Chapter 2381 Lernaean Lineage Emperor Maximilian! II

Emperor Maximilian locked gazes with the True Emperor of Quintessence, these two beings saying nothing between them as Maximilian came ever closer.

When he was a few meters away from the dreamy gold throne, the Emperor atop it waves his hands to cause the rise of another makeshift throne to appear opposite to him, Maximilian waving his hands behind the procession behind him as all others came to a stop while he proceeded forward.

He looked at the sandy gold throne conjured for him as he actually sighed while sitting down, gazing up to see the visage of Elder Ancestor Ophelia beside the True Emperor of Quintessence before he settled back on this being.

Two Emperors sat before each other as an air of shocking regality wrapped around them, those around feeling a stifling pressure as after these two stared at each other for a few seconds, Emperor Maximilian was the one to speak as his golden strands of hair shone with austere light.

"I apologize."

paΠdasNovel.com BOOM!

His first words caused the Elder Ancestors who came with him to be shaken as they gazed forward with incredulity, but Maximilian only continued with a calm expression as he stared towards the True Emperor of Quintessence!

"It was under my watch that the final verdict was given to the Barren Lands. All responsibility lies with me."

WAA!

His eyes were deep and with immense knowledge as he spoke, yet they were also unreadable as one couldn't easily ascertain just what he was thinking!

His words caused the True Emperor of Quintessence to raise his brows while he continued.

"It was me and my party that initially stepped out of the Barren Lands and found the entry into the Havens of Extremity, and everything that has occurred after that is history. And now, we are at an even more vital juncture of history where after all the mistakes and choices made over the years, even grander ones have to be made. So let me officially introduce myself as one of those who makes these choices...I am Maximilian, born from the Halcyon Singularity Domains of the Quantum Dimension of the Barren Lands, and the current Interim Aeonc Lernaean Lineage Emperor."

His grandeur was dominating as all others were breathless after he finished talking, the True Emperor of Quintessence nodding at this moment as he replied.

"I am the Last True Emperor of the Lands you all had forsaken, the True Emperor of Quintessence- Osmont!"

The sandy golden earth churned at his mere words as Maximilian nodded with a smile and waved his hands, causing an illusory scene to appear that showed dozens of points of light stretched out across vast stretches of regions.

"These are all the domains under the Ancestral Lernaean stretched out across the Haven of Dissolution. Some were strategically found around unique Planes of Existence like this Abecedarian Sacrarium, and others were built atop reserves of unique metalloids used to make our Automatons and Vessels among other things. This...is what represents all of the Ancestral Lernaean Lineage."

"..."

His phrases gripped all beings here as the Elder Ancestors behind him had worried looks, none of them knowing what Emperor Maximilian was going to say next as nothing he had uttered so far was what they expected!

They had the support of their Apex Aeonc Lifeforms.

He held the influence of their power...so why exactly was he speaking like this right now?I think you should take a look at paπdasnovel.com

None of them knew what would happen as at this juncture where all the sacrariums of the Ancestral Lernaean were shown stretched out across the Haven of Dissolution, Maximilian looked towards Noah calmly and spoke candidly.

"You see, there's been a great deal of talk amongst us and even the Apex Aeonc Lifeforms on how to...handle you as they called it. How to take care of a being that is supposedly weaker than our strongest forces, and yet we also want the things he has. The mere mention of your demand of taking the reins of the Ancestral Lernaean Lineage has others rising up in arms and roaring out as me personally...I don't truly care." novelnext.Com

BOOM!

"Whether you hold me as the only one responsible for the decision of the Barren Lands, I can take on all the punishment for it. It matters not. What does matter...are all these Sacrariums stretched out across this Haven. The quintillions of beings within them. Their hopes and dreams. They are what matter the most."

Emperor Maximilian pointed to the illusory images of the Sacrariums he had conjured up as his words caused the Elder Ancestors behind him to rise up while calling out to him!

Yet on his conjured throne...

HUM!

A regal crimson air rose as it was a genuine Bloodline Authority.

An authority afforded only to the Interim Aeonic Lernaean Lineage Emperor as he could actually suppress the Bloodline of those he ruled over!

Those behind him quieted as before him, Noah had an interested smile as even Ophelia was shocked at this unfolding situation.

"You see, I am going against the words handed down to me by our Apex Aeonic Lifeforms that mainly included threats and reminding you how there were multiple others above you in power, but even they are missing the point."

WAA!

His golden hair danced with majesty as seared upon his throne, he truly seemed like a genuine Emperor!

"Why do we continue to seek power? Is it just for ourselves? Those who think so have lost their direction. Everything I've done so far is for the Lineage. For the countless lives within them. I care not for my own prestige and might as in my life...I will never be able to even touch the stage of Apex Aeonic Lifeform."

...!

As he spoke, his hands went before his chest as his robe was pulled aside to reveal his fair skin underneath- skin that showed stellar sparkling wonder as one could see...a few Meridians that were twisted and fractured!

Aeonic Extremity Meridians that represented a entity who had failed in their Apexification!

Noah looked at such a entity curiously as Providence told him his phrases were genuine!

"For the sake of all Lernaean, I have no qualms stepping down after my failures, but the only way I would do that is if I have a confirmation from you. Because you see, at this very moment...Inheritances from other Havens have reached out to us seeking our fealty to them. They will divide us and displace us into different regions, and they will throw our lives into the fires of the Extremity Sanctification as they so wish. Towards these factions that have multiple existences that have reached Extremity...how will you deal with them to ensure the abundance of all Lernaean?"

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2382 I Will Forge My Own Inheritance! I

For the prosperity of all Lernaean!

Under the burning flames of Extremity Sanctification, Emperor Maximilian knew that the Ancestral Lernaean would only be more fuel to it by the Inheritances that reached out to them.

He had his own ideas on how to best navigate and minimize the damage of what was to come, while at the same time...obtaining as many boons as possible!

Having an identity connected to an Inheritance with a deep history was also a tool in itself.

Consummate Boundaries. Apex Aeon Relics. Aeon Treasures of Extremity.

All of these were already in line to be offered as all that was left was their decision.

So if an existence appeared from their own Lineage who had somehow forged Consummate Boundaries that could elevate the strength of their whole Lineage by another level...a different pathway could open up for them.

Maybe they could forge their own path!

But, all this depended on just what Entity had risen forth from the ashes of the Ancestral Lernaean.

"For the prosperity of all Lernaean, huh?"

The voice of the True Emperor of Quintessence reached Maximilian as this being held an immovable smile on his face.

He gazed at the Elder Ancestors in the surroundings as he spoke freely.

"If you can believe it, I never lost any sleep thinking about the prosperity of all Lernaean."

WAA!

paΠdasNovel.com "Just like they never lost any sleep for me and the Barren Lands, I also don't give a damn about them. Let the Inheritances come and rip you all apart. Join their factions as just one of the countless Bloodlines there as within a few million years, the identity of the Lernaean Lineage will be all but erased as they only identify with the Inheritance that took them in. Those that end up surviving anyways..."

...!

Extremely heavy words left Noah's mouth as immense silence descended in the surroundings!

He didn't bullshit anything as his true thoughts were unveiled without any falsification.

His bright eyes swirled with Providence as he looked at the visage of the Aeonic Soul Clone of the Interim Aeonic Lernaean Lineage Emperor before him.

Maximilian.

A being who had actually failed during his process of Apexification!

Uniquely for him, he had actually managed to survive such an ordeal as within his body, fractured and twisted Aeonic Extremity Meridians could be seen.

He didn't have a path in front of him.

Even being the one leading the party that discovered the entrance into the Havens of Extremity, even being one of the oldest Lernaean currently in existence...none of it had changed his destiny as here he was now.

He genuinely seemed to care about the countless quintillions of Ancestral Lernaean due to his cut off path as his being the one chosen to become the Interim Aeonic Lernaean ancestry Emperor was a very fitting choice!

Such a being looked towards Noah as the Lineage Authority still remained leaking from him.

It pressed down on all the Elder Ancestors behind him even though some wanted to erupt at Noah's words, his gaze remaining calm as he seemed to see things others didn't. I think you should take a look at paπdasnovel.com

He leaned forward from his Throne as he replied with squinting eyes.

"You don't hold any attachment to the vast number of Lernaean...and yet you moved your body to stand in front of one of our Elder Ancestors right here when an attack from an Apex Eternal Soul Totem came."

His eyes came to land on the terrifically beautiful visage of Ophelia who stood out greatly among the masses currently!

The memories of what had happened prior were shared with Maximilian as towards his words, Noah smiled and gave a light nod.

ηορΕΙnext.cOm

Yes.

Why did he defend Ophelia? Could this being before him quickly catch on to what he was saying?

"You don't care for the Ancestral Lernaean, but if it is anyone who is underneath your rule...you will put your own life on the line for them. You are saying that so long as Lernaean are under you- along with their long history, their Sacrariums, everything they have built over the eons...only then will they share in your boons and fate."

WAA!

Dazzling words emanated out as nobody could say anything else!

Noah reclined on his Throne with a smile as he gazed at the pondering expression on Maximilian.

He had made his intentions clear when the first few Elder Ancestors had arrived.

If they wanted his Consummate Boundaries, they had to pledge fealty!

But now, the new factor of Inheritances came into the picture.

And this was of utmost importance as Maximilian nodded towards Noah's smile of affirmation while continuing.

"The Cult of Endless Shadows from the Eternal Haven of Penumbra, the Genesis Institute of Extremity from the Aeonic Haven of Genesis, and the Light of the Seven from the Aeonic Haven of Helios have all sent forth Apex Aeonic Lifeforms to meet with ours. They offer the inclusion of our Lineage into their Inheritances in exchange for our Apex Aeonic Lifeforms working for them after the end of the Initiating Step of the Extremity Vein of Dissolution, including the ones that rise in the 10 Billion years to come. They offer identity and protection against other Inheritances as the continuation of our Lineage is guaranteed. If you were reigning over Ancestral Lernaean, how would you manage this?"

...!

A question that caused the Elder Ancestors behind him to tremble.

What exactly was Emperor Maximilian doing? Why was he entertaining all these words and ideals when talking to this being?!

These were things that were only supposed to be discussed with their Apex Eternal Lifeforms as they dealt with the very future of their Lineage.

Was Emperor Maximilian truly serious...

"Interesting."

Noah's voice echoed out as he rose from his sandy gold throne, the essence of Dreams swirling around him as he stared out into the vastness past even the boundary of the Abecedarian Sacrarium.

"The Cult of Endless Shadows, Genesis Institute of Extremity...or whatever other legacies out there seeking to spread their influence- why the hell would I join any of them?"

...!

"I will simply create my own Inheritance that shall echo its glory across the Havens of Extremity!"

BOOM!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2383 I Will Forge My Own Inheritance! II

"I will simply forge my own Inheritance that shall echo its glory across the Havens of Extremity!"

...!

The words reverberated and resounded from the Abecedarian Sacrarium as their waves of grandeur spread out even further, immense majesty present within them as they shook the souls of all those who heard them!

Enact one's own Inheritance!

What a wild thought!

Current Inheritances had been existing for eons as they held deep histories and reserves of treasures, their experts countless as their support was unfathomable.

Yet for a being who hadn't even become an Apex Aeonic Lifeform to proclaim this...

"Hmm..."

Emperor Maximilian also rose up as he stared straight towards Noah's astounding visage.

His body gave off utmost regality and majesty as he also stared at the vast expanse while replying.

"To be without the support of behemoth organizations that will be backing the Noblesse, Quasarians, and Planeswalkers. To forge our own path in the midst of Extremity Sanctification...well, I can tell you this isn't the path that the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Lifeform were thinking of."

He didn't actually rebut Noah or say it was impossible, only that those at the highest seats of power did not have the same thoughts!

"And what are your thoughts?" Noah's resonant voice boomed out as he came to focus on Maximilian.

The golden hair on this being shone with a dazzling light as remained impassive while replying.

"For the best prospects of Ancestral Lernaean, I would do anything. You have the authority of Dreams and Natural Laws from what I've heard. Will you let me take a glimpse of Providence that we abandoned long ago? I wish to see if this and Destiny can show me which arduous path the Lernaean should walk on."

Maximilian spoke honestly as Noah smiled at his words, the golden light of Providence erupting around him as a Consummate Boundary.

What he could give others power to access, he could also take away.

So he simply gave access to the workings of Providence- a golden light descending on the Emperor that had failed Apexification and now led as the Interim Aeonie Lernaean Lineage Emperor!

As a golden glow of Providence descended on him in the Abecedarian Sacarium, Maximilian's main body was in a vastly different location across the Aeonie Haven of Dissolution.

Towards the center of the domains they had managed to control over the years.

The earth below was covered by raging waves of a silver sea of Nullity, the auras of countless Chaoticus Beasts swimming within it as the potent aura of Nullity was enough to cause any being in the Boundary Expansion Realm to be careful.

Deep within this silver sea of Nullity, massive crystal mountains stretched throughout its depths as the figures of armored Lernaeanes with pickaxes releasing the light of EPOCH Relics could be seen mining the crystalline mountains to harvest materials that would make terrifyingly powerful weapons!

And past these crystalline underwater mountains towards even deeper regions, the boundaries of a Major Plane could be seen.

This was known as the Argentate Sacarium- one of the most important locations for Ancestral Lernaeanes within the Aeonie Haven of Dissolution!

Within this Major Plane, hidden amongst layers of spacetime continuum where even normal Unequaled Reverend Emperors would be able to find, there was a serene domain filled with calm liquefied streams of Nullity.

Heavy auras of power were currently present within this domain as the Main Body of Emperor Maximilian could be seen sitting on a silver throne, with there being multiple other silver thrones in the surroundings that were empty for the vast majority, but a few currently held the auras of Apex Aeonic Lifeforms that were talking amongst each other! I think you should take a look at paπdasnovel.com

"The positives in joining the Cult of Endless Shadows is that they're the closest to becoming a genuine Aeonic Inheritance of Extremity after a few billion years. Having the backing of such an Inheritance would ensure our prosperity for the years to come."

One overbearing voice echoed out as another one replied dismissively.

"So what? The Genesis Institute of Extremity stems from the Aeonic Haven of Genesis. One of the Oldest Havens as it's rumored to even be a subsidiary of a genuine Aeonic Inheritance of Extremity. Wisdom tells me this is a much better choice...."

Discussions were abuzz at this moment as at such a juncture, one gaze focused on Emperor Maximilian as it spoke out calmly, causing silence to descend in the surroundings.

"Maximilian, you should have arrived in the Abecedarian Sacrarium by now and met with this Mutated Entity that our Lineage bloomed. Will he give back and share the boons of the Consummate Boundaries that fell on his lap...or is he seeking the hard way?"

BZZZT!

The voice held a tinge of force and malice as it spoke, Maximilian's main body raising its head at this moment as he gazed at the terrifying auras around him.

Some of them used to be his friends.

One was even under him in the party he led that ventured into the Havens of Extremity first.

Yet now, their dispositions and eyes seemed so far above that at times, they seemed alien to him!

He had failed, while they succeeded.

And now, they wondered which place to sell themselves to for the most gain as for them to advance closer towards Extremity- the allure of powerful factions was undoubtedly the best choice!

But was this also the best choice for all Lernaean?

As the Eyes of multiple Apex Aeonc Lifeforms locked onto him, the Interim Aeonc Lernaean Lineage Emperor voiced out calmly.

παΠdasNovel com "I met the True Emperor of Quintessence. Instead of binding our Lineage into a faction that will use and divide us, he suggests that we forge our own path. He proposes we forge our own Inheritance."

BOOM!

Heavy Wills and Haki erupted out...along with a vibrant laughter filled with a chilling light!novEInext.cOm

"Hah! Forge one's own Inheritance? Against Inheritances from Havens that have already undergone Extremity Sanctification and are led by personages that have already reached Extremity? Mere dreams and words of a child! This is why I was against to even holding a discussion with a mere Descendant. Those of our own Blood...we can move against them if it is just to Discipline them. The Extremity Adjudicator would not interfere with something like this!"

...!

Sharp words boomed out as an Apex Aeonic Lifeform spoke out with a Will filled with disdain and anger!

And at such a juncture, before any more conversations could continue...

"Since when did we point our swords to our own people?"

HOONG!

A overbearing aura surpassing many of those here silently appeared as multiple Lernaean Apex Aeonic Lifeforms rose up with heavy waves of power and shock.

They soon calmed down though when they saw the appearance of a Lifeform they recognized, with the only difference being his Eyes...they held empty sockets!

It was the True Emperor of Genesis making his entrance as Destiny and Providence were unstably showing things heading in unknown directions!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2384 Choices I

A stellar luster covered his figure as he appeared, the most eye-catching thing being the fact that only sockets could be seen...his eyes entirely missing!

When the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Lifeforms saw this being, they were greatly shocked as some even had remorseful looks on their faces.

"Orion..." A sonorous voice of a gorgeous woman rang out as clad in a pink dress, an Apex Aeonic Lifeform instantly appeared before the True Emperor of Genesis and placed her hand on his fair cheeks.

Tears sparkled in her eyes as she spoke with tenderness.

"I searched for you high and low, I told them to not care about anything else and wage war on the Apex Aeonic Lifeforms of the Noblesse you retrieve you, but we are heavily outnumbered. I...I'm so sorry."

Her voice broke near the end as one could sense profound weakness and strength at the same time.

The True Emperor of Genesis gazed towards her calmly as he simply nodded, an action that caused this woman before him to feel like her heart shattered!

pandasNovel.com He moved past her as he came to stare at the less than a dozen Lernaean Apex Aeonic Lifeforms here.

Others were still stretched out across the Haven of Dissolution or even within other Havens at this juncture.

The True Emperor of Genesis, Orion, looked at those he considered close friends before as he continued.

"I come back and the first thing I hear is how we can punish our own people? What has happened, Maximilian?"

He turned his heart towards the Interim Aeonic Lernaean Lineage Emperor at the end as with an expression of weakness, Maximilian sighed while releasing a burst of light from his hands.

A light that the True Emperor of Genesis accepted as it conveyed a great deal of memories of everything that had occurred recently!

Of the appearance of the True Emperor of Quintessence and the Consummate Boundaries he portrayed!

The moment that the True Emperor of Quintessence perused these memories, his empty sockets brightened up like blooming singularities as a hint of a smile barely appeared on his face before it disappeared.

He turned towards the pristine Lifeforms before him after catching up as the words that left his mouth were utterly cold!

"When our Descendant rises to correct our mistakes and even hold surprises that can change the very structure of our Lineage, the first answer you all went with was to put him down?"

The words were criticizing and held a hint of anger that the other Apex Aeonic Lifeforms couldn't bring themselves to speak against!

The vast majority of them couldn't.

But there were still some.

There was still one!

Seated on a throne covered by a violet light, an exceedingly handsome man with vibrant violet hair raised his head calmly as he replied.

"We've shown great restraint by not making any moves so far. We even showed a Descendant much more respect than he deserves by sending Maximilian to speak with him about all this. If we continue to pamper them and heed their requests as if they are spoiled children...then we will have no power over them!"

BOOM!! I think you should take a look at paπdasnovel.com

The words were immaculately powerful and even holding a trace of power very few beings here held- a trace of a Dynamis of Extremity!

Those hearing it would feel its dominance and composure, but their perceptive eyes saw that the True Emperor of Genesis- Orion didn't even blink.

A milky white light of even greater quality rose from his body as the surroundings vibrated, heavy waves of Haki emanating out as the aura of yet another Dynamis of Extremity could be felt!

Sensing such deep wonder, many Lifeforms were shocked and joyful in the next instant as the Apex Aeonc Lifeform donned in pink behind Orion came beside him with an utterly happy expression.now&next.cOm

"You've broken through? You fused Genesis and..."

"It matters not what I have done." Orion cut off her words as he remained cold.

He gazed towards the man surrounded by a violet haze as he continued.

"We are supposed to work together and build our Descendants ever higher, not think of plans on how we can control them or have power over them."

His words caused Maximilian's dark face to lighten up as he and others listened, yet the Lernaean Apex Aeonc Lifeform on the violet throne only adopted an even colder air as he spoke out authoritatively.

"I think I have earned more than sufficient authority to decide the measure taken on our own Descendants. After all, it is I who currently holds the authority of Apex Aeonc Lernaean Lineage Emperor, not you."

WAA!

His eyes shone like grand violet suns as the power he gave off was off the charts!

Interim and Apex!

One was Maximilian who managed the daily workings of all Sacrariums and their workings, and the difference of [Apex] was above this as it was the ruling authority that even made crucial decisions regarding their Apex Aeoncic Lifeforms.

This being atop the Violet throne was the one holding such a title.

Yet Orion stood before him undaunted as he nodded.

"You are right, Roan. You hold such an authority...but I will ensure that it won't be so much longer."

...!

Shocking words left his mouth as he turned around soon after, leaving behind disbelieving Lernaean Apex Aeoncic Lifeforms along with Apex Aeoncic Lineage Emperor Roan whose expression had turned livid!

He watched coldly as the True Emperor of Genesis- Orion, left, and even the fact that the Apex Aeoncic Lifeform donned in a dazzling pink dress bit her lips before following right after him.

The rage on Roan's face remained as he coldly looked at the Apex Aeoncic Lifeforms on the thrones around him who hadn't even spoken a word.

Even now, their gazes were those of contemplating as they seemed to only be looking for their own opportunities!

He mocked at such a scene and what the return of the True Emperor of Genesis meant, his right hand flashing to reveal a lively Aeoncic Runestone that represented a singer character.

It read [Shadows]!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2385 Choices II

The Runestone gave off an ancient air as it was something that represented the identity of a grand Inheritance!

Apex Aeonic Lineage Emperor Roan had received it not too long ago as he had to come to a decision soon for the direction he wanted to have...and the direction of all Ancestral Lernaean.

'Consummate Boundaries, Treasures to aid in the Convergence of Dynamis of Extremity, the promise of reaching Extremity, the inclusion into an Inheritance that is very soon to become an Aeonic Inheritance of Extremity...all in exchange for giving up the boons of Dissolution and sacrificing a few trillion Aeonic Souls to the Endless Shadows...'

A dangerous thought crossed his mind as he thought of the words of the delegation of the Cult of Endless Shadows he had met, and then thought of the Descendant pending his chest and seeking glory who only held a few Consummate Boundaries.

When one compared a Behemoth of an inheritance with countless boons and protection against a mere Descendant who wasn't even an Apex Aeonic Lifeform, was it even a question of what had to be done?

'Fools, all of them! This is why we struggled weakly against the Noblesse for billions of years. This is why we hold a brand of weakness even in the Aeonic Haven of Dissolution. I will reform the weak mindset you all have and make sure to elevate Lernaean to a stage that even the Noblesse, Quasarians, and Planeswalkers will look upto!

HOONG!

The Aeonian Runestone in his hand buzzed as he infused his essence into it, the Apex Aeonian Lineage Emperor Roan coming to a decision at this juncture.

'And for you to return and try to usurp my authority right away? I will show you that I no longer follow behind your brilliance, Genesis!'

His thoughts were vibrant and filled with a great need for power as he made a choice!

Across the folds of the spacetime continuum.

The figure of the True Emperor of Genesis moved extremely fast while another Apex Aeonian Lifeform tried to keep up behind him, his power being stupendous as he arrived where he wished to within a span of a few seconds!

He appeared in a domain of space that had halcyon waves of milky light swirling all around, a massive golden waterfall cascading down in the distance as at the center of this domain, a massive golden cloud floated serenely as it shone the brightest in this whole area.

Atop it, one could see dazzling crystalline treasures, Relics, and even Aeonian Treasures of Extremity seamlessly strewn about as it was enough to make any Reverend Emperor go crazy!

Yet at the very center of it all, the visage of a woman with shocking beauty could be seen.

Hair as gold as the strands of milky light around them, and a fair skin tone that made it seem she didn't seem like she stayed within one place for too long.

A light white robe wrapped around her as one could almost see her blessed figure to its fullest, her countenance that of laziness as she turned her head to see the True Emperor of Genesis!

She scoffed and spoke out lazily as she grabbed one of the shining crystals around her that formed into mountains and crushed it with her white teeth.

"You actually made it out by yourself, Orion. I told you that you would be on your own if you were foolish enough to go against the Noblesse by yourself. They snatched your eyes?"

She was carefree and without worries.

She was the owner of the Golden Forge that was enacted within the Barren Lands and the construct that Noah based his Infinite Forge on!

She was Caterina Aurelia Dismukes- Caterina the Great! I think you should take a look at paΠdasnovel.com

"Aurelia, I've already exhausted myself for too many years trying to change your nature, so I won't even try anymore. But I need your help."

His voice was earnest as when the pink dressed Apex Aeonic Lifeform behind him just arrived to hear this, her eyes turned sad and angry as she stared at Orion and Aurelia!

She saw these two beings lock their gazes and ignore her entirely as frustration couldn't help but rise on her face as she came to float beside the True Emperor of Genesis.

Aurelia didn't even spare her a glance as she blinked languidly at Orion while sighing.

"What is it now?"

"The vast majority of the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Lifeforms reached their stage because of the aid from your Aeonic Forge of Extremity. I need you to exert your influence and have them strip the authority of Apex Aeon Lineage Emperor from Roan. The times to come are tumultuous and involve Inheritances that hold supreme power. Him holding an authority at this moment to decide the direction of the whole Lineage could put us on a path of destruction, if he hasn't already taken the steps to do so. We must make haste."

...!

Words of usurpation echoed out as Aurelia's eyes were finally roused from her laziness, coming to focus on the True Emperor of Genesis as she sighed while nodding lightly.

She then turned towards the Apex Aeon Lifeform donned in a pink dress beside Orion as she spoke while shaking her head pitifully.

"Lucia, I've advised you many times to stop chasing after this guy. Can't you see that he doesn't hold any sort of romance in his heart and he only thinks of duty? He's even gone and lost his eyes entirely as you need to cast your stones elsewhere..."

BZZT!

Arcs of profound Light surged from her devilishly gorgeous figure as she rose, Lucia glaring towards her angrily while remaining quiet, which only caused Aurelia to sigh even more!

"Surrounded by fools all around. Alright, let's go." novelnext.com

She waves her hands while yawning as she was about to move from her domain for the first time in quite a while!

Orion nodded as his body buzzed with a milky white light, his Soul beginning to expand a portion of itself outside.

"One second."

A dazzling radiance erupted as an Apex Aeon Soul Clone was gradually formed, Aurelia raising her brows at this as before she could even ask...

παΠdasNovel com "A Clone to go meet this True Emperor of Quintessence that has further propelled the current sequence of events. I need to see the state of the Barren Lands myself..."

...!

Even more choices were made as the paths of many beings crossed.

Countless destinies were intersecting all at once as a bountiful result would arise from it all, with no one being the wiser as to what exactly would unfold under the boiling heat of Extremity Sanctification!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2386 The First And The Last True Emperors I

"I need to see the state of the Barren Lands myself..."

The voice of the True Emperor of Genesis- Orion, rang out as his words caused the eyes of the architect of the Golden Forge to sparkle, Caterina Aurelia Dismukes also releasing a golden glow from her body as she spoke lazily!

"I'm also inquisitive as to what the Barren Lands managed to produce as the last True Emperor. The quality of Emperors over the past Ages has only continued to grow poorer and poorer..."

A woman laden in gold manifested beside her as the Apex Aeon Soul Clone turned into a streak of light soon after, her voice being the only thing left behind.

"Try to keep up."

The message was for Orin's Soul Clone that became wrapped in a milky white light while disappearing, its speed no less than Aurelia's close as they disappeared instantly!

The figures left behind were the main bodies of Orion, Aurelia, and Lucia who had a different destination- towards the Lernaean Apex Aeon Domain where the grandeur of all their powerhouses would be gathered.

The goal was singular.

The usurpation of the current Apex Aeon Lineage Emperor Roan as in these tumultuous times, his methodology was not something that the True Emperor of Genesis trusted!

Genesis.

Orion.

The Eyeless Lernaean.

He had many titles and distinctions, the last one being something that the Noblesse Apex Aeon Lifeforms had given him after he had his eyes taken away.

He was always humble as he knew he was never the most talented, fortunate, or smartest of beings!

And he was reminded of this more and more whenever he was around Caterina Aurelia Dismukes.

The True Emperor of Fortune.

The one who had remained hidden in the Barren Lands during the Age of Fortune as she constructed the Golden Forge and did absolutely nothing but enjoy its boons thereafter, achieving the distinction of True Emperor after she accumulated the most fortune within this Age.

When she ascended to the Havens of Extremity, her Aeonically Soul had continued to focus on her Golden Forge as she was initially looked down upon as she never joined any expeditions to seek Aeonically Treasures of Extremity or any explorations, where she actually shut herself off from others and remained secluded most of the time!

Yet the same beings who looked down on her came to find themselves gazing towards her brilliance as over the years as they agonizingly crossed the Boundary Expansion Realm, they found Aurelia to be ascending faster than any of them as she very quickly joined the ranks of the Lernaean Reverend Emperors.

This was when her Boundary of Fortune reached the 9th Boundary Layer as with it and her overly strong soul that had been refined by countless treasures, she transformed her Golden Forge into the Aeonically Forge of Extremity!

A tool that within a thousand years of her achieving it...she underwent Apexification to join the very few Lernaean Apex Aeonically Lifeforms at that time.

And since then, she continued her seclusion while simply getting treasures from her unique construct that no others seemed capable of replicating.

She elevated their Lineage ever higher when they begged her to aid some of their most powerful Unequaled Reverend Emperors to become Apex Aeonically Lifeforms!

She became one of the strongest pillars of Ancestral Lernaean, and yet Orion knew she never really joined any battles or wars. I think you should take a look at paπdasnovel.com

And now as he followed behind the golden magnificence of her Aeon Soul Clone, he couldn't help but be humbled again as he sighed when he saw the powerful light of none other than a Dynamis of Extremity.

And it didn't seem to only be a single one at that as he was once more reminded that Age wasn't everything!

He was the First True Emperor, and yet even he had fallen behind as this True Emperor that came much later than him seemed unfathomable in her power.

novelnext.com

"Don't dwell on the strength of others and focus on yourself more, old man. When do you plan to reclaim your eyes?"

Aurelia's Soul Clone spoke towards him without even looking back as Orion was taken out of his reverie, shaking his head as when one looked at his Clone- they would notice the same quality of empty sockets still in place!

"They will naturally come back to me if I am deserving to see with Clarity again. Before then, I don't deserve them."

A small silence descended between the two who were heading towards the Abecedarian Sacrament as soon after, Aurelia shook her head lazily once more.

"So stupidly sentimental..."

SHIING!

She turned into an even faster streak of light that began to pull away from Orion's Soul Clone, their arrival into the Abecedarian Sacrarium imminent as it was the convergence of multiple destinies!

---

Noah's eyes reflected arcs of vibrant light as he watched Maximilian be surrounded by the light of a few Boundaries before he ultimately blared with the shocking radiance of Providence at the 8th Boundary Layer!

This was a very shocking and decisive action as Noah had felt multiple Boundaries sacrificed to make such a thing a reality- even the light of a 9th Boundary Layer that Maximilian held being burnt just to be capable of propelling the Consummate Boundary of Providence to the 8th Boundary Layer.

He stopped here as just with this...it was equivalent to multiple Innate Boundaries even at the 9th Boundary Layer.

"Ah..."

The light of Providence shone on his body as he let out a sigh of immense pain and sadness, as if he was one of the few Lernaeanes to be the first to realize just how big of a mistake they had made back then when they abandoned the Natural Laws!

Now that he felt Providence again and saw just what grandeur it could unleash...his heart couldn't help but ache at their past actions!

Noah could somewhat understand this reaction, but he didn't sympathize as he continued to plan for his own future.

He turned his head towards the far distance as at this moment, he could feel the Infinite Plane that he was intimately connected to moving across the Planar Palisades of Extremity and remaining utterly hidden from everything else.

He could tell with Providence that very soon, the time would come to begin absorbing more Planes of Existence into it- with his forces led by his son beginning their Conquest in the Lands of Noblesse while he himself...was already looking at the Interim Aeonc Lernaean Lineage Emperor Maximilian who would hand him the keys to the many Sacrariums of the Lernaean!

paΠdasNovel.com The only question and difficult realm to maneuver was the presence of their Apex Aeonc Lifeforms.

Just how much impact would they be able to exert?!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2387 The First And The Last True Emperors II

When Noah thought about the Apex Aeonc Lifeforms, he wasn't just accounting and making plans for the Ancestral Lernaean.

He also had to take into account the Apex Aeonc Lifeforms from the Noblesse, Quasarians, and eventually the Planeswalkers when he directed his Conquest to them as well!novelnext.com

And even past this, there were the Inheritances that were already backing these Lineages or about to.

He had to plan and prepare for countless possibilities with all of these factors in the picture while at this same time...his Reified Sources of Extremity were about to clash with the Scions of Inheritances spread out from multiple Havens while seeking Extremity Panaceas!

There was never a dull moment in his life as he always seemed to be constantly moving, and the countless thoughts shared by his conscious were forced to isolate the Dream Dimensional Chassis at this moment as it felt something grand.

Within the depths of the Abecedarian Sacrarium, the Dream Dimensional Chassis separated from Noah's massive collective consciousness and wholly focused on the domain it was in as Providence sent forward warnings-warnings of beings exceeding the stage of Unequaled Reverend Emperors by a large margin nearing!

Emperor Maximilian opened his eyes that swirled with Providence at this same time as he spoke out while gazing towards a certain direction.

"Your ideals are great as Providence seems to favor this path more for the lives of all Lernaean, but even I wouldn't have been able to shoulder the decision alone. Luckily, it seems those who can carry much heavier loads on their shoulders are about to arrive."

WAA!

His words caused the many Elder Ancestors that weren't voicing their thoughts and opinions to look around ecstatically- because anyone greater than the Interim Aeonian Lernaean Lineage Emperor was...

...!

BZZT!

A heavy aura instantly enveloped the Abecedarian Sacrarium.

It wasn't just one as it felt like multiple, each of them seemingly locating exactly where they were as after these auras spread out, the majesty of 2 shocking Lifeforms began to bloom at the edges of the spread out sandy gold dreamy platform!

One was adorned in a white robe as his face carried exceeding charm and grace, a head full of dark hair mixed with stellar white tendrils of light present as his eyes were mere sockets of light- his figure actually arriving second.

The one that arrived first was an exceedingly gorgeous woman, her visage plentiful as she was more on the thicker side- and yet her beauty exceeded most others as she was surrounded by the golden brilliance of fortune.

A golden robe draped over her as her hair seemed like mere golden streams of reality, her gaze looking over all the Lerneans here as her eyes actually lit up when she saw the figures of two Emperors standing next to opposing thrones, all others surrounding them in a grand gesture.

"If those other fools were here seeing you sitting throne to throne, they would call it treasonous." Her voice was melodious to listen to as it emanated in the surroundings, causing all Lernaean Reverend Emperors and Elder Ancestors to kneel with fervor and respect as the one that had spoken was one of their most revered leaders!

The Apex Aeonic Lifeform who could be called a mobile Vault of Treasures- Caterina Aurelia Dismukes!

Emperor Maximilian's eyes lit up at her appearance as he smiled brightly while bowing towards her, after all...it was all due to her valuables and power that he was still alive today after failing Apexification.

"What do you call it, Sister Aurelia?"

"None of my business is what I would call it, and I told you not to call me Sister." Caterina Aurelia spoke succinctly while she waved her hands, her words continuing soon after as she turned towards Noah's golden visage.

"What is my business though...is the structure of my Golden Forge that I can faintly sense hidden within the depths of your soul." I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

BOOM!

pandasNovel.com The air suddenly turned very thick.

She had only just arrived as it had been mere seconds, and yet she seemed to have obtained an overabundance of knowledge as her gaze instantly locked onto Noah!

She moved forward as she beckoned her hands to bring up the golden sand around her feet, the white robes eyeless existence behind her doing the same thing as he seemed to be in a stupor.

"The Essence of Dreams and the smell of Providence as well as multiple other Laws around you...you must be the Last True Emperor of Barren Lands."

Her steps were light as she carried imposing pressure, very few existences being able to even lift their heads at her prowess as she came to stand beside Maximilian while looking at Noah's calm visage as she continued!

"I care not for any of that though, as much as I do for the template of my Golden Forge. How did you manage to obtain it and even make something out of it? How far have you gotten while refining it with Boundary essences and your Aeon Soul? What's the highest Loot you get daily? Weekly? Yearly?"

The more she spoke, the more her eyes shone as the laziness within them gradually faded to reveal unexpected interest!

Interest that when Noah met her eyes, the essence of Loot, Fortune, Destiny, and Providence rose and whipped around madly as even Noah's soul couldn't help but smile.

Yes! Where exactly had his Infinite Forge reached now? What stupendous valuables could it give him per diem when his soul and the Systems built within it were constantly being upgraded the more that his Aeonic Soul Values rose?

Towards the question that the first Architect of the Golden Forge asked, Noah actually spoke freely as he felt like he had met another lover of Loot!

"The refinement of my Realm and Soul should soon finish their stabilization as I can completely quantify the boons I get every day at that time. But at this point, I should be receiving multiple Aeonic Treasures of Extremity daily, along with the highest EPOCH Relics, Lineages, Modus Operandi, or even possibly chances to attain Loot at the Apex Aeonic Lifeform level..."

...!

"What!" The eyes of Aurelia exploded with golden light as she instantly appeared before Noah!

Her astounding power was torrential as it caused Ophelia beside him to kneel, yet Noah remained standing as he looked at this woman before him who released a profound glow of Loot.

"Daily? I could only attain Aeonic Treasures of Extremity per diem after I became an Apex Aeonic Lifeform, and at that point, they were useless to me. You can acquire them now at your current stage? Along with even more? You...let me see it."

WAA!

"What?" Noah felt like this woman before him was insane as towards his question, she only repeated herself again!

"Show me your Forge. I won't believe it until I see it for myself. And if you show me yours, I'll show you mine."

"..."

The Elder Ancestors in the environs were dismayed while maintaining their kneeling positions of respect, not knowing how to fully wrap their minds around this!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2388 The First And The Last True Emperors III

"Show me your Forge. I won't believe it until I see it for myself. And if you show me yours, I'll show you mine."

The words rang out in the surroundings from the pink lips of a pristine Apex Aeonian Lifeform as others didn't even know how they should perceive them!

Emperor Maximilian shook his head dubiously as the other Apex Aeonian Lifeform to arrive came out of his stupor to also sigh at the unfolding scene.

Yet towards the request of Aurelia...

"No." Noah answered firmly and calmly as the shining expression on Aurelia's face dwindled before becoming even brighter.

"You...I just wanted to appreciate the Loot because I thought you were like me. You would actually deny?"

BZZZT!

Her body danced with wild power as a milky golden light of a Dynamis of Extremity even began to paint her skin, the Elder Ancestors in the surroundings feeling their Souls tremble as they sank even further into the golden sand!

Yet the True Emperor of Quintessence didn't falter due to the pressure as he nodded while replying calmly.

"Yes. Though I do hold an interest in the Forge of an Apex Aeonic Lifeform, so I can show you a reflection of mine after everything is quantified in a bit."

"A reflection? No, I want to see the real thing in your Aeonic Soul. How you constructed it in your soul, what changes you made to my forge, I want to seemmm!"

Before the words of Aurelia could finish, she was cut off as the Apex Aeonic Soul Clone that came behind her placed his hand on her lips and pulled her figure backwards, his voice emanating out apologetically as it caused the Elder Ancestors who heard it to recognize him as they trembled with shock and incredulity!
nOveINext.com

"I apologize for her behavior. She has never acted like this before..."

...!

It was the voice of the True Emperor of Genesis.

The First Emperor of the Barren Lands.

His gaze was deep and filled with wisdom as at this moment, he locked his eyes with none other than the Last Emperor of the Barren Lands!

The ones who ruled the Barren Lands first and last!

Their gazes intersected at this moment as if felt like entirely different regions of the spacetime continuum coming together.

Yet even during such a grand meeting...

BZZT!

Aurelia's body buzzed with power as she seamlessly pushed Orion away from her, her gaze dissatisfied as she looked towards him.

She held a hint of respect towards this being, and this was why even though she was greatly more powerful, she still didn't show that she could easily rebuff his authority and overcome him as she allowed him to just do what he did!

But even so, she was still an Emperor of utmost prestige and wonder.

"Orion, don't force my hand...and you..." Her gaze returned back to Noah as she continued.

"...I'll let you have a peek at my Forge first, how about that? You can even take whatever you find fancy. I've begun to even generate treasures for Apex Aeonics in there. But right after, let me into your Soul."

...!

A set of sentences that were disastrous to all Elder Ancestors here rang out! think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

A view into the Forge of the True Emperor of Fortune!

Who had actually been granted a right to explore into it before? So far, only the most powerful Unequaled Reverend Emperors and Apex Aeonics among the Lernaean had received treasures from her Forge, but they were not able to ever step foot in it.

They didn't even think it was a possibility

pandasNovel.com But hearing this...

An inexplicable sense of loss seemed to settle in their hearts as they remained kneeling.

Yet even before an answer could come from the True Emperor of Quintessence...

"Aurelia."

The voice of the True Emperor of Genesis emanated out as he gazed with seriousness towards Aurelia.

His single word was enough to convey his intentions. That now wasn't the time. That there was something much greater they had to ascertain!

"Tsk." And Aurelia begrudgingly accepted this as she didn't push any further, her laziness returning as she moved back while beckoning with her hands-tendrils of the Boundary Essence of Dreams from the golden floor surging towards her as she analyzed it freely.

At this juncture, Genesis and Quintessence came to gaze upon each other once more as the Emperor adorned in sandy gold was the first one to speak while looking towards Genesis with curiosity!

"I met a portion of the Will of your past self within the Barren Lands."

"Oh?" Orion's eyes lit up as he smiled wryly before continuing. "It must have been a Will filled with remorse and weakness."

"It was."

WAA!

Noah spoke such shocking words as if the being before him was a peer, and he didn't stop there.

"It was a Will that thought it had exhausted all other avenues and had to fall in line with others. It advised me to find a different path."

And at such words, Orion nodded with a smile as if a heavy light was lifted off his shoulders.

Off to the side, Aurelia was still analyzing the Consummate essence of the Boundary of Dreams as she rolled her eyes while the two of them talked, yet Orion paid her no heed as he replied while staring intently at Noah.

"I can see your Eyes. You found much more clarity than I ever could as you embarked on a path none of us had seen or thought of. I just wanted to see...the outcomes of your path. My greatest wrong and regret. I wanted to see the Barren Lands."

...!

The Barren Lands.

Among the Lernaean here, who had been graced with seeing them again?

Had even the Lernaean Vassals Noah had attained gotten a view of it? The answer was no!

Now, its First True Emperor sought to view at magnificence as at this, Noah smiled devilishly and replied.

"Of course, this can be arranged."

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2389 The First And The Last True Emperors IV

"This can be arranged, but I would first need you to glimpse Providence again and take it to the Third Boundary Layer at the very least."

A golden light erupted from his body that even Aurelia brought her sharp eyes to gaze at- it was the light of a Consummate Boundary, the light of Providence!

It clustered towards Orion as he came to hold the bundle of gold in his hands.

The figure of Aurelia appeared beside him as she spoke out calmly.

"I want it too."

WAA!

"Be my guest." Noah freely gave out what all Elder Ancestors here were looking for, this being his condition for Genesis to glimpse the Barren Lands again as anyone who grasped his Boundaries...he could exert a level of influence on!

After all, he had bound their Sources.

They were integrated with him!

He could even slowly and pathogenically influence a soul without its knowledge.

Of course, a Soul that was vastly stronger than him like that of an Apex Aeonic Lifeform would be affected very little as they would even likely find out the moment he used Quintessential Pathogenicity on them.

But then, there was also the Barren Lands that were the tool Noah used to bind the Sources of Extremity he held.

The control they could exert over beings who were connected or utilizing its Source was stupendous as Noah had affirmed with Providence and Destiny multiple times- but even an Apex Aeonic Lifeform could be repulsed or expelled instantly so long as they held a strong enough connection to one of its Sources!

It was simply another Layer of protection even though Noah knew and Destiny foretold that Orion nor Aurelia would never make any moves to harm the Infinite Plane. But it didn't mean Noah couldn't take precautions, nor that he couldn't gain benefits from it like gaining a line of influence into Apex Aeonic Lifeforms.

BZZT!

The golden light of Providence was absorbed into Orion's body as inexplicable emotions rose, unimportant Boundaries being sacrificed within his soul at this moment as a potent light of Providence very quickly arrived at the 9th Boundary Layer.

He didn't merely stop at the Third Boundary Layer as Noah had mentioned, this being the first Consummate Boundary that he held as he rose it to the highest level that he could in a short period of time!

Taking it to the 10th Boundary Layer was a whole other task entirely as even Aurelia beside him stopped on the 9th Boundary.

"Interesting, this really is that same Providence...this gives you some sort of assurance?"

Aurelia spoke succinctly as Noah nodded with sharp eyes, pointing his hand behind him as a resplendent gateway bloomed an instant later!

It was none other than a cluster of spatial vortices merging together that led into the Infinite Plane still floating in the Planar Palisades of Extremity.

"It is not named the Barren Lands any longer, so let me welcome you to...my Infinite Plane."

WAA!

Utmost grandeur and majesty erupted out as the figure of Genesis gravitated towards the gateway as if he could feel an unbreakable pull.

His empty sockets surged with a milky white light as his visage and the visage of Aurelia followed the Dream Dimensional Chassis into the dazzling gateway- no other beings moving an inch as Ophelia was the first one to sigh in relief as if a heavy weight was lifted off her shoulders, turning towards the clones of Adelaide and others who didn't venture out for Conquest as they felt like they could finally converse freely once more!

"That went better than I could have even imagined..." Ophelia spoke towards Adelaide who held a similar devilish smile as Noah, her starry attention reading the emotions of all those around them as she replied to Ophelia.

The Barren Lands.

pandasNovel.com This was what he knew them as.

But when he stepped through the gateway...what he found seemed to be the home he remembered, and yet it seemed to be something else entirely!

Even Aurelia gazed on in seriousness as they appeared in a region filled with stellar particles of light weaving endlessly for light years- this region being in the outer periphery of the Infinite Plane as before their senses, they saw the stacked structure of 9 Minor Planes filled with uniquely colored Cosmos and structures, as well as endless rivers of reality and massive Cosmos unlike anything they had seen before!

"All of it...you saved all of it." I think you should take a look at pandasnovel.com

Orion spoke with genuine shock in his eyes as he was bracing for the worst.

But there it was.

Radiant.

Stellar.

Gorgeous.

It was the 9 Minor Planes he knew and the vastly bigger Major Plane that seemed to contain them, endless clusters of Realities and Cosmos weaving amongst each other as on top of all this...

"Why is there such a potent aura of Extremity?"

Aurelia was the one to voice it out quizzically as even though it was the Planes they knew, they also felt the environment feel very similar to the Havens of Extremity as Noah calmly replied to this confusion.

"The Natural Laws and Decreta that govern it are all going towards Extremity. Naturally, the Infinite Plane itself is doing the same thing."

BOOM!

Shocking words emanated from Noah as they caused both the Clones of the Apex Aeonic Lifeforms to gaze at him.

It was simply too preposterous as when Orion felt the aura of Consummate Boundaries stemming from all fabric of Reality in these past Barren Lands...

"It may actually be possible. With something like this, your ideals of forming an Inheritance may not be an impossibility."

...!

As Orion spoke, his Will perked up as he noticed the aura of multiple beings begin to appear before them.

His soul trembled as it was auras of the Lineages of the 9 Minor Planes he very well remembered. nOveINext.com

The figures of Albus from the Prana Dimension, The Old Dreamer, Guinevere...the main bodies of all the Dimensional Rulers began to appear as those who had remained behind in the Barren Lands met those who had left too long ago!

An meeting of destiny and Providence.

An meeting of choices!

Choices.

They were ultimately what decided the path to be taken as at this moment, the main bodies of Orion, Aurelia, and Lucia tore through space ever faster to arrive at the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Domain.

Orion's expression was bright as only he and Aurelia's clones were seeing the Infinite Plane with their eyes, Orion's voice echoing out as they were seconds away from arriving into the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Domain.

"Aurelia, an even grander path may just be possible. With all of the Natural Laws and Decreta expanding towards Extremity along with the Plane itself...we will have to make sure everything is taken care of quickly in order to explore this path even more and seclude ourselves from the Eyes of others. They must not know just what we have!"

His eyes were sharp.

He knew that the usurpation of Roan's authority had to happen quickly as their Lineage had to prepare and steer clear of the attention of Inheritances, the benefits they had alone being something they needed time to swallow as they didn't need to sell themselves off to factions that would divide and use them!

So he made his choice as his blazing aura and that of Aurelia and Lucia arrived in the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Domain.

Dozens of thrones lay before their attention as the few that remained taken were still the same, the violet throne where a certain Apex Aeonic Lernaean

Lineage Emperor Roan sat being just as bright if not brighter as he looked towards them impassively.

Seeing the holder of the Aeonix Forge of Extremity standing beside Orion and knowing very well of her power and influence, rage couldn't help but rise in the attention of Roan as he saw Orion was truly serious about his usurpation!

But...just as Orion had made his choice, so had Roan.

And he now stared at his fellow beings that had come for his throne and authority without fear as no matter what choice they made...it could not be grander than the one he had just made with an Inheritance from the Aeonix Haven of Penumbra!

INFINITE MANA IN THE APOCALYPSE

Chapter 2390 Divergence! I

Chapter 2390 Divergence! I

"Caterina..."

The eyes of multiple Apex Aeonix Lifeforms lit up at the appearance of one of the pillars of the Lernaean Lineage!

Yet seeing Caterina Aurelia Dismukes appearing along with Orion right after his exchange of words with the Apex Aeonix Lineage Emperor Roan, a terrifying and palpable pressure seemed to descend as their overly strong souls knew something grand was about to happen.

"I won't waste any of our time, so I will simply state that I am here to invoke the Lernaean Enthronement Ceremony to depose Roan Gregorius Acidinus and to anoint a new Apex Aeonic Lernaean Lineage Emperor."

BOOM!

Space shook and trembled as powerful Wills collided and vibrated at such an announcement!

To Depose the current Emperor and call forth a Lernaean Enthronement Ceremony that would raise a new Emperor!

It was a sacred ceremony that was determined by the majority of the currently present Lifeforms in the Lernaean Apex Aeonic Domain at the point in time that it was invoked.

All those present within this domain held a vote as it was one of the most sacred places for Lernaean!

Even the Interim Aeonic Lernaean Lineage Emperor Maximilian who was here held a vote, even though he wasn't an Apex Aeonic Lifeform!

The violet visage of Roan was utterly cold as veiled anger and hurt could be seen in his eyes, his fist clenched as he didn't say a word.

He simply watched on as at such a reaction, the swirling milky white light within Orion's sockets churned as a sensation he didn't want to feel began to flourish!

So he became even more determined as he continued.

"All those in favor of deposing Roan Gregorius Acidinus as the current Apex Aeonic Lineage Emperor."

His hand rose in a grand show of wonder as the Apex Aeonic Lifeforms present glanced at each other without any movements.

Maximilian's main body was the first one to join Orion as from his throne, his hand rose! noVELnext.com

There were many others here more powerful than him- the less than a dozen Apex Aeonic Lifeforms seated on the thrones amounting to 9 without including Orion and those he arrived with.

Yet his hand was the first to rise as Roan gave him a powerful cursory glance.

Thereafter, an annoyed voice echoed out as the fair hand of Aurelia laced in golden light rose.

"I left my abode to come here for this, so let's make it quick."

Her hand rose.

The eyes of the 9 Lernaean Apex Aeonic Lifeforms gazed at it as in sequence...

BZZT!

They began to raise their hands one after another!

If Caterina the Great supported this ordeal, how could they deny it?!

Unless none of them wanted to receive stupendous treasures in the future, they could only follow even if their Wills thought differently.

Out of all the Lernaean Lifeforms here, only three did not raise their hands.

Roan and the two Lifeforms closest to him.

Their eyes held deep conviction as they also sighed internally, their bond with Roan running too deep as they had to at least stand with him!

As for Roan himself.

His gaze was currently billowing with cold anger as he remained outwardly calm during all this, watching those who had raised their hands to give the majority win needed in order to depose him with a chilling light!

At this point, Orion nodded with a heavy expression as the next words he wanted to say were simple ones.

The stifling foreboding sensation on his soul only became heavier as his milky white Dynamis of Extremity surged over his skin like heavy tendrils of light, with him not being the only one as beside him...Aurelia's eyes had long since become stern before his!

Since the majority vote had been cast, Orion was going to say that at this moment, Roan was deposed as another vote would be held to decide the new Apex Aeonian Lernaean Lineage Emperor.

But he didn't say these words.

The heavy sensation in his heart fully settled as instead, he asked gravely.

"Roan...what have you done?"

WAA!

"Oh?" The Deposed Emperor seated upon his violet throne raised "I thought you were about to call the premature end to the vote, and I was going to tell you that you do not have the majority."

...!

The air became utterly stifling.

This domain hidden deep under a vast sea of Nullity within the heart of the domains of the Lernaean Lineage trembled at this juncture as the expressions of many changed at this moment- their Wills catching Roan flick out a Runestone that read {Shadows}!

And an instant later, the blazing auras of over a dozen Apex Aeonic Lifeforms began to bloom one after another.

A radiant obsidian light of grandeur bloomed as with it, 13 dazzling shadows manifested behind Roan!

Each one seemed like a volatile singularity as the power of a powerful Apex Aeonic Lifeform emanated from each of them!

Their sudden appearance caused the expressions of all here to change drastically as this domain was a distinctive kind of a Minor Plane of Existence. Without the correct authority, no being could simply enter.

And such an authority was always granted to the most distinguished Lernaean.

Until today.

Until Roan...

"You fool...what have you done?!"

It was Aurelia who bellowed out at this instant as her vivacious body pulsed with immense power, their Wills very vividly catching the appearance of these 13 Apex Aeonic Lifeforms that were in no way connected to the Ancestral Lernaean!

Their expressions were those of utmost calm and grandeur as even though they appeared behind Roan, they floated slightly above his throne as they seemed to portray their own importance and power.

Their eyes were callous as if everything happening around them was inconsequential, with the most dreadful thing being...their shadows.

They endlessly stretched behind them and towards an invisible distance as all 13 beings were wore with glimmering stellar black robes that held the writing of {Shadows}!
