

Apocalypse 591

Chapter 591: Destroyed civilisation

The cooperation between humans and beasts seemed weird, but it was expected.

Life will always find its way.

Humans always wracked their brains to get things that were good for them. During peacetime, they would do so for gold and power. In the apocalypse, they would do it for evolution potions and weapons.

Mutated lifeforms were the same. The law of the jungle made sense no matter the period.

In that situation, nothing was impossible.

When mutated lifeforms got stronger and reached the top of the food chain to be equal to humans, they weren't just beasts when they had their intellect. They were very close to humans in certain areas, apart from their bodies looking different.

To many evolved, this cooperation seemed sudden and unbelievable. But it wasn't surprising to Ye Zhongming, who lived for ten years in his last life.

Based on what he knew, humans and mutated lifeforms worked together in a few famous battles to challenge even stronger monsters. Humans or lifeforms worked together to attack some human bases. Many different things happened, which caused many shocking situations.

But survivors slowly adapted to such a situation. Since they could be unscrupulous to get what they wanted, why couldn't they work with mutated lifeforms?

Ye Zhongming didn't feel bad about this sort of cooperation.

As long as it didn't touch his bottom line.

Moreover, the ocean had many treasures. This was a popular phrase for survivors. Now that he had such a good chance, he wouldn't let it go.

Of course, although they agreed to work together, it didn't mean that Ye Zhongming stopped being wary of the Pliosaurus. From its conditions, you could tell that the Pliosaurus didn't care about its subordinates' lives. It only cared if it could get stronger. Even the level seven lifeforms were chess pieces for it.

What did it mean to clear the obstacles for Ye Zhongming? The ocean beasts would kill the other humans, blocking Ye Zhongming and Cloud Peak. How to kill? It could only send stronger beasts to challenge and win those survivors, and then... Let Cloud Peak kill them.

One could say that it used its subordinates' lives to trade for what it wanted.

Was it cruel? But this was the apocalypse. This was the world of mutated lifeforms.

When such things happened to them, they didn't have the moral lines humans had. As the apocalypse advanced, such things would happen to humans. It would become more common.

Civilization would be destroyed.

Or rather, it would be replaced by a gory form of civilization.

It didn't matter if one was willing or not.

After confirming the cooperation, Ye Zhongming didn't hesitate to select ten Cloud Peak warriors to fight.

This was what Ying City and Sky Elephant Division wanted.

They agreed to work with Cloud Peak, but anyone who says the huge death rate would hesitate. It was the best that Cloud Peak chose to send their troops now.

"You aren't letting me go?"

Guang Yao didn't want to send his other subordinates to die, but he was confident in his strength. Moreover, some rewards on the level five wheel tempted him, so he wanted to gamble.

The other factions in China feared Cloud Peak's seven stars evolved and their purple equipment, but Sky Elephant Division didn't, as both sides were working together.

But Ye Zhongming's obstruction caused his expression to change. To him, it seemed Ye Zhongming was breaking their partnership and planning to solo all the rewards.

Ye Zhongming was quite frustrated. After all, it wasn't easy to explain. He couldn't tell him that he had agreed with the level eight Pliosaurus to give it the five mutated lifeform rewards. What if you got the reward and didn't trade it to me?

Guang Yao might not believe him; even if he got the reward, you couldn't force him to trade it.

"If you can promise to trade me the mutated lifeform items, I won't stop you."

Even if he felt that Ye Zhongming and Cloud Peak were strong, Guang Yao and Sky Elephant Division had their pride. When they heard those words, Little Xiu couldn't help but laugh.

"Ye, don't think you are the boss just because you have two purple pieces of equipment. You don't have control over us."

Ye Zhongming looked at Little Xiu and didn't speak. He turned back to Guang Yao.

Even a fool could see the unhappiness on the Cloud Peak core members when they heard Little Xiu speak to Boss Ye like that. Their gazes toward her became more unfriendly.

"You feel the same way?"

Guang Yao hesitated and then nodded slowly. Little Xiu scoffed and raised her chin.

Ye Zhongming nodded and didn't say anything. He headed to West Asia to tell Shiekha about his thoughts.

Although the West Asians weren't happy with what Ye Zhongming did, they thought about the cooperation, and after discussing it, they agreed with his suggestion. If things went smoothly and they got what he wanted, they would trade it with him for a reasonable price.

After receiving their promise, he left. But he knew that, be it Guang Yao or the West Asians, their chances of spinning the wheel were low.

When they saw Ye Zhongming lead nine Cloud Peak warriors to fight, many people who had some thoughts gave up.

The ocean beasts sent over a hundred high-level forces, and that caused the humans to be speechless.

Guang Yao sighed and still chose to fight. Apart from Cloud Peak and him, 15 others fought. Among them were 7 Japanese, 4 Koreans, and one from India, Indonesia, Philippines, and Vietnam.

Ye Zhongming looked at the confident Japanese and Koreans and didn't know where their pride came from.

The challenge began under such a weird atmosphere.

A level-five beast headed down and roared toward the humans.

“Zhongming, be careful of the Japanese.”

As they were working together, Cloud Peak would be the last. When Ye Zhongming and the group were waiting, Park Xiuying suddenly said to him.

“Out of those few that are sent, I feel uncomfortable. I am unsure who it is, but you must be careful.”

Park Xiuying explained.

She didn't pay much attention previously, but when the Japanese walked out, she felt terrified for some reason. When she saw Ye Zhongming head down, she had a bad feeling.

Those Japanese had a power that made her feel uncomfortable; were they planning to use it on him?

The challenge that seemed safe and easy because of the cooperation suddenly had a few uncertain factors.

Chapter 592: Black Abyss Envoy

Sato Emon stood in the group expressionlessly.

But his heart was beating profusely.

He previously got a glorious mission that could show his loyalty.

Kill the Chinese!

He was a five-star evolved, but he was a special one. In his leader's words, his job was unique, and he could kill anyone.

Of course, the price was that he had to die, too.

But Sato emon didn't care. In his heart, a warrior's glory was more important than his life. The glory of the faction was far more important than his life. The recognition of the leader was more important than life.

He used his way to show his faith.

For example, he had a dread knot.

In peacetime, not to mention people of similar ages, not many in Japan were willing to have such a hairstyle. But he didn't care; he wanted this symbolic hairstyle to tell those who mock him that he was a samurai, the most loyal one. He was protecting tradition and wanted to spread it.

The apocalypse that everyone hated arrived, but he didn't hate it. On the contrary, he was excited about the new order. He saw that the thing he believed in was rising.

The leader rose; the faction rose. More people joined factions that were about to go extinct during peacetime. He also gained power that was unimaginable to him during peacetime.

Under the leadership of his leader, he merged the samurai spirit and skills into his evolution.

He was waiting for a day to shock everyone.

That day finally arrived.

Sato Emon and his leader saw how strong the Chinese were.

His passion was not wrong. His confidence wasn't wrong. Like many of his brothers, he looked down and hated that country across the ocean.

He knew his country had lost to them during their hundred years of history. Even if they relied on other countries to win, they couldn't hide their recent poverty and falling behind.

Even before the apocalypse started, their economy was behind. But he still looked down on those people.

The Koreans who also lost in that war spent dozens of years sacrificing their interests rather than purchasing Japanese cars. But the Chinese wouldn't. They only cared about their interests.

Sato Emon knew there were economic squabbles he couldn't understand and realized there were technological competitions. It wasn't as simple as he imagined, but it didn't stop him from underestimating that country.

Much negative tourism, shopping, and culture news made him look down on that country and its people.

But this was a rare chance. His persistence in his path had touched the leader of the faction. He followed him and learned many deeper things. He realized that the country he looked down on was using its way to get stronger. He found out they were strong enough to ignore them, and his country no longer had power over them.

He recalled that his ancestors had to kneel to them in the last hundred years!

Even their language and words were taught to them!

Even in modern days, after that country slept for a hundred years and just woke up, but at this initial stage, they weren't something that his country could compete with.

Thus, many seniors still had a prideful outer appearance, but deep down, they were terrified of that country.

He was afraid that the place would continue to get stronger. He was afraid that they had improved.

His country could only mock and look down on them to keep their pride.

Even if it was only psychological.

This feeling was bitter for all of them.

Fortunately, the apocalypse was here. He felt like this was the best chance for his country to rise. Sato Emon looked as many of his people and his faction stronger. Now, half the country was in a faction.

Sato Emon felt like his fear for that country had disappeared. He was even looking forward to a day when his country would complete that battle of glory that was undone nearly a hundred years ago.

But today, the fight was on this island.

Sato Emon and his leader saw the strength of the Chinese again.

These things were a deep stab in his heart. He knew that if he couldn't defeat those Chinese, these things would become his nightmare until he died.

Fortunately, his leader understood him and sent him forward.

Sato Emon was prepared to sacrifice himself.

He knew that the strongest Chinese faction was Cloud Peak, and its leader was Ye Zhongming. He knew that their highest evolved level was a seven-star evolved who was a level higher than his leader. He also personally witnessed two purple pieces of equipment appear.

So what?

If any of them chose to challenge, they would die!

He would use his job skill to kill Ye Zhongming or that seven-star evolved!

He would give his leader the easiest chance to rise. He knew that even if he died, his soul would follow his leader towards that country and occupy the fertile land that his country had eyed for thousands of years.

Ye Zhongming had participated in this challenge, so his chance was here!

He would leave a thick stroke in history and become an idol for his people!

Since that was the case, what was death? It was all worth it!

That person called Ye Zhongming entered! Then, he would have his moment of glory.

Black flames appeared on Sato Emon's body. That decently handsome face started to twist; black blood vessels covered his body and appeared on his head. An ugly black horn appeared from his head amidst all the black flames.

The trump card that the Japanese were proud of was finally being used.

The job that could only be used once in a life--- Black Abyss Envoy, had appeared...

Chapter 593: Insta Kill

Before the Pliosaurus got what it needed, Ye Zhongming didn't suspect the cooperation was valid.

Ocean beasts challenged, humans challenged, beasts challenged again... The battle was very intense since the first battle.

The wheel had given the notification that it was going to be 15 times! Each person could spin twice.

This meant that the first person who spun the wheel had a 1/30 chance to get a prize.

This rate wasn't high, but it was not bad compared to the previous wheels. One must know that the rewards of the level-six wheel were very tempting! The success rate was just a mathematical figure. The truth was that it depended on luck. Although the success rate of the first person was the lowest, if they were lucky, they might get two prizes.

Survivors who wanted to take the risk but weren't confident in their strength chose to go first.

Vietnam's evolved was the first to challenge that ocean beast. It was tough, but he won. But after that, the second ocean beast appeared to kill the five-star evolved.

The Vietnamese region cried.

Their country wasn't big, and maybe that gave them some advantages during peacetime. As long as society was stable and they had a good leader and some effective economic strategies, their standard of living would increase. But that was a disadvantage in the apocalypse. They had many mountains and forests and a dense amount of mutated lifeforms. This made it tougher for survivors to survive there than in other countries.

Mutated lifeforms could evolve without humans, but humans couldn't if they failed to kill mutated lifeforms.

On one side were mutated lifeforms that were getting stronger; the other was a small group of weak human evolved. Thus, the highest level from the Vietnamese region was five-star.

This didn't mean that Vietnam didn't have a six-star evolution. But after all, the people here were from the city near the sea, so there was a huge restriction.

The Phillipino thought about it after seeing the Vietnamese fail. He was a six-star evolved. In that land, he was like an emperor. He was not planning to challenge but couldn't resist the temptation and decided to gamble. He saw that beast's ability and felt he could win.

That was the truth. He won. But before he could enjoy the joy of victory, a level-seven ocean beast started its challenge. The guy lasted for 15 minutes but failed. The ocean beast ate his head.

The humans were silent.

At least on the surface, only Ye Zhongming, who had the purple gun and the seven-star evolved Xia Bai, could defeat a level-seven ocean beast.

Even if the others were confident in themselves, they hesitated.

This level-seven beast wasn't weak.

The challenge time was about to run out, and no human chose to head down. Ye Zhongming nodded to Shengyuan. Cloud Peak challenged.

There was a reason to send Shengyuan first.

Although he agreed with the Pliosaurus, he was still worried.

He ensured that Cloud Peak would win; how? What method? What if the ocean beast didn't agree and wasn't controlled? This concerned life and lifeforms would listen to their instinct. What if they fight back?

Ye Zhongming was worried, so he chose Shengyuan, whose defense was strong.

Even if an accident happened, as he was good at defense, he could drag the match and think of a way to break the situation.

Moreover, Ye Zhongming equipped Shengyuan. This guy wasn't a giant shieldeer who could only use a shield.

Ye Zhongming knew that he had to take the risk. He couldn't treat them like fools even if he worked with the ocean beasts. If people saw the problem, they would appear to stir the situation. This was why Ye Zhongming didn't send low-level members out. They couldn't defeat the other survivors even if they killed the ocean beasts that died willingly.

Which was why he sent core members.

Shengyuan was a loyal partner of his team and was the firm protector of everyone. As long as he was in front, the team could challenge mutated lifeforms stronger than them. Shengyuan's strong defense was why their team was famous in Ying City.

Ye Zhongming was used to trusting him.

The moment he appeared, he placed the silver shield before him. He observed the opponent through the space above the shield.

He received a notification. Although he was shocked and felt that Ye Zhongming was magical to work with the ocean beasts, he still had a little doubt. After all, he had been standing beside him and didn't see him do anything. How did he agree with the ocean beast? If not for Ye Zhongming creating too many miracles, Shengyuan would have asked him.

Shengyuan appeared with a bit of suspicion, so he had to be careful. This was why he took up a defensive stance.

This action made many human evolved shake their heads.

This was a challenge. You had to win to pass, so why were you defending? You could drag your opponent to death? They hadn't heard of any human evolved that could do that to a same level mutated lifeform. Their body qualities were much stronger than humans.

The level seven beast received some order, but after it saw Shengyuan, it became impulsive and charged toward the human. Sharp metals appeared on its skin and looked like a giant porcupine.

It hit Shengyuan's shield. Many people closed their eyes and couldn't bear to watch the human being crushed.

But Shengyuan took three steps back and stopped.

That ocean beast was sent rolling back. The metal spikes had changed shape from the impact.

Many people exclaimed. It was because of Shengyuan's strong defense and the shield.

The metal that had caved in was repairing!

It was a shield that could self-repair! Moreover, its self-repairing ability was exceptional.

Their shock was far from over. The guy from Cloud Peak took out something and aimed it at the level-seven beast before firing!

A silver glow stuck into the beast's body. That level-seven beast cried, and its giant body fell to the ground. It bled from all the holes and died immediately.

Insta kill?

Everyone was silent!

Chapter 594: Sharp Peak Series

People from Ying City Alliance and Sky Elephant Division weren't shocked that Cloud Peak could deal with level-seven ocean beasts. The other Asian countries were mentally prepared as they had seen it happen before. They didn't care that they used a purple weapon, as killing a level seven monster meant they could kill a level seven monster.

This big fellow was from Cloud Peak, so it was acceptable that he could kill a level-seven monster.

What people didn't understand was how.

Insta kill?

How did that happen? It was only one strike, which didn't make sense at all.

The seven-star evolved from Cloud Peak used two moves even when she was relying on the purple piece of equipment. This guy didn't have any purple equipment and used one strike?

This was what people didn't understand.

Could anyone go against Cloud Peak and the China Region?

Many survivors from other countries felt a cold chill down their spine.

What could one do apart from yield when an opponent was so strong?

Resisting? That was asking for death.

Someone was afraid, but more of them looked toward the weapon used to kill the level seven ocean beast. It was that silver short crossbow that Shengyuan used.

Silver?

It wasn't green, so how could it kill a level-seven mutated lifeform?

Everyone didn't understand.

But the core Cloud Peak members did.

They knew that it was a crystal weapon, or rather, a special crystal weapon that was still being tested.

Normal crystal weapons extracted energy from the demon crystal and used various weapon shapes to deal damage.

The strength of this weapon came from the energy extracted. On top of that would be the support parts placed on the weapon.

Ye Zhongming used his knowledge to develop this weapon several years in advance with Le Dayuan.

Crystal weapons had become a regular weapon for Cloud Peak since Ye Zhongming returned from the Secret Realm.

Le Dayuan had huge credit for this; naturally, Ye Zhongming took most credit for his knowledge.

But the father of crystal weapons was still the father. Even if he knew the theory about the weapons in advance due to Ye Zhongming, which caused him to make fewer mistakes on the path and have a clear research direction, his intellect and talent were not drowned.

He came up with a new concept.

To merge smith items and crystal weapons.

This idea wasn't a special one. Le Dayuan and people who came into contact with crystal weapons and were willing to study them have had such a thought.

After all, crystal weapons used a lot of crystal weapons. Everyone would think about how to conserve crystals while ensuring the weapon's strength remained.

Le Dayuan was affected by Ye Zhongming's thought process, so he kept his focus on the energy conversion rate. He tried to create more precise and efficient equipment to extract energy.

But suddenly, he wondered if he could use other methods to conserve energy. Even if he couldn't conserve it, what about increasing the strength?

When Ye Zhongming returned, his ideas were able to be tested.

He was able to use various high-level materials. He also asked for more expenses when Ye Zhongming first returned.

When he started researching this, many others had thoughts.

To merge crystal weapons with colored weapons made by smiths. A mixed shooting method is used to conserve crystal energy and increase strength.

Unfortunately, his initial idea was good, but the outcome filled him with despair. He could craft crystal weapons on their own. Things like crystal grenades, guns, and cannons were very strong. With Ye Zhongming's high-level parts, their durability and accuracy were much higher.

But when he merged them with colored weapons, they failed.

He failed many times and wanted to give up. Even Ye Zhongming shook his head and sighed. He felt like everything in his last life was correct, and there weren't any weapons of such form.

Of course, there might be, but he didn't know about them.

On the last time when Ye Zhongming upgraded all the parts to silver grade and added in some ghost metal, they finally succeeded once.

When the item was formed, it was this short crossbow!

Ye Zhongming and Le Dayuan were excited. After testing it, although it couldn't reduce the consumption of demon crystals, it was much stronger.

More importantly, after it was fired, the crystal weapon's energy would attach to the bullet or arrow and form a double effect. It used the sharp slicing effect of crystal weapons while having the equipment's original stats.

Just this point alone made it worth more than normal crystal weapons.

Le Dayuan excitedly named it- the Sharp Peak Series!

One could see that in his heart, the Sharp Peak Series was as good as the crystal cannon.

But the cruel reality made him mad. Even though he had a product and a successful experience, the success rate when crafting the Sharp Peak Series weapons was just one percent.

Right, they only succeeded once after a hundred times. The rate was too low.

Each failure meant that they wasted some ghost metal. This was the most precious material in Ye Zhongming's hands.

Finally, they spent three days in the lab and only got two products. One was this short crossbow, and the other was a pistol.

This thing was very powerful; the Sharp Peak Series was stronger than crystal weapons after tests. Crystal weapon pistols were similar to silver or green weapons. The crystal guns were around green. The two Sharp Peak Series ones were between green and blue.

It looked unassuming, but one must know that this was crafted. Theoretically, if they had enough Ghost Metal, each person in Cloud Peak could have one.

Everyone has one piece of blue equipment. That was terrifying. Even Ye Zhongming had only heard of small teams of less than a hundred people around nine-star evolved with such equipment.

When Shengyuan used his, it succeeded in one strike.

But!

Ye Zhongming pinched his chin and looked at the weird monster with strong mental energy. He felt like something wasn't right.

No one dared to challenge Shengyuan, so he spun twice, and after getting one reward, he spoke a few words with Ye Zhongming before he realized what wasn't right.

The victory had to do with that beast. They were following the rules!

Chapter 595: Nine Life Silver Sand (part 1)

Sharp Peak Series weapons were powerful, and to a certain extent, they represented the highest technological level of Cloud Peak.

Although the success rate was very low, and they needed to use up large amounts of ghost metal, they were shocking.

But Ye Zhongming didn't think this weapon could kill a level seven ocean beast in one shot.

In normal circumstances, when the beast was prepared, even the crystal energy demon gun couldn't do that.

If it was Ye Zhongming or Xia Bai, they could rely on their speed and skills to launch a lethal attack on the level-seven beast. But it was Shengyuan who was just standing straight and firing. Could a crossbow kill a level-seven beast?

Ye Zhongming felt that it was impossible. He felt that something wasn't right. That level seven beast didn't resist at all and was killed after its lethal area was hit.

Shengyuan felt the same way. He had tested the weapon before. It was strong, but not so strong that it could kill a level seven mutated lifeform in one shot. After he came down, he told Ye Zhongming that the monster was weird. It was as if it had lost consciousness after it attacked and didn't dodge or use any skills.

Ye Zhongming realized that it was that weird monster. It had strong mental energy or did something to that beast's body that affected the outcome at the crucial moment.

Such a partner was naturally reliable, but Ye Zhongming wasn't happy. The series of actions by that weird ocean beast sounded an alarm in his heart. He was very worried about that fellow who seemed like an old human.

The challenge continued, and the ocean beasts were the first to head down each time. No human challenged, so Ye Zhongming could only communicate with them and tell the beasts to fight one another.

A level five beast corpse and a level five demon crystal. Although the temptation wasn't so high that humans couldn't control themselves, there were some stakes.

A Japanese couldn't help but head down.

Everyone understood that even if you won early, you might not be able to gain anything due to the low drop rate. They also knew the people who fought at the start faced less pressure.

The challenges at the back were the stage for the few strongest people.

Unfortunately, although the Japanese were strong, his battle style wasn't correct. He had stronger skills, but he wasn't able to use them. He lost the ocean beast and wasn't even left with a complete corpse.

The old fellow leading the Japanese region had a dark expression, and no one knew what he was thinking.

But after the guy lost, no other human challenged. Ye Zhongming thought about it and sent someone from his side.

The person that appeared shocked everyone. It was Park Xiuying. The other factions didn't know her position in Cloud Peak, but Ying City was shocked. Many people felt that Boss Ye was bold enough to take the risk. If anything happened, Cloud Peaks strength might not drop too much, but they would be affected.

Ye Zhongming naturally had his considerations when sending her. Firstly, there was cooperation with the ocean beasts. If she faced the beast, there was no danger. Shengyuans challenge proved how reliable they were.

Secondly, she wore the battle contribution badge. In such a battle, the contribution points from killing a high-level ocean beast gave many points.

Finally, the other Sharp Peak Series weapon was in her hands. Even if a human tried to snipe her, she was strong enough.

Her battle looked simple. She used Diamond Shield on herself. With the staff's passive buff, her skills got stronger. Her shield's defense was very high. Even when the beast attacked, apart from when it used its talent skill, other attacks needed two hits to break a shield.

Park Xiuying could spawn a shield instantly; the number Even Teacher Park didn't know how many shields she could form now.

Everyone saw this beautiful teacher in a white robe attacking the opponent. Shields appeared, and after being destroyed, more spawned. Her hand in her other sleeve stretched out when she approached the monster. It was a silver gun. After it fired, that beast shook and died.

Apart from the core Cloud Peak members, the other survivors were shocked.

What was going on? That big fellow used one shot, but he was holding a crossbow. Now, this woman had a toy-like gun and also killed the enemy in one shot. Although it wasn't a level seven beast, it was terrifying enough. Did Cloud Peak have a new weapon?

The people with the most exaggerated expressions had to be the Sky Elephant Division and Guang Yao. They went against Ye Zhongming to challenge but now realized that this person had new things to bring out. What if they used this chance to kill him? Could Guang Yao and the Holy Army Coat block the secret weapon that killed a level-seven beast?

Maybe he sensed Guang Yao's rushed breathing. Ye Zhongming told him that what he said was still effective. They were still partners as long as he traded the item to Cloud Peak.

Park Xiuying shocked the field and was able to spin. But her luck wasn't good, and she returned empty-handed. She pouted in anger.

The ocean beasts still started the third challenge. This time, the humans were more excited. They feared the strong Cloud Peak members would challenge later on; if possible, they wanted to avoid them.

The six-star evolved from India attacked. He was very eye-catching, and his entire body was shining. It wasn't gold equipment but actual gold. Even his nose and ears had gold chains.

India had a strong caste system, and normal people wouldn't have such a habit. People guessed that he was from one of their noble families.

But he was very strong, especially his job, which Ye Zhongming knew. It was a strong job called Thousand Form Micah, which was found in West Asia, too.

The first ocean beast wasn't his match, and he won without spending much effort. The second one was more problematic, and it took ten minutes.

Ye Zhongming estimated that fellow's strength. Only 5-6 people in Cloud Peak could win him convincingly, which showed he was strong.

Chapter 595.5- Nine Life Silver Sand (part 2)

At this point, a level-seven ocean beast challenged. Each human evolved had to face this, and they were prepared. This Indian was prepared, too.

The moment it started, the Indian used his trump card. He had a real golden piece of equipment.

It was a shining Buddhist statue. After he activated it, it formed an illusion of a giant mountain. It gave off a powerful giant aura, controlling the situation immediately.

The level seven ocean beast was strong, and without the fellow beasts mental control, it went all out to cause a huge problem for the Indian. It charged out of this equipments attack range multiple times and even shredded the golden jacket the Indian was wearing. The Indian suffered heavy injuries because of that.

Unfortunately, he was left standing. Apart from the two purple pieces of equipment that Cloud Peak showed, this was the strongest. He managed to drag the level-seven ocean beast to death.

Another battle where humans won a level seven ocean beast. This improved the solemn morale of the Asian region. Many humans regained some confidence because of that.

Apart from Cloud Peak, someone else could kill level-seven mutated lifeforms.

Although the process was taxing, they managed to win.

The Indian recovered in the golden light, and he couldnt hide the smile on his face. He laughed and kept the level six and seven demon crystals.

Unfortunately, ocean beasts appeared, stopping his laughter.

Another level seven, but this one was stronger than the last. It was one of the few stronger ones in the Ocean Beast faction.

The Indian kept his smile. His expression was solemn, but he was cursing in his heart.

Why didnt the Chinese face level seven beasts? Why were they coming one after another to challenge me? Is it because I didnt show that I am strong enough?

But the level seven beast didnt give him face and used its talent skill right away. Its body was ten meters tall and had a pair of crab-like pincers. The pincer grew several times bigger and started to smash down at the Indian.

The Indian could only fight back. The golden statue grew big and shot out several golden streaks of light, which landed on the pincer. The thick shell smoked as it was burnt.

The mountain continued to fall towards the ocean beast.

No matter who it was, they must admit this was an entertaining battle. A man and beast used their skills, filled with killing intent. Talent skills and job skills clashed, and it was dazzling.

The level gap was shown at this point. Be it equipment or skills, the Indian was as versatile as the ocean beast but not as powerful. He was forced to be on the back foot, and the level seven ocean beast showed the humans the strength of high-level mutated lifeforms.

After the Indian used one of his most powerful job skills- Thousand Clones Flow Back, numerous clones exploded as they knocked into the ocean beast. There was thick smoke, and the humans thought the Indian had won. This job skill was surprisingly powerful. Even Ye Zhongming had to adjust his prediction from five Cloud Peak members to three.

This Indian evolved was strong, but considering how their country was huge; it was much more possible to find someone strong there.

But after the dust settled, they realized the level seven ocean beasts eyes were still open.

It was badly injured, but it wasn't dead.

The Indian's face was dead as ash. He used his ultimate move and had no more energy to fight. His stamina and mental energy were on the verge, and he was barely holding on. But his opponent looked like it could still fight.

The ugly face of the level seven beast showed a human-like smile. It raised its giant pincer and smashed toward the human.

Pu!

Blood splattered. His body was pierced through, and the golden statue fell to the ground. The ocean beast's attack shattered the aura on his body.

Fresh blood flowed from his mouth, and his gaze dimmed. After a few seconds, the survivor who defeated a level-seven beast previously died to this beast.

Many humans sighed.

He still Lost.

In battles against level seven beasts, China maintained a winning record.

When humans were still sad because of that, the wheel deduced that the level seven beast won. The golden light started to heal it. That Indian's corpse that was tossed to the side suddenly moved. A silver mist rose from his body and landed on his corpse. That corpse stood up after a few seconds.

That Indian said something the other regions didn't understand, but the Indians cheered. When he picked up the golden statue, he turned back and returned to his faction. The other survivors were stunned and didn't know what was happening.

Only Ye Zhongming knew Nine Life Silver Sand!

A precious item that could revive a user.

Who was that Indian? Not only did he have a golden piece of equipment, but he also had Nine Life Silver Sand!

That Indian had died, so the system said the level seven beast had won. That was why the Indian was free.

Let me!

Tong Hu planned to fight, but Ye Zhongming stopped him.

I will go.

Ye Zhongming looked at its fierce gaze and decided to go personally. This fellow was different.

At that moment, Sato Emon received the notification for his turn!

Chapter 596: Full firepower

Strong mental energy often meant sharp senses. When one was strong enough, one could sense dangers better than others.

After grasping the Soul Refining Technique, this situation became more apparent to Ye Zhongming.

Maybe he couldn't predict the future, but his sensing of short-term dangers was accurate. He trusted his feelings.

He felt that this beast had a threatening aura. This level-seven beast was already evolving towards level-eight, even its strength was similar to level-eight lifeforms.

This was a beast that evolved twice.

Although it hid it well, that intense battle still exposed its two crystals.

Ye Zhongming realized that none of the beasts that mutated twice had challenged. The Pliosaurus probably threatened them, or there were other reasons, but this

He looked towards the weird beast with strong mental energy but didn't get any response.

His eyes flashed, and he walked down slowly.

They all attracted attention, be it Liang Chuyin, Little Tiger, Xia Bai, or Park Xiuying. They analyzed, guessed, and deduced the overall strength of Cloud Peak. They compared themselves to them to see if they were stronger or weaker than some Chinese factions.

But before the boss of Cloud Peak headed down, such an analysis wasn't accurate. People in the apocalypse knew that the leader of a faction represented the highest combat strength of the entire faction. To a certain extent, the leader's strength was the same as the combination of all other members!

Without the strongest person, they couldn't suppress other arrogant survivors.

So, the other regions were shocked when Ye Zhongming appeared. Everyone focused on the battle and wanted to see how strong the Cloud Peak boss would be.

The level seven beast roared at Ye Zhongming. Its voice was threatening and provocative.

The moment he entered, Ye Zhongming felt a soothing feeling that healed his body to its best state. This made him tempted to try all his skills in battle.

Human, something happened. I can't control your opponent well, so you must be careful.

The weird beast communicated with him and proved his conjecture.

Ye Zhongming glanced, and that weird beast sensed his unhappiness and a slight bit of killing intent.

He knew this human was angry and threatening it and the Pliosaurus.

Ye Zhongming had many reasons to be unhappy. If not for his strong mental energy and his knowledge of the Soul Refining Technique, he would have chosen someone else, and that person might have been the first core member that Cloud Peak lost.

Each core member was precious and was single-handedly nurtured by Ye Zhongming. If they died in such a cooperation, it would be Ye Zhongming's fault.

I will help you deal with it, but you must pay 20% more things.

He didn't care whether they understood what 20% was. Ye Zhongming activated his bloodline immediately.

His body became very sinister. His eyes were covered in black mist, and the exquisite patterns filled his body and formed an artistic human drawing.

Basic Hell Envoy!

Ye Zhongming didnt take out the crystal energy gun. Instead, he held Moon Edge in his hands.

The other survivors didnt understand. Was he giving up on his strongest weapon? Why? Didnt that mean he was giving up on his advantage? Could his bloodline solve everything?

Even Cloud Peak members didnt understand what their boss was doing. Was the boss scared of wasting crystals?

But which crystal weapon didnt waste crystals?

Even Xia Bai was worried.

She did think about handing the purple mask to Ye Zhongming, but because the pearls and her body mutated, she was the only person who could use the mask. That was her unique equipment, and Ye Zhongming couldnt use it.

Without the mask, Ye Zhongming also did not use the crystal energy gun. Wouldnt that be dangerous?

Xia Bai personally witnessed how strong beasts who mutated twice were!

Ye Zhongming didnt look nervous at all.

He waved toward the ocean beast and used Mountain Slash. A lightning shot toward the beasts head. A machine at the height of his knee appeared behind him and spat out a white light blade.

Basic Lightning Technique! Explosive Mechanic-- Light Blade Cannon!

Ye Zhongming was determined and went all out!

The level seven beast was shocked by this aura. It placed its giant pincers in front of its body. At the same time, many red meat pieces appeared from its back. It bloomed like a flower toward Ye Zhongming. The tip of the meat pieces had white fangs, and after spreading open, they spat out a green liquid!

Corrosive Corpse Water!

The level seven beast used its other talent ability. The green liquid that filled the sky nearly covered the whole battlefield.

He had no way to dodge.

Many humans sighed.

Ye Zhongmings attacks were strong, and any evolved might be unable to block it. But the level-seven beasts attacks were ferocious, too. Even if both sides were hit at the same time, the human would be the one that died quicker. Moreover, the beast had a pair of tough pincers blocking.

The lightning and light blade passed the green liquid. The light was reduced, and the strength when it hit the pincers was much smaller. The light blade left a mark on the pincer, and some green liquid flowed out. The lightning caused the beast to shake slightly before it disappeared.

The Basic Lightning Technique was still too weak.

People wanted to sigh, but they noticed another light blade appearing. That machine fired two streaks of light! He used the first to attract attention. He relied on its speed to go through the path the first light opened to sneak attack!

Chapter 597: Battling beast

The second light blade sliced through the wound caused by the first blade. It pierced through the giant pincer and went into the head that the ocean beast tried to protect.

The beast roared and took a few steps back. Maybe because of the pain, the giant meat flower on its back shook.

The wound on its face wasn't long, but it was deep, and it was breathing profusely. The survivors were tongue-tied. So many strong attacks, but it only caused such little damage? That little machine was so strong.

This Cloud Peak Boss was strong, as expected!

But people reacted quickly. This boss was in huge danger.

The green liquid!

Looking back at Ye Zhongming's body, they noticed a simple staff stuck onto the ground. A female figure appeared in the sky.

Her eyes were half-squinted, and she held a water bottle. She was colorful and saint-like, which captured the hearts of many.

Water Bottle Protection!

The corrosive green liquid hit the water bottle protection and released green smoke. A stench spread, which caused the humans to cover their mouths. They were afraid of negative effects.

The elegant female figure shook slightly, and it shattered. The area of liquid reduced, and the strength was weaker but continued forward. But this time, it hit a silver metal giant. After a sizzling sound, the metal giant was covered in holes, but most of the liquid was blocked. Only a few drops passed the giant and landed towards Ye Zhongming.

The liquid was very powerful; even a bit of it was shocking.

But Ye Zhongming did something that terrified many.

He reached out a few fingers to flick the few drops aside.

This

Others might not know what happened, but the core Cloud Peak members knew. This was Ye Zhongming's close combat job, the skill of the Sky Dragon Cultivator, the modified Python God Finger!

Strictly speaking, Ye Zhongming didn't come into contact with the liquid. He used the job skills energy to knock them aside. Even if he were hit, his body wouldn't be affected. His mental energy would be consumed at most, but mental energy was his strength.

Both sides attacked once. The beast was injured, but Ye Zhongming was perfectly fine.

Many people witnessed Ye Zhongmings strength for the first time.

They were both six-star evolved, but at least in this round of performance, the Indian previously was not as strong as Cloud Peaks boss.

The level seven beasts thin hair rubbed its face to clean off the blood. The long red meat strands didnt combine, and all stood on their ends. They looked enraged.

The meat strands that fired the green liquid spit out a blue mist. Very quickly, they surrounded the beast in the middle, and the temperature around them started to fall.

Although Ye Zhongming was confident, he was very careful. He took two steps back in case something caught him off guard.

The ice mist that wrapped around the level-seven beast floated around for a few seconds before condensing into different shapes. Some were big, and some were small. Some were tall, and some were short. Five ice statue monsters appeared and charged towards Ye Zhongming after roaring.

This was a summoning talent skill!

To humans, mutated lifeforms with summoning skills were the most annoying.

Ye Zhongming laughed. This? I had that skill, too!

Ye Zhongming waved, and Yellow Ball, who was in Cloud Peaks faction, jumped. Its muscular body and golden fur made it look very majestic.

Many people were shocked. This dog was Ye Zhongmings battle pet, and it did have the right to join the battle. It didnt head up because it hadnt gotten an order.

Yellow Balls crystal was red. Like its master, they formed a two level-seven combination.

This was not it. Ye Zhongming took out the Demon Nurturing Bee Nest and placed it before him. Thousands of flying lifeforms flew out, and the flapping wings buzzed.

The leading Needle Bird had a similar demon crystal as Ye Zhongming and Yellow Ball!

It wasnt two level six but three!

Everyone knew that one couldnt tell how strong things that someone summoned were. For example, one couldnt tell the level of the things the level seven beast summoned. But one thing was certain: they were much weaker than the person summoning. In other words, the five ice statue beasts wouldnt be level-six and were at most level-five.

Moreover, they had obvious shortfalls.

But battle beasts and these energy beasts were different. As long as conditions allowed, they could be stronger than the main person.

Of course, once they were stronger, the contract would be uncertain. Apart from certain contract methods, others might cause them to consume the host.

The current situation was that the level-seven beast could only summon five ice statues. Ye Zhongming summoned his battle beast, Yellow Ball, and the Needle Bird horde.

Everyone realized that, be it the quality or number, Ye Zhongming had the obvious advantage!

There were many levels four and five bees that the level-six Needle Bird King was controlling!

Attack!

Ye Zhongming didnt hold back and led the way to battle the level-seven beast.

Yellow Ball roared, and its body enlarged twofold. It became a five to six-meter-tall giant golden beast.

This was the Body Enlarging Technique that it learned. This was the first time it used it, and it was eye-catching. All of the attention was on its body.

The next second, golden liquid exploded from its back limbs to form a giant metal wall. On it were dense golden balls that shook on the metal wall. Yellow Ball roared, and they turned into numerous golden cannons that flew toward the level-seven beast!

Shooting Bullets!

This was its second skill!

The mist the level-seven beast spat turned into giant petals. The green liquid fired once more and clashed with the dense metal balls!

But the two skills didnt hit one another. The sky dimmed. The level-seven beast raised its head and saw that the Needle Bird cloud had arrived!

Chapter 598: Kill

Under the golden metal balls that covered the sky, the five ice statue beasts lasted for a short while before they shattered. The level and strength gap made those energy bodies seem weak before Yellow Ball.

The strongest ice statue beast only lasted for a few seconds.

The other metal balls clashed with the green liquid. One could hear the corroded metal and smoke rising into the sky, blocking many's vision.

The Needle Birds descended at this time.

The level-seven beast that mutated twice showed its might. The red meat pieces turned into whips that tried to hit the Needle Birds.

The red things looked very disgusting, but they were very powerful. If the Needle Birds were hit, they would be knocked far away. The higher-level ones were okay, but those lower-level ones were killed immediately, falling to the ground.

The Needle Birds usually drowned people using numbers, but today, they were bullied by the red pieces. The Needle Bird King was furious and screeched, causing the Needle Birds to go mad.

These Secret Realm Monsters attacked in layers, wave after wave. Moreover, they werent attacking the level-seven beasts main body but the red meat pieces themselves.

The Needle Bird King attacked, and its attacks hit. It would stab one even if it couldnt break one meat piece.

These disruptive attacks annoyed the level-seven beast, but it couldn't focus on these as the golden dog was before it. Metal spikes would poke out from around the big dog, which threatened the ocean beast.

Moreover, the beast didn't forget that the beast's master was looking on aggressively, and he didn't attack yet!

Peng!

Along with this giant explosion, the level-seven beast's body shook. It took a few steps back, and blood splattered.

Yi?

Ye Zhongming's Moon Edge was on the ground, and a sniper rifle had replaced it. The barrel was hot, and it was obviously just fired.

That shock was naturally from Ye Zhongming.

The attack timing he found was decent. Yellow Ball and the Needle Birds attracted the level-seven beast's energy. Although this fellow didn't relax its wariness on Ye Zhongming, it had limited attention. Even if it could defeat Yellow Ball and the Needle Birds, it would need some time and have to pay a heavy price.

Ye Zhongming used this chance to fire from an angle.

He was so quick that no human noticed his attack.

Many people were numb.

When fighting, people would often put themselves in their shoes and think what they would do if they were fighting.

This was why humans could improve. They were learning at all times. Even if they were passive, they were still gaining experience and preparing for the future.

When Ye Zhongming fired, many people wondered what they would do if they were the level-seven beast.

When they thought about it, most people felt they had to rely on equipment and their luck.

Although bulletproof equipment wasn't as common now, many people had such things. But when people saw Ye Zhongming's shot, they sensed that the Cloud Peak boss had a shooter-type job. They didn't notice a bullet. It seemed like once the sniper fired, the level-seven beast was hit.

This gun wasn't a crystal weapon.

If the bullet was so quick, would their defensive equipment be useful if that was the case?

Luck was naturally on whether Ye Zhongming's shooting was accurate, how strong the bullet was, if the bullets had special effects, etc.

The level-seven beast wasn't a human. Although it was hit in the head, its luck wasn't good. The ocean beast naturally didn't have any defensive equipment. If it were a human, it would have died.

But it had talent skills.

It sensed danger when Ye Zhongming fired. Its head was covered in a thick layer of black bone, and it only revealed its eyes.

Another talent skill!

With Space Stack, Ye Zhongming grasped the distance, and the bullet directly hit its head. But the skill blocked it. Although it left it bloodied, it didn't kill it in one shot.

Ye Zhongming kept his sniper regretfully.

It was a silver bullet made using Drill Ocean Metal; he only had one. Even if he was rich, when his Ghost Metal was about to be finished, Drill Ocean Metal was his best material. It might seem like he had many, but there were many areas to use them on. He had to hold back. Without Ghost Metal and Drill Ocean Metal, his crafted equipment would drop at least a grade. It was too tough to find materials like these.

Moreover, he saw the chance of victory.

The level-seven beasts actions were slowing down!

Ye Zhongming knew the reason; it was because of the Needle Bird King!

Thread Spitting Poison Sac!

The ability he gave to the Needle Bird King was showing its might. The strong poison was too much for the level-seven beast.

It attacked the meat pieces to poison the ocean beast. When the poison gathered to a certain level, it would cause such an effect.

The level-seven beast felt the biggest threat since the battle started. It tried to break free, but Yellow Ball wouldn't let it go even if it was hit by the pincer that had grown much larger.

Spirit Healing Technique healed its body, and it wasn't afraid to trade injuries.

The red meat pieces froze up, and it didn't even manage to spit the green liquid. The ocean beast cried out as if that could reduce the effect of the poison.

The battle was too straightforward when Ye Zhongming joined. He was in Hell Envoy state, and his strength was higher than usual, at a seven-star evolved level. Yellow Ball and Needle Birds attacks became sharper. Like that, the level-seven beast resisted momentarily before it was killed unwillingly.

The entire battlefield was silent. Be it humans or ocean beasts, they had complicated expressions when they looked at Ye Zhongming.

This Chinese didn't use purple equipment and killed a level-seven beast that mutated twice!

Chapter 599: Darkness Lifeform

The other survivors were silent compared to Cloud Peaks cheering and excitement.

They wanted to see Cloud Peaks strength and use Ye Zhongming as the base to judge this faction.

Now that they saw his strength, they felt more complicated.

From a human standpoint, having such a strong organization was good. This meant that humans managed to gain a footing all over the world. Humans weren't just easy pickings. This meant that human civilization had stopped momentarily during the start of the apocalypse and then turned in another direction.

Cloud Peak pointed out that direction for everyone.

The appearance of crystal weapons represented the direction of this new civilization.

But when this faction was a competitor with you, their strength made you feel depressed.

You might feel powerless before you even fight them.

When they saw them get many good things, they could not maintain their envy. All that remained was jealousy.

They knew that after Ye Zhongming defeated the level-seven beast that had killed the strong Indian six-star evolved, no one dared to challenge him. His bloodline, job, skills, and beasts gave one a sense of despair. Be it the human faction or the ocean beasts, only that level-eight Pliosaurus had the strength to battle him.

Unfortunately, it didn't choose to challenge.

Ye Zhongming was invincible, at least in this challenge.

Now, they could only watch as he spun the wheel.

But right when everyone felt that this challenge had ended, someone appeared.

The battlefield was silent before everyone started making noise. The crowd exclaimed.

Was that person crazy? Did he think that he lived for too long?

Ye Zhongming and his battle pet showed he was one of the strongest humans. After completing every challenge, he would recover to his top state. His bloodline and skills could be used again.

That powerful robot, the strong bloodline, and the beasts abilities. Did you have a way to deal with them before heading down?

When everyone looked at the person clearly, they felt like they were looking at a dead person.

This Japanese wasn't old, and he was a five-star evolved.

If he was a six-star evolved, he might have some hope. Maybe he had some trump card that might allow him to sneak attack successfully.

After all, in the apocalypse, luck was the most important thing. It wasn't surprising if he got something from the wheel.

But He was a five-star evolved. Ye Zhongming could give him three moves, and he still might not touch him. Who gave him that confidence?

Only a few people felt that something was up. Since the Japanese chose this match, there was something he could rely on.

As expected, he didn't show any fear. His body was shaking in excitement. His eyes turned red when he looked at Ye Zhongming as if he was looking at an enemy.

Ye Zhongming squinted his eyes as he looked at the young man. He recalled what Park Xiuying had told him and felt like this guy was the person who had made Teacher Park feel uneasy.

Ye Zhongming was careful, and the Needle Birds surrounded him. Yellow Ball was beside him, and Staff of Nature was in front. He could use them at any moment.

He didnt think that with his defense, the person could insta kill him.

If he didnt kill him instantly, even if Ye Zhongming didnt attack, Yellow Ball was enough to bite him to death.

Park Xiuying clenched her fist nervously. She relaxed slightly when she saw that Ye Zhongming was careful and not attacking arrogantly.

I will kill you, kill you

Sato Emon mumbled those words and didnt care if Ye Zhongming could understand. He felt like he was mad, but he liked this feeling of giving up everything. Images of Japanese ancestors appeared in his mind, those warriors who could commit suicide for honor, those who could sacrifice their bodies and souls for the country, those pilots who could drive into ships to destroy them

He felt like his name would be remembered by many after this battle. People will spread it down in the history books. Sato Emon would be the person who represented honor and glory.

He will become the spiritual leader of his countrymen!

Thank you.

Sato Emon suddenly calmed down. His body stopped shaking, and he spread his arms.

Most Chinese understood that sentence in Japanese, and so did Ye Zhongming. He looked over suspiciously and continued to wait for the battle to start.

He decided to fire a shot right away.

I want to thank you; at the same time, you can go die!

He bowed. Along with the notification of the start, a sniper rifle appeared in his hands. The barrel spat out flames, and with space stack, the bullet was in front of Sato Emons head.

Everyone sighed. They were waiting for his head to explode.

But The most shocking thing occurred.

A black mist surged from his body, and it became more and more violent. It wrapped his entire body and then turned into fist-sized crows. Then, they turned into black bats. The two forms merged.

This process was quick and even faster than Ye Zhongmings bullets. The bullet entered the bats and crows, and there was no more movement.

This change shocked everyone. The darkness lifeforms gave one a sense of coldness like a poisonous serpent was staring at you. The serpent would stab its poisonous fangs into your body the next moment.

Ye Zhongmings solemn expression disappeared when he saw the black mist. What replaced it was terror. Since reviving, he had never shown such an expression. He didnt panic so much even when he faced that level-eight monster.

He knew what this Japanese was going to do!

Ye Zhongming retreated and used all his attacks to hit the black mist.

But it was as if the mist was immune to damage. The darkness lifeforms turned into that Japanese face. He smiled viciously and attacked, wrapping Ye Zhongming up!

Chapter 600: Eternal Abyss Descend

Ye Zhongming recognized what he was using immediately.

Job--- Black Abyss Envoy!

It was an evil job that was born to commit suicide and take one with them.

Ye Zhongming did meet skills and things that he found problematic in the past. That nine-star evolved Wang Ding. His basic ability to become nine-star was that Black Spirit Swallow that could only be used once. He could swallow a higher-level mutated lifeform to evolve.

Another problematic beast was the coral powder from the ocean giant-- Dream Shatter; it could reduce the survivors level. This was also another vicious thing.

But he had ways to deal with both of them.

Black Spirit Swallow could allow one to be a level higher than others, but you could run or join hands with someone if you couldn't defeat them.

Shattered Deam was a poison. It was vicious and could reduce ones level. But this thing wasn't lethal, and it was reversible. Even if you ate it and dropped back to becoming an ordinary person, you could use the potions to evolve once more. It was tough, but it was better than having no hope.

But the Black Abyss Envoy was different. This job was vicious, and you couldn't dodge and break free the moment you were hit.

You would descend into the abyss.

This was its only job skill! It was immune to all attacks. As long as you were surrounded by the darkness beings that the job user had turned into, there was only one path.

Death.

This job that could instantly kill a higher level evolved and caused one's expression to change even when you talked about it ten years later.

Although this job was rare, not everyone would be willing to give up their lives to learn it, but there were no rules and bottom line during the apocalypse. You could force someone to make such a sacrifice in many ways.

No wonder this five-star Japanese would challenge him.

The others might not have reacted, but Ye Zhongming recognized the job.

The Japanese chose a perfect occasion.

The wheels challenge was closed off.

All attacks were useless, and Ye Zhongming was wrapped by the darkness, causing everyone to exclaim.

Cloud Peak was naturally the one that reacted with the most shock. They saw their leader covered in the unknown darkness. The core members were about to break down. Xia Bai started to attack the barrier set by the wheel. They knew that something bad had happened, and their eyes were red. Along with Xia Bai, they started to challenge the wheels rules.

The other regions looked at one another and didnt know what happened. But they knew that the darkness should be something strong. That strong Chinese boss was in danger such that his men went mad.

Only some from Japan laughed. The arrogant ones couldnt hide their excitement. Some of them raised their hands and cheered.

Many survivors didnt know why they were so happy. Wasnt it just one dead human evolved?

The weird ocean beast looked at the situation, and his strong mental energy covered the area. He then shook his head toward the level-eight Pliosaurus.

The Pliosaurus looked at the darkness lifeform and used its wings to cover his body. It just stared as if it didnt hear the mental energy communication from the weird beast.

It didnt believe the human who could challenge it would be so easily killed.

Ye Zhongming panicked.

He was filled with fear, but he definitely wouldnt lose his cool. He wouldnt give up. At the last moment, he did two things.

First, he activated the escape path he had left for Cloud Peak and himself-- Rainbow Gate.

He wanted to try if this short-distance teleportation could get him out. If possible, with his speed, the Japanese wouldnt be able to do anything to him.

But it didnt react. Its level was not high enough to break the barrier.

Then, he had only one solution.

He activated the Secret Realm key to enter the Secret Realm!

Like how Little Nine and Wen Hong escaped the Competition Death Wheel!

What was fortunate was that he could activate the key. He didn't even think and just stepped in. Although it was winter there and he was heading in alone without helpers, he couldnt think so much. The only thing he had to do now was to survive.

But when he entered, he noticed things werent as he imagined. He entered the Secret Realm, but he didnt break free of the darkness beings. Moreover, he didnt feel that loss of consciousness the first time. He was awake and realized he felt nothing; he was just floating in the Blue Secret Realm.

He was conscious, floating, but he couldnt control himself.

He felt like he floated to a dark place. This was just a feeling. He could see clearly, and he recognized the two huge mountains.

Ye Zhongming had never seen such a majestic but weird sight. The flat land, but there was a bottomless pit. At the sides were two blade-like mountains!

This feeling struck deep into his soul, even if the abyss and the two mountains were black.

Ye Zhongming even forgot about the darkness lifeforms still wrapping around him.

There would occasionally be some red in the darkness. Ye Zhongming was curious about what they were. He thought about it and felt his mental energy reach deep within.

Ye Zhongming saw rumbling magma and saw giant holes in the walls. He saw a giant nest.

Those caves, stone platforms, and nests. There were endless amounts of Demons!

Ye Zhongming recalled where this place was!
