

Chapter 43 No Doctor

Theseus

Listening to Amarah explain how she runs her Pack I feel more and more annoyed with my Father, but I wonder why his Beta never objected to the way he ran our Pack and I intent to find out as soon as we get back home. “Well, at least you have a pretty face.” Linus mumbles.

I regret asking him what he means by that, but I think I shouldn’t have said it out loud and I am glad Anthea walks into tell us that dinner will be served shortly. I hear Joseph talking as we walk towards the living room and his face lights up the moment he sees us.

He jumps out of Atlas’ arms to run towards Amarah and as she lifts him up he kisses her cheek, “Hello, my Little Wolf.” She says and he smiles at her as he says, “Hello, Mom.” Something both of us will have to get used to, but for some reason it sounds so natural.

“Did you have a good nap, Joseph?” Ione asks and he nods his head at her. He clings to Amarah as we walk towards the elevator and he chuckles when I kiss her cheek after placing my arm around her. Joseph places a hand on my cheek as he places his other on Amarah’s cheek, “Thank you for adopting me.” He says and I feel relieved he is okay with this.

“Joseph, I will always have your back. You are my family and family comes first. In your case, you even come before your Father and no matter what happens I will always be here for you.” I say to him as I place my hand over his small one.

Alpha Jaydon greets us as we walk into the dining room and I see a few of the other Alphas staring at me and Amarah, but she seems to be oblivious to the looks we get as she is in a deep conversation with Joseph. He is asking her questions about White Crescent Pack and she answers every question he has.

When she mentions building a new Pack-house he becomes very interested in what it will look like and they discuss the infirmary they have at White Crescent Pack. Joseph asks her if it is big enough to handle so many Pack-members and when she asks what he means he gets a very serious expression on his face.

“Our infirmary is sometimes too small for the Wolves that need treatment and Doc sometimes has to send the Omegas away without even seeing them.” He says and I hear growls around me, but Joseph isn’t impressed by them. “Grandfather told me Omegas don’t need to be treated when I asked him about it.” Joseph continues.

He isn’t too happy with what he is telling Amarah and I wonder if that has been the reason for one of his outbursts. It seems that I need to find out everything my Father has done during his reign and rectify everything he did wrong, but he did point out something we need to think about.

Amarah tells him that that is something of the past and that every Omega will get treatment when it is required, making Joseph smile up at her. “Maybe we can build a Hospital on the site of one of the Pack-houses, my Alpha.” I say and she tells me that that is an excellent idea.

I ask Ajax through our mind-link to discuss it with Ione, so she can start on the plans for a Hospital and when she is done we might be able to determine where to build it. I see a smile form on Ione’s face and I know she will have something ready by the end of tomorrow.

My attention gets drawn to Amarah and Joseph when I hear her ask him where he wants to sleep and I know that no matter what his answer is we will accept it, “I want to stay with you, Mom.” He answers and for some reason it doesn’t surprise me at all.

After dinner we head up to our suite and to my surprise I find Mykel and a few of his staff in there, “Alpha Theseus, as requested there is a single bed placed inside your room and the luggage has been placed inside the rooms as well.” He says and I look at Amarah to see a small smile on her face.

“I think Mom has something to do with this.” She answers my unasked question, but Mykel tells her it was Delia that instructed him to take care of these things and I can’t help but smile as I think back on the words I whispered to Amarah.

Joseph smiles as Amarah and I tuck him in for the night, “Remember, we are just down the hall and in the morning you will find us here. Now it is time to go to sleep, my Little Wolf.” Amarah says to him and after we have both kissed him goodnight we quietly close the door.

Luna Maeve and Alpha Robert are talking to Anthea when we walk into the living room and Luna Maeve turns to me with a smile on her face, “Congratulations on finding your Mate, Alpha Theseus. The two of you are a perfect match.” She says and Alpha Robert asks Amarah why we chose to adopt Joseph.

She tells them the same as she told Elder Ezra and Maeve tells Anthea she raised a very considerate young female. Alastor looks at Maeve and asks her what she has been drinking. Amarah starts laughing as most of us just stare at Alastor.

“My apologies, Luna Maeve. My sister is not considerate, she is not nice and certainly not cut out to be an Alpha.” Alastor says imitating Alpha Crios’ voice and Amarah is in stiches as Maeve shakes her head, we all know she is the better Alpha around.

We talk about the Competition, the joining of our Packs and the Hospital Joseph brought up. It is nearing midnight when Anthea gets up and tells us we all need to turn in as this Competition is not over yet. We say our goodbyes near the elevator and I lift her bridal-style to carry her back to our room.

Joseph is vast asleep when we walk into the room and I follow Amarah into the bathroom to get ready for the night, but it seems my Mate has something else in mind. She takes her clothes off after she has turned the shower on and my cock is rock-hard from just watching her.

She steps under the shower as I follow her closely and before she can turn around I have her pinned between my body and the wall. With my knee I open her legs and quickly slide my cock into her core, I keep a slow steady pace as I turn her head towards me for a kiss.

She tastes so good and I feel so damn good sliding in and out of her. I want her to carry my Pups, I want to have a huge family with her and I plan on starting with that tonight. I don’t slow down or speed up; I just keep this steady rhythm going and I can feel it when she is close to her orgasm.

Her pussy starts to clench around my cock, her legs start to tremble as she is panting and she come undone the second I whisper, “Come” near her ear. I let her ride out her high before I turn her around to clean up the mess I made and after we are both done we head to bed.

I wake up to two little hands on my face as I hear someone softly whisper, “Dad.. Dad..” I slowly open my eyes to meet Joseph’s eyes and I smile at him as I let my eyes glide towards my Mate, “Shhh.. Mom is still sleeping.” He whispers and I softly chuckle because I can tell that she is awake.

Joseph slowly moves towards her to kiss her cheek when she whispers, “Boo.” Joseph giggles as he leans over me to kiss Amarah and she opens those gorgeous eyes of her to look at the both of us, “Ah, my two favorite men in the world.” She says. “But don’t tell Alastor I said that.”

She tells Joseph that she has a very tight bond with Alastor and that both of them would drive Anthea nuts, “Your Grandmother would sometimes ask us what we would do if the other didn’t like our fated Mate and Alastor and I always gave the same answer, reject them.” She explains with a huge grin on her face.

Joseph looks at me with a serious face and a twinkle in his eye, “Good thing Uncle Alastor likes you, Dad.” He says and Amarah giggles as I tickle Joseph. By the time the others walk out of their rooms Amarah has started making breakfast and without saying a word Ione starts helping her.

Melia and Rhea start setting the table, while Eos is taking care of making coffee and I smile as I hear Joseph asking them all sorts of questions. “Maybe next time we should take care of breakfast.” Xanthos says through the mind-link and Ajax bursts out in laughter.

“Okay, who told a joke without including me?” Rhea asks from the dining room and I quickly get up to turn towards the window. “Dad, why is Ajax laughing?” Joseph asks and as I turn around I see five females looking at me, “Next time you want to know something, ask it yourself, my Alpha.” I says with a teasing growl, but she just shakes her head.

“Did Mom put you up to this, Joseph?” I ask him and he shakes his head as he says, “No, Aunt Eos did.” I see Eos stare at Joseph, but I can’t tell if it is because of the Aunt remark or the fact that he threw her under the bus. I smile as I lift Joseph in my arms and I walk to the nearest seat to sit down.

“Someone said through our mind-link that maybe next time we should take care of breakfast.” I answer him and he hides his face behind his hands as he starts shaking his head, “No, not happening.” He keeps repeating those words and Eos asks him why not.

He keeps his face hidden behind his hands as he answers, “I don’t want to go to the Doctor.” Ajax is in stiches as Eos just stares at Joseph. Amarah has a grin on her face as she walks over to Joseph, she gently removes his hands to make him look at her.

“Who tried to burn down the Pack-house?” She asks and Xanthos starts shaking his head, but Joseph either choses to ignore him or he really didn’t see it. “Uncle Apollo suggested making their Moms breakfast for Mother’s Day, they had set the table in the dining room on the Alpha floor.

They made all sorts of things for breakfast and Grandmother said it looked delicious.” Joseph explains and he is right, it all had looked amazing. “Grandfather and the other Fathers were send downstairs for breakfast and after they ate just a little bit of the food they all got sick.

They had to spent the rest of the day in the infirmary, they had gotten food poisoning. Grandmother banned all of them from the kitchen after that.” Joseph says with a horrified look on his face. Amarah tries her best not to laugh out loud, but one look at me sends her into a fit of laughter.