

Chapter 88 Terminated

Umayza

Theron is correct; no one will expect me to stay in a cottage with two males I normally don't associate with and even his remark to act normal around one and other is a logical one, but I doubt my Mates will like that. I giggle as I hear soft growls coming from Conri and Evander.

“Conri, Evander. They are right, if someone is watching us we don't want them to figure out what we mean to one and other and that could be used against any of us. We need to make sure no one suspects something and I know it will be hard for Mylo and Kane to stay away from me, but they need to when we are outside.

I need the four of you to keep in mind that it is for my safety and I know that is most important for you. So please, try to do as Axel and Theron have suggested.” I hear whimpering coming from my Mates and I know that Mylo and Kane both understand it is for the best.

Yonatan has done his best again on dinner and I am grateful he is a part of my team, he really loves cooking for all of us. We talk about our assignment through the mind-link as I always do with my team and it looks like Theron actually understands why we do this.

Alexia pointed out on our way to my first assignment that she didn't understand how I was going to keep my ability hidden and we all had thought about it for a long time, before she came up with the solution herself. Which reminds me that I have to explain to the others how my gift works.

“Captain Armand, I need to explain something. My team and I have developed a way of working together during an assignment and I need you and your men to understand it. When I am pulled into a memory it looks as if I am daydreaming and I don't hear, see or feel anything that happens around me.

It will last for as long as the memories keep coming, sometimes it is a very short time and sometimes it can take a while. Alexia and Boris are usually the ones that notice it first and they warn the others to surround me. Alexia or Boris keeps an eye on me while the rest keep an eye on our surroundings.

It will be more exhausting the longer the memory lasts, but even a short memory can exhaust me completely when it is an intense memory.” I tell them. Axel links me to inform me that he will take Boris and Yonatan with him to patrol around the cottage, giving me the change to explain my ability better.

The moment I get the all clear from Axel I tell them I used to practice at home with my Father and how Dad would train me on using my ability, “I have been able to relive memories from a decade ago, sometimes they just hit me and other times I can call on to them.

The Council only sends me on assignments where there is no one left to answer questions and White Horn Pack fits that description to a T. Sometimes the Council asks my help when someone is under an Alpha's command and they don't want the Alpha to be tipped off by calling in the King or Princess.

Every memory is an emotional roller-coaster and some I like to forget the moment I leave the memory.” Evander pulls me close the moment I lean back into the couch and Conri moves as close to me as he can get.

Unknown

I have been near the territory that once belonged to White Horn Pack for an hour now, but I haven't seen Umayza yet and it is unsettling my Wolf that there is no sign of her yet. I know they should be here by now as they left hours before I did, unless they are not staying anywhere near the territory.

Pulling out my phone I decided to look at places they could be staying at, a Squad usually consists of five Werewolves or Lycans and sometimes a combination of the two. That means they will need rooms for six people and I doubt they will put Umayza in a room with a male, so if there are no females on that Squad they need at least four rooms.

Movement from within the territory pulls my attention away from my phone, three Warriors are walking along the border and I understand that they are on border patrol. They look around as if they are expecting to see someone, but when they see no one is there I see that one of them is mind-linking someone.

Probably the Alpha to let him know that whoever they are expecting isn't here yet and I wonder if they know that Umayza and a Royal Squad are on their way. I researched the territory when I first got here and I know that this territory now belongs to Blue Crystal Pack.

The massacre had been reported to the Council and the former Alpha had asked permission to claim the territory as his own. I am not sure why the Council would send Umayza here, unless they suspect something about what happened here five years ago.

I don't know how long I will have to wait until Umayza shows up and I grab my notes once more. When I found out the name of her previous Pack I went there to find out as much as I could on her and her Father, she had lived there her entire life and for the most part it seemed she had a normal childhood.

Unlike me she was raised by her Father and had stability in her life, I grew up without my parents and there is not much known about me. I took my file with me when I left my Pack and it contains two pages, one of them is a medical statement from the day I was found near the border.

The other page is a statement from, Margret, the female that found me, she wrote down that she found me not far from a female body and the Pack-doctor had examined her for a cause of death. He determined that she was my Mother and that she died of the injuries she had sustained.

How she got those injuries or who inflicted them on her is still a mystery and I have gone back to that spot near our border multiple times, but I have never found any trace of what had happened out there. Margret took me in and raised me as her own, but she never kept the truth from me.

Ma has always been truthful about that day and she has answered every question I asked her, but it didn't bring me any closer to finding out if I have family out there somewhere. My Alpha reported finding me to the Council, but no one ever claimed me.

Ma thinks there is a change my Father is unaware of my existence and that is what I cling to, the hope that he never knew but wished he had. That when I finally find him he will welcome me with open arms and maybe I will find a whole family with him.

Being an only child has it's pro's as I get all the attention I ever needed or wanted and even though no one knows my rank I was never treated any less. Ma is an Omega in our Pack, but our Alpha is of the opinion that every rank is important within a Pack.

He always says a Warrior can protect an Omega, but can't cook to save his own life and that also goes the other way around. Ma loves to cook for our Warriors, she knows exactly what each of them likes and prepares those dishes on their birthdays.

How she is able to remember all that is still beyond me, but every Warrior appreciates her remembering and they are not afraid to tell her that. I smile as I think of Ma busying herself in the kitchen, cooking another favorite meal for one of the Warriors and I slowly drift off to sleep.

Calliope

I have known where she was her entire life, but not once did anyone see if she possessed the gift. Baylinn actually thought I would let her have her fated Mate, but she didn't realize that she was the one to give our Pack the next female with the gift.

Her fated Mate would never have accepted his Daughter's future if he had known the truth about our Pack, for some reason he didn't know what we do for a living and I doubt Baylinn ever told him. I thought I had raised Baylinn to take responsibility for our Pack, but she turned her back on us.

She let her fated Mate mark her and they ran off together. I hunted them for over a year before I finally caught up with her and that is when I found out her Mate was actually a smart male, he lured us away from Baylinn by using her clothes.

We searched for hours to pick up her scent again and when I thought we had finally found it again Wenonah had fallen to the ground in agony. In that moment I knew we had lost Baylinn and with her the chance of getting another gifted female.

My Brother has three Daughters, but none of them possess the gift as I know they never would and Wenonah still thinks she might give birth to the next gifted female, but I know only Baylinn or my other Nieces could have given birth to a gifted female.

My Nieces have been mated for years now and all they have put into this world are males. I thought this was the end of our bloodline until I received a message from the Luna of Bright Moon Pack and I made my plans to get my Granddaughter back.
