

Chapter 116 Second Chance

Gray

I watch my Daughter sleep with the arms of her Mates wrapped around her and I am grateful she has them around. We all needed to let our Wolves and Lycans out for a run after reading about Meagan and I am glad Baylenn made sure I never knew who her family was or I might have made the mistake of reaching out to them.

Silver Lotus Pack is still an hour's drive away, but I might have to ask Orion to pull over again. I don't think Duke ran enough to release the pent up anger from reading about Meagan and I am close to losing my patience with him, "Duke, for the love of the Goddess. Cut it out." I yell at him and he whimpers as he lies down in the back of my head.

Which only last about a minute before he is up again and starts pacing my head in the same pattern again, Orion's voice pulls my attention away from Duke. "Dad, are you okay? You look a little agitated." He asks and I tell him that Meagan's story probably affected him more than I thought it would.

"Gray, as you may know a Squad usually settles down in a Pack if they can find a Pack willing to take them in." Conri says and I nod my head as I wonder why he is bringing this up. "Armand told us that it will be our choice, seeing the fact that we have found our Mate.

Evander and I discussed where we would like to settle and if Umayza agrees we want to settle in our birth Pack if our Alpha will allow it. I know you have never been away from Umayza, other than the times she was on assignment and I would like your opinion on where we would like to settle." Conri says.

I stare at him for a moment before I can actually answer his question. "Conri, you don't need my approval but I appreciate the fact that you wanted my opinion. As long as the two of you make my Daughter happy I will be happy and that will not depend on where the three of you settle down." I answer him.

Orion says he wants to settle wherever Umayza will, because he wants the chance to have a bond with his Sister and I actually smile at my Son as I picture all of us settling in the same Pack. It will allow me to get a bond with my Son, to see my Pups bond with one and other and maybe one day I will see my Grandpups grow up.

I am so engrossed in those thoughts I don't realize we are within Pack territory, that is until someone opens the door of the SUV and I push Conri out of my way as I finally understand why Duke was acting so strange. "Mate. Go to Mate." He keeps repeating until I stand in front of a petite redhead, "Mine." I growl as I lift her in my arms.

"Down that path, second on your right." I hear a voice say, but I don't take the time to look at him or acknowledge his presence. She buries her face in my neck as I walk in the direction I was told and I am glad she is holding on tightly, because Duke is not planning on slowing down.

I sigh in relief when I find the door unlocked, but I make sure I lock it the moment I pin her against the door and I finally take the time to look up and down her body. I see her staring at me with big fearful eyes, "What is wrong, Gorgeous?" I ask her.

"Are you going to reject me?" She asks and Duke roars out loud as I try to calm him down, "Duke is sorry for scaring you, but he doesn't like what you asked. You are our second chance and there is no way in hell I will reject you." I say and I see a small smile appear on her face.

I kiss her forehead before I start trailing kisses down to her mouth and when our lips touch Duke pushes forward enough to demand her to open her mouth. She moans the moment our tongues touch and I enjoy the slow dance they are in, my cock pressing against her core as I pull her skirt out of the way.

I look at her face as I pull her panties to the side and slide one finger inside her, her eyes flutter open as I push my finger deeper inside her. Something tells me that she has been hurt by someone she cared about, so I take it slow as I don't want to frighten my Mate.

The scent of her arousal fills the air around us and I slowly start pumping a little faster in and out of her body, still making sure that she is comfortable with what I am doing. The moment she starts moving towards my fingers as I push them in I start moving faster and I can feel her pussy clench around my fingers just before she comes undone.

I give her time to catch her breath before I ask her where her bedroom is, she turns slightly red as she points up the stairs and I hold her tight as I walk up the stairs with her in my arms. Duke is a happy Wolf and he makes sure I know she won't leave this house unmarked.

She grabs the doorhandle to open it the moment we are in front of the right room and somewhere in the back of my head I register a familiar scent, but I don't pay it much attention with my Mate in my arms. Her smell engulfs me the moment I step inside and I softly groan as my cock grows harder.

I walk to the foot of the bed and sit down with her straddling my lap, "Duke wants you to know that you will not leave this house unmarked. If there is something you want to say before we take this any further I suggest you say it now." I say to her as I look into her eyes.

"My first Mate rejected me." She whispers and I understand where her question came from. I press her hips down and grind my cock against her pussy, harder every time I press her hips down. She is panting as I slide two fingers back inside her and this time I don't take it slow.

Anything more than the words Yes or Please has left her vocabulary as I pump my fingers faster and harder into her soaking wet pussy, I gently bite down on her marking spot as I add a third finger and she screams as she comes all around my fingers.

I gently place her on the bed beside me and I start to remove her clothing, but I keep an eye on her face. I will stop if it seems that she is uncomfortable, even though it will kill me to do it. I just need her to trust me and Duke and one way to show her that I am in for the long haul is by marking her.

My eyes roam over her body as I remove my own clothes and her eyes widen the moment my cock springs free from its confinement. I smile down at her as I crawl onto the bed and settle on my knees between her legs, my eyes drift down to her core, to my own piece of heaven.

I start placing kisses up her body, sucking and licking both her nipples before I continue towards her mouth and by the time I reach her mouth she is breathing heavily. My cock is pushing against her entrance and I slowly slide the head of my cock inside her before I slam my shaft into her body in one fast thrust.

The moment our eyes lock I start to slide in and out of her core, faster and harder with each thrust into her body and Duke pushes forward as he wants her to know he wants her too. She smiles the moment Duke makes himself known and I know he wants to be a part of this as well, but I manage to push him back a little.

I will let him have our Mate after I have marked her, she needs to know that the both of us want her and when Duke is done with her there will be no doubt left in her mind. I feel my balls tighten as her pussy starts to clench around my cock and I start to lick the spot where my mark will be.

We both puncture the other's skin as I still inside her and I roar as I shoot my load inside her. We clean the other's mark as we are catching our breath and I pull her in my arms as I lay down beside her. Duke pushes forward and pulls her on top of our body, "Now it is my turn, Gorgeous." He growls as he places her entrance above his cock.

He slams her down on his cock and she screams out in pleasure, he holds her still for a moment so her body can adjust. He guides her back up until only the head of his cock is still inside of her before he pulls her back down again and he keeps repeating the movement.

She starts to move up and down his cock on her own and he lets his hands roam her body, not missing an inch of her gorgeous body. He pulls her off his cock to place her beside him on her stomach and he wastes no time moving behind her, sliding his cock back in to her waiting pussy.

"Oh, yes.. harder.." She moans and Duke starts pounding her from behind, speeding up with every thrust into her body. She is getting closer to her orgasm and Duke wants her to come with him, so he presses his finger on her clit. The harder he presses the louder she moans and a few seconds later they both come at the same time.

Duke hands control back to me and I scoop her up to take a shower. She is exhausted, but I want to make sure my Mate is well taken care of and I place her under the shower before it is at the right temperature, making her squeal as the water cascades down her body.

"Sorry, Gorgeous. I just need you to stay awake to meet my Pups." I whisper in her ear as I soap up her body.