

Infinite Mana In The Apocalypse

#Chapter 2291 The Abyss! II

- Read Infinite Mana In The Apocalypse Chapter 2291 The Abyss! II

2291 The Abyss! II

Others who had achieved the 7th Boundary Layer struggled just to take a single step, while Ancestor Rodwig moved freely as his voice surged out while he went deeper in!

<The Pressure of Extremity in this area is denser than anything we've come across, where you won't make much progress moving across it unless you have reached extremely far towards Extremity! If the Boundaries you have are also of a higher ranking at the Innate level or higher, you should be able to move even faster as it is a great place to refine one's Aeonic Soul!>

His eyes were releasing beams of glorious light as he surged forward with a torrential pace of a moving mountain!

He was Rodwig.

Out of the many powerful beings to come out of the Ancestral Lernaean Lineage, there were some that were undoubtedly carrying great Providence and talent.

Rodwig was among such beings as his visage carried multiple Boundaries at the 8th Boundary Layer!noveLnext.cOM

And he felt like this opportunity he had found...may just be enough to finally give him the push towards the 9th Boundary Layer.

A chance for him to gain candidacy to become an Apex Aeonic Lifeform!

<HOOO!>

His body blazed with a terrifying sword light as he arrived before the resplendent black gold lake in no time, his figure leaning down to feel the water as he scooped some to drink, his eyes lighting up even further.

<Good stuff!>

His soul was jubilant at the sight before him as even the lake that the Aeonics Treasures of Extremity floated in was useful for existences up to the 6th Boundary Layer.

Rodwig did not know what exactly this region was that they had stumbled into within the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity, but he would take full advantage of it as like a raging storm, he reached out towards the cluster of Aeonics Treasures of Extremity!

At the same time, far behind him where other Ancestral Lernaean were wading across the radiant black desert sand...

BOOM! BOOM!...

Multiple explosions of new arrivals sounded out as when the black light settled, the gazes of many Lernaean turned ugly.

They turned around to see the fantastical visage of a Lineage they had clashed with a few times, but had nowhere near as much of a history of bloodshed as the Noblesse.

It was the Lineage of Quasarians!

Life forms whose bodies were made up of innumerable quasars to their very cellular structure- beings that carried immense power and mystery.

They were humanoid in appearance, with their skin releasing a splendor stellar light of quasars that constantly spun in a myriad of directions to draw in the Essence of their surroundings as this would be transformed into something their own bodies could assimilate.

Their Lineage held terrifying prowess as at this moment, a group of 6 arrived while being led by a fairly young looking man.

A man whose figure was wrapped in a halcyon battle armor, his hair formed from countless obsidian quasars flowing close to his shoulders as he grasped onto a Spear tightly!

He very quickly gazed at those around them and Rodwig's figure far in the distance as everything was understood quickly, his eyes flashing as his stellar body released a burst of power while his body began to coil like a spring!

<Pass the word that what the Augurs predicted has been found. Any Lineages you meet in here...kill!>

WO!

A pulse of shocking gravitational light burst out as those around him affirmed his command, the figure of this young man shooting out at this moment as if the pressure in the surroundings everyone faced didn't exist for him, crossing across this abyssal desert domain three times as fast as Ancestor Rodwig as he neared one of the multiple points where they could see vibrant lights of Aeonic Treasures of Extremity!

He spoke of the term <Augur> as in the Quasarian Lineage, these were distinguished shamans with similar status to Seers as they could pierce across the veil of Reality to see countless profundities.

Within the Quasarian Lineage, there were even rumors of multiple existences being capable of gazing at the Aeonic Annals of Extremity!

Among those moving across the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution, Quasarians were one of the more dangerous forces as their powerhouses more often than not far outpaced those on the same level- where it was common knowledge that in the hands of truly special Quasarians...they held a Consummate Boundary.

<OOOH!>

The Quasarians that followed the command of the young man surged towards Luthor and other Lernaean, their bodies expanding in unique fashions as they slowly lost their humanoid forms and became massive stellar bodies!

BOOM! BOOM!

And things were just becoming more chaotic as not too long after, the familiar feeling of the VOID blazed as the next ones to arrive were dazzling beings with Halos of light around their limbs and heads.

Carrying eyes of utmost brutality and power, over a dozen Noblesse appeared as chaos and disorder began to burn with greater ferocity.

In the surroundings, traces of NULLITY could be felt as hidden in an even deeper layer, vibrant tendrils of RUIN had also begun to permeate!

-
The golden grandeur of Wisdom spun and wove in fantastical patterns as the Crimson Sacarium Antechamber was rearranged.

The two grand mountains were restored as after the abrupt arrival and departure of the Elder Ancestor Jeremiah, Ophelia had given multiple orders to get things ready!

A majority of the most powerful Ancestral Lernaeanes who had reached the 6th Boundary Layers were placed on high alert to leave at any moment as the Sacarium Antechamber was currently emptied out, the figures of Noah, Ophelia, Katelyn, and Luna being the only ones left as even they were about to enter into a spatial vortex called forth by the only remaining Sacarium Empress of the Abecedarian Sacarium.

Her hands weaved with golden grandeur as she enacted a portal, her radiant visage turning towards Noah who had released his throne as her voice came out.

<What exactly do you wish to achieve in the Aeonian Haven of Dissolution, O True Emperor of Quintessence? Do you truly know the things you can achieve here, or even in the Aeonian Havens we haven't stepped in?>

...!

A stupendous question was posed as behind Ophelia, Noah's figure blazed with radiance!

2292 The Abyss III

<What exactly do you wish to achieve in the Aeonian Haven of Dissolution, O True Emperor of Quintessence? Do you truly know the things you can achieve here, or even in the Aeonian Havens we haven't stepped in?>

Utmost glory and radiance overflowed from Ophelia's light brown skin as she asked with a gaze of seriousness.

Noah gazed at her thoughtfully as he smiled soon after, turning his gaze towards the vibrant spatial vortex she had conjured as his words were exceedingly calm.

<Before we can converse about things so freely, there is still something crucial that you have glossed over.>

<Oh?> Her stellar brown eyes turned into crescent smiles as she turned around to fully face him while the vortex behind her surged.

<Yes. Even after the play put in front of the other Elder and your apparent alliance to my cause, there still needs to be a distinction between our roles.>

...!

His Emperor's robes released arcs of multicolored luster as he looked like a primordial beast gazing at his prey as his words continued.

<Who am I to you, and what are you to me? I'm curious as to what your Boundary of Wisdom is telling you. Are you the prodigy who has hidden herself deeply as you have reached the point to be an Elder Ancestor...or are you something else?>

Elder Ancestor.

A distinguished title and position as she oversaw a whole Sacrarium by herself!

It was a springboard that would allow her to become one of the beings to be fostered by the whole Ancestral Lernaean Lineage as she would receive Aeonic Treasures of Extremity depending on her potential.

Even moreso- her position as a Seer guaranteed even grander possibilities as she would be one of the rare beings that could peer into the Aeonic Annals of Extremity- a tool that allowed a lineage to learn of the many mysteries and Lands to focus on in the Vaults of Extremity.

It was a pristine position to have!

Meanwhile, the being before her was a recently risen True Emperor whose highest Boundary Layer was the 6th.

How would their roles be defined?

Ophelia's eyes became even sharper as they gazed above the vibrant space around them where radiant words only she could see were constantly blooming.

He was exactly as she had seen through Wisdom and more!

She had many choices on which path to take that would actually allow her to bring Wisdom to Extremity.

This was, after all, her main goal!

She, just like this True Emperor before her and the countless other beings on the path towards EXTREMITY were all selfish in getting what they wanted.

Yes, she wanted to rid the Ancestral Lernaean of their weakness that would allow them to condemn their home Plane to extinction.

But the aim of her heart was...Extremity!

And Wisdom told her many things as it wished for this even more than her.

Wisdom told her that this being before her, nay, this Entity before her...he could actually bring her to Extremity!

Not aid her or increase her chances of achieving Extremity, but shockingly a guarantee of it!

The words she saw the first time she met this man blazed before her eyes in gold.

[This Entity can bring Wisdom to Extremity]

The words that had caused her heart to stop in disbelief briefly before she collected herself!

They still blazed with gold flames even now as with a bright smile, Ophelia walked towards Noah's visage once more.

Wisdom told her many things following the first set of words. One of those things was the fact that this being did not come to the Havens of Extremity to make friends.

He came here to Conquer!

HOOONG!

Immense halcyon waves of radiance shone as Wisdom unfurled itself.

The untainted visage of Ophelia...an existence at the level of an Elder Ancestor of the Ancestral Lernaean- she gave her answer as to what role and relationship there was between her and the Last True Emperor as this being...kneeled before him.

Atop the stellar mountains within the Crimson Sacrarium Antechamber- the current Ruler kneeled before the True Emperor of Quintessence!

Luna's eyes were bulging out as beside her, Katelyn's nose wrinkled beautifully as she saw this scene unfold.

<You are the Emperor.>

HUM!

Ophelia's sweet voice came out with utmost calmness as she once again took the right hand of this being before him. She didn't kiss it this time around as she brought its palm towards her bountiful chest, the brilliant golden light having its Source here!

<And I...am merely your Vassal.>

...!

Even though she could be considered an Elder Ancestor of the Lernaean Lineage!

Even though her Boundary Layers exceeded his by 2!nOveℓnext.cOm

Even though she was the sole Ruler of the Abecedarian Sacrarium!

She placed his right hand before her chest as the golden light was wisdom unfurling itself from her very own heart and soul.

And she laid it all bare before him!

<You have my soul.>

WAA!

A fantastical scene played out within the Abecedarian Sacrarium as its Ruler offered her very soul to distinguish the relationship they had, and the being she had offered her soul to...was truly a tyrant as his stellar hand radiating power swooped down and clenched on the vibrant soul without any hesitation!

The essence of Quintessence, Loot, and Blood surged to leave the brand of conquest on this being's willingly exposed soul as a relationship of a Master and Vassal was formed!

In a kneeling position above two stellar mountains, Ophelia felt her very own Boundary of Wisdom actually cheering at her subjugation as she sighed internally, her head tilting up to see the Entity she had bound herself to as she felt a unique sensation permeate across her soul.

She felt the foreign essence of Quintessence that defined this being as she began to marvel at it, with their being many things to explore as Wisdom was telling her if she could learn this Boundary of Quintessence- Extremity would be ever closer!

Bountiful waves of information surged into her mind as she saw this Tyrant take his hand back, her gaze lingering on him as the current reality truly set in.

He came to the Havens of Extremity to Conquer. She... was just one of the first fatalities!

2293 The Abyss! IV

<You have my soul.>

When an exceedingly beautiful existence says such words while kneeling before you, one's heart may just give out at the sheer grandiosity!

Noah took in such a scene and withstood it with his immense will, his voice ringing out as before him, it wasn't an Elder Ancestor that bent the knee- but one of his people.

<This will be the only time you ever have to kneel before me.>

His eyes released beams of glory as his hand moved from her bountiful chest and motioned for her to be pulled up by a calm gravitational force, the complex look on her face prevalent as Noah continued.

<You are one of my people from now on, and beings with such a designation normally don't have to do anything. But you...there is a potential to have you reach a terrifying stage as my first command to you is the comprehension and expansion of Quintessence. Feel it in your soul, expand it into a Boundary. Its mere First Boundary Layer...will likely allow you to bring Wisdom from the 8th and at the very least into the 9th Boundary Layer.>

BOOM!

At the very least!

It meant that in the future, even grander possibilities could come to fruition!

Ophelia knew this being had obscene power, but she didn't think the mere First Boundary Layer of what defined him would be this ridiculous.

She just had to grasp what Quintessence was as when it came to this, Wisdom instantly stirred as yet another message appeared before her.

[The fastest path to attaining Quintessence is to feel it from its Source. Joint cultivation with the True Emperor of Quintessence will expand this Boundary for you right away].

<...>

Ophelia scrutinized these words blankly as she pouted soon after, feeling like the Boundary of Wisdom was too excited for its elevation as it would even pimp her out for it!

But...

She gazed at the Emperor before her and nodded with a contemplative gaze as she wasn't averse to this.

So towards his words, her reply was calm.

<I should be able to expand into the First Boundary Layer of Quintessence within the day. Wisdom has shown the means to make it possible.>

She spoke as her figure moved closer towards the spatial vortex she had conjured up, disappearing into it with a smile as she beckoned towards Noah, Katelyn, and Luna.

The three disappeared into it soon after as they left the Crimson Sacarium Antechamber to appear in an entirely new location.

They had moved from the depths of the Abecedarian Sacrarium and to its fringes as they appeared in a stellar region as the very peak of this Sacrarium, spinning multicolored rivers of reality forming walls around them neatly as above them, the thick barrier that covered the vast Abecedarian Sacrarium could be felt.

Below them, the stellar bodies and rivers of reality stretched down endlessly as countless life forms could be felt moving about.

And not too far away from them, a massive black gold creature that looked like a primordial sting ray could be seen- an entire citadel built atop its back as auras of the most powerful Ancestral Lernaean that would be setting off for the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity were already on it!

<This is the Abecedarian Observatory, where you can see the endless radiance of this Sacrarium below us. The Sacrarium that now belongs to you.>

...!

She faced him with a dazzling smile and presented an entire Sacrarium to him as Noah truly took a different route today!

He could've done things like before where he silently infiltrated into the Abecedarian Sacrarium as he turned most of its forces into his Vassals while working his way up- eventually reaching Ophelia and Vulcan while staying low-key.

But he had done the opposite of this as he came for the Rulers first, and within an hour of his entrance into the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution, one of the Dominions of the Ancestral Lernaean had fallen into his hands silently!

<Mmm...> Noah gave a light nod as his body released a pulse of light, recording the coordinates here and sending them to the Infinite Pylon of Ascension as he continued.

<I'll bring some of the leading figures of the Barren Lands over in a bit. You can have them familiarize themselves with this Sacrarium and the workings of the Ancestral Lernaean.>

<Understood, Sacrarium Master.> Ophelia nodded without a delay as afforded Noah a title, her tongue rolling out the words as if it was a test as she smiled right after.

Her body then began to release tendrils of domineering light that formed into pure Aeonic Soul Power that converged in front of her- forming into a humanoid shape as it was her Aeonic Soul Clone!

It was akin to splitting one's Soul in half as it carried extreme importance, the visage of a beautiful woman identical to Ophelia forming as waves of Aeonic Soul Values formed a white gold battle armament.

<My Aeonic Soul Clone will accompany you to the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity on the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter before us, while my main body will stay back and get to know my new friends here and the ones that are coming after.>

Her stellar brown eyes came to focus on Katelyn and Luna as Noah nodded slightly at this, turning towards Katelyn as he pushed the silver strands of hair on her head aside and kissed her forehead, this being the first time he was leaving her since they got together.

<I'll be back in a little while. Explore the Abecedarian Sacrarium and wait for another one of my clones to arrive soon.>

Katelyn nodded with a light smile as Noah then turned towards Luna and nodded.

< Mother-in-law.>

Luna still watched everything happening with disbelief as she could only nod back naturally, watching as Noah's figure turned into a streak of light towards the massive Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter in the distance as Ophelia's Aeonic Soul Clone followed closely beside him!

Chaoticus Behemoth Beasts were massive in stature as they required an existence at least of the 7th Boundary Layer to tame them, their massive figures being able to cross the skies and space of the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution with relative ease while providing a masking effect towards the many natural creatures and Entities in these vibrant lands.

A sharp tail that seemed like a burning sword with black gold flames surging around it constantly waves behind the back of this Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter as Noah landed in the center of the metropolis built atop it, using Vulcan's memories freely as he prepared to do many things!
nOvelnext.cOm

His main body and clones were focused on Cultivation as there were boons from Vulcan to open, and he had to see just what grand opportunities lay waiting in this Abyss that just appeared within the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity!

2294 The Abyss! V

In the Planar Palisades of Extremity.

Noah's Infinite Plane floated calmly, veiled in the vastness of this place as within it, bountiful transformations were constantly blooming.

His people were within the Aeonian Haven Boundary Space as they tried to feel the concepts expanded towards Extremity- Little Henry being the only one so far as it was easy for him when it surged within his Quintessential Kainos Emperor Lineage!

This Child of Destiny now bubbled with great power as his Aeonian Soul was getting refined, the first Layer of Blood being achieved as he now resonated his soul to very quickly attain Quintessence and Loot.

The Dimensional Rulers were a step behind as unless they had help from Noah in unique methods of Cultivation or a rapid increase in their Aeonian Soul Values- expanding the Boundaries would be nearly impossible!

An overly strong soul was required to stretch and expand concepts into something else as if they weren't someone like Noah or connected directly to him, it would be a slow process.

Further into the depths of the Infinite Plane, Noah's main body was surrounded by the 9 Quintessential Dimensional Chassis and three Quintessential Extremity Clones of Loot, Blood, and Quintessence were rotating around him as vibrant waves of Boundaries surged around him while seeking Extremity- every single one absorbed into <Quintessential Sanguine Clone Cultivation> as within a day, Noah would be able to bring one of his Boundaries to the 7th Layer!

And this process may possibly happen even sooner than that as his current focus was on which paths in addition to Loot, Blood, and Quintessence he had to take towards Extremity.

The Boundary of Dimensions was one of them as it was intricately connected to his Origin, and there was the possibility of the fusion of Mana and NULLITY that he had to succeed in bringing together, or even possibly fusing Mana with other states of verisimilitude like RUIN!

Manadynamics was another focus along with which types of Natural Laws would be expanded next- his heart surging towards Entropy as the very nature of Reality was constantly heading into more and more disorder.

There were many possibilities, but he liked to simplify things and focus on a single path as he now looked at the boon from the elimination of a Sacrarium Emperor.

<1x Crimson Aeon Quintessential Treasure Cache of Vulcan has been obtained.>

This was the prompt that rose before him when Vulcan perished as it wasn't a common Aeon Treasure Cache like the one he received from Theseus and Desiderius.

It skipped Obsidian and went straight to Crimson as it foretold that the type of Loot obtained would be drastically different compared to before!

And Noah's main body called forth this dazzling Treasure chest to open at this moment as the plasmic seas of essence in the Source of Reality seethed, a massive treasure chest radiating intense waves of Extremity appearing as its size constantly changed from a grain of sand to being as vast as a Cosmos.

Spacetime fluctuated around it as it opened with a loud cry of glory!

WAA!

Rapid bursts of essence unfolded as a crimson point of a singularity bloomed, followed by an obsidian one, a golden one, and then 10 points of fiery red singularities all surged out from the opened Crimson Aeon Quintessential Treasure Cache of Vulcan!

The prompts that showed what this represented were glorious.

<1x Complete Crimson I Aeon Pearl of Extremity has been obtained.>

<1x Complete Obsidian Aeon Pearl of Extremity has been obtained.>

<1x Complete Golden Aeonic Pearl of Extremity has been obtained.>

<10x Refined Aeonic Sanguine Singularities have been obtained.>

...!

Complete Aeonic Pearls of Extremity.nOVeInext.cOmm

When he opened the Aeonic Quintessential Treasure Cache of Desiderius and Theseus, he was granted Loot like <Complete Golden Innate Sword Boundary Pearl> that granted the first Three Boundary Layers of the Sword.

Now, he received Complete Aeonic Pearls of Extremity that didn't have a designation of a specific Boundary- and he had Crimson, obsidian, and golden-tiered ones!

And the Crimson one was given a further distinction of <I> as it foretold there would be <II> and possibly <III>!

If what he thought was correct...

<Complete Crimson I Aeonic Pearl of Extremity>:: A type of Loot of Extremity that has a chance of coming out from defeated enemies that have at least reached the Tth Boundary Layer. Quintessence and Loot constantly strive to improve the type of loot you receive, and they have eliminated the loot that grants a specific Boundary based on the target it was obtained from. Instead, a Loot of Extremity that is applicable to any Boundary was born. This Complete Crimson Aeonic Pearl of Extremity contains within it references to expand any concept to the 7th Boundary Layer, with the expanded concept having a ranking of an Obsidian Innate Boundary at the very least, and possibly a higher ranking depending on the expanded concept. When enemies even closer to Extremity are killed, even more pristine Aeonic Pearls of Extremity with greater usage and boons will appear...

<...>

A treasure worthy of the glory that Quintessence and Loot promised!

It shimmered with a stellar Crimson light as it seemed like a cosmic panacea, the light it released causing one's Soul to tremble as it innately made everyone want to devour it!

Noah's eyes shone with utmost brightness as he confirmed the Obsidian and Golden Aeonic Pearls of Extremity as well.

<Complete Obsidian Aeonic Pearl of Extremity>:: A type of Loot of Extremity that has a chance of coming out from defeated enemies that have at least reached the 6th Boundary Layer...This Complete Obsidian Aeonic Pearl of Extremity contains within it references to expand any concept to the 6th Boundary Layer, with the expanded concept having a ranking of a Golden Innate Boundary at the very least...

<Complete Golden Aeonic Pearl of Extremity>:: A type of Loot of Extremity that has a chance of coming out from defeated enemies that have at least reached the 3rd Boundary Layer...it contains within it references to expand any concept to the 3rd Boundary Layer, with the expanded concept having a ranking of a Crimson Planar Boundary at the very least...

Glorious forms of Loot that wouldn't taint Noah with random Boundaries from every enemy he killed, and they were simply universal in nature as he could expand any concept to the required stage with them!

All that was left now...was how he would utilize this Loot, and just which concepts were going to receive a stupendous boost to be elevated to the 6th and 7th Boundary Layers with the boons of the Complete Obsidian Aeonic Pearl of Extremity and the Complete Crimson I Aeonic Pearl of Extremity respectively.

2295 The Abyss! VI

A Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter shone with crystalline black gold grandeur as it phased through the barriers of the Abecedarian Sacrarium, turning into a streak of black gold light that shot out into the distance!

The skies and space it crossed were always unique and filled with variation when one took the endless stretches of the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution into account, Noah staring at it all as he thought of all the possibilities here.

One of the biggest things was a more rapid progression of his Boundaries as he also came across the unknown that always held many surprises.

From the enemies he met here, he could also continue to devour and refine bloodlines to an even greater level as truly...there was much to look forward to!

This was especially so as his Main Body took hold of the Complete Aeonics Pearls of Extremity as he could get more of these from the enemies he defeated here.

The sheer fact that Loot like this existed because of his Boundaries showed just how rapid and exponential his path of power could be as if he utilized a Complete Crimson [Aeonics Pearl of Extremity on any single concept, he could instantly bring it to the 7th Boundary Layer as with if such a concept was deemed Quintessential by the Boundary of Quintessence, it should theoretically also be able to naturally expand to the 8th and 9th Boundary Layer!

But Noah was forced to say theoretically as due to the fantastical nature of such a possibility, he had resonated with Quintessence a great deal over the past minutes to see just how such a scenario would play out.

And the result was undetermined as the difficulty of raising the latter Layers was hard! The closer one went towards Extremity, the slower and more arduous it was as unless Quintessence itself was at the True 9th Boundary Layer, it was hard to say if its effects would truly be fully applied to it and other Boundaries as they came ever closer towards Extremity!

But he could theorize and look at the countless possibilities all day, or he could simply act and see how things would unfold.

HUUM!

His Origin buzzed with radiance as an intense will emanated from him, multiple decisions being made as a vibrant voice emanated beside him.

<The Abecedarian Sacrum is in a relatively peaceful region that's only attacked by NOBLESSE Legions every now and then for retaliation of recent wars, and the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity are further inward within this vast Aeonics Haven of Dissolution as it comes close to the explored borders of the Lernaean, Noblesse, and Quasarians. We should be able to arrive within a day.>

Ophelia's honey-like voice resounded as the two of them were at the peak of a tall glass Monolith at the very forefront of the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter, the peak of this glass Monolith having a circular crystalline observatory that reflected everything outside.

It reflected the scenes of an expansive sky that held railings tendrils of NULLITY further away, and an earth that was filled with twisted rivers of cosmic light and death as NULLITY surged below as well.

nOVelnext.cOm

Traversing even a few million light years in the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution would allow one to cross multiple different environments and atmospheres, where one could go from seeing regions filled with life to regions full of death and destruction in a short period of time!

Everything seemed chaotic and vibrant with dangerous waves of Extremity...and yet it also felt extremely stable as if this Haven would never fall.

They would traverse over an unknown number of light years as within a range of hours depending on if they came across any spatial vortices and wormholes, they should arrive in the Abyss!

But while Noah and Ophelia took one of the many parties of Ancestral Lernaean towards this location, the situation within was changing drastically as the providence of too many was involved!

-

BOOM!

The figure of Ancestor Rodwig smashed backwards on the black gold lakewater as he had a ferocious expression on his face, his hands moving around him and pulling on the nearest glimmering herbs that were Aeonic Treasures of Extremity as he stuffed them towards his mouth and devoured them entirely!

His body would then be covered by a shocking glow as it gave off even grander waves of power, and he roared out as he shot back from the direction he was knocked from to continue a battle with a terrifying enemy.

The one who put an Elder Ancestor of the Lernaean Lineage into such dire straits was a young man of the Quasarian Lineage- a being whose very skin was formed of minuscule stellar glowing and spinning quasars as he looked like a stellar cosmic existence out of pure fantasy!

His body constantly released terrifying waves of gravitational force and heat as he was one of the many figures known by enemy Lineages during any wars or skirmishes.

It was a Commander by the title of Prince Zagugan!

Stemming from a royal Lineage of the Quasarian Bloodline, any Quasarians with the title of a Prince was theorized to have the precious Consummate Boundary that these beings could carry.

It caused the situation to turn entirely sour for the Ancestral Lernaean as they were fighting for their lives at this moment, the time they had in the Havens of Extremity truly being too short to match Lineages like the Noblesse and Quasarians.

Ancestor Rodwig had a grim expression as he felt the essence of multiple Boundaries he had brought to the 8th Boundary Layer boil, where he was actually forced to consume the Aeonics Treasures of Extremity around him just to keep pace with this fairly young creature before him!

Based on his description and stature, Rodwig instantly knew from their intelligence that this was one of the more active Princes of the Quasarian Lineage near their border, the one termed Prince Zagugan.

And this being looked at him with a gaze of utter power and disdain as after their initial clash and the increasing chaos as Noblesse also joined the fray, this being had enough.

BZZZT!

His body contracted and expanded in its beautiful humanoid form as stellar black flames rose from it...the aura of an 8th Boundary Layer from the body of this being rising at it maddeningly began to give off waves of grandeur at the 9th Boundary Layer!

It caused Ancestor Rodwig's Aeonics Soul Clone to become ashen as even in such a chaotic scene...

ROAAR!

A bellowing roar that shook the very space they were in was released far from this location as all beings here instantly felt their hearts lurch and constrict.

The air of primal chaos and age erupted out as from depths of the Abyss, a massive shadow was cast aside from clusters of Aeonic Treasures of Extremity, unknown Entities were making themselves apparent in this region!

It was bound to add even more disorder to an already chaotic situation, and the True Emperor of Quintessence was on his way here at this moment!

2296 Aeonic Quintessential Mana Soul! I

When there were clusters of Aeonic Treasures of Extremity stretched out across the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution, who said that they had to have been serenely growing isolated and accumulating the essence of Extremity in nature?

Who said that Entities could not be around Aeonic Treasures of Extremity?

And if there were Entities near an Aeonic Treasure of Extremity and it wasn't plucked or devoured...it could only mean that even if they devoured it, it wouldn't have any uses for them!

They...had simply exceeded the stage where they could be helped by the level of Aeonic Treasures of Extremity that others considered rare and pristine.

The truly cognizant beings among those who had jumped onto the expanding black abyss within the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity had thought processes along these lines as they saw a massive shadow cover them.

A shadow that stared at them further away and momentarily stopped all battles- with its sheer massive stature being one part that caused them all dread as the other...was the amalgamation of waves of Extremity that were at the 9th Boundary Layer at the very least covering all of its scales.

Its visage could barely be made out behind the massive obsidian film of light that was in the distance and surrounded by twinkling lights of Aeonic Treasures of Extremity!

Ancestor Rodwig stared at this as he became more and more grim, feeling like they had stumbled onto a shocking secret and a region they should not be in.

What they were coming across now was something they would have considered an Esoteric Entity- a native of the Aeon of Dissolution that would be born and die here.

Maybe even a variation of a Chaoticus Behemoth Beast, but...none of these seemed to truly fit the criterion!

They knew that there were more powerful Chaoticus Beasts out there whose bodies were radiating NULLITY, but from afar...Ancestor Rodwig could swear he was feeling the dreadful waves of RUIN from the roars of the colossal Beasts that roared towards them.

But...it remained behind the Obsidian film of light that rose upwards like a curtain of grandeur. nOveℓnext.cOm

A curtain that held floating Aeon Treasures of Extremity, and as soon as all beings here realized this, their bodies lit up powerfully again as they resumed their battles and struggled to get the nearest treasures around them!

Ancestor Rodwig was pulsing with power and ready to go when he actually heard the mutterings of the enemy who seemed even more shocked than him.

<When the dark lands filled with treasured light are unveiled and those imprisoned within roar out with rage, the Extremity Sanctification will begin...it is truly this?>

...!

The gaze of this Quasarian shook as it repeated the words passed down from the most powerful Augur of their Lineage.

Ancestor Rodwig heard these words and turned even more somber, his Will surging into the Automaton Boundary Modulators floating around him as he urged those coming to come even faster!

Otherwise, he could not guarantee that any of them here would still be alive when the reinforcements came.

There were even the dangerous words that Prince Zagugan had spoken eerily that he recorded word for word and sent them through the Automaton Boundary Modulator!

Words that spoke of Extremity Sanctification!

-

The Havens of Extremity were endlessly vast, with Noah feeling this truly for the first time as hours passed while the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter crossed a myriad of different regions in the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution.

Some matched the memories he had attained from Vulcan and Theseus, others seemed entirely foreign.

He had crossed Lands that had rivers of reality shift to become jagged mountains of NULLITY, and skies turned from being filled with typhoons of NULLITY to being filled with hazy golden clouds that rained down waves of potent essence.

Some areas showed fractured Planes of Existence with deathly gray rivers of reality and strewn Cosmos- more than likely domains that didn't survive the ravages of time or were destroyed in the hands of others.

A myriad of Chaoticus Beasts roamed the vast stretches of the regions they crossed as in the skies, Beasts that took to the air were kept away by the pulsing aura of the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter as they followed a path established and known by the Ancestral Lernaean that didn't have too many dangers!

Even at this very moment, they neared the position of another Sacrum close to this path as Noah only saw it at a distance, with the Boundary of Loot being among the few things urging him to go towards the unknown Abyss that seemed to hold great opportunity.

Beside him, Ophelia's Aeonic Soul Clone had been discussing with him dense amounts of information, introducing the regions they passed as well as the structure of the Ancestral Lernaean and anything that covered gaps within Noah's memories!

As she talked, Noah could feel a hint of hesitation from her as she seemingly couldn't bring herself to do something.

He smiled lightly as he had his guesses, seeing that they were not far from the coordinates of the Abyss as he asked.

<What is causing hesitation to rise within you? Someone of your stature must be displaying this purposefully for me to see and bring up.>

He knew how terrifying a Seer like her was as she had robust clusters of information at her fingertips, with her being one of the more terrifying Elder Ancestors purely due to access she had and its foresight as everything she did had to have meaning and plans.

She chuckled at his words as she spoke with exasperation.

<It's just that...I know the method to very quickly achieve the First Boundary Layer of Quintessence and rapidly improve my power as you mentioned, but...! wasn't sure if you would be willing as we had just met. So I spent the last few hours speaking with you and increasing our familiarity.>

...!

<Oh?>

Noah let out a knowing smile as it didn't need to be said explicitly for one to know what she spoke of!

2297 Aeonic Quintessential Mana Soul! II

Frankly, Noah could have chosen to give her the recently achieved Complete Golden Aeonic Pearl of Extremity as it would have expanded a Boundary she chose to the 3rd Boundary Layer.

But why do this when there were other methods easily accessible and could preserve his Loot?

He also knew himself and was true to his nature.

He knew that apart from enjoying the wonders of Mana, Reality, and food, he also didn't deny that he indulged in and enjoyed the company of women.

If it was also something that could further increase his strength and theirs, it was all the more reason to do it and enjoy the time one had- whether they lived for a few years or billions of years.

And he had yet to fully test to see what the results would be in the advancement of Boundaries towards Extremity through Dual Cultivation, with now being a good a time as any to confirm as the other party was someone that even had more Boundary Layers expanded than him.

Any process of Dual Cultivation should actually help him more than her, but all of this had to be studied intricately!

Ophelia showed a pouting expression towards Noah's knowing smile as her light brown skin glimmered with even more radiance.

<These aren't things someone like me can speak about freely. Don't tease me about this, Sacrarium Master.>

This exceedingly beautiful woman actually gazed down shyly with her stellar brown eyes as Noah couldn't stay still after this, his hand moving her sparkling dark hair aside and pulling this powerful Elder Ancestor closer as the Observatory they were in at the very forefront of the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter became wrapped in a protective domain nobody could see through, Noah's strong voice being the only thing resonating out at this moment.

<Then, let us get to know each other, Ophelia.>

WAA!

The True Emperor of Quintessence descended to devour the fruit before him as its boons...were yet to be known.

-

Noah delicately began to process of Dual Cultivation with the Sacrarium Empress of the Abecedarian Sacrarium with his True Sanguine Clone that was connected to his main body intricately, where he was capable of seamlessly infusing the authority of the Boundary of Quintessence and study just how the progression of Boundaries towards Extremity was while conducting this type of Cultivation!

This...could easily be seen by him as he looked at the Quintessential Experience Points of Extremity on the bar of the Boundary of Quintessence that he was putting as the focus while subtracting the points he gained every second due to the Quintessential Extremity Clone of Quintessence cultivating.

While he began this experiment in the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution with his clone about to arrive towards the coordinates of the Abyss, his Main Body had also decided the path to follow as he narrowed things down to the Boundaries of Manadynamics and Dimensions.

As for which of these two would enjoy the fruits of the Complete Crimson I Aeonic Pearl of Extremity...it actually came down to his current power and what his biggest weakness was!

His current power was bolstered greatly by his Boundaries of Loot, Blood, and Quintessence, where he could actually match existences that had only expanded one or even possibly two Boundaries to the 8th Layer.

But if he met an existence who had an overly refined Aeonic Soul and multiple Boundaries at the 8th Boundary Layer or even those who had reached the 9th Boundary Layer, Noah's clone may be in trouble.

And the crux of this came with his biggest weakness currently.

'A single usage of the Planar Domain of Quintessence devours a majority of my Aeonic Soul Values...'

Yes!

With a single cast of his most powerful Planar Domain that lasted two minutes, he would be deprived of the ultimate ability that Boundary Expansion Realm existences had until he fully recovered his Aeonic Soul Values within the next half hour- which was also something only possible due to the boons of Manadynamics.

Most beings didn't normally start by deploying their Planar Domain in group battles right away unless it took a tenth of their Aeonic Soul Values or less, with Noah's Planar Domain having such high requirements for the current him due to the obscene effects it had of suppressing beings 2 levels above him!

So he had to cover this weakness first as one solution was for his soul to continue its exponential strengthening, with its current Soul Values having already exceeded 100,000 as his Aspects of Existence constantly underwent ridiculous passive Refinement.

But this would take time.

nOvelnext.cOm

Another path lay in the expansion of a Boundary that dealt with essence and balance- and even more importantly, breaking this balance when it came to him.

The answer was none other than Manadynamics as in the Source of Reality within the Infinite Plane, Noah pulled upon the blazing Crimson singularity that seemed like a cosmic panacea as his soul tugged onto it- beginning to devour its essence as everything was directed towards the portion of his Quintessential Aeonic Soul that contained Manadynamics!

HOOONG!

Radiance lit up within his soul.

The vast area that was akin to an endless sea holding Manadynamics felt a surge of Extremity as it began to bubble with grandiosity, a surge of a gorgeous cerulean blue beginning to bathe Noah's soul at this moment.

Mana.

Something inextricably linked to his Soul as when Noah looked at him elevating it to an unbelievable level, he couldn't help but gaze at it with high expectations!

What would it give him now after all the wonders he could already do with it?

The First Layer of Manadynamics involved boons for both him and the Infinite Plane, so there was a lot of speculation on what its future Layers would contain as this was not just something Noah was expanding...but something that governed the Infinite Plane as well!

BOOM!

Noah's soul felt an explosive expansion and Refinement of his Soul once again as the True Layers of Manadynamics without any added effects of Quintessence began to surge at this moment.

<The Second Boundary Layer of Manadynamics has been achieved.>

<The Third Boundary Layer of Manadynamics has been achieved.>

<The Fourth Boundary Layer of Manadynamics has been achieved...>

WO! WO!

His soul was euphoric as he felt a surge of pure blue essence pulse and release a maddening symphony.

A symphony of power and wonder as his Quintessential Aeon Soul cheered it on, his Aeon Soul Values bubbling and charging upwards as if they hadn't already risen enough for the past day!

He closed his eyes to feel all this wonder as his many Clones reacted to this transformation, their bodies becoming covered by tendrils of pristine cerulean Mana as it felt like extremely pure and condensed essence of Extremity!

In the far away Lands of the Aeon Haven of Dissolution, Noah's True Sanguine Clone was studying the effects of Dual Cultivation on the progression of Extremity when this clone also erupted with a surge of Mana, surprising Ophelia before him as she felt the First Boundary Layer of Quintessence she was seeking instantly appear before her, and another Boundary that seemed as vast as a stellar blue sea also flashing before her eyes as she felt like with her connection to the Emperor above her, she could also achieve this!

It didn't seem any lesser than Quintessence as Wisdom pushed her body ever closer to Noah for her to attain this as well.

Pure wonder was occurring all around as Manadynamics broke the shackles of the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Boundary Layers in a matter of moments as currently, it knocked on the door to the Seventh Boundary Layer in order to propelled the True Emperor of Quintessence to the highest Boundary Layer he had achieved yet!

2298 Aeon Quintessential Mana Soul! III

He felt utmost grandness coursing through him.

The further he traveled on the path of power, the more exquisite and profound sensations he felt as the path towards Extremity...was something so uniquely connected to the core of a being that the slightest change was magnified to a tremendous degree on one's Soul.

And at this moment as he stepped towards a Boundary Layer that was ever closer to Extremity, he felt his Quintessential Aeon Soul quiver and undergo a sort of tribulation as the essence of Extremity from the Boundary of Manadynamics surged into it!

The authority of Extremity that he and all others sought entered his soul and refined it to an even greater level, his Aeon Soul Values continued their exponential rise as a portion of his Soul was being carved out just for the Tth Boundary Layer of Manadynamics.

But more than this...

CRAACK!

In the Observatory at the very forefront of the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter where Noah was undergoing dual cultivation with Ophelia, space split apart as the ever present waves of Extremity that always pressed down on everything began to explode into tendrils that surged into the body of Noah's clone.

This essence then crossed space and time to the main connection of this Body, Origin, and Soul as it bathed all of Noah- with an even more profound change occurring thereafter as around all of his clones and Main Body, Reality began to twist and distort at seas of pure blue plasmic Mana began to converge around them!

It seemed like a dense cerulean sea gradually formed from the very foldings of Reality and Extremity as all of it...surged into Noah's visage.

Into his soul!NovELNext.cOm

98% of all this sea of Mana tainted with waves of Extremity surged into his soul as another percentage bathed his Origin, and another percentage bathed his Body!

It was a process akin to Noah's soul undergoing yet another round of reformation and rebirth as it would take time, Noah feeling the abundant waves of information of the Layers of Manadynamics beginning to appear in his mind as he sorted them out while feeling the ongoing transformation.

<The Second Boundary Layer of Manadynamics>:: Æ unique type of Mana empowered by Extremity surges across your Aspects of Existence constantly, energizing you to your lowest molecular structures as you gain an augmentation of +500% to All Aeonic Parameter Values. Additionally, the Infinite Plane that is governed by the Fundamental Natural Laws of Manadynamics has gained access to Mana that has been empowered by Extremity, this essence beginning to pervasively spread across the Infinite Plane as its environment will gradually change to become similar to the Havens strewn across the Vaults of Extremity...

'Very good... Noah's whole body and the bodies of his clones were covered by seas of Mana as tendrils of blue light surged around them, but this didn't stop Noah from nodding his head at the augmentation of the Second Boundary Layer of Manadynamics that granted a bigger boost than the ones from the Boundaries of Loot and Blood.

His eyes currently blazed with tendrils of potent cerulean light as he gazed at the next gold blue bordered prompt filled with details.

<The Third Boundary Layer of Manadynamics>:: The Quintessential Aeonic Reality Passages in your Origin are further expanded and reinforced as pure Mana constantly cycles through them as the means of the Aeonic Resource Master are further expanded, and you can regenerate any and all Resources within the span of ten minutes. Manadynamics can now seamlessly produce Aeonic Mana of Extremity, a type of high tier source of essence that can begin to reform all features of the Infinite Plane. The Defensive and Offensive Features are reinforced the most as Aeonic Mana Constructs of Extremity can now be designed and stationed across the outer barrier of the Infinite Plane...

<The Fourth Boundary Layer of Manadynamics>:: As the first Fundamental Natural Law to be expanded towards Extremity, its Source has expanded to an unnatural degree and completely eclipsed other Natural Laws. The degree of Extremity emanated from the Source of Manadynamics has now begun to proliferate and affect the remaining Natural Laws as over time, they will passively be expanded towards Extremity in order to maintain a balance of Nature...

The Third Boundary Layer of Manadynamics was stupendous as it further cut down the time Noah could fully recover his Aeonic Soul Values and any other resources from 30 minutes to 10, but the Fourth Boundary didn't personally grant him any particular boons right away.

Not right away, but this single Boundary granted him stupendous unmentioned boons as a moment after, a myriad of other prompts rose before his eyes as the whole of the Infinite Plane churned.

<The Fundamental Natural Law of Entropy has begun its expansion towards Extremity.>

<The Fundamental Natural Law of Providence has begun its expansion towards Extremity.>

<The Fundamental Natural Law of Continuity has begun its expansion towards Extremity...>

<...>

An explosion of authority and essence raged as Noah gazed at it all with a silent smile, his bodies bathed in dazzling blue seas.

All the Natural Laws were spurred towards Extremity by Manadynamics as even though the Fourth Boundary Layer didn't explicitly state boosts for him, it was one of the Layers that granted him unimaginable boons with its results!

Then, there remained the wonders of the 5th Boundary Layers and onwards still!

<The Fifth Boundary Layer of Manadynamics>:: For the cost of 50% of your current Aeonic Soul Values, you can change your body to become that of the Aeonic Arcane Mana Entity that passively transforms any sources of essence that it comes in contact with into its own essence. No energy will be lost as it will only be changed into a different form, allowing for the attainment of Complete Extremity Nullification I for 3 Nanoseconds as any concept of Extremity at the 9th Boundary Layer and below will not be able to damage you. Across the Infinite Plane, Arcane Realities of Extremity will begin to manifest as such stellar constructs are capable of generating unique Aeonic Treasures of Extremity that can be utilized to bring a concept of Extremity upto the Fifth Boundary Layer...

WAA!

2299 Aeonic Quintessential Mana Soul! IV

A burst of grandiosity erupted from Noah's eyes at the information coming out of the Fifth Boundary Layer of Manadynamics as he felt the Source of Reality vibrate with wonder.

He resonated and connected with it as he instantly felt the changes occurring across the Infinite Plane, his will being drawn to the Aeonian Haven Boundary Space where Eowyn and other Dimensional Rulers were seeking Extremity along with many others.

Here, he saw the brilliant eruption of a dazzling stellar blue light as a vast river of a cerulean reality formed from a singularity- multiple more clusters of singularities blooming with radiant blue lights and coiling to form a Grotto Haven of cerulean wonder that released the bountiful authority of Extremity!

Within these formed Arcane Realities of Extremity, Aeonian Treasures of Extremity would passively bloom due to nothing but the Fundamental Natural Law of this Infinite Plane.

'And they really treated Natural Laws as trash Boundaries worse than even Planar Boundaries...'

Noah shook his head at the foresight of the Ancestors who weren't able to easily expand Manadynamics and other Natural Laws towards EXTREMITY, otherwise they would have been one of the strongest forces that waded across the Havens of Extremity!

After all, if they had the boons that were shown on just a single one of the Natural Laws- even the Aeonian Treasures of Extremity they sought would have been coming to them freely.

But ignorance was a killer of progress as how could they know what they missed out on?

Noah observed the marvels of Arcane Realities of Extremity forming throughout the Aeonian Haven Boundary Space as across the Infinite Plane, some were even forming above within the 9 Dimensions and around the massive Cosmos stretched throughout.

Noah would have to study these new Realities after their formation and just how long it took for them to condense Aeonian Treasures of Extremity as for now, his gaze came back to the waves of information that Manadynamics provided!

The boon for him was entering a state of indestructibility for 3 nanoseconds by gaining Complete Extremity Nullification 1! It meant there were other tiers of Complete Extremity Nullifications apart from this First stage that could already grant Noah brief invincibility from the 9th Boundary Layer and below, and it made him expectant on the future states of this boost as his eyes came to focus on the next Boundary Layer.

The ever so important 6th Boundary Layer that came with a Planar Domain!

While he began reading it, Noah's eyes lit up as he saw the Aeonically Arcane Mana Entity was expanded upon as it wasn't just something he could use defensively now!

[<The Sixth Boundary Layer of Manadynamics>:: Æ grandiose Arcane Planar Domain of Mana can be laid down at the cost of 10% of your Aeonically Soul Values every nanosecond. With this domain laid out, you can call forth your Aeonically Arcane Mana Entity indefinitely as long as the domain is active. In the Aeonically Arcane Mana Entity state while under the Arcane Planar Domain of Mana, you can also draw in and transform the essence around you constantly to release an output 2x that of your All Aeonically Parameter Values. The cost to call forth other Planar Domains while this Arcane Planar Domain of Manais in place will come at no cost to your Aeonically Soul Values as the Aeonically Mana of Extremity begins to course through you freely...]

[...Furthermore, the Aeonically Haven Boundary Space of the Infinite Plane begins a fundamental change as areas of Blessed Aeonically Havens of Manadynamics form- with existences spending at least 24 Hours in these domains with sufficiently strong Aeonically Souls that can handle the surge of Extremity being capable of attaining the First Boundary Layer of Manadynamics. Progression towards the next layers of Manadynamics up until the highest layer achieved by you will also be ten times faster in these domains...]

...!NOVELnext.cOm

His blood felt like bubbling magma as it became extremely heavy- becoming wrapped with a new source of Mana that was now being termed the Aeonically Mana of Extremity!

This was something that would passively occur even without the activation of the Sixth Boundary Layer, with fantastical possibilities waiting in store for it when Noah actually called this Planar Boundary forth.

It was a stupendous boon as this...wasn't even the last!

This whole time, his soul was being bathed with Mana that he now knew to be Aeonc Mana of Extremity.

As for what its boons were and how greatly it differed from normal Mana, he had yet fully ascertained.

Seas of blue constantly surged into his Soul mainly, but they also painted over his Body and Origin as the result of it was shown now!

[<The Seventh Boundary Layer of Manadynamics>:: As you reach even greater heights of this concept towards Extremity, its usage and means become even more clear to you. This Boundary Layer grants the transformation of your Aeonc Soul to an Aeonc Quintessential Mana Soul born to seek EXTREMITY. The Aeonc Quintessential Mana Soul disdainfully gazes at the resource cost of abilities that pulled on its past self as it tells you to let Aeonc Mana of Extremity bear a portion of the weight for all abilities cast that require Aeonc Soul Values. You have an infinite amount of Mana, so let it be put to use. 90% of all the required Aeonc Soul Values required to cast anything will be paid for by the Aeonc Mana of Extremity...]

[..Any abilities cast by you from here on out with your Aeonc Quintessential Mana Soul will be subtly altered as you also gain access to (Aeonc Mana of Extremity Manipulation), an ability that allows you to release pure Mana into any constructs you may imagine, with slight limitations. The effect of this Boundary is mainly applicable to the True Emperor of Quintessence and will be redesigned when other beings are given access to expand Manadynamics to this level...]

...!

An explosion of a type of Mana so pristine that nobody should be able to use exploded out!

Noah's soul surged with shock and euphoria as the color blue exploded madly with all of his bodies!

2300 Arrival! I

An indescribable sensation coursed through him.

In his body, his Quintessential Aeon Soul had gone to bathe everything to the level of his very cells down to the last atom, with countless wisps of his Soul permeating through and connecting everything.

This was a stage and transformation all beings underwent while they went ever closer towards Extremity. Their souls would gradually connect with every single aspect of their existence as they became more and more in control and proficient in its manipulation!

They could more easily alter the reality around them and manipulate their souls to establish their own versions of Reality through the concepts they expanded towards Extremity.

When one went from the 8th and into the 9th Boundary Layer, their closeness towards Extremity granted them a transformation of the soul in relation to the rest of their Aspects of Existence as everything...became one.

The transformation Noah was experiencing from the effects of the 7th Boundary Layer of Manadynamics as his soul was turned into an Aeon Quintessential Mana Soul was actually equivalent to other existences normally reaching the 9th Boundary Layer as the countless wisps of his Soul all across his Aspects of Existence...entirely and completely integrated into his Body and Origin.

HOOONG!

Seas of glorious Aeon Mana of Extremity surged all around him as they kept the incandescent blue, but it was tinged with a brightness and ancientness that could burn the eyes of weaker beings!

It all surged around his body as his soul completely integrated and became connected to every part of him, where if he just willed any part of him to move- he would mobilize all the strength of his Soul to erupt instantly.

He could move in nanoseconds and gaze at things at an unimaginably slow pace, but he felt like he could see things even slower at this moment as weaker beings below his level may not even be able to see how he moved!

This change to his soul was truly fundamental and Quintessential as his Will expanded outwards powerfully, covering the vastness of the Dimensions, Realities, and Cosmos within the Infinite Plane even without utilizing his connection to this construct.

It spread out across its boundaries to even wade across the Planar Palisades of Extremity that the Infinite Plane was floating in!

He could cover a ridiculously vast distance with his Soul as he felt like the moment he wanted to, he could appear and make a move in any of this vastness that he covered.

-

Near the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity.

The changes Noah went through also erupted around the True Sanguine Clone that was Dual Cultivating with Ophelia, the eruption of essence being too much for this Elder Ancestor as she was pushed away with an explosive force towards the other end of the Observatory!

Noah's soul reacted fast as wisps of his Will instantly stopped her from smashing into the crystalline glass, the radiant glow around Ophelia being even more brilliant than ever as she waved her hands while pouting in protest.

<Time out...time out! Let me consolidate everything first...>

NovELNext.cOm

A white gold robe came to drape over her as she had experienced shocking changes with the burst of power just now, her soul very clearly feeling the radiant multicolored waves of Quintessence coursing through her along with the wonder of a second Crimson Innate Boundary of Manadynamics!

Two Crimson Innate Boundaries!

She felt them clearly transform her soul as the first Boundary of Quintessence caused all her other Boundaries to churn, any Boundary that she had below the 6th Boundary Layer being forcefully advanced 1 extra layer.

As for her single Boundary that she had focused on to reach the 8th Boundary Layer...she also felt its stagnant progress erupt upward and surge towards Extremity once more!

She knew that she was barely a hundredth of the way across the 8th Layer, and yet its progress exploded at this moment to climb over halfway to the 9th Boundary Layer.

This alone was unbelievable as she heard Noah's voice ring out while Aeonic Mana of Extremity transformed into a cerulean gold Emperor's Robes around him.

<The First Layer of Quintessence will automatically elevate any boundaries below the 6th Boundary Layer one additional layer, but for anything exceeding the 7th Layer and upwards, only half of this effect is achieved as when Quintessence itself reaches these Layers...the full effect will be applied.>

Noah's voice carried a golden trace of Wisdom as from this Cultivation session, he had also obtained the First Boundary Layer of the Obsidian Innate Boundary of Wisdom!

He confirmed the effects of Quintessence on the later layers past 6 as even for Manadynamics, Noah only felt it progress halfway past the 7th Boundary Layer!

Half of the effect would be achieved unless Quintessence itself arrived at the sought after Layer.

If it reached the 9th Boundary Layer, it could expand the additional Layers of Boundaries up to this level!

But even with half of the effect, if Noah deemed Manadynamics as Quintessential to gain the boon of a second additional layer, he could at this moment take Manadynamics from the 7th to the 8th Boundary Layer.

The same applied to Ophelia as her stellar brown eyes showed immense amazement, information flowing into her mind about the First Boundary Layer of Quintessence alone as just with this...she could obtain the other half of the Boost as long as she deemed Wisdom as Quintessential!

<Good, let's keep going!>

Her soul was about to make a move to achieve something she thought was millions or billions of years away when all of a sudden, her gaze changed as she gazed out from the Observatory.

Noah's soul that had expanded outwards to cover vast regions nearby had already seen everything occurring out there as he voiced out with a smile.

<Have your main body consolidate everything and deem Wisdom as Quintessential. You should achieve the 9th Layer by then as for now...we seem to have encountered guests.>

WAA!

Yes.

As they appeared near the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity, their surroundings became filled with tendrils of cloudy skies of Nullity and glacial mountains below them.

The temperature dropped to shocking levels as even existences who had merely achieved the First or Second Boundary Layers would be frozen in Body, Origin, and Soul within moments in this region!

Since the eruption of the multicolored light of the Aeonie Treasures of Extremity and their discovery by multiple Lineages, Noah's force wasn't the only one heading here.

There were many from the Ancestral Lernaean that may have already arrived to reinforce Ancestor Rodwig and the others, and of course...the forces of the Noblesse and Quasarians that have also discovered this would also be here with even more of them coming!

As they came closer, they would naturally run into other forces as at this moment, a massive teardrop-shaped obsidian interstellar vessel that was a streak of dark light heading towards the Endless Abyssal Thalassic Caverns of Nullity stopped its advancement.

It stopped and turned its ominous gaze towards the Chaoticus Behemoth Transporter they were on as within an instant, it began floating over towards their direction!

Undoubtedly, these existences wanted to eliminate the enemy forces before they were even able to reach the location filled with clusters of Aeonie Treasures of Extremity.