

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2361 Immovable! II

Chapter 2361 Immovable! II

Over a dozen silver gold bastions of defensive lights that would take simultaneous strikes from over a dozen Unequaled Reverend Emperors to get past were released.

Yet when the metallic blue essence arrived...these layers of defensive lights didn't even receive an impact as the Boundary Essence that made them...seemingly turned into a hazy state, instantly changing its colors from silver gold to metallic blue as the descending power that was a fusion between two Boundary Essences cleanly cut through- its concentration even increasing the more it moved forward!

Others may not be able to see what the intricacies behind it were, but Titus saw it clear as day as he felt his soul shake.

The metallic blue essence didn't meet any resistance where it went as it instantly changed the nature of the opposing essence that stood before it, transformed it into an essence akin to it, absorbed it, and nullified everything entirely!

When it came across an opposing essence, it entirely altered it and devoured it to become a part of its strengths as it became ever more concentrated and faster.

It meant that the layers of defenses that should have taken even Titus at least ten strikes to get through...were entirely bypassed and shredded in an instant as the metallic blue light smashed into the body of the glorious Haven Disciple!

...!

There was no explosion, blinding light, or a booming impact.

The terrifying light sunk into the body of the Haven Disciple freely as an instant later...all light and life force emanating from this being disappeared.

All the stellar silver gold radiance around this Planar Halcyon Sparrow disappeared as its massive body began tumbling to the ground below- golden dreamy sands reaching out to grasp it as if they were welcoming the corpse to its eternal grave!

And from its body, the terrific metallic blue light emerged with even greater vibrancy and power as it instantly shot towards another direction.

...!

Titus saw this scene as he felt as if his soul was standing on pins and needles, instantly pulling out two Apex Aeonic Soul Totems and activating the first one to release a silver gold light that protectively hugged his body!

<Fuck...fuck, fuck!>

Expletives escaped his mouth as he saw the deadly light that he assumed to be a type of Dynamis of Extremity wildly rush towards another Haven Disciple- everyone here beginning to feel surging waves of danger as their destinies warned them of their possible ends!

Titus looked at the unfolding scenes as he once more felt like he stood at a crossroads of choices.

Choices!

Had he made any right choices today?

Was the choice he was currently on the right one?

'And why the hell haven't I received any replies yet?!

He screamed inwardly as by now, he should've heard back from other groups of his Genesis Institute of Extremity or even have some of the more powerful beings near this location.

His choice to stay on this path was dependent on them- and this was why he had called for help!

...!

When he had this thought, his soul trembled as he was forced to remember something one of his most prized teachers had told him a hundred years ago.

<Titus, you will come across many trials in your life. Something you need to remember is that in all of them, your life should always lie in the palm of your hands. If you ever find yourself relying more on Totems or the strength of others, you are leaving your life in the hands of Destiny. And destiny...is very, very fickle.>

WAA!

This memory blazed in his mind as he shuddered!

He...he had actually risked his life on the premise of relying on others to come and aid him.

How did he miss this? How did he forget something so critical?!

'Damn.'

Seeing the unfolding situation and putting his life in his own hands...he instantly made another choice.

Among the decisions he made today, this was the single most right one!

BZZT!

His magnificent Planar Halcyon Sparrow form turned around to instantly make a withdrawal and leave the battlefield as he forsaken his goal of obtaining the secrets of this Mysterious Entity right then and there!

Even though he had sacrificed many things to gain nothing, he would not put his life on the line any longer when this Entity revealed too many unknowns.

So he made the right choice, but...

BOOM!

His massive silver gold body was frozen in place as he felt his neck constricted, a voice reaching his ears as it originated much too close to him!

<I told you...that I would fuck you up.>

...!

While they were all focused on the horrifying metallic blue essence and what it was doing, they had lost sight of the man himself as he appeared right in front of Titus's retreating figure, his right hand clamped on his feathery neck as it felt like an Extremity Metalloid had clamped down on his body!

NoVExt.cOm

Vibrant metallic blue light covered the skin of this being as he looked like a devilish creature emanating essence from Unrecorded Aeons!

Yes, Titus had made the right choice. He had even made this choice as he chose to retreat first without alerting the Haven Disciples that followed him to this change- all for the sake of buying time for his retreat!

He made the right choice, the only problem was...he made it too late.

The silver gold defensive layer born from an Apex Aeonic Soul Totem around him didn't disappear as this being had forcefully constricted it onto Titus's feathery skin, the metallic blue glow around his hand clashing and shockingly pulverizing the power of this Totem ever so slowly as it actually seemed to win over it!

Titus had one more Apex Aeonic Soul Totem that he crushed at this moment to cause an attack to bloom right in front of the head of this being, silver gold light illuminating him as a boundless cluster of claws unfurled inches before his face.

And all there was...

BZZZT!

Was a scathing clash of Essences as the metallic blue luster on his skin actually kept the essence of Apex Aeonic Soul Totem at bay!

Titus's heart dropped at such a scene as a horrifying outcome neared this startling battle!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2362 Immovable! III

The luster of his skin carried a dazzling lividus color as a metallic blue luster radiated from him- this vibrance actually able to hold back the grandeur of the essence of an Apex Aeonic Soul Totem!

A power that was approaching Apex Aeonic Lifeforms!

All of this was due to nothing other than the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity.

The convergence of Mana and Nullity that created a new essence- something that from a preliminary look...Noah saw that it could transform the essence of other beings into other forms and even devour this essence into itself, with the essence of Boundaries at the 9th Boundary Layer finding it hard pressed to stop it!

Then came the effect on himself.

When he allowed this essence to roam freely in his body and Origin.

It was a type of Essence that should've been unreachable for someone like him- where even now as the Convergence of Manadynamics and Nullity slowly climbed past 1%...Noah still found this essence extremely hard to control and holding a tremendous cost to use!

His Aeonic Soul Values were rapidly decreasing as the only reason he wasn't entirely drained at this moment was because of the brand new effects circulating that this essence brought.

Since it was something a step above Boundary Essence and even closer to Extremity, his Origin, Soul, and Body cheered as his Aspects of Existence swallowed the metallic blue essence and underwent even greater change!

<An Essence reserved for Apex Aeonic Lifeforms is coursing in your Aspects of Existence.>

<A tremendous refinement and strengthening effect is applied to your Aspects of Existence!>

<Continued Refinement with the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity will open a pathway to forge a Type of Extremity Foundation geared towards the efficient Convergence of Threads of Extremity.>

...!

Boundless sources of information were constantly being infused into Noah while his True Sanguine Clone moved in the Abyssal Sanctimonious Lands, where even now when his right hand clamped onto the feathery neck of Titus and clashed with the essence of an Apex Aeonic Soul Totem- he was told of a tremendous blessing!

A Type of Extremity Foundation.

What Titus and others came to the Youngest Haven to achieve!

They came here seeking the Extremity Panaceas that even the Mad Apex Emperor Caesar wanted for his daughter in order to forge an Extremity Foundation that would allow them to smoothly become Apex Aeonic Lifeform and set up the building blocks to reach Extremity, but Noah could attain his own Extremity Foundation at this stage so long as he continued refining his Aspects of Existence with this new quality of essence!

This was his reward for achieving the impossible.

Something that even those in powerful factions from other Havens couldn't imagine.

And...he wasn't alone in this.

There was also the Infinite Plane.

It was governed by Manadynamics as at this moment, this governance had the intrusion of Nullity into it!

While Noah experienced the changes of this Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity, the Source of the Infinite Plane quaked as the dazzling silver of Nullity bloomed within it.

nOvelnext.coM

A light of nothingness and change mixing with the governance of Essence!

<The Infinite Plane has gained access to a new source of energy and authority.>

<The Authority of a Dynamis of Extremity courses through the Source of the Infinite Plane>

<The features of the Infinite Plane begin to undergo Quintessential elevations.>

...!

Many things occurred as even grander things were initiated. I think you should take a look at

The quickest ones...

<The Offensive Feature of the Aeonic Planar Xyston of Extremity has been born.>

<The Defensive Feature of the Aeonic Planar Aegis of Extremity has been born.>

...!

Terrifying new tools bloomed as Noah felt like he was receiving an overload of information from multiple sources!

From his Aspects of Existence. From his Origin. From the Dynamis of Extremity he had yet to name!

There were too many things coming towards him all at once.

His Soul felt like a small boat in the midst of a raging sea, barely weathering the storms around him as it drank from this sea and became ever more stable.

Because of the vastness of the sea that would take a long time to understand, he had to tune everything out at this moment!

And so he did.

All of his clones and main form stopped the blatant usage of the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity.

Only his True Sanguine Clone in the Abyssal Sanctimonious Lands continued to shine with a metallic blue luster as the heavy cost of this authority was greatly reduced.

And as soon as he did this...

BZZZT!

The last layer of defense brought about from the Apex Aeonic Soul Totem around Titus shattered!

The sharp points of silver gold lines that was another dreadful attack from a Totem...only left a white mark on his forehead as it didn't pierce his skin that was bathed with the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity.

It was a fantastical development as he looked at the enormous form of the Planar Halcyon Sparrow, his hand tightly sinking into the dazzling silver gold feathers around its neck as the essence of the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity...already seeped into Titus's body!

His eyes locked with the gaze of this Haven Disciple who seemed to have many chaotic chaotic ideas in his head as he spoke lightly.

<I want to thank you for dropping by my feet and doing what you did today.>

WAA!

Noah's utterance was utterly serious as the actions of this being had spurred him forward, acting like a grinding machine where he came out of the other end even stronger!

Titus had attained an exceeding sense of calmness the moment that the defenses of the Apex Aeonic Soul Totem around him were broken and the terrifying essence around Noah entered his body, his Aspects of Existence beginning to feel cold and empty as when he gazed into the eyes of the being before him, he truly saw they were genuinely thanking him!

When he gazed at them, he tried to leave behind the rising remorse as he could only utterance out...

<You utter fucking monster...>

SAA!

Four words.

And that was it!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2363 Immovable! IV

<You utter fucking monster...>

SAA!

Four words.

And this was it before the light in the eyes of this pristine existence faded.

He was alive in one moment, and gone in the next as the terror of the utilization of a Dynamis of Extremity was extremely unique!

It was akin to a scene that had occurred not too long ago amidst raging storms of Ruin where in a certain Plane, a shackled existence with only sockets for eyes had escaped.

His enemy did not even know when they had truly died, only realizing at a certain point that it was it for them as everything about them disappeared soon after!

<...>

The massive body of the Planar Halcyon Sparrow wasn't held up by Noah any further as he released it, dazzling sandy gold dunes rising from below and accepting it into their folds as the body was preserved in pristine conditions.

At the same time, the reality of what had just occurred set it as the remaining Haven Disciples...roared out while releasing their own remaining Apex Aeonic Soul Totems while they turned into blazing silver-gold lights to escape into different locations!

Noah's eyes were unfettered as events seemed to be playing out in slow motion under his eyes bathed in the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity- eyes that currently watched a dazzling pair of prompts.

<The Sources of 12x Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearl of Extremity have been absorbed into your body.>

<The Sources of 1,000x Crimson Planar Origin Panaceas have been absorbed into your body.>

Prompts that didn't include the bodies and blood that Noah had kept intact!

Similar prompts that appeared when he killed the first Haven Disciple came, the only difference being that Titus granted 3 more Sources of Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearls of Extremity!

Along with this, the memories of Titus surged into his mind as they reinforced and expanded what he learned about from the memories of the first Haven Disciple he had killed.

Memories of the Aeonic Haven of Genesis and the Genesis Institute of Extremity!

Memories of the structure and Civilizations of a few different Havens, and of the experiences of 900 years this being had as shockingly, when Noah arrived at the portion of the memories that involved a specific being...

BZZT!

An oppressive light flashed.

It was a memory.

And yet within the vast array of memories, one particular one was Titus seated as he stared towards an aged man on a simple feathered throne.

The man seemed to be passing on the knowledge of Extremity as the moment Noah arrived at these memories, they shockingly stopped being so!

The aged man seated on the simple feathery throne raised his head and sighed as next, he stared straight towards Noah's will that was gazing at everything.

...!

And the right hand of this being snapped as an instant later, Noah felt a portion of his Soul sapped away- his mind entering the body of Titus seated on a halcyon marbled floor as the memory seemed to become reality!

---

Across the workings of spacetime continuum.

In an Unrecorded version of reality.

In the deepest reaches of the first Haven to undergo Extremity Sanctification- the Aeonic Haven of Genesis.

The marble gold floor beneath him was warm to the touch as it pulsed with life and grandeur, Noah placing his hands on it as he rose and gazes at his surroundings.

The marble floor had massive golden pillars and archways surrounding it, stellar and tall trees swirling with liquefied essence of Boundaries seen in the far distance as this location seemed to be at the very top of a mountain. I think you should take a look at

A mountain that when Noah stared further outwards, he could see numerous radiant Planes of Existence surrounding it that each held an overabundance of life!

And at the center of this marbled floor atop a stellar mountain surrounded by Planes, a simple feathered throne lay as the being seated on it spoke with a sigh while gazing at Noah's figure that looked around as if nothing here fazed him.

<I take on very few Disciples, and you have killed one.>

WAA!

His tone was deep and ancient.

His visage was astounding as a head full of vibrant white hair could be seen, his aged face filled with an unbelievable sense of beauty and grandeur that would make others lost!

Noah's will that was brought here across spacetime finally turned to actually gaze upon the existence that had reached Extremity before his eyes.

Titus's strongest teacher- Marcellus!

Towards his statement, Noah only nodded lightly as he was given just a glimpse of the shocking power existences that had far exceeded the stage of Apex Aeonian Lifeforms.

This being had merely appeared in a memory of another existence, and yet he had somehow caught Noah's portion of soul and brought it into this memory as if it were a reality!

When Noah spread his Will out from this grand mountain peak, he genuinely felt as if he was in an entirely different space- as if he truly was in the Aeonic Haven of Genesis as everything around him felt extremely genuine!

But he wasn't afraid.

This was still just a memory no matter how much it seemed like a reality!

The Existence that had reached Extremity rose from his throne as he looked at Noah closely, his voice continuing to ring out.

<What happened to cause conflict between you all? He should've barely just arrived near the Initiating Extremity Vein of Dissolution with his team. And for an existence below the stage of Apex Aeonic Lifeform to kill him is even more surprising...>

He seemed more curious than anything else as Noah actually couldn't see rising rage or wrath from this being!

So he replied calmly while walking towards the edges of the golden marbled floor and overseeing the fantastical domain that was only a portion of the Genesis Institute of Extremity. NoVElnext.cOm

<His destiny sparked conflict while lying to him that he would obtain some great boon from me. He instead received an early end to his life.>

<Oh?> The brows of the Extremity Existence rose as he nodded. <I always did tell him that Destiny can be very fickle. If I ask, would you allow the rest of his team to live if they aren't already dead? I'll put something up for you.>

This existence stroked his beard as he spoke, Noah gazing at the wonderful expanse before him as he shook his head!

<Since I started this, I will just finish it. Killing one or killing eleven isn't too big of a difference. Although...can I now expect a distinguished being that has reached Extremity to be seeking me for revenge and retribution? I can't promise you that things won't end the same way as they did with Titus.>

BOOM!

His contained Will surged with Tyranny as he spoke fearlessly towards a being with unknown strength and standing!

And this being...actually smiled while shaking his head.

<No revenge or retribution from me. Though his Lineage within the Institute may seek recompense. When you reach the stage of Extremity, you mind come to understand many things...and just how crucial every single Apex Aeonic Lifeform or potential Apex Aeonic Lifeforms are. It is why I sought to save the others if possible. But fate is what it is. If our paths cross again in the future, I may even discuss destiny with the lifeform capable of wiping out a team of Unequaled Reverend Emperors with multiple Apex Aeonic Soul Totems...>

...!

CRACK!

The artificial reality began to break and fracture.

Noah nodded sharply while turning back to stare at the being that had reached Extremity.

It seemed like there was much for him to learn and understand about this stage.

But at this moment in time, he did not look back on his deeds as his Will left this recollection to erase every single Haven Disciple that threw attacks his way!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2364 The Spear And The Shield I

The skies burned with a verdant light of life.

The earth shone gold and black as apocalyptic mountains burned furiously, golden sands roiling as they already held the bodies of two Planar Halcyon Sparrows!

At the center of the skies, a Recorded Apocalypse bloomed as in this stellar field of battle, the most powerful auras were spreading out and leaving in different directions for nothing other than escape.

And how could they not escape when the most powerful among them just had his soul erased with utter ease?!

Their hearts burned with regret as the being they had surrounded and attacked this whole time came back to full attention, his body feeling the arcs of an essence that came from a combination of two different Boundaries as he didn't actually give chase.

He would be able to do it with a little bit of effort from chasing each one, but Providence told him one or two would actually make him give chase across the Abyssal Sanctimonious Lands as he could choose a more optimum path!

And that path...

His mind buzzed as he computed countless threads of information and arrived at a single one. It was actually one of the boons to come from the fruition of the Unknown Dynamis of Extremity- the newly elevated features of the Infinite Plane!

The Aeonic Planar Xyston of Extremity and Aeonic Planar Aegis of Extremity! Noah traced their descriptions as he saw a myriad of similarities among them, eventually seeing the two features come together under a single description to tell exactly what they stood for.

<Aeonic Planar Xyston of Extremity and Aeonic Planar Aegis of Extremity>:: The Offensive and Defensive components of the Infinite Plane manifested by its Master. The Xyston and Aegis carry great Aeonic Planar Defense Values and Aeonic Planar Damage Values equivalent to the Weight and Sources of Extremity currently bound to the Infinite Plane. Due to their nature, they heavily amplify the abilities of the Master of the Infinite Plane as abilities can be cast through these weapons to achieve a quintessential effect. All abilities cast through the Aegis and Xyston be infused with the Unknown Dynamis of Extremity from the Source of the Infinite Plane, with two preset modes of offense and defense also being possible. The preset modes of [Planar Emperor's Stellar Bastion of Immovability] and the [Planar Emperor's Stellar Spear of Penetrability] can be utilized at no cost to you, all resources paid for by the Infinite Plane. Including these preset abilities, all abilities cast through the Aegis and Xyston carry Absolute Aeonic Automatic Targeting- where once an enemy is chosen as the target of the ability, it will cross the spacetime continuum or even versions of different realities to always reach the chosen enemy. Additional features of the Aegis and Xyston are still being added with the transformation and expansion of the Infinite Plane, with their base utilizations also coming at no cost to you...

Yes.

A power that required him a great deal of resources before, and yet now...the cost was paid for by the Infinite Plane that had begun to collect Sources of Extremity and continued to expand and proliferate even though Noah had not absorbed any new Minor or Major Planes of Existence!

In the past two days since it entered the Planar Palisades of Extremity, it had more than doubled in size and the number of realities and cosmos within it- purely from the spurred changes brought about with the expansion to Extremity.

It was becoming more and more like a miniature Haven as at this moment, Noah's will called out The Aeonic Planar Xyston of Extremity and Aeonic Planar Aegis of Extremity!

—

What was he doing now?

Ayame was already given a great surprise at the might of the displayed Dynamis of Extremity, but she also expected it at the same time as whenever she sparred with Apex Aeonic Lifeforms, their utilization of essence that exceeded normal boundary essence always caused her great difficulty!

She knew that normal methods could not handle it. Even the essence of Apex Aeonic Soul Totems...only clashed with it as since the Dynamis essence was closer to the means of a genuine Apex Aeonic Lifeform- it would win in the end! And this was showcased when the one called Titus fell.

But as his entourage scrambled to escape, Ayame wondered if she should lend a hand as she had now mixed herself in with the threads of Fate after stopping the communications of these beings. She wondered this because Osmont didn't make a move instantly as they escaped, but a moment later...her eyes fluttered greatly.

This being suddenly released a stellar glow as in his right hand, a dazzling spear shining blue, purple, and gold appeared. Its spearpoint was excessively sharp as it caused one's eyes to prickle, while multicolored lines of realities flowed out at its base to give it an ethereal flow! At the same time, a shield holding similar colors came to be grasped on his forearm as it was a perfect circle- its exterior being inscribed with multicolored stellar infinity lemniscate runic etchings that pulsed with the essence of multiple Sources of Extremity!

Osmont seized these two weapons as Ayame felt her eyes open wide at their appearance- her soul feeling a sensation that exceeded any EPOCH Relics as they seemed to give off waves of essence close to Apex Aeonics Relics if not exactly the same!

Holding the spear and shield, he looked like an ancient warrior from eons ago as paired with the cerulean grandeur and pulsing Haki surging around him- he carried an indomitable sense of grandiosity!

And at such a juncture, the stellar blue form of this being glowed as the essence of the Dynamis of Extremity gloriously shone on his body, with the only action he did...being to push his shield and spear forward.

Simple.

And yet...nine streams of a metallic blue light flashed out as they rushed towards the 9 different directions that the Haven Disciples had disappeared towards!

Ayame happened to catch the unbelievable sight that bloomed next as the most this being made this move, spacetime twisted as a terrifying essence was carried over at an insane speed to instantly appear above the heads of the radiant Planar Halcyon Sparrows from afar! nOvelnext.coM

Above some of them, a massive multicolored illusory Aegis flourished in the skies as it spun with horrific gravitational waves that would put even Major Planes of Existence to shame- these waves fixing the Haven Disciple in space as the illusory Aegis then descended while spinning with even greater force- the metallic blue light of a Dynamis of Extremity shining from it as even though the body of the Haven Disciple was left intact, Ayame could see that with every spin of the Aegis- a desiccating force smashed and crushed the soul of the Haven Disciple on all sides as death was the only possibility!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2365 The Spear And The Shield II

A massive illusory Aegis appeared above some of them as it spun with heavy gravitational waves that seemed to carry the essence of twice a dozen Boundaries on top of the essence of a Dynamis of Extremity, grinding down the enemy's soul from afar as on top of other Haven Disciples, the illusory scene of multiple spears of light bloomed as they cascaded down with immense brilliance!

Such a scene appeared simultaneously on all Haven Disciples as none were spared.

OOOH!

Many of them felt these shocking waves of power and the unprecedented danger their souls felt- those with Apex Aeonis Soul Totems still using them as all they did was buy them a little bit more time, with those who simply tried to defend with their 9th Boundary Layers finding the essence of a Dynamis of Extremity unimaginably hard to bypass as their souls were ground down in an instant!

A single attack where he simply pushed forward a shield and spear...simultaneously targeted 9 beings in different directions and oppressively crushed down with Dynamis of Extremity- grinding their souls as if they were at the very center of a forming singularity of infinite density and gravity.

It meant that within a single move, the grand light of Soul Totems was shredded apart as the soul light and the authentic force of life in Nine Unequaled Reverend Emperors...was extinguished simultaneously.

<...>

Their bodies lost their support as they still seemed lifelike, but they fell towards the cold earth as nine dense streams of golden sands stretched out from afar to receive them, welcoming them into their final sleep as at such a scene, Ayame couldn't help but smack her lips!

She was further recalled of the mysteries and anomalies out in the vastness of Extremity that could always change things, with a whole party of Haven Disciples from one of the Oldest Havens never expecting to fall even before they laid eyes of the Extremity Vein of the Youngest Haven.

It was a reminder, but just that.

She appreciated the power and decisiveness this being showed as she was even more interested by his capability to bring two concepts of Extremity to Converge, but that was it.

Intrigue.

She didn't need to attach anymore to it than that as similar to this being, she could also be considered an existence that was anomalous and mutated compared to others!

So she had enjoyed the show as she nodded with a smile and prepared to leave, when...

<Leaving so soon?>

WAA!

The magnetic voice of the existence valiantly holding a stellar spear and shield reached her position as her brows rose.

He was able to see her?

—

<The Sources of 9x Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearls of Extremity have been absorbed into your body.>

<The Sources of 1,000x Crimson Planar Origin Panaceas have been absorbed into your body.>

<The Sources of 9x Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearls of Extremity have been absorbed into your body.>

<The Sources of 1,000x Crimson Planar Origin Panaceas have been absorbed into your body...>

Before his eyes, a set of two prompts repeated 9 times over as 81 Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearl of Extremity had their Source absorbed into his body.

More Pearls than the number of Boundaries he now held as every single one could be brought to the 9th Boundary Layer as the Sources of the remaining Pearls...he could even pass them through his lineage to others connected to him!

Boundless waves of information flowed in his mind as he admired the power of the Aeonic Planar Xyston of Extremity and Aeonic Planar Aegis of Extremity, his Soul then calling out towards a certain direction where an existence who had subtly interfered in today's battle was about to leave.

<Leaving so soon?>

...!

His words came as a surprise to her, his eyes able to see this clearly as in the next second, her figure was unveiled.

Fiery gold hair releasing lights of splendor.

A crimson horn radiating immense power rose on her forehead!

Eyes that gave off a feeling of immense confidence and power as if in this whole Haven, not a single being would be able to give her any sense of danger- Apex Aeonics Lifeforms and Existences that had reached Extremity included!

Seeing that Noah had actually to see her when nobody could, her feet moved a single step as an instant later, she materialized a few feet away from Noah.

<Yes, I am. I interfered because their actions were distasteful to me, and now that things are done, I shall leave. It was interesting to observe you, Osmont.>

She talked freely as Noah's body still pulsed with the grandeur of a stellar shield and spear arcing with the core of a Dynamis of Extremity that utterly eradicated Unequaled Reverend Emperors, and yet she didn't show an ounce of fear as if this was something she could handle!

And Noah...he could barely discern anything about this being as even when he fully utilized the authority of Providence and his expertise in the Aeonics Annals of Extremity...only a letter of two of her name was coming to him!

The being before him seemed to sense this as she laughed calmly.

<I am known as Ayame. Ayame of Infinite Extremity.>

...!

BOOM!

The surroundings buzzed chaotically at the mere mention of her last two words as Noah's eyes constricted, his Soul even feeling the events playing out being recorded with ever greater clarity in the Aeonic Annals of Extremity!

<Infinite Extremity.>

He knew of this from the memories of Titus and others that he had just killed.

One of the ancient inheritances to exist in the Havens of Extremity.

Their name was boldly Infinite Extremity!

They held great weight in the Aeonic Haven of Genesis as it was common sense for no beings to ever mess around with those who proclaimed themselves to be from this aged inheritance.

Against her magnificent introduction, Noah didn't feel any sense of inferiority or act differently- the mention of this ancient behemoth she belonged to meant nothing to him as he knew of his own boons and talents!

So just like she had introduced herself...

<I am Noah Osmont. The True Emperor of Quintessence!>

WAA!

The manifested Dream, Prana, and Apollyon Planes vibrated with glory at his mention as he nodded lightly while moving past Ayame.

<Thank you for the aid.>

He was unfettered in his demeanor as Ayame's eyes shone while she watched him pass inches from her, his form becoming humanoid and devilishly handsome as he moved ever further into the Abyssal Sanctimonious Lands without looking back. NOvElnext.cOm

Behind him...a fantastic landscape was left behind!

It was forever altered as in the skies, a verdant stellar forest remained with radiant cosmos shining brilliantly, and on the earth below- golden sand dunes and crimson mountains releasing tendrils of chaos remained.

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2366 The End Of The True Emperor Of Destiny! I

Across the Havens of Extremity

Near the Styx Regality Plane.

A thin golden Boundary stretched out for light years as it released waves of golden destiny, reverberations booming within as a great battle unfolded.

Towards a corner of this domain, one young man floated with an aura of sharpness and power as he seemed like a blade ready to strike at any moment.

He watched.

With every ounce of his Aeonic Soul, he watched every single move that the trapped enemy made as his goal was to ensure that escape wasn't even a possibility for him!

After all, the enemy had something as unpredictable as the Eyes of an Apex Aeonic Lifeform!

BOOM!

A golden light exploded out as the surroundings were filled with golden Treasure Caches releasing beams of light that snaked around the whole domain- giving the two Noblesse Reverends that had joined the fray trouble along with the main target of today's venture- Oppenheimer!

On top of the Planar Domain of Loot, seas of crimson blood occupied and encircled all other areas as the multicolored light of Quintessence formed into unique constructs that also closed off all sides.

The only being at the center of this all was Oppenheimer as his body moved with contained calmness and a somber expression!

He currently faced the attacks of all Dimensional Rulers here as a valiant Eowyn was at the forefront, her golden hair radiating might as she merged with the golden light of Loot while swinging a massive blade that held a half-crescent moon at its hilt- the grandeur of Ruination also being put to use.

On top of Eowyn and Arthus, Lilith, Guinevere, and other Dimensional Rulers who were all utilizing the Boundaries that stemmed from a single man, the roaring figures of Kazuhiko and the Emperor Penguin were among others who weaved in and out to release attacks on all sides that made sure Oppenheimer couldn't make an escape in any direction.

Even though he held the eyes of an Apex Aeonc Lifeform, he had not been able to leave this whole time!

Every point of space was covered with Boundary essence as if there were any gaps...the dreadful light of an Undead Legion buzzing with Boundary Essence filled it as Barbatos sat atop an Aeonc Abyssal Bone Dragon also watching everything closely.

It had been minutes since the battle began, and Oppenheimer still couldn't break out as the only reason he had survived so far was the multicolored glow released from his eyes.

It rebuffed and reduced the might of the attacks of the inhabitants of the Infinite Plane that had reached the 8th Boundary Layer easily as it was the only reason this being was still alive!

But after these few minutes, the cost of keeping this up was wearing him down as his soul could already feel the strain.

His golden destiny that always showed him innumerable routes only had a few lines he could follow- with most of them requiring him to sacrifice everything just for the possibility of escape!

So for the first time since the encirclement began...

"Why would you all so vehemently do this?"

WAA!

His booming voice filled with majesty echoed out as he weaved across the cylindrical beams of light coming from treasure chests, the light of Destiny knocking back the flippers of an arrogant Penguin at the same time while the tentacles of the Kraken barely grazed his body!

There were too many enemies around him as his voice continued to ring out. I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

"I alone worked to save you all when a Noblesse located our Plane of Existence. My methods may have been brutal, but it was the only way as the other option was complete annihilation!" NoVElnext.cOm

...!

He always showed the serenity and regality of an Emperor.

After all, he had risen and reigned over an entire Age- even coming to end an Era!

And even now, he had only taken a few of his Boundaries to the peak of the Seventh Boundary Layer due to the Eyes of Clarity, and yet he stood against multiple beings who had achieved the 7th Boundary Layer in multiple Boundaries.

He was brave and indomitable as anyone at the same stage wouldn't be able to match him!

Yet now, he spoke with a sense of urgency as the innumerable routes he always had were slowly dwindling amidst this trap.

"Hah! You worked to save us? You decimated the forces of the Dream Dimension among multiple others just to cement your reign, you ripped apart my Aspects of Existence in front of my own father!"

BOOM!

Eowyn bellowed out with burning anger as from her body, blue flames rose as a tinge of Manadynamics bloomed!

Oppenheimer released tendrils of Destiny to block this off as he replied.

"This was in a time of war where each of us was fighting for the title of True Emperor. I had to dominate a certain few to gain the might to save all the 9 Minor Planes and the Desolate Mausoleum. The reason you all stand here today and why Desiderius did not deserve everything was because of me. Me!"

...!

Anger seemed to be rising from the visage of the True Emperor of Destiny.

How long had he worked for this? How far had he come?

He came from nothing to overcome Destined and Chosen Emperors as today...it would be the same!

The eyes transplanted on his sockets gazed and calculated everything as an instant later, they turned towards the direction of the devilishly handsome youth who seemed to be silently weaving and controlling the direction of this whole battle.

Unseen tendrils of Destiny and Providence surged from him as Oppenheimer could see one of the few remaining pathways...was this being.

And so...

SHIING!

Space twisted and contorted from the usage of the eyes of an Apex Aeon Lifeform as Oppenheimer instantly appeared before Henry, spears of Destiny booming out while his voice emanated out.

"The only reason you were even born was due to me ending an Era and giving your father the chance to stand atop a new one. All of you owe your lives to me!"

BOOM!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2367 The End Of The True Emperor Of Destiny! II

Dazzling Spears of Destiny clashed with a golden light of Providence around the Child of Destiny, tendrils of the VOID weaved into it as Oppenheimer went all out!

Yet the young man before him...

"You were a great man who rose from nothing and made a name for yourself out of an entire Age. For that, I commend you."

WAA!

Around his body, blazing Quintessence bloomed along with a raging light of Destiny that formed into a Blitzkrieg, pillars of multicolored light forming behind him and cascading down as he continued!

"But in that rise, you made too many enemies. You hurt too many beings just to achieve what you wanted. But you weren't thorough enough...and the past came back to haunt you."

BOOOM!

The surrounding space buzzed amidst their clash as this whole area became enclosed by multiple stacked Planar Domains, the Oldest Dream, Guinevere, and others keeping the Noblesse Reverends at bay while locking down this entire area with domains to the point that only the figures of Henry and Oppenheimer were enclosed in this single area.

Oppenheimer breathed heavily amidst his grandeur as he came out unscathed from the radiance of multiple Consummate Boundaries, but his Aeonic Soul Values were even further used up as he now felt a great strain to keep the utilization of the Eyes of Clarity active!

"I was born to forge my own destiny. Even in these Vaults of Extremity, I would rise to become an indomitable Apex Aeonic Lifeform as I would etch my name in the Aeonic Annals of Extremity. Oppenheimer would ring out across eons!"

...!

His soul truly felt the strain.

It was unbelievable and commendable that he stood against dozens of beings with 8th Boundary Layers in multiple Consummate Boundaries all by himself when his highest was Destiny at the 7th Layer- and it only further exemplified the terror of the Eyes of an Apex Aeonic Lifeform he held!

It was commendable.

But it could only continue for so long.

His Aeonic Soul Values couldn't use the Eyes of Clarity to their full potential with his current accomplishments. If he had more time as he planned. If...

"Possibilities. That is all that those were, Oppenheimer. You may have very well had your name etched across the Vaults of Extremity as even now...I can see possibilities of it."

Henry spoke out with a sigh as he felt something move within his very Lineage.

"You can see it too?" With his body covered by a dimming light from the Eyes of Clarity as the last of his Aeonic Soul Values kept the raging Essences of the Consummate Boundaries at bay, the True Emperor of Destiny stared at the Child of Destiny.

The boundless future he dreamed of. The one that was right before his grasp...

"Yes. But...you were inevitably connected to and affected by the Destiny of a man much greater than you. Even though he isn't here, you can't imagine how much his influence brought all of this to fruition, even to this very moment."

Henry spoke with brilliant eyes as through his Quintessential Kainos Emperor Lineage, he felt multiple Sources of Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearls of Extremity course through and settle into his soul for his use.

What had his father done for him to obtain enough Pearls of Extremity that can raise Boundaries to the 9th Boundary Layer to the extent he could freely give some away to him? How many Reverend Emperors had he taken down in these last few minutes?

Henry only had this passing thought as in the next moment, the Source of Complete Crimson III Aeon Pearl of Extremity burned as Quintessence was the first one risen to the 9th Boundary Layer- Destiny being the next one to follow as the power around Henry...rose to a shocking level!

Around his body, liquefied golden flames of Destiny began to rise torrentially as Oppenheimer looked at them from afar and found himself sighing. I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

His figure stopped on the dazzling space at the center of all attacks as his body got into a seated position, his hands resting on his knees as he looked at the golden flames of Destiny that seemed further on the path of Extremity that his own Boundary of Destiny by numerous Layers.

"A foe I didn't even confrontation with, and yet I lost to him?" nOvelnext.com

His voice was deep and low as around him, a golden throne manifested as his visage released boundless waves of nobility and grandeur.

As he released a genuine aura of an Emperor that very few others could match!

But around his body...the light grew dimmer as his Soul Values were truly too drained from all the adversaries he faced, this being before him grinding down all of his strength to the extent that now, he could only wait for a single thing.

For a single path.

"You lost to him, you also lost to me. Your destiny was bright Ages ago as you overcame countless adversities...but mine shone brighter."

HOONG!

Torrential golden flames of Destiny jumped out like celestial snakes from Henry as they came to wrap around the True Throne of Destiny and the Emperor atop it.

Utmost calm and grandeur could be seen from Oppenheimer as the last of his Aeonic Soul Values faded, his implanted eyes of an Apex Aeonic Lifeform being the only thing shining brightly at this moment as his Aspects of Existence could no longer support their heavy cost!

BZZT!

Tongues of golden flames of Destiny latched from his throne and onto his body one after another as within moments, his visage became enshrined with golden flames.

But they weren't his.

And they burned what remained of his Aeonic Soul as he stared fearlessly at the young being to do this to him.

The Child of Destiny was bathed in golden flames as he looked like an incarnation of a fated creature from the legends of the Elysium Bloodlines, his figure coming to float in front of the True Throne of Destiny as he looked straight at Oppenheimer's burning figure.

The one who had split apart Reality.

The average soul that rose to triumph over countless Chosen Emperors and Destined Emperors.

The True Emperor of Destiny!

His Aeonic Soul burned as he didn't make a sound, facing death with a straight face as the last thing he gazed at was the majesty of Destiny.

The majesty of Destiny...as well as the hands of a being reaching out for everything he had attained.

One hand surged towards his eyes in order to pluck out the eyes of an Apex Aeon Lifeform. The other hand surged behind him and grabbed his golden throne as right before his death, Oppenheimer realized this being even wished to seize his True Throne of Destiny!

And then...the golden light he always gazed and followed all but faded as immense darkness descended all around him.

It was the end of the True Emperor of Destiny...and the rise of an even greater one!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2368 Usurpation Of Destiny!

He was truly seated on his Throne.

On his very throne!

And yet...

The visage of another being bathed in shining gold flames of Destiny that were immolating his whole being plucked out the dazzling eyes in his sockets while wrapping them in immense flames of Destiny, his other hands clamping on the golden throne of Destiny that was also enshrined with burning flames.

This scene became privy to all as the layers that covered them disappeared, the Planar Boundaries laid out being deactivated as they still left behind their signature in space even then.

Those that surrounded this space were able to see the unfolding scene.

The scene of an aflame Oppenheimer as Henry dug out dazzling eyes from this being, his clamping right hand releasing seas of golden flames of Destiny that wrapped around the True Throne of Destiny which ultimately...he bellowed out while pulling outward!

HOOO!

And the golden throne moved across space, making a semilunar arc and coming to be stationed behind him as Oppenheimer's figure was left seated alone in space, mere burning as his skin crackled.

<...>

Henry then felt the throne behind him that was commandeered by his own Destiny, his body going to be situated on it without so much as a delay.

A flash of gold erupted out and rose to the skies at such an action.

Destiny permeated throughout as all beings here could feel the essence of a 9th Boundary Layer emanating from such a concept!

Eowyn and Lilith floated close and watched the burning figure of Oppenheimer with complex emotions.

The former nearly had their Aspects of Existence broken by him, and the latter had her father entirely erased by him!

Yet now, this being lay dead before them even after all his glory.

Kazuhiko, the Emperor Penguin, Kraken, Anna, Dimensional Rulers...all the prominent Vassals of the True Emperor of Quintessence that were on this venture saw this scene as well as the so of the being they followed become enthroned atop the True Throne of Destiny as they felt their Origins buzz.

They looked towards such a being as his devilish handsomeness was ever enhanced by the burning golden flames as his voice echoed out.

"Oppenheimer is no more as from this point onwards...there shall be a new True Emperor of Destiny!" novelnext.com

BOOM!

His words were accompanied by burning golden fire torrentially rushing all around, his other hand holding two jewel-like eyes moving and smashing towards his socket as a golden light of Destiny carried them into his sockets!

A pristine aura of an Apex Aeonc Lifeform emanated from these eyes as the first thing that Henry confirmed was that who they belonged to was not dead.

The second was that he...would be able to better utilize them than Oppenheimer ever dreamed of as the essence of Quintessence and Destiny surged out and sank into these Eyes of Clarity- Henry intent on refining them to become his own even if the True Emperor of Genesis they stemmed from was still alive!

Blinding radiance emanated out as he blinked after the eyes were inserted, each time seeming like the lids of a sun opening and closing due to the brilliance as his gaze became locked with the two shocked Noblesse Reverend Emperors from a distance, and the even more vibrant forms of life in the Styx Regality Plane as he spoke out with a young sense of tyranny.

"Let the Conquest of Quintessence resume...let the Lineage of the Quintessential Kainos Emperor resound across the Aeonc Haven of Dissolution!" I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

OOOOOH!

The space buzzed as the aura of over a dozen Consummate Boundaries blared out, the Vassals of the True Emperor of Quintessence wishing to expand his glory as his Son led the way forward on the domains of the Noblesse!

He sat on the golden True Throne of Destiny as he watched the unfolding Conquest towards the Styx Regality Plane and the scrambling Noblesse Reverends as he thought of many things.

The throne below him, the eyes he refined in his sockets.

All of them came with the assistance of his father as at this moment, Henry wished to be able to give even grander things back to his father.

pandasnovel.com His father had already told him the blessing from Oppenheimer was fine for him to keep, with him actually not showing interest in the eyes of an Apex Aeonc Lifeform!

'You wouldn't already be approaching such a stage or have your body already transforming into one, right?'

Henry had a passing thought that he deemed too ridiculous, shaking his head as he moved forward.

It had barely been two days since his father entered the Vaults of Extremity- where his power was only at the 6th or 7th Boundary Layer after he had defeated Desiderius.

Surely, he wouldn't already be set to advance in becoming an entirely different lifeform?

—

Across the spacetime continuum.

Within the Planar Palisades of Extremity.

In a region where the past Barren Lands used to be, the humanoid appearance of a man wrapped in white essence could be seen floating silently.

His sockets were empty yet filled with profoundly swirling milky white light, his stare desolate as he gazed at where his past home would have been!

He couldn't feel the faint bindings of Natural Laws anymore.

He couldn't feel the Source of the Lands he was the First Emperor of!

In his absence, too many things were decided as the reality he was waiting for didn't even get a chance to play out.

The reality of the Barren Lands being like many other scattered Planes of Existence in the Planar Palisades that were pulled towards the Havens of Extremity.

Since the region of the Planar Palisades of Extremity it was in fell under the influence of the Youngest Aeonic Haven of Dissolution, the Barren Lands that was extremely far away would have gradually been pulled towards the Youngest Aeonic Haven until it was fully absorbed to become one of the many Planes of Existence within it.

This was the history Genesis had learned of when it came to the Older Aeonic Havens that had already undergone Extremity Sanctification!

These Havens had Existences from an endless number of nearby Planes of Existences that emerged and survived the dangers within the Planar Palisades of Extremity.

They were absorbed into the folds of the Vaults of Extremity and spread out across different factions!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

novelnext.com

Countless lineages were absorbed into the folds of the Vaults of Extremity and spread out across different factions over the eons that passed.

If they held grand destinies and Providence, they may just be capable of speedily expanding their Boundaries towards Extremity- or even be capable enough to become Apex Aeonc Lifeforms.

Genesis and the Ancestors of the Barren Lands were merely lucky enough to find access into the Havens of Extremity first even before the Initiation Step of the Extremity Vein began in the Haven they were in.

It was a great opportunity as many of them rose in power, but they couldn't Conquer or advance as much as they wished to due to other Lineages that already had their Planes of Existence here- Lineages like the Noblesse!

Thus, they sought for greater forms of power.

They abandoned their Plane of Existence entirely and even used Minor Planes to bind the Major Plane.

In his absence, his people even laid down the verdict of destruction!

And now, the Barren Lands were not where they used to be.

"What did you do...O Last True Emperor?"

His deep voice echoed out as he couldn't sense any Planar destruction here, knowing full well that the Barren Lands were not destroyed.

But where were they? What had the ruling being of its Last Age done? Were the Barren Lands already absorbed into the Youngest Haven since its Initiation of Extremity Sanctification just began?

ᐆandasnovel·com Genesis had many questions, with the milky white essence surrounding him buzzing powerfully as it exceeded any common Boundary essence.

It held a luster of none other than a Dynamis of Extremity as it told the True Emperor of Genesis...the answers would actually be back in the Aeonie Haven of Dissolution. Within his very own Lineage!

And he knew just what great a change was coming to the Aeonie Haven of Dissolution now that its Extremity Sanctification had begun.

It would not be a few simple Lineages ruling domains across this Haven any longer.

Planeswalkers, Quasarians, Noblesse, Lernaean...they would merely be among many others.

Their powerhouses would be dispersed to join powerful factions that had their histories etched in the Aeonie Annals of Extremity.

Even within the Ancestral Lernaean...there were already Apex Aeonie Lifeforms that set their hearts on specific factions from the offers they had received!

A great change was coming.

The walls between the Aeonie Haven of Dissolution and other Havens would become even thinner as Extremity Sanctification progressed.

And those seeking Extremity would swarm towards the budding Extremity Vein of Dissolution to obtain what others obtained in their own Havens. To obtain the Seeds of Extremity that were mainly fated for those who had been in this Haven of Dissolution and no others!

It was the approaching of a greatly tumultuous time as the moment the Initiation Step ended...even Apex Aeonic Lifeforms would roam freely!

Before such chaos fully unfolded, Genesis had to rectify his wrongs.

He had to locate the Barren Lands and ensure its safety. He had to defend the Lerneans to not become divided and separated across terrifying Inheritances that would soon stretch their tendrils towards them.

With his empty sockets surging with a milky white light of a Dynamis of Extremity, his figure disappeared!

—

Pure majesty flowed between his very atoms.

His main body took the reigns to circulate the Unknown Dynamis of Extremity as with every circulation- his cells drank this essence and became ever so refined. I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

His Aeonic Soul Values took it in and continued scaling upwards in growth.

His Origin pulsed as the First Plane of Extremity that couldn't be expanded any longer...had its Dimensions still absorbing this essence as they shone with ever greater splendor!

This Unknown Dynamis of Extremity was born from Aeonic Mana of Extremity that Noah had an infinite amount of. It was mixed with Nullity which wasn't Infinite.

One of the reasons Noah's soul was even able to handle the essence that greater Lifeforms could call forth...was because half of it stemmed from a source he could endlessly call out!

But even now, if Noah wanted to keep the convergence of both Mana and Nullity, his Aeonic Soul Values had to be in active use to do so.

This power was that pristine.

But it allowed him to refine his Aspects of Existence and take him towards a type of an Extremity Foundation, continuing to cement his power in the upper layers of Reverend Emperors!

At this point in time, Noah took stock of his current strength and might as he wished to solidify it all and bring every part of him to an unprecedented level in the stage of Unequaled Reverend Emperors.

The 9 Natural Laws and the 6 Fundamental Natural Laws of Reality.

The 9 Decreta of Dimensions.

His other expanded boundaries that when he added the Natural Laws and Decreta...his total number of Boundaries exceeded 30.

With the dozens of Sources of Complete Crimson III Aeonic Pearls of Extremity...

"Bring all currently expanded Boundaries to the 9th Boundary Layer."

...!

His voice echoed out commandingly as he began taking actions to build an unimaginable foundation.

"Take all those not already at the Consummate level forward..."

His Soul cried out at being out to work even more as it also worked dutifully to control the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity, stretching itself out once more as it opened the Aeonic Annals of Extremity to alteration Recorded Histories into something else!

To alter Innate Boundaries to become Consummate Boundaries!

All of these changes...would heavily impact Noah and the Infinite Plane as every single one of its Natural Laws and Decreta were about to reach an unmatched level.

As for Noah himself...he would be an Unequaled Reverend Emperor that controlled dozens of Consummate Boundaries- his goal being a Foundation that was a rarity even in the Havens of Extremity across its eons of Recorded and Unrecorded History!

And as his 9 Decreta of Dimensions connected to his very Origin began their upwards surge towards the 9th Boundary Layer, they spurred his Origin forward as he came to make a choice.

"Begin the forging of the Second Plane of Extremity. The Templates for the Second Plane of Extremity...shall be the 9 Dimensional Realities as Major Planes of Existence."

...!

His First Plane of Extremity held 9 Minor Planes of Existence! For his Second Plane of Extremity, he could have based it off any Planes across Extremity- or expanded upon the Dream, Prana, Apollyon, Fantasia, Niflheim, Elysium, Avalon, Mirror, and Quantum Dimensional Realities.

He...already had his soul stretched out across too many concepts as he didn't wish to add and enlarge even more at this moment. He wanted to take the Dimensional Realities from Minor to Major Planes of Existence as he wondered.. how would the Decreta be altered? How would the Infinite Plane be changed? And just what magnificence would arise from his Second Plane of Extremity being built like this?

There were many unknowns for the future, with the only thing he was sure of being that his Foundation was going to be something that would be Unrecorded across eons when he was done.

As for what he would do for the future Third, Fourth, or Fifth Plane of Extremity and onward? Only time would tell!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2370 The Vein Of Dissolution! II

His Aspects of Existence continued their ever-constant refinement and strengthening as all his Boundaries surged towards the 9th Boundary Layer, and they were then altered to become Consummate.

In the midst of all this, his Soul still kept great focus on the Convergence of Manadynamics and Nullity- the percentage of Convergence slowly rising as with it, many things gradually became clear on what uses the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity would have!

The combination of Mana and Nullity. The fusion of pure energy and nothingness...just what would come from it?

As Noah's soul controlled the metallic blue light of the Unnamed Dynamis of Extremity, he gradually gained a clearer picture!

[As the percentage of Convergence increases to perfect the Unknown Dynamis of Extremity, the nature of this Authority will gradually become accessible to you.]

[The Full Authority of Aeonis Anti-Mana seeks to come to fruition.]

[The Full Authority of Aeonis Mana Drain seeks to come to fruition.]

...!

Yes!

Just from his preliminary tests with the lividus colored essence, he was gaining understanding in abilities termed Aeonis Anti-Mana and Aeonis Mana Drain!

pandasNovel.com As the Convergence of Mana and Nullity slowly came to a close, these abilities and more would be in the palm of his hands as they were shown somewhat during the fight against the Haven Disciples of the Genesis Institute of Extremity.

So he focused on the circulation of this essence across his aspects of Existence as he knew that by the time it reached full Convergence...it would remain Unnamed no longer.

This Dynamis of Extremity would gain a distinction as Mana and Nullity would birth something glorious!

'But while all of this occurs...'

His main body which was surrounded by tendrils of lividus colored essence rose its head and stared out into the aurora of lights around him as he connected to his True Sanguine Clone in the Abyssal Sanctimonious Lands.

It had continued forging forward after being delayed by Titus and the Haven Disciples of the Genesis Institute of Extremity, but his Will could see a change in the space around him as the Expansive mountains and storms of Nullity and Ruin...were becoming thin.

He was getting past the outer periphery of the Abyssal Sanctimonious Lands and finally about to delve towards its deeper areas!

—

His True Sanguine Clone had called and kept the Aeonis Planar Xyston of Extremity and the Aeonis Planar Aegis of Extremity on his hands as he became ever familiar with the Offensive and Defensive methods of the Infinite Plane.

His figure looked like a valiant warrior recorded eons ago with the multicolored stellar weapons in his hands, the streams of miniaturized Realities on the end of the Spear and the countless Infinity symbols on the Aegis making his whole demeanor give off oppressive waves of power!

The Sources of Chaos around him weaved over his skin and even sank into it as Ruin and Nullity seemed ever docile- with their density thinning as Noah progressed until soon enough...

SHAA!

He came to a stop before a liquefied wall that mixed crimson and silver together to produce a dull red expanse that stretched out in all directions. I think you should take a look at panDasnovel.com

The only thing to be uttered about it was its vastness...as well as the concentration of Ruin and Nullity interlinked together to the extent that it seemed to exceed the aura given off by essence at the 9th Boundary Layer!

Such a wall would isolate and not allow entrance to average Reverend Emperors as only those with multiple Boundaries at the 9th Boundary Layer would theoretically be capable of bypassing it.

But for Noah who even now was still having his soul undergo changes from the boons of the Entropic Entity of Extremity...

BZZT!

His Xyston merely touched the massive liquefied wall of Ruin and Nullity as liquid tendrils emerged to wrap around the Spear, eventually traveling up and latching onto Noah's body as his soul released a deep brilliance! He was then sucked in by the tendrils of liquefied essence as within them, he felt a dense spatial aura of spacetime and...something even more profound!

His body was wrapped in this light as he felt like he wasn't just passing through a wall to go from one area to another.

He felt like he was being transported somewhere else entirely the moment he withstood the tendrils of Ruin and Nullity, an essence of spacetime and something that seemed even more pristine than even the essence of Dynamis of Extremity passed through him as he was shuttled across space!

BOOM!

His soul felt like it was being squeezed as changes were forcibly applied to his body, his size reducing greatly as he materialized in a brand new space.

Yes. Forceful size alteration!

Noah normally had his size interchangeable depending on the area he was in, where he adapted to be as small as a world or as large as a Cosmos or even as immense as a river of Reality depending on the space he was in.

But at this moment, an unimaginably deep and powerful authority seemed to impose itself on him as his size was set akin to his form when he was a human on the blue planet- approximately 2 meters!

And he felt this even more as in the area he appeared in...he felt as if he were a mere ant in the face of its vastness!

Countless crimson and silver tower like obelisks floated in space.

Noah's figure was atop one of these obelisks, his 2 meter size being like a grain of sand as the tower like obelisks ranged to be 100,000 to 1 million times larger than him!

The entire space was lit up brightly with these radiant obelisks that seemed like solidified Ruin and Nullity!novelnext.com

There was no earth below, only endless radiating light with the peaks of other obelisks barely being seen...along with one particularly dazzling feature.

Only a portion of it could be seen as it seemed to be submerged in a heavy darkness, and yet it snaked endlessly behind and forward while disappearing into the dense darkness that surrounded it.

Noah didn't have to stare too hard to know its identity, his eyes releasing a heavy light as he realized what endlessly snaked below him amidst countless obelisks.

It was a mere glimpse of Dissolution.

The Extremity Vein of Dissolution...as well as the authority that enforced itself to forcefully reduce his size!