

Chapter 104 Details

Warning. Very violent and explicit sexual content.

Malik

When I woke up this morning I knew the day had come for Calliope to finally pay for her crimes and with the evidence I have against her for planning to forcefully mark Umayza, no one ever has to fear her again. She will be put to death, just like Wenonah and Cederick.

I can even keep my own secret hidden, I don't have to reveal it to anyone and my other half sighs in relief. "Maybe you should explain it to Orion and his Sister, I doubt they will hold it against us." He says to me and I know he is right, but I know there was something else Orion wanted to tell me.

I think he didn't say anything because he didn't want Calliope to know, if he is willing to tell me I will tell him the truth about me and my Brother. I know he can keep a secret; he has proven that by not revealing what he witnessed the first time we met.

It is also the reason why I informed him about Calliope's plan and I hoped it would result in her capture, that Cederick and Wenonah were also captured is a huge bonus. Everyone knows the rumors about Wenonah's Mates, but I know the Council can't proof anything and that meant she got away with it.

Today their luck changed when I was able to convince Calliope to leave Wenonah with her, I couldn't risk her reliving a memory that involved me or Orion and I was able to leave a piece of clothing behind with my scent to warn Orion.

I am glad he managed to understand my warning and I had chuckled when I saw a female take down Wenonah. It wasn't difficult for me to subdue the two Warriors and I saw a smirk on the male's face, I now know is Callen. He had really enjoyed seeing me handling them as Pups.

Evander and Conri walk back to the cottage they came from and Orion asks me to follow him, he guides me into the living room where I am faced with a female lying unconscious on the couch. Evander and Conri sit down on the couch, Conri placing her head on his lap and Evander puts her feet on his lap.

Conri quickly explains their situation to me and I am surprised these guys had been that stupid. I doubt I would have been able to keep my other half away from our Mate for that long and I definitely know I wouldn't have been able to stay away from our Mate for that long.

"How long have you been helping the Council, Malik?" Conri asks, he doesn't ask if but how long and I ask him to get the others in here to hear my story. Council-member Boaz tells me it is my right to tell them and that I know where to reach him if I ever need his help again.

Conri tells me they will be here as soon as they have guided the Royal Warriors and Council-member of the pack and asks me if I would mind waiting until Umayza has regained consciousness again, "I think she would like to get to know her baby Brother's friend."

Yonatan is walking in and out of the cottage and Evander explains that all their food supplies are in another cottage. Orion and I get up at the same time to help him and with the two of us helping Yonatan it is the last trip we have to make between the two cottages.

Blaze tells me about how they became Umayza's protection detail and that most don't know they accompany her on her assignments. Axel tells me about her training and how she brought a Lycan to his knees and everyone starts laughing, except for Theron.

"Let me guess, she knocked you on your ass?" I ask him and he tells me what she had done that day. "Thanks for the warning. I will try to stay on her good side." I reply. I keep an eye on Umayza as we talk about this assignment that brought them to Little Horn Pack.

"Over five years ago this Pack got massacred by Rogues according to former Alpha Talon, when Princess Taliyah found out about it, she realized why her Brother Ayden had made a turn for the worse back then, and the Council wanted to know if former Alphas Talon and Roger had something to do with it.

Umayza is the only one that could get that answer for them and that is why she was assigned to this task." Evander says and I ask him if she is unconscious because she tried too hard to relive the memories. "No, she had no trouble reliving the memory.

I believe the memory left her drained from her energy, I doubt it was an easy memory to relive and I am glad if we never have to go through this ever again. I know she has to go through it, but this is nerve-wracking for me and my Lycan." Evander says.

"Hold on, you're saying she can relive a memory that is over five years old." I nearly shout and when Armand tells me she relived a memory that was ten years old. "Thank the Goddess Calliope never found out about that or she would have taken action a long time ago." I growl.

Umayza

Once the green eyes start to fade I know I will be leaving this memory soon, but I wonder why I relived a memory that didn't take place here and maybe I will have an answer once my mind has processed everything. I just hope I will get the chance to thank him for what he did.

I know I will be safe as Evander and Conri explained to me how things would go once we got to Little Horn Pack and I was relieved to hear that they had come up with a plan that would keep me safe or at least as safe as possible. My world turns black the moment those green eyes are completely gone.

I hear pleads from males and females; "Please, don't do this to us." "Please, not my Mate." "Please, not my Pup." I heard them all clearly as if I had been walking among them that day and even though I don't relive their feelings anymore I can hear the disappear in their voices.

I hear the growls and roars from the males when their Mates or Pups get assaulted, they growl and roar as they get assaulted themselves and their anger and fear is clear to hear in their voices. Sometimes I hear other voices and what they say makes my skin crawl.

"I am going to enjoy your Pup." "Take me deeper." "Spread those legs or your Pup gets it." I lied; I am going to take him anyway." There were so many cruel words spoken that night and I hear them all. This will be the most difficult thing for me to recount to the Council, but to get justice for their victims I will.

I hear the whimpers of every Wolf as the males that belong to former Alpha Roger molest their victims, I see the males laughing and watching as their victims get tormented and more than once I hear someone say, "It is we can't leave witnesses alive or I would enjoy you a little longer."

I see how each Wolf eventually gets slaughtered, I see the former Alphas laughing as they walk away from the massacre and I know I am not at the end just yet. I am still waiting for the twins to get born and for Ayden to show up, but I never relive the memories the same the second time around.

I see hear the female whisper, "I am sorry, Luna. This is the only way for them to survive." I hear her softly cry as she gets the twins out of the Luna's womb and I hear her softly whisper, "Take them to safety, they are your responsibility now and I know you will protect them with your life.

They are your Alphas and the two of you are the only Pack-members they have left. Always remember that I love you and that I am proud of you." I hear her and her Pups cry as they whisper goodbye to one and other, before her Pups take off with the twin boys.

When it comes to their savior my memory doesn't become any clearer, but I hear the young male Pup talk to him and I can hear that he trusts him. I can hear him comforting both Pups by telling them they did a good job getting the twin boys to safety.

I hear Ayden long before I see him, he is growling and roaring as he tears the Wolves that stayed behind to pieces and when he looks at his Mate I see pure pain in his eyes, I hear the despair in his voice as he asks her who is responsible for the massacre.

I hear the gentleness in his voice when he answers her love declaration and I see and hear pure horror when he refuses her last request. She knows she isn't going to make it and she wants the pain to stop, but Ayden struggles with her request to end her life.

"Would you rather watch me in this much pain for hours or days? We both know my time has come and there is only one thing you can do for me, stop this pain Ayden." She whispers and I know she is right; with her injuries she will die. He is the only one that can stop her suffering, but I can understand why he is reluctant to do it.

"It won't hurt you as much as it would if you had marked me. I love you, Ayden. I will always love you." She whispers before his Wolf pushes forward to stop the suffering of his Mate and I am grateful his Wolf was willing to listen to his Mate, even though I understand it turned him insane.

My world turns black once more and I know that I will wake up soon, soon I will be able to hold my Mates again. I know they made mistakes when they left that note or when they didn't come looking for me after the first days of the Full Moon, but this showed me that it can all be over before you can blink your eyes.