

Arabella 104

Chapter 104

Hearing him say that, Serena looked at Martha as if to confirm the credibility of his words.

Martha nodded, confirming that he was trustworthy.

“Of course.” Erik looked at her, his eyes shimmering with friendliness, “Whether at home or outside, let me know anytime if you need any help, Miss Serena.”

“I do need your help with something.” Serena gestured for him to come closer and whispered something

Not long after, Erik came to report, “Miss Serena, Mr. McMillian will be having lunch at the Ferris Wheel Restaurant.”

Upon hearing this, Serena couldn't help but feel excited, “Is the news reliable?”

“Absolutely”

Serena didn't expect the first task she assigned him to be completed so quickly and well!

She took out a bank card, “If you perform well in the future, I will deposit some money into this card.”

“I don't need Miss Serena's money.” Erik quickly expressed his loyalty, “It's an immense honor to serve you, Miss Serena.”

“Take it” Serena insisted on rewarding him, “Once I marry Mr. McMillian, you and Martha can join me in the McMillian family and enjoy the good life.”

“Thank you, Miss Serena!” Erik took the bank card, overjoyed.

When Kenneth and Louisa returned from their walk in the garden, they saw Serena looking so stunning, like a blooming white rose. They couldn't help but ask, “Serena, where are you going, all dressed up like this?”

“A good friend is getting married. I'm attending her celebration.”

Serena was wearing a gorgeous gown, her hair was up, and the jewelry on her body shimmered.

She had grown up being pampered, exuding an elegance nurtured by money and skincare products.

Interesting For You

but comment, “Serena, you look

of our eye, how could she not be driving me today.” Serena smiled, “This way, my friend will feel honored!”

drive Serena

the name suggests, was a dining had 28 cabins, each measuring 25 square meters. When the Ferris wheel reached its highest point, it was 128 meters from the ground, offering a view of half the city's beauty and the sparkling had been a popular spot for influencers and were limited, reservations were booked up to

was extremely popular.

the car, she looked up at the giant Ferris wheel and asked with some puzzlement, "Erik,

how could no one be dining at this popular

Where is Romeo?

arrived

Ferris wheel moving? Is it not know, but for ordinary people to dine here, they first need to have enough patience to wait, and secondly, they need to have enough money to afford it... because a set meal costs $999, and this is just the ordinary people, it's equivalent to one or a luxury limousine came into Serena's view, and her eyes immediately lit

mistake that

"It's Mr. McMillian's car! Miss Serena, do you

and stopped

got out, very professionally

saw a girl leave the limousine. That pretty face, was she in Romeo's car?

she came with Romeo?

exited the car, took Arabella's hand, and entered the Ferris Wheel Restaurant through the VIP entrance

Mr. McMillian come

hadn't heard any news about this

rear-view mirror, it didn't seem too

he

Ferris wheel wasn't moving and why no one was inside. It was because Romeo had booked the entire place! He wanted to have a private meal with Arabella and didn't want to be think... you could also go in and dine with them. After up the courage and voiced his thoughts, "If you