.

Matcha felt more melancholic. “Aye, ever since this silly boy came, I no longer have a private life. How long has it been since I went to a bar, or on a date with other female cats or played Mobile Legends. It is all because of him.”

Then, his phone rang. He pulled it out and saw that Fish Ball had invited him to a bar.

Fish Ball said, “Brother, I am unhappy. Come out and suck catmint with me.”

Matcha was surprised.

Fish Ball continued, “That kid transferred all the money that I earned... What did I do to deserve this?!”

Matcha looked at his phone again and glanced at Milk Tea. “How do I choose between my brother and him? This is so hard.”

Fish Ball added, “Matcha, there is a new Norwegian Forest cat at the catmint bar. Her eyes are so huge. Her fur is so slick and I heard that even her tail smells like catmint...”

Looking at the picture Fish Ball sent, Matcha heard his calling. He felt that he could not let his brother down. He could not abandon his brother when he was so miserable.

What about Milk Tea?

He looked at Milk Tea and remembered Yellow Mud who was by his side. His eyes lit up and he chatted privately with Yellow Mud. “Yellow Mud, why don’t you take care of this kitten?”

“What?” Yellow Mud looked at Milk Tea in surprise and answered, “I can do it, but...”

“There are no buts. I shall hand this kitten over to you. As long as he does not starve, you can hit him or scold him. From now on, you are an employee of the Cat Wonderland. You can report to Zhao Yao later when you are free.” Matcha smiled and told Milk Tea. “Milk Tea, I have something planned today. I can’t play with you today. Uncle Yellow Mud will accompany you.”

Then, Matcha wanted to leave. After taking a step, he realized he was stuck. He turned back and saw Milk Tea biting onto his tail looking at him angrily.

Matcha said with a straight face, “Why are you so disobedient? I have something important to do and I have no time for you.”

Milk Tea asked, “What thing is it? Is it going to the bar? These few nights, you kept saying that you wanted to go to the bar. What is a bar?”

“What are you talking about? How can you say that,” Matcha answered in panic. “Now, international relations are so tense and supernatural powers are on the rise. The number of small scale wars are increasing drastically. Why would I be in the mood to go to the bar at such times? I don't even have enough time to study global politics and economic environment. What would a kid like you understand about such international events?"

Matcha picked Milk Tea up and threw him to Yellow Mud. Then, he turned and walked away. "Be obedient and listen to Yellow Mud. I will be back tonight."

He rushed out of Cat Wonderland and felt relieved. It was as if he had gotten rid of a big burden and felt unprecedented freedom.

"Hahahaha, I have finally gotten rid of that burden! Norwegian Forest cat, oh I mean, Fish Ball, I am coming! Hahaha."

Yellow Mud and Milk Tea stared at each other for awhile. Milk Tea pouted his lips and said, "I am Milk Tea. Give me money."

Yellow Mud was speechless and thought to himself, "'What has Matcha taught this kitten?"

...

In an underground base in the United States.

The entire base was filled with special cells. There were cells covered in a nutrient solution and some filled with liquid.

Some were entirely made out of plastic. No metal was seen in the cell.

Some modeled a vacuum and there was almost no air in them.

This variety of cells was what the United States government used to imprison different types of dangerous supercats.

Now, all the cell doors were broken and the supercats escaped. Alarms were ringing through the entire base but there was no trace of any guards or the army onsite.

Coffee was behind X as they walked towards the deepest part of the base.

Coffee asked, “Boss, do we not need the escaping cats?”

X shook his head. “They are just ordinary supercats. I have the data of their powers. It is okay to let them leave.” He looked in front and laughed. “These few supercats are the interesting ones.”

As they spoke, a black figure charged forward and cast a shadow over their heads.

Behind the shadow, a Maine Coon that was the size of a tiger walked up to them. Its tail would whip the air and an explosion could be heard.

Behind X and Coffee, another half transparent supercat appeared slowly and looked at them wickedly.

Chapter 759: Learning and Making Money

The invisible cat asked coldly, “Who are you?”

The Maine Coon said menacingly, “You guys let me out?” He licked his lips and said, “I am going to eat both of you!”

The shadow on the wall let out a growl.

“Hahaha.” Project X laughed when he saw the three cats. “Hey villain cats, let’s overthrow this world together.”

The three cats looked offended when they heard Project X laugh.

All of them were viewed as highly dangerous supercats by the United States Army. They all had extraordinary powers, even the United States Army would not let them go. Now that they were finally out, why would they want to be restrained again?

Project X seemed to understand the thoughts of the three supercats and he walked over slowly. “Cats play with rats and humans play with cats. This cruel world has always been ruled by the strongest. No one cares about the feelings of the weak.

And I can play with the entire human world. I will be the dictator of this planet. Would you be willing to follow me and watch me dominate the world?”

As he spoke, a strong malice engulfed them and the air seemed to be getting thicker and thicker. It made the Maine Coon and invisible cat wobble and they found it hard to stand still.

Behind Project X was Coffee, who stood there and looked at Project X with admiration. He shouted in his mind, “If it is Project X, he is sure to achieve it. He is destined to be standing at the top of this world.”

Roar! Upon seeing the Maine Coon and Invisible cat’s fear and hesitation, the shadow cat roared loudly. The shadows turned into countless weapons and rushed towards Project X.

In the face of the shadow barrage, Project X merely raised his hand and all the shadows gathered in his palm.

When the supercat felt that his shadows were converging towards Project X’s hands uncontrollably, he panicked. “What... what have you done?! Why can you control my shadows?”

“Why?” Project X laughed. “Do you ask why you can breathe? Why your heart is beating? Why you can drink water? I am just taking back what’s mine.”

The shadows in the air were raging and in the supercat’s scream, countless shadows merged violently towards Project X’s paws. No matter how hard he struggled, all the shadows were drawn out forcefully and then gathered again to form a black cat.

Looking at the black cat’s frightened face, Project X stroked his head and looked at the Maine Coon and Invisible cat. “Follow me until this world is completely ruled by cats.”

The two cats lay down onto the floor trembling as they conceded under such strong malice.

The four cats, including Coffee, walked out of the base with Project X. Coffee asked, “Boss, where are we going next?”

Project X did not answer him and looked at the sky instead. He reached out his paw suddenly.

There were invisible fluctuations in the atmosphere and the sky looked like it was frozen.

A missile soared through the sky and came above them. It halted and was frozen in mid air.

“Missile?” Maine Coon shouted, “They are trying to kill us with a missile? These people think too lowly of us.”

Project X tilted his neck and bewilderedly said, “It is not a normal missile. I feel a strong threat from it. If it explodes, except for me, all of you will die.” Then he grabbed the missile from thousands miles away.

Th Invisible cat looked at the approaching missile and when he saw the symbol on it, he shouted, “It is a nuclear bomb! Damn, these humans are crazy! Throw it out! It’s a nuclear bomb and we are still in its range!”

Upon hearing Invisible cat, the other cats jumped. They were so close to the bomb. They were sure to be dead.

Invisible cat looked at Project X and wondered what evil Project X had done for the Americans to launch a nuclear bomb on their own land. It was beyond his imagination.

Project X showed interest. “So this is a nuclear bomb? The ultimate weapon of humans?” The next moment, he drew in the bomb and all the cats around him were shedding their fur in fright.

When, the nuclear bomb came in front of Project X, it has already been dismantled into many small pieces.

Coffee looked at this scene in shock. “Bo... Boss? What are you doing?”

“Learning.” Project X said slowly. “The universe is huge and life is small. Any small thing has something worth learning, like you guys, like this.”

The next moment, the entire nuclear bomb was reassembled and looked like it was new.

Project X smiled and asked Coffee, “Where is the nearest gathering place for humans?”

...

In Millionaire’s Cat Wonderland.

Milk Tea went to a white cat and said, “Give me money!”

While the white cat was looking at Milk Tea curiously, Yellow Mud rushed up and carried Milk Tea away.

Milk Tea was kicking around in the air and asked in angrily, “What are you doing?”

Yellow Mud put Milk Tea down and was pretty speechless. “What were you doing just now? How could you ask a stranger for money?”

Milk Tea snorted and said proudly, “This was what Brother Matcha had taught me. If I do accordingly, I can eat and play without needing to worry about my survival for a lifetime.”

Yellow Mud pressed his paw against his face. “What is Matcha thinking?”

When he saw Milk Tea look puzzled, Yellow Mud thought to himself, “I cannot lower this kid’s self-esteem...”

He thought about it and said, “Milk Tea, as a cat, you cannot just ask other cats for money.”

“Why? Brother Matcha said that everyone’s money is his. They are just temporarily placed with others so I can just take it.”

Whenever Milk Tea spoke of Matcha, his eyes would light up with admiration. Yellow Mud could not bear to crush his beliefs and he could only say, “But everyone needs money. If you take away other cats’ money... They have to eat too, then won’t they have no money? Milk Tea have you been hungry? You don’t want them to go hungry right?”

“What?” Milk Tea frowned and thought for awhile. “It is a terrible feeling to go hungry. But if I don’t ask others for money, where will I get the money from?”

Yellow Mud smiled and stroked Milk Tea’s head. “Let me teach you the real way to earn money.”

Milk Tea’s eyes lit up. “The real way to earn money?”

Yellow Mud nodded. “Yes, a way so that Milk Tea and the others will not go hungry.”

Chapter 760: Looking for a job

In the catmint bar, Fish Ball was lying in the cat bed and grabbing the heap of catmint beside him to suck on it.

In front of him, five to six female cats were staring at him.

Fish Ball laughed, “Why are you guys staring at me like this? You are making me embarrassed.”

“Cut the nonsense! When are you going to pay!”

Fish Ball shook his head. “I did not bring money.”

“What! You want all this for free? Sisters, peel off his skin!”

“Wait!” Fish Ball raised his paws and shouted, “Although I have no money, my brother has money. He is coming to pay the bills soon.”

“Really?”

“Of course he is real. He is stupid but rich. When he is here, just cheat him of his money. Take out everything you have. I know that except for Dust Ball Catmint, you guys smuggled other goods.”

“Isn’t he your brother?”

“We are just superficial friends. We only sucked catmint together for a few times. Not that close.”

...

Yellow Mud asked around and walked up towards the office.

As they walked, Yellow Mud told Milk Tea. “Milk Tea, you have to learn how to earn money yourself. Do things yourself and you won’t ever have to ask others for money again.”

Milk Tea nodded his head. “Okay.” But he still had no idea what Yellow Mud was talking about.

Then, the two cats saw Zhao Yao sitting in the sofa gaming. Yellow Mud pointed to Zhao Yao and said, “Look, Zhao Yao is the boss of Cat Wonderland. You have to find him...”

“I understand!” Milk Tea’s eyes lit up and ran off before Yellow Mud could finish his sentence.

“He understood it so fast?” Yellow Mud saw Milk Tea jump onto Zhao Yao’s lap and was meowing. He thought to himself. “Is he asking Zhao Yao for a job? What a good boy.”

Then, Zhao Yao laughed and gave Milk Tea a hundred dollar bill. Milk Tea held the bill in his mouth and ran over to Yellow Mud happily. He said proudly, “I have earned money! Yellow Mud!”

When he saw Yellow Mud looking confused, he continued, “I understand how to earn money now! I just have to ask Master Zhao!”

Milk Tea explained, “Brother Matcha said that Master Zhao has so much money that he can’t spend. If given a chance, I have to keep asking him for money. Since he has so much money then everyone can ask Master Zhao for money and no one will have to go hungry anymore!”

Yellow Mud stood up on his hind legs and grabbed onto his head as he twisted his body around.

He looked at Milk Tea in horror and screamed internally, “Matcha! What have you taught him!” He looked at the little orange cat in front him and thought in horror. “Is another Matcha going to be formed?”

He thought back to the days where he was scavenging with Matcha and the horrors being ordered around.

“Yellow Mud! Are we going to eat?”

Yellow Mud grabbed onto his head and shook it violently.

“No! There can’t be another Matcha in the world.”

Thinking of this, Yellow Mud told Milk Tea with determination, “Milk Tea, there is no such thing as money that can’t be finished. Even if it is Zhao Yao, the amount of money he has is limited. If everyone asks him for money, then he will have no money too. By then, everyone will have to go hungry together.”

“What?” Milk Tea recalled the morning when Zhao Yao was swimming around in money and nodded. “It looks limited.”

“That’s why...” Yellow Mud raised a paw and stroked Milk Tea’s head. “Let’s not ask Zhao Yao for money anymore, okay?”

Milk Tea nodded and asked, “What about this one hundred dollars?”

“Give it back to Zhao Yao.” Yellow Mud continued, “Then, ask Zhao Yao for a job at the Cat Wonderland. Milk Tea, you have to work to get money okay?”

“Work?” Milk Tea remembered the scene he saw every morning.

...

Matcha would yawn and crawl out from the bed.

Milk Tea will open his sleepy eyes and ask, “Brother Matcha, where are you going?”

“To work.” Matcha answered as he looked like he was going to die.

Milk Tea asked, “Why do you have to work everyday?”

Matcha forced his eyes open with his paws and answered Milk Tea seriously. “Working everyday is every strong cat’s fate.”

...

Milk Tea recalled what Matcha had said and nodded. “I understand! I am going to work!” He turned around and ran towards Zhao Yao, who was on the sofa.

Zhao Yao was scrolling through Cat web on his cell phone.

“Wow, the United States exploded.” Zhao Yao looked at the news in shock. He was still in disbelief.

A few hours ago, a nuclear bomb exploded in the air of the United States. Luckily, it exploded high above the ground and that area was deserted. Furthermore, it was a small bomb, hence, it did not result in serious casualties.

Even so, exploding a nuclear bomb in the atmosphere had impacted the United States and the entire world.

Now, the entire United States was in chaos. Although the United States government had explained that it was an accident all kinds of gossips leaked. The world’s underground gangs and superpower realm went in a frenzy.

“Aye, all the foreigners are so chaotic. It is safer at home.”

Zhao Yao felt his thighs sink and he asked without looking. “Why Milk Tea? Is the money not enough?”

Milk Tea placed the hundred dollar bill in Zhao Yao’s lap and nudged Zhao Yao in his tummy. “Master Zhao! I don’t want money. I want a job! I want to earn money!”

“Hahaha.” Zhao Yao laughed and stroked Milk Tea’s head in his confusion. “Silly kid...”

He thought to himself, “How much can a job earn? From my experience, if you want to be rich find a big sponsor.”

When he was about to say this, Milk Tea started to look like Matcha.

Zhao Yao thought about it, “Am I favoring Milk Tea too much? Will he end up like Matcha? All he knows is how to ask money from me.”

As he thought about it, Zhao Yao’s phone rang. He opened and saw Matcha’s message.

“Zhao Yao! I am tricked! They tricked me into taking many a lot of catmint. When I was going to pay for the bill then they told me it was in the tens of thousand. If I can’t pay up, they won’t let me go!”

“Right.” Zhao Yao laughed coldly. “Trying to cheat me of my money again”‘