

Arceus 1151

Chapter 1151 Technology line changed by Pokémon

The ball-like whale is nothing else, but the degenerate type of the roaring whale king - the roaring whale.

The Howler Whale King created was not one, but a group. Except for the Howler Whale King who was responsible for sending Shaina, Kuzan and the others to Eggherd, the other individuals lived in the sea.

They don't have the exaggerated reproduction speed like King Carp, so they only exist in a small range on the Great Route.

It was purely an accident that this howler whale came to Savilla.

Visalia is not simply floating with the wind. During years of meteorological research, they have developed some meteorological props, such as a large shower that creates thunderstorms, and a wind knot that manipulates the wind. Leah's location.

Not long ago, Visalia floated near a sea of clouds road connecting Qinghai below, and this roaring whale flew up from above.

Yes, not swimming, but flying.

As an eyewitness, Nami could see more clearly that Visalia was tens of meters away from the waterway, but after a sprint, the spherical whale swung its fins desperately in mid-air, and in the end it was like flying. Fly over directly.

It wasn't really flying, it was more like gliding or jumping after a run-up, but with the figure of the roaring whale, it looked like flying no matter how you looked at it.

And its purpose of doing this is only to catch a group of empty fish in the empty sea.
NOVELUSb.cOm

Nami thought it was just as stupid as Luffy. As a fish, she jumped from the water to the land for food.

But after landing, the Howler Whale did not run aground like an ordinary fish. Its round body and soft island cloud made its landing process very smooth, and it bounced like a bouncy ball.

This is the characteristic of the Howler Whale. After storing seawater in its body, it can bounce up from the ground like a ball, and the jumping height is proportional to the amount of stored water.

Pokémon evolve to become stronger, but when they don't evolve, they also have some unique things. The bounce of the roaring whale is one of them, which is related to their past.

Creatures evolve, and Pokémon are no exception. This evolution does not refer to changes in form.

But biological evolution.

In ancient times, some Pokémon had very different forms.

Most creatures move from the sea to the land, but howler whales are different, they go from the land to the sea.

Scholars in the Pokémon world believe that the roaring whale and the walking whale have the same ancestor. A long time ago, they were both races living on land, but the ancestor of the roaring whale finally entered the sea.

Because it used to be a terrestrial species, the Howler Whale has retained some ancient abilities in the changing times. Although it usually lives in the sea, it is okay to be dehydrated for a short time, but if the body is dry, it will be very listless.

You can even see groups of howler whales jumping together on the beach.

Hawhouwhale's harmless expression made Nami feel amused, so she poked its chubby body with her hand, and was sprayed with sea water.

"Ah! The clothes I just changed!"

She didn't expect that the Roaring Whale could actually do this kind of thing. This is also a deterrent method of the Roaring Whale. In addition to warning the enemy, it will also intentionally scare other Pokémon or people. Their personality is generally like this of.

"Oh oh hoo~"

"You're still laughing! You did it on purpose!"

Being suddenly sprayed with seawater, Nami instinctively let out a cry of surprise.

Then Houhoujing's strange behavior made her realize that the other party was laughing at her, and she suddenly became fierce.

This also attracted the attention of other meteorologists on the island.

At this time, the Howler Whale seemed to have sprayed too much sea water, resulting in insufficient water stored in the body.

The high altitude caused the moisture on its body surface to dry quickly, making it uncomfortable.

Under Nami's puzzled eyes, it began to howl towards the sky. With the roar of the whale, the rain came as expected, and the howler whale also jumped up happily under the rain.

"It's going to rain. Is it raining?"

Raising her arm, looking at the spray above, Nami's brain started to burn.

She herself is very sensitive to changes in the weather. In addition to changes in celestial phenomena, she can also predict some special situations through her skin's perception of wind and humidity.

But before the Howler Whale started praying for rain, she didn't perceive any signs of rain.

It is not a big deal for the clothes to dry to get wet. The meteorologist who originally lived in Visalia has entered the state of Dao Xin collapse.

The weather in Visalia can also be manually controlled. They have studied the weather for so long for this purpose. Whether it is artificial rainfall, dispersing rain clouds, or providing wind, they are the way they earn living expenses.

At this time their instruments were still working, and it was theoretically impossible for Visalia to rain, but the accident just happened.

The ability of Pokémon is so unreasonable, especially the Pokémon that can act as a weather hand. Nami has only been in contact with Heracross before, and the insects rarely exercise this ability. La Crosse was not good enough to ask for rain.

"Why is it raining? There is no problem with the data of the instrument!"

"All instruments are functioning normally, have we failed?"

The average age of the researchers in Visalia is very old. It can be said that they have devoted their entire lives here, and the existing information has long been engraved into their bones.

The behavior of the roaring whales can be said to have interrupted their research ideas, after all, they are unscientific products.

The toxins studied by Caesar are not comparable to the self-generated gas of smelly mud and double bomb gas, and the fruits cultivated by Quinn are not comparable to the crystals on the bodies of Pokémon such as tropical dragons.

Even if it is the eternal energy that Vegapunk wants to study, it seems naive to face the terrifying power generation of the electric shock monster.

As Pokémon gradually integrate into this world, many original technologies will undergo tremendous changes. Visalia is a beginning, but it will never be the end.

The Howling Whale's peasy eyes have turned into two straight lines. Those crazy old men made it feel that this place is very dangerous, so it bounced and walked towards the road to the sea beside it.

I heard that if you stay with a fool for a long time, you will be infected. It doesn't want to become weird.

"etc!"

Seeing that the Howler Whale was about to jump away, Nami hurriedly called to stop it.

"?"

"You like to eat this empty fish, right? If you stay here for a while, you don't have to do anything. Just shout a few times a day, and the fish will be delivered to you. You should be able to understand me, right?"

It's not just those old men who are interested in weather. What she stays here to learn is meteorological knowledge. The weather in the new world is not so easy to overcome. The behavior of the roaring whale is also something she is curious about.

Judging from its mischievous performance just now, the intelligence of this strange whale is definitely not low, which reminded her of the two Heracrosses in her hometown, so she offered her own "salary".

Today owes 2000.jpg

Title of the book: "Worship the Electronic Moon, Talk about Cyber Love"

Tokyo Love Story? Talent over capital? In real love, dogs don't even talk about it, open up the pattern for me, I am the capital!

Introduction:

Do not fall in love, you will become unlucky!

In the previous life, my roommate was not as good as a dog after falling in love. He borrowed money from his brothers every day. After graduation, he got engaged and was cheated by his predecessor of 300,000 dowry money. After witnessing all this, Asaba Kazama decided to re-plan his life after traveling to Tokyo:

【Set a small goal first to achieve wealth and freedom】

But the love simulator broke his heart, trying to let him have a pure love with the paper girl, and regain his longing for love.

"Real love? Dogs don't even talk about it!"

Wouldn't it be more interesting to pay homage to the e-moon, fall in love with cyberspace, and become a talented handsome guy in Tokyo with the help of customs clearance rewards?

Open up the pattern for me, let me see that my talent can defeat capital! No, I am capital!

[System error, start sample update, world simulation...]

Just as Asaha Kazama was about to reach the pinnacle of her life in the real world, she found that something was wrong!

Wait, is it just a game?

This book is also known as: "Paper Man's Repayment", "N Equally Divided Kazama", "Girlfriend Runs Out of the Game"

Chapter 1152 The middleman trying to make the difference, changing the food chain

"Roar?"

Houhoujing looked suspiciously at Nami in front of him, and seemed to think that she was a big fool, and Pokémon were not easy to fool. Nami's behavior at this time was tantamount to wanting a white wolf.

Didn't see anything, it didn't intend to stay in this kind of place, but it didn't leave directly either.

Howler whales generally live in groups, and this howler whale acting alone is considered a maverick performance, so it made a gesture to Nami.

In terms of the size of the Howler Whale, this action is more like simply swinging its fins, but as a seasoned money fan, Nami understood the meaning of the Howler Whale.

"Are you saying these are not enough?"

The Howling Whale nodded, and then began to put forward more conditions.

【Independent Water Park】

【Double food】

【Massage service】

The things listed by the howler whale can make a long list.

"You are really impolite, why don't you just call you a greedy ghost Wait, can I understand what you mean?"

Nami suddenly realized that she understood the key words in that Howler Whale's words.

The language of Pokémon is universal. Nami can communicate with the two Heracrosses, and she can also guess about this strange Howler Whale.

Although it is not as clear as Hercules, many things are vague, but a few nouns are enough.

But when Nami discovered this problem, many things became weird. Whales and unicorns, these two species have nothing to do with each other.

But the facts told her that there must be some kind of mysterious connection between these two species, as for what kind of connection it is.

That's not what she wants to study. There are too many mysterious things in the sea, and it's something that she can't do in her entire life to make everything clear.

For her now, it is enough to explore the changes in the weather.

"Hey! What are you guys doing! Pulling your beards is useless, hurry up and catch empty fish!"

After reaching a series of treaties with Houhoujing, Nami changed her face the moment she turned around. She agreed to the conditions proposed by Houhoujing without even thinking about it. Anyway, it was Saville's that was finally implemented. meteorologist.

If they want to study this mysterious weather reason, these scholars can only compromise. The Howling Whale is the only customer, so they have to be coaxed.

But the group of old men behind them are different. This is a labor force that can be squeezed. For a money lover, Nami is very good at negotiating conditions and knows how to squeeze the most benefits.

She has the experience of communicating with Hercules and can be a translator with two knives. But these meteorologists are different. In a short time, she is an irreplaceable middleman.

"ah?"

"Ah, what, I've already negotiated with it, food and shelter are included, and it will cooperate with you in studying the weather. Hurry up and build that place into a reservoir! Aren't there a lot of tools on the island?"

You guys are going to catch fish, and you are going to prepare the venue. By the way, you have to give it all the funds earned from changing the weather recently, and I will take care of it for the time being. "

"Okay, wait, funding? Is this what the whale means too?"

The interest in meteorology made these scholars act without thinking. They are not wastes that cannot carry a basket. They rely on themselves to maintain their living needs. It is not difficult to fish and repair houses.

It's just that their brains haven't hung up yet. A whale has no problem asking for food and shelter, and it's very reasonable, but what's the use of a whale asking for money?

There is the Dragon Palace Kingdom on the bottom of the sea, but no matter what, a whale doesn't need to spend money to get its own things, this is obviously Nami's trick.

"Hey, have you been discovered? Forget it, anyway, get the other things ready!"

With a big wave of her hand, Nami directly turned the previous story, showing a character as changeable as the weather in Visalia, and also refreshed scholars' understanding of her face-changing speed. novELus.com

In fact, these scholars only guessed half right. At the moment just now, Nami did have the idea of taking the opportunity to search for some money, but these roaring whales really have the opportunity to spend money.

In Wano Country, the situation there is quite special, and it is not uncommon for Pokémon to hire humans with money.

Those working Pokémon already have wages, and they will also buy what they want. If there is no money, pure material exchange is not uncommon in Wano Country.

After Sweet and Cold, she exchanges bath water for milk in a large milk jug, the Frost Milk Fairy exchanges cream with the Queen Bee for honey, Commander Chop and Slash buys a whetstone, and the Great Blacksmith buys it in a metal store. Similar situations happen from time to time. occur.

It's just this kind of thing, and the outside world will not understand it in a short time.

Boing Islands, the fat on Usopp's body has also evolved into muscles after long-term exercise.

Usopp is still in the shape of an ordinary person, but the muscle lines make him much stronger.

When he first came to the Boing Islands, he couldn't defeat all the creatures on the island, whether it was giant insects or carnivorous plants, they could completely torture him.

After this period of training, under the teaching of Hercules, he also has the ability to resist.

The seeds of various exotic plants became his new ammunition, and he had a brand new slingshot as a weapon.

The ecology of the island has also changed unknowingly.

The island itself is alive.

Boing Islands seem to be an archipelago, but they are actually several carnivorous plants floating in the sea with the scientific name Storma Baron.

Stomach Baron, commonly known as the Baron of the Stomach, uses the special food on the island to trap sea beasts and sea kings.

The center of the small island is the mouth of the Baron of Stomach. As long as the petals are closed, it can prey on all the creatures on the island, and then use these nutrients to generate new bait, and start to trap more prey.

A unique ecological environment has already been formed here, and some insects have also settled here by virtue of their own abilities, and they can avoid the Baron of Stomach's hunting every time by using means such as flying.

In the past few years, Stormc Baron was a well-deserved creature at the top of the food chain, but now, the master of this island has changed.

Originally, some Heracrosses were attracted here, but they just integrated into the life here. With the increase in the number of bug-type Pokémon, everything changed.

Heracross, who lived here, followed the subsequent hunting swallowtail and the poisonous powder moth to reach an alliance. The poisonous powder moth paralyzed part of the body of the Baron of Stomach with its own poison, so that this part would not close.

Hunting swallowtails cleared out some faster-flying predators that would threaten their young, and Hercules also cleared a dangerous jungle to create their permanent stronghold.

At the edge of their territory, Hercules came here with a large bag of food from other areas. After a while of communication, Heracros, who was guarding the entrance, also moved out of the way.

"My dear student Usopp, you have already learned enough about the plants on the island, and your body is no longer as weak as before, so today, you will start your graduation assessment, um.

I have already discussed with them, and your next goal is to hold on smoothly under their attacks. "

Food is still a hard currency in the Pokémon world, and this is the sparring partner Hercules paid for Usopp.

Looking at a group of gorgeous hunting swallowtails, Usopp has not yet realized what is waiting for him.

Chapter 1153 The Invisibly Changed World

"Are they the ones? It doesn't look like they have any fighting power, Master Hercules, you are underestimating me. I am Usopp with 80 million men."

The cute appearance of hunting swallowtails like porcelain dolls gives people the illusion that humans and animals are harmless. Compared with Heracros, who first came to the Boing Islands and has grown to the hegemony level, these hunting swallowtails seem to have no fighting power.

Time has passed for a long time, and the essence of Usopp has not changed, such as his mysterious 80 million subordinates on the sea.

He who is weak dares to brag about himself like this, let alone him who has become stronger.

"Usopp, don't underestimate any opponent, let alone be deceived by appearance. As a sniper, your task this time is very simple, survive, um."

Heracles didn't care about Usopp's so-called 80 million subordinates. He witnessed Usopp's efforts during this period, but he still knew how much Usopp weighed.

Without him, Usopp's chances of surviving on the Boeing Islands were very slim.

Although Usopp has miraculous effects in desperation, is a special item second only to Oda Halo, and has undergone long-term training, he is still not the type who is good at melee combat.

His time is limited, and Hercules can't train it all the time. In the limited time, Usopp has to learn how to cultivate special plants on the island, how to obtain seeds, and exercise his body. This is already the limit.

Now that the rendezvous date is getting closer and closer, Hercules can only increase Usopp's training efforts, which is the first essence of a sniper, to survive.

Not to cause trouble for teammates, to be able to protect themselves on complex battlefields, and to find a suitable output space, these are the requirements for snipers.

"Remember to show mercy."

"Don't worry, Master Hercules, I won't hurt them."

"No, I mean let them be merciful. If the injury is too serious, it is difficult to deal with."

"Master Hercules, are you worrying too much? Just look at the results of my practice."

Several hunting swallowtails are holding a fruit in their hands. Their sharp mouthparts have penetrated into the fruit and are sucking the juice inside. The fruit juice of these carnivorous plants has a special flavor for them.

Usopp didn't know that hunting swallowtails were also carnivorous, they could feed on plants, and they could also * up the body fluids of animals.

And he ignores an important issue, the poisonous mealworm, the hunting butterfly, and Heracros are equal in the territory of the Boeing Islands.

Even if it is the same type of Pokémon group, there will be a level classification due to different strengths. This is not the country of Wano, and Arceus will always be the highest.

The reason why they are equal is not because of how good the relationship is, but because the groups are similar in strength. Heracros can fly, but flying is not his forte.

In addition, these groups are not always fighting among themselves like the giant blacksmith and Commander Chop, and each occupies a different area, so that this harmonious state can be presented.

"I'm going, Master Hercules."

Usopp walked into the trial area with a slightly arrogant step, and the hunting butterflies also saw this goal.

Usopp took out his large slingshot - the black pocket.

Usopp aimed at the hunting swallowtail in the sky.

"Million Green Star Sargasso!"

The entangled algae plants have good binding power and toughness. Usopp's goal is to restrain these butterflies in the sky, and the response to hunting swallowtails is also very simple. They gather together and start flapping their wings.

A cyclone was created out of thin air, and soon turned into a strong wind blowing towards Usopp, and the green star he shot was directly blown back by the whirlwind.

Even bullets fired at high speed will be deflected from the trajectory due to wind factors, let alone bullets fired from a slingshot. Usopp has not yet practiced the ability to shoot sniper rifle bullets with a slingshot.

These plants can't identify their owners, and in the end Usopp can only watch the green star being blown back by the wind.

"This is."

Boom!

A puff of smoke, Usopp was immediately wrapped in a ball of horsetail grass he released.

"Come on, Usopp-kun, the test has just begun."

Hercules turned around, he couldn't bear to watch the next scene.

After personal experience, Usopp also quickly understood why Hercules only asked him to live.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

The whirlwind just now blew back the green star he shot, but at this time, the wind from his side was no longer ordinary wind, but a sharp wind blade.

The silver wind blade cut off the sargassum around him like a razor, and left a deep ravine on the ground.

The silver whirlwind is also a signature move for hunting swallowtails. With their graceful posture and gorgeous attacks, they are the most beautiful killers in the sky. With Usopp's screams, the island is also alive.

Hunting swallowtails constantly release attacks at high altitude, and the plants and beasts that Usopp passed by did not let him go. It was a great escape that tested reaction and physical fitness.

As the name suggests, this is a hunt that belongs to the hunting swallowtail. Usopp is the prey that fell into the net. His limited attack methods are completely restrained by the hunting swallowtail that can create wind, and he can only choose to escape.

In the process, he accidentally ran into the nest of the poisonous powder moth. Although the poisonous powder moth has a gentler personality than hunting swallowtails, their bodies are poisonous, and the nest is full of poisonous powder.

Usopp, who broke into it, didn't have any superhuman physique, and he didn't have the ability to avoid poison. Within a minute, he was successfully defeated, and was finally carried out by Hercules wearing an anti-virus mask.

"Come on, Usopp, this is just the beginning, and your life is still going to be hard."

Usopp didn't reply, his mouth was already stiff, but tears flowed from the corners of his eyes, two tears of fear or happiness that he didn't know.

At the same time, Ivankov has returned to his kingdom from the stronghold of the Revolutionary Army on the Great Route, the Kingdom of Kamabaka.

The new humans on the island expressed their warm welcome. Ivankov saved many hopeless people and some kingdoms with his hormone fruit. His legend made him the strongest in history. The Shemale King.

In the eyes of outsiders, he is a strange man and a famous doctor, but in the hearts of transvestites, he is a god.

For Von Klein, the Kamabaka Kingdom is heaven, where he can enthusiastically immerse himself in the joyful atmosphere of transvestites every day, but for Sanji, this is hell.

He not only has to cultivate every day, but also prevents himself from being assimilated. In this terrifying environment, he put on that little pink skirt and even put on lipstick several times.

As long as his will is weaker, he will really become a shemale.

"Master Ivankov~ You are finally back!"

"Your Majesty Ivankov! I miss you so much~ My darling can't stand it~"

Ivankov was surrounded by bustling monsters. This was the peachy painting style of the Kamabaka Kingdom, and it was also a picture that ordinary people could not accept. But at this moment, there was a commotion behind, and a blood arrow suddenly flew into the sky. Sky?

"Sanji-kun! What's wrong with you! Be strong! Doctor, where is the doctor!"

"What? Is there an attacker?"

Ivankov didn't know what was going on, the amount of bleeding was like being cut by someone, but when he passed, all he saw was Sanji who was spraying nosebleeds.

"How is this going?"

A stack of newspapers slipped down next to Sanji, which was information from overseas during this period. In order for them to train well, Ivankov temporarily cut off the external information of Von Klein and Sanji.

After returning from the stronghold of the Revolutionary Army this time, the monsters were asked to bring them newspapers so that they could understand the current situation of the sea during this time.

"Women. Real women."

The twitching Sanji was still muttering words that Ivankov couldn't understand. When he picked up the newspaper on the ground, he found that the page he turned happened to be the news of the destruction of Egghead.

Until this day, people in the sea know Vegapunk's appearance through the way of posthumous photos.

Looking further down, there is a reward order from Shaina.

"Just a reward order can produce this effect? He really is a special boy. The straw hat boy's companion can't be so weak. Everyone, he needs a new special training."

Ivankov's fingers turned into five needles, pierced Sanji's ass, special hormones were injected into his body, and the special training from Ivankov also began.

Sanji's hobby is women, and the Kamabaka Kingdom lacks normal women. After a long period of torture, Sanji's desire began to test his heart, which eventually led to this situation.

Without seeing a real woman, even if it is just a reward order from a woman, he may enter a state of nosebleeds.

The photographer of the bounty order did not know where he trained. He can capture most people, especially women's bounty orders, with a special sense of beauty. Sanji just now was unfortunately recruited.

When Ivankov prepared new special training for Sanji, Sauron also ended his training, and the leader of the baboon on the island was finally defeated by him.

The baboons on this island are good at imitating, and the leading baboon even imitates Hawkeye's swordplay every day.

It is just a baboon, but it has reached a height that many humans cannot reach in their lifetime. In order to defeat this baboon, Sauron himself paid a lot of price.

The scars on his eyes told about his hardships during this period, but the hard work always pays off. After nearly two years, he stood in front of Hawkeye again with a weapon in his hand.

"Why, after defeating a beast, did you have the illusion that you can defeat me? Roronoa?"

"You have always been my goal, and this has never changed. This time, let me experience the demeanor of the world's number one swordsman, right?"

"That's right, the little toys from back then are no longer suitable for dealing with you."

Seeing that Hawkeye didn't pull out the knife from his chest, a smile appeared on the corner of Sauron's mouth. Just as he bit the word Hedao in his mouth to prepare for the battle, Hawkeye's action made his expression stiffen.

"What do you mean by taking a green onion?! Are you kidding me?!"

Hawkeye did not pick up the knife, but picked up the scallions he bought online.

"Roronoa, there are not many famous knives in Dahai. Whether it is Qiushui or He Dao Yiwen, they are rare and good knives, but you still lack a knife that really belongs to you."

The scallions in Hawkeye's hands were stained black. During this time, Hawkeye has discovered the characteristics of these scallions. In addition to being used as ingredients, they can even be used as weapons.

"You still have a lot to learn. This is just another lesson. By the way, this is much better than that knife."

Although it was just an ordinary-looking green onion, the moment Hawkeye actually picked it up, the sharp breath had completely enveloped Sauron.

The birds flew up, and the baboons on the island were also attracted. The injured baboon king climbed up again, knowing that the most terrifying person on the island had made a move.

Future country-Balkimoo, York found a voluntary part-time tool worker, she is the embodiment of desire, the biggest goal is to enjoy, there is no meaning of studying hard every day.

Using the knowledge from the ontology, she gained Franky's admiration in a few words, and fooled him into a big tool man.

Of course, Franky has also learned a lot from the technology she revealed, and each has his own gains.

York's figure has almost recovered, and she has already made plans for the future.

South China Sea, Trino Kingdom, a special country also known as the Bird Kingdom.

The people on the island maintain a primitive style of painting. At the same time, there is also a special giant bird living here, which is also the location of Chopper.

Today, a special iron bird flew here.

The bird covered with iron feathers is naturally the steel armored crow of all beasts. It also carries a pirate on its back. There is no number on his body. He is just an ordinary member.

But for the task of the four seas, such a person is enough.

"Where's the chief? I'm here to buy medicinal materials!"

Although the civilization level of the residents on the island is backward, it is rich in herbs, and it is also the favorite type of acquisition of beasts. Because of the backwardness here, they can exchange more things with less cost, and use these herbs to obtain higher profits. .

The people on the island are very satisfied with the things provided by Beasts. This is the benefit of excellent transportation technology. But after today's transaction, Chopper's mentality has some problems.NOVELUSb.cOm

In order to maintain the trading relationship, the person who came to collect the medicinal materials left behind a bag of candy. When the children on the island shared the candy with Chopper, Chopper was refreshed by the shape of the candy.

"Wait! Don't eat it! Where did you get so many Rumble Balls?"

"Ah, this is not a blue wave ball. The person who traded it said that it is their new product. It seems to be called .QQ sugar?"

Quinn's Q4.0 failed, and eventually became a candy for takeaway. During the improvement, the original glass-like brittleness became a Q-bomb taste.

At the same time, it is also a revision of the failed product Q4.0. It was finally named QQ Candy, and added different flavors of fillings. Now it has become the most popular new candy on the Great Route.

Chapter 1154 The visitor from twenty years ago

"You said it was candy?"

"Yes, Brother Tanuki, here is the manual."

"I've said it many times! I'm a reindeer! A reindeer! Not a tanuki!"

Chopper defended his race, and at the same time took over the instructions from the candy bag.

【This product does not contain any harmful ingredients. It is 100% made of natural plants. Do not swallow it in one mouthful. Children under the age of three are not suitable for consumption. The elderly and children must eat it under supervision. We will not be responsible for any accidents. 】

"It's too dangerous, let me check it for you first.

Looks like a rambo. Smells like a rambo"

As he spoke, Chopper picked up the Rambo ball and looked it up and down, then sniffed it with his nose, and finally threw it into his mouth.

"This taste. Strawberry? How did this person do it?"

Rambo * were originally invented by Chopper, and he couldn't be more clear about what they are. The "Rambo balls" in front of him are very similar in shape but have a completely different taste, which gave Chopper a very novel experience.

Chopper himself is a sweet tooth party. Cotton candy is his favorite food, and the candy made by Rambo Ball just fits Chopper's taste.

"Don't worry, I'll check again later."

Looking at the earnest gazes of the children around him, Chopper looked at a blue wave ball that seemed to have a different taste, and then immersed himself in the ocean of sweetness again.

Half of the bag of candies disappeared quickly. Only then did he react, restrain his appetite, and return the remaining candies to those children.

"Ahem, I checked, these are just ordinary candies, you just take them and eat them."

Considering the age of the reindeer, he is no longer a child. It is a bit shameful for him to compete with these human cubs for candy now.

Fortunately, the arrival of the chief alleviated his embarrassment. After the children were driven away by the chief, the chief gave Chopper a new bag of candies.

"Do you like this? There are more here, and this time I traded some more herbs with them."

"How embarrassing."

He said he was embarrassed, but Chopper's hand had already moved, and this kind of candy was very tempting to him.

"It's okay, after all, you have helped us a lot, and these things are not very expensive."

There is a conflict between the residents of the island and the strange bird living here. The arrival of Chopper helped them resolve this conflict, so there is this saying.

"Are these candies.. delivered by the man riding the iron bird?"

"You should have heard of them, Baishou Fruit, the company with the widest business network in the sea, but the price is also very expensive."

"Hundred beasts. Is that so?"

Chopper clapped his hands, remembering what happened on Sky Island before.

"It must be a genius to transform the rambo ball like this. Brook is there? Seems to be doing well."

On the wrapping paper, Chopper also saw Brooke's advertisement. This King of Soul can be called the most nourishing one in the Straw Hats.

At this time, the "genius" in Chopper's mouth sneezed.

"Ah! Who is attracted by the figure of this uncle, as expected, this uncle is the most handsome one."

"Uncle Quinn, don't be narcissistic. I think the probability that that * dad is plotting against you is higher."

"Miss Yamato, please don't say such things at this time, the taste of rice cake and bean soup has become bad."

Kaido's name made Quinn feel that the food in his hand was tasteless, and he didn't know why, Kaido actually let go of the ice double prepared by Yamato and her, and stared at him inexplicably.

"This is the truth, Uncle Quinn, just accept your fate."

"Miss Yamato, I advise you not to be too happy too early. According to the usual practice, Brother Kaito will not let you go. What do you think, Hawkins?"

The bickering between Yamato and Quinn has become the norm, and some innocent passers-by have been involved in the debate.

Watching Quinn use Hawkins to test luck every day, Yamato also became interested, so he asked Quinn to call Hawkins over.

"Master Oniji, I'm sorry, everything about your future is unknown."

Hawkins' Tarot cards were scattered all over the place. He had encountered this kind of situation before. It was unpredictable and impossible to calculate. Everything related to it was a mystery.

"It's boring, Uncle Quinn, what you believe doesn't seem very reliable."

"No, no, Miss Yamato, you have to understand, it's not that he is unreliable, it should be the strength of Lord Arceus, no one can predict his future, if there is, it must be himself."

Quinn defended Hawkins, and at the same time he was protecting his own face.

It is impossible for him to admit that Hawkins' divination is useless. If he admits it, it means that he has been a fool all these years.

"You're right. I'd better go to my adoptive father and let him see what will happen in the next few days for me. This seems to be a new idea."

Abandoning Quinn and Hawkins, Yamato turned his head and left here, leaving only two golden retrievers, or the yellow ones continued to think about life.

Nine miles, Mandelfish returned to Ghost Island with her daughter as promised, and handed her over to Meowna and Wolf, two young fur tribes and a half-mermaid. Although they are still children, in today's Wano country, People who can threaten them are almost non-existent.

Melo is a half-mermaid. They did not inherit Rusaka's habits in terms of living habits, but were the same as Mandelfish, a human being. At this time, they were catching fish by the river.

Logically speaking, children should not be near the water, but this sentence obviously does not work for Mello, who has half-mermaid blood.

"Caught it!"

Melo stood out of the water holding a half-height big fish. The ecology of Wano Country also caused ordinary animals to grow faster, generally one size larger than outside species.

Just as they were about to light a fire to grill fish, there was a sound behind them, and the sound of trees being crushed reached their ears.

A place separated by a mound, Kozuki Momonosuke and his retainers from 20 years ago appeared in today's Wano country.

The original Oden Castle has been demolished in the past 20 years, and has already become a piece of woodland. As for Momonosuke and the others, no one cares about them at all.

Kaido doesn't believe in prophecy, he doesn't take what happened back then at all, even Kozuki Oden wasn't his opponent back then, so he doesn't believe that a group of people who haven't practiced for 20 years can do anything to him.

For Arceus, Momonosuke is even more unworthy. Except for the slate, there are few things worthy of his special attention. Even Quinn, who is the most life-saving, doesn't think that those runaway wastes can do anything to him. www.Velustb.com

But for the members of the Kozuki family, it is not the case.

Those who stay here don't know when those people will appear, and those who are sent away don't know what will happen in the future.

"Master Momonosuke, please be careful, the Wano country in 20 years' time should already be a purgatory."

Chapter 1155 Do you call this hell?

20 years ago, Kozuki Oden was defeated, and Kozuki Toki used his own time-fruit ability to send Kozuki Momonosuke and some retainers to the future 20 years later.

Guang Yueshi himself was also an ancient man 830 years ago. With an unknown purpose, he continued to move forward into the future with the ability of time fruit, and finally came to this special era.

But Shishi fruit can only move forward to the future, but not to the past, nor can it change the position where it appears.

20 years ago, they were defeated. In order to prevent being wiped out, Kozuki Toki made this decision.

For those left behind, 20 years is a long time, so long that the world has undergone tremendous changes. Back then, the beasts could only settle in a corner, but now they are enough to compete for world hegemony.

But for those affected by Kozuki's time ability, this is just a moment, and the time tunnel is just a flick of a finger for them. At this time, in the memory of Kin'emon and others, Wano country is still in the flames of war The country of Wano.

Toki Kozuki had already explained his abilities before the attack, and Momonosuke, Kinemon and others still knew what happened.

In their cognition, what the beasts did before was just an illusion, all to steal the power of the Guangyue family, and when they really got the power, they would reveal their true colors.

Wano Country, which has been ruled by them for 20 years, should have turned into purgatory by this time.

Logically speaking, their current location should be Oden Castle, but it has turned into a wilderness, and this is the "evidence" in their eyes.

Even the bustling Oden Castle has become like this, let alone other places.

These young people or old antiques 20 years ago did not understand what demolition and reconstruction of the old city was, and in the process of transformation, they also listened to the idea of the original owner's sole heir, Kozuki Hiyori, and changed it into a forest land. No other buildings were built.

"There are no pirate guards around, it looks like they have forgotten us."

Lei Zang scouted around. He was a ninja who was more suitable for this job. The result of the scouting was also good news for them. At least the traces of the war had disappeared.

"It's better this way, but don't be careless. Oda-sama is no match for that Kaido, let alone us. The most urgent thing is to leave Wano country first, and we can't let Momonosuke-sama stay in such a dangerous place."

Kin'emon made the final decision for the future.

These people still have some self-knowledge. Even Kozuki Oden is not an opponent's monster, they must not be able to beat it.

For this reason, they need foreign aid. Leaving Wano Country is the most important thing. There are no guards here now, who knows if they will be discovered after a while.

"We can't all leave, we have to find out what happened in Wano country now, what happened to the people left behind, let's divide into two groups, some people * Master Momonosuke to leave, looking for foreign aid that can help us.

Some people stay here to investigate the situation in Wano Country. The following are ninjas who are better at lurking, so let me stay. "

Lei Zang volunteered to suggest staying.

20 years ago, Asura boy died in battle.

Denjiro, Kawamatsu, and Kikunojo stayed in Wano Country.

In addition to Momonosuke, Kin'emon, Raizo, Kanjuro, Neko Mamushi, and Inuarashi were teleported to 20 years later, and Raizo thought he was the most suitable one among these people to stay.

"Let's wait for this first. We have to figure out what the situation in Wano Country is. It is not easy to leave here. Before deciding on a specific action plan, it is better not to be too scattered. If there is anything, we can take care of each other, and foreign aid

Miss Oden has failed, who can defeat Kaido?"

They have a special admiration for Kozuki Oden. Although 20 years later, they are still a little pessimistic. Kin'emon can't even think of where they should go.

"If you can leave here, go to Zou first. After all, there should be hope that it is an ally with this place."

This is Inuarashi's opinion. According to Zou's past inheritance, there is nothing wrong with his words.

"Cat Viper, where is Zou's life card?"

Inuarashi's life card had already been lent to Setsuna, but now he can only rely on the one on Mamushi.

"Here meow, I didn't lose it this time."

Cat Viper took out the life card from his body, but the beating frequency of the life card made him and Inuarashi feel that something was wrong.

"Strange, isn't Zou too close to Wano Country?"

Maobamushi still remembers Zou's general movement area, and it shouldn't be so close. They don't know that in the past 20 years, the changes in Zou are no less than those of Wano Country. Whether it is here or there, the essence There is no difference above.

Except for Inuarashi and Nekomushir, others don't understand what this means. However, before Inuarashi and Nekomushir can continue to delve into this issue, Kanjuro who is on the side has a new discovery.

"Hey, you guys come here and see what this is!"

Kanjuro just felt hungry and wanted to draw something to satisfy his hunger. Everything he drew with his pen and brush will become a real thing, including food. Although there is no food taste, it tastes like chewing paper, but it can provide satiety.

He wanted to make a flat ground for painting, so he cleared a piece of weeds, and under the weeds, there were actually a few miniature grave bags.

Kinemon

Kanjuro

The names of those who traveled through are written on the tombstone above, which is left by those diehards. They don't know what Guangyue did in detail, but only know that she left a prophecy 20 years later.

Therefore, these missing persons are the dead in their eyes. In order to express their nostalgia, they set up a grave for them.

"This is really true."

Looking at these tombstones, Kin'emon and the others didn't know what to say.

"This is actually a good thing. If they think we are dead, they will be less wary of us, and the probability of us escaping will be greater."

Kanjuro didn't think this was a bad thing, and then distributed some cabbages he had drawn to other people as a temporary tool to feed their hunger. After a brief discussion, they also made a decision on how to act next .

Kin'emon, Kanjuro and Raizo go to a nearby city to inquire about information, and Raizo is looking for opportunities to hide.

Mamushime and Inuarashi used the nearby trees to make a simple raft as a tool for escaping Wano country.

Momonosuke also stayed in this forest for the time being. For his safety, Kin'emon felt that it would be better not to let Momanosuke show up too early.

Then Kin'emon used his ability to subdue fruit to change clothes and make some disguises for the people who set off for the town, while Kanjuro drew some very rough tools and left them for Inarashi and Nekomushi.

That deliberately poorly camouflaged drawing looks like stone age tools, but still better than nothing.

"Everyone, remember to control your emotions. No matter what cruel scenes we see, we have to be patient. For Momonosuke-sama, these are necessary."

"Um."

"Don't worry, Kin'emon, I'm ready."

Raizou and Kanjuro followed Kin'emon to the outside world with heavy faces, and soon they found a small path in the forest.

As the saying goes, there is no road in the world, and it becomes a road when there are too many people walking. This small road is a trace of human beings. As long as you walk along this path, you will definitely find a place where human beings gather.

It's not that they don't know the terrain of Wano Country, but they are not sure how much has changed in the past 20 years.

Not long after, they had already walked out of the mountains and came to the bustling town of Jiuli today. Along the way, they deliberately avoided older people. Such people may have an impression of them and increase their risk of exposure.

Although they had come to the area with monitors, they did not arouse any suspicion.

Quin's focus was on the outside world. Before receiving news of someone invading or sneaking in, and before the alarms in important areas were triggered, the beasts would not suddenly launch a large-scale search of the inner city.

The lost dog 20 years ago is not worth making such a big noise at all.

"Kin'emon, are you sure this is hell?"

The flow of people on the street became denser, and the houses along the street were hung with celebratory props. It seemed that a certain festival was about to arrive.

Singing and dancing are peaceful and peaceful, and people enjoy peace with ample food and clothing. It seems that they are thriving. No matter how you look at it, it has nothing to do with hell.

If * is really like this, then the bus to * will probably be full.

"Fake. It must be fake. These are all false appearances, and they are false appearances to deceive the people."

A country thief spent 20 years turning Wano into an ideal state. They would not believe such a thing even if they were killed.

After some searching, Kin'emon locked on his target, a few delinquents who looked young.

This kind of brat usually runs around and knows more about certain information. As a former gangster leader, Kin'emon also knows better how to communicate with this kind of brat. novelusB.com

"Hey, you guys! Come here, I have something to ask you!"

Kin'emon's thinking is still stuck 20 years ago, being too weak in dealing with this kind of bad will make them feel easy to bully, so his tone seems a bit stiff.

"What are you doing? Old-fashioned uncle? My grandpa wouldn't be dressed so old-fashioned like you."

"Stop talking nonsense, I ask, you answer, if the answer is correct, these will be given to you."

Kin'emon picked up a bag and shook it, and there was the sound of metal colliding inside. When he was a gangster, he often used this method to get information from some ordinary gangsters.

"Where's your cameraman? Has the style of the show changed again?"

The bad things in front of me speak words that Kin'emon can't understand. This is also the change of Wano Kingdom in recent years. It provides more entertainment methods, so that people have more entertainment items to release their emotions during the break time.

The TV sets that began to spread in Wano also promoted the development of some local TV programs in Wano.

These programs are commonly known as variety shows, and street quizzes are also a traditional model.

"What did you say?"

"Hey, that's fine, then I'll cooperate with you. What questions do you have? I'm sure I can answer it right."

The bad guy in front of him has already regarded Kin'emon as the host of a funny show, and Kin'emon didn't delve into this issue, and started to ask some key questions.

"Okay, first question, how is Heitan Orochi?"

"Huh? Are you doing some old-fashioned historical quizzes? Even if I don't study well, I know this kind of thing, okay? That liar Heitan Orochi was killed by Lord Ming 20 years ago."

Chapter 1156 You don't even know this name

Kin'emon and the others were also unclear about Kurotan Orochi's situation. They were kicked out before Kaido's great war. Orochi should be the ruler here.

But the answer he received was a bit shocking, 20 years ago

That means that when they were sent to the future, the black charcoal snake was already dead.

"Brother Zhiren, you are wrong. It was not King Ming who killed the black charcoal snake, but the Lord of the Heavens Yu Zhongzun who killed him."

Behind him, a very thin-looking man with glasses carefully poked at the bad leader and corrected his words.

Onihime, King Ming, Yamato and Kaido all have their own additional titles, and Arceus is no exception.

In the mythology of Wano Country, the Lord of Heaven is originally a legendary god. Under the influence of the Arceus religion, the local beliefs of Wano Country have changed in this way.

The name is just a code name. The God of Creation has different names at different times and in different regions, and the power displayed by Arceus also convinced the people of Wano that he is the Lord of Heaven, so that those miracles can be explained.

"Huh? You said I was wrong?"

"You know your historical grades. Auntie Hemei asked me to help you with your homework, so I came out with you."

"Ahem, let's revise the answer. It was Tianyu Zhongzun who killed him."

Facing the reality, he chose to give in instead of insisting on his wrong answer.

Kurotan Orochi died, which is good news for Kin'emon, but Kanjuro is different.

Although Kanjuro is Kozuki Oden's retainer, he is also a member of Kurotan's family. His full name is Kurotan Kanjuro, and his real identity is an undercover agent sent by Kurotan Orochi.

The original timeline was that he was constantly delivering information to Heitan Orochi, but now, fortunately, the first news he received after traveling for 20 years was that his boss had died suddenly.

Even though he was an experienced undercover agent, the expression on his face became stiff, but soon returned to normal.

Kanjuro has been acting out his own life. After the death of his parents, he can only find happiness in acting out other people's lives. During this time, he has already completely assumed the identity of Kozuki's retainer.

With Kurokan Orochi's orders, Kanjuro can rebel at any time, but without Kurokan Orochi, he will completely assume his current role, become a real retainer, and do his best to think for Kozuki Momonosuke.

"King Ming? The Lord of Heaven's Royal Palace? Who is that?"

"Master Kaido and Master Arceus, what kind of program are you? Can you ask this kind of question?"

It is extremely difficult to find someone who does not know Kaido's name in today's Wano country. Kin'emon's hesitation and muttering have already made the person in front of him suspicious.

Faced with this situation, the three of them simply chose to run away. Ordinary delinquents could not catch up with them. Before the group could say anything, the Kinemon and the others had disappeared.

And when Naoto opened the bag, he found that it was just gravel.

"These bastards, trick the show?"

The country of He Zhi has been at peace for too long, even if something like this happened, their first reaction was not that they encountered a liar, but that someone was joking.

"No, it's impossible. No one will use Master Ming to make a joke. Go to the Shinsengumi and report the case. Just say that you encountered a liar. I think there is something wrong with this group of people."

In a few words, some people have already doubted them. The 20-year generation gap is not so easy to eliminate. Their words from 20 years ago seem incompatible with the current Wano country. NovelUSB.com

This is also something that can't be helped. The development of Wano Country has changed too fast in the past 20 years, whether it is personnel relations or technological points.

Let a person travel directly from the millennium to the modern age, he will also feel extremely confused, but the environment of Kinemon and the others is more dangerous.

After changing several people one after another, they finally figured out the general situation.

But no matter who they are, they are very satisfied with their current life. Some people regret that Oden is dead, and think that Ota will be happy to see the current situation, but no one misses the state of life at that time.

At the same time, they also knew that the current general of Wano Country is Kozuki Hiyori.

"Master Hiyori became a general?"

"Denjiro and the others are also here, and they have also held official positions? What should we do? Are we going to find them?"

"No, they should be persecuted. There must be a lot of people around them watching them. If they look for them, wouldn't they become a trap?"

Kin'emon rejected this suggestion, and then Raizo came up with a new idea.

"Why don't you ask Uncle Heigoro?"

"Hyogoro? Maybe he was the one who betrayed Oden-sama back then. What's the use of looking for him? It's too dangerous here, let's hurry up and leave."

Heigoro did not appear on the battlefield of the decisive battle back then, and with the names that Beast deliberately made on the list, they also did not trust Heigoro. For them, the Wano country at this time revealed strangeness everywhere.

Young people know that Guanyue's family is a general, but they don't have much respect for the general. Some kid even can't remember the name of the general, but no matter who they are, they always talk about the benefits of Lord Ming.

In Kin'emon's view, the entire Wano country has been brainwashed, and the current Wano country is a bit too scary. Hurry up and leave here before you can find an opportunity to seek foreign aid and drive Kaido away.

At the same time, the Shinsengumi in Guri also received many reports. Many people said that they encountered a group of weird people who seemed to be conducting some kind of fraudulent activities. In order to find out what happened, the Shinsengumi has also started Send someone to investigate the case.

Many people were dispatched. During this period of time, Wano Country was too peaceful. Apart from a small amount of theft, fights, and very few criminals, there were generally no vicious cases.

For ordinary people, this is a good thing, but it also means that the Shinsengumi has lost its performance. Now it has finally encountered a fraud gang. This is a rare performance.

Kin'emon just finished his research work and planned to return to join Momonosuke, but Momonosuke met someone else.

Miaona and Wolf were only one mound away from where Momonosuke and the others appeared. When Raizo was investigating the surrounding situation, they were fishing in the water, so Raizo didn't notice them.

But as Mamushi and Inuarashi started cutting down trees to build a raft, Meowna and Worf noticed them.

"Brother, this is not a logging area."

The sound of falling trees and flying birds caught their attention. The proportion of forests in Wano Country is not small. These trees include economical fruit trees and fast-growing forests used as building materials and fuel.

Fast-growing forests are allowed to be felled freely, and other areas are only allowed to pick up fallen dead branches. This kind of movement is obviously against the rules.

"No, let's go and see, why would someone come here to cut trees."

Wolf, who climbed up from the river, shook off the water on his body. He and Melo were the only ones who went into the water before. Meowna had been grilling fish on the bank with a bonfire.

Melo is a half-mermaid, Wolf doesn't care, and Meowna doesn't want to get her hair wet here.

But not being in the water doesn't mean she doesn't have the means to catch fish. The vines extending from her palm have already explained how she catches fish.

"Melo, you and Xiongxiang are waiting for us here, remember to watch the fire, don't let the fish get mushy, we will be back soon."

"okay, I get it."

The brothers and sisters didn't take Melo with them, but let her stay here with the wearing bear. Even if some beasts came here during this time, they would just be slapped by the wearing bear.

"Momonosuke-sama, please give me a break, don't hit you."

Inuarashi asked Momonosuke to change to a safe position, and then continued to work as a lumberjack. The two of them were still very nervous about working on the raft, but Momonosuke didn't help much, but just watched helplessly.

His memory is still in the burning Oden Castle, and the fear caused at that time has not been relieved yet.

The sea currents outside Wano Country are very dangerous. They wanted to make the boat stronger, so they cut down more wood.

When Inuarashi and Momomushi were about to continue cutting trees, there was a scolding sound from the side.

"Stop! Who told you to cut down trees here!"

"That's right, who did you come with? If you do this again, you won't be allowed to come here for vacation!"

The voices of Meowna and Worf sounded one after another. The characteristics of the fur tribe are too obvious, and they can be seen at a glance.

There are many fur tribes in Zowu, and they didn't remember everyone, they just got acquainted with their playmates.

Every year, some fur tribes who have never been to Wano country come here for vacation. They are used to it, but the next behavior of Inuarashi and Nekomushiba made them aware of the abnormality.

"Little ghost, don't disturb adults doing things."

Cat Viper buried himself in his work and didn't pay attention to the two of them at all. He just took a look and then continued to cut down the tree, which was also the most unreasonable thing.

They are all the people who don't remember Zou, but everyone in Zou knows them. They are the contemporary Duke, and they are also the children of the most special Duke in history.

Not to mention the fur tribe living in Zou, even Lindbergh, who has not returned for many years, has an impression of both of them.

"Where did you two come from the fur clan?!"

Exactly 6,000, not owed (hard)

Chapter 1157 Not enough success, more than failure

Zou is only that big, and there are only a few people who manage Zou.

There is no hereditary practice in the history of the Furry Principality. Their succession to the throne is more like an alternative abdication system. The contemporary duke is looking for a suitable heir, and he must be a very capable one.

Then he will become the new king under the witness of the people. In this case, the residents of the Furry Principality lack the knowledge of princes or princesses.

Not to mention that the previous generation of sheep Keith Khan was still a bachelor for ten thousand years.

But Setsuna set a lot of new records. The root of many things came from Arceus, but as the current Duke of Zou, these things were still added to her.

The first king of Zou who can communicate with the elephant owner, the first duchess.

Brought the biggest change to Zou in hundreds of years, second only to the historical event that all the fur tribe moved to live behind the elephant master.

At the same time, he is the most troublesome successor of Yang Jisihan. With a series of names, Miao Na and Wolf often play in Zou. This brother and sister are quite well-known in Zou, and their silver-white fur is quite rare in Zou. .

Although there is no such thing as hereditary in Zou, it is also directly related to the fact that the past dukes of Zou basically did not cultivate the next generation.

The prestige of the moment is too high, and no successor of the same generation can appear in a short time.

Among the young people, Miao Na and Worf, as the "superpowers" of the fur tribe, have already revealed their own advantages at this time.

As long as there are no accidents in training and learning, the two of them will be the most capable of fighting among the young fur tribe, meeting the most basic requirements of the new Duke.

Because he is the child of Setsuna, the problem of prestige can also be solved. If this coat color is passed on, there may be rumors about Zou's silver blood in the future.

Both the power of waveguide and the power of thunder and lightning may be hereditary. As "superpowers", they are no longer ordinary, but this is only a higher starting point, and other things still have to rely on their own efforts.

Under the guidance of Pedro, their moon lion practice is considered smooth, and no one can't control this form because they are too violent, and they are already the leaders among the young people of Zou.

When I was in Zowu, I was a veritable king of children. Even if some people in Zowu didn't care about politics, they would wonder who their children were playing with.

Unless it is a newborn child, or an elderly person who has already suffered from dementia and can't remember faces clearly, Zou's fur tribe will never fail to recognize them.

Only fur people who grew up in the foothills of some open sea would fail to recognize them.

This kind of fur family is rare, but it is not extinct. Every few years, there will always be a few fur people living outside. Over time, some fur people can be seen in the open sea. Even Zeraola is such an example, at least he is like this to the outside world of.

There are also fur tribes like Pokmus who went to sea at a young age, then stayed in the open sea, and never returned to Zou. He is not familiar with Miaona and Worf, after all, he has never seen it a few times.

Being a member of the BIG MOM Pirates made it difficult for him to frequently enter and exit the territory of Beasts, and the two sides were not friendly enough to exempt visas. NovelSB.com

The identity of the Lindbergh Revolutionary Army has no such scruples, and Lindbergh will still come back occasionally.

If you are in the open sea, it is reasonable to meet the fur tribe living outside and not recognize them.

But this is the Wano country, and it is impossible for the fur tribe to appear in the Wano country quietly.

No matter how you think about it, Inuarashi and Momomushi are very strange in the eyes of Worf and Meowna, and they don't know the rules of Wano Country at all, and they are destroying trees at will.

The abnormal behavior made Meowna and Worf doubt the identities of these two guys. Even if they were, they were on the rocky beach near the river when they lit the fire, and there was a bear in clothes beside them.

In this way, even if there is an accident, wearing a bear can also show fancy fire fighting methods.

"Lei Zang, is this what he said there is no one around?"

Compared to Mamushi, Inuarashi usually thinks more comprehensively. They are cutting down trees, but they don't intentionally make a lot of noise. If they are far away, it is impossible to notice.

Being able to be discovered shows that they are not far away. Then Lei Zang just spied on a lonely person, and he didn't even see the people under his nose.

In a sense, this is a problem of poor communication and information, and Kozuki Oden's retainers have uneven abilities.

When Lei Zang searched the surrounding area, he did not see any pirates, but he ignored the fire by the river.

Melo was looking for fish in the water at that time. As a half-mermaid, she could breathe underwater and didn't show her head at all. Worf's head was exposed, but the racial characteristics of the fur tribe

If the distance is far, when the other party only shows a side face, and no arms or clothes are exposed, it is actually a bit difficult to judge whether it is a beast or a fur tribe.

As for Meowna, she was a fisherman back then.

For a fisherman, position is very important. A suitable position is enough to make a fisherman excited all day.

This camping site was discovered last year. There was a spoon-shaped stone by the river, and Miao Na was inside at that time, and she was also decorated like an auspicious suit made of vines and leaves.

Raizo's focus was on adult pirates, which eventually led to this major mistake.

"Inulan, don't worry about a group of brats, hurry up."

"Stupid cat! Use your brain more! This is Wano Country, will ordinary fur people appear here?!"

The two of them accidentally drifted here because of a shipwreck, not to mention that this place has been the territory of beasts for the past 20 years, and it is even more impossible for strange fur tribes to appear here.

"Smelly dog, who are you calling stupid?"

"I'm talking about you, don't quarrel at this time, the big trouble is right now."

Inuarashi's eyes are more focused on Wolf, who also has wolf fur and white hair. The difference in gender makes him very different from Setsuna, but there are also some similarities.

20 years ago, Inuarashi remembered that Setsuna had already entered the period of passionate love. Now that 20 years have passed, it is not surprising that she has her own child.

Once the enemy is attracted, the trouble will be really big.

"Master Momonosuke, you hide first, we will deal with the matter here as soon as possible."

Momonosuke's whereabouts cannot be discovered. In any case, before leaving here, at least the two children in front of him must be controlled, and they must not be allowed to attract other enemies.

Inuarashi whispered to Momonosuke who was behind him, then walked to the same position as Momamushi, and raised his hand to press his shoulder.

"What are you doing? Isn't it to control them?"

"Don't be impulsive, they are all children, maybe there is a better way"

Once they make a move, they may make a bigger commotion. Even if it's just two children, once they are allowed to shout and be heard by others, it may lead to a search.

"You are Setsuna's children, don't get me wrong, we are not bad people."

Familiar with the trick of deceiving children, Inuarashi is not sure about the real identities of Miaona and Worf, but is just guessing based on the information he knows. After all, he knows that only Setsuna can appear in Wano Country's fur clan.

This speculation is already the most likely, and the reactions of Worf and Meowna also let him understand that he is betting right.

"Do you know your mother?"

"Yes, we know her."

"Then what is your relationship?"

There are so many people who know Setsuna, even a glance at the coronation ceremony from hundreds of meters away is called acquaintance.

Mowna and Wolf didn't understand the so-called prophecy of the Kozuki family 20 years ago, and they came here not because of Momonosuke, but because they violated the rules here.

If Inuarashi is really familiar with Setsuna, then he shouldn't break the rules here.

Besides, Worf doesn't think that people who are familiar with Setsuna won't recognize him at first sight, so Mao Viper's words are unreasonable.

"we are"

Inuarashi was thinking about a suitable relationship, but at this time, Mamushi once again disrupted his plan.

"We are friends."

Friend, perhaps this sentence was true many years ago, but since they joined different forces, that friendship has gradually faded away.

Inuarashi and Setsuna still retain a little friendship, and Maomushi is not worthy of this word.

The most important thing is that they are too young.

They who have traveled through 20 years are only 20 years old this year. If they are friends at this age, Wolf and Meowna don't believe it at all.

Inuarashi hesitated because of this problem, but Momushiba didn't think about it. They traveled too much time, and Momushiba was not sensitive to this time, so he directly said words that might be exposed.

After hearing the cat viper's words, Inulan regretted why he didn't press his mouth directly, but at this time, he couldn't dismantle the cat viper, so he could only find a way to lie to him.

However, the words spoken are like water poured out, and the water cannot be contained. After the cat viper uttered this word, the expressions of Meowna and Worf became serious again, and Inuarashi even saw the communication between their eyes.

"Do it, grab them both! You stupid cat, shut up next time!"

Inuarashi's heart tightened, in order to prevent accidents, he had to choose to do it, and at the same time called Maomushi.

Although he has an impulsive personality, sometimes he can't do things with his head, but Maobashi's fighting spirit is still there, and the tacit understanding with Inulan is also good. After hearing what Inulan said, he didn't talk nonsense, and rushed up with him.

At this moment, Inuarashi and Maomushir also made the biggest mistake, they miscalculated their own strength.

It is true that what they are facing are only two 12-year-old children, but the 20-year-olds have missed 20 years of training time. It is simply impossible to catch Miaona and Wolf like ordinary children.

"Roar!"

Setsuna and Zeraora's education methods are completely different from Mandelfish's. The husband and wife pay great attention to their children's military strength. After several years of training, they also have good fighting nerves.

While Inuarashi and Momomushi were moving, Wolf and Meowna also completed their transformations.

The silver-white wolf turned into a red-and-white tiger man, and then supported the cat viper's pounce with both arms.

I owe three thousand,

"What bad thoughts can Batman have"

Chen Tao never imagined that it would be fine if he time-traveled, but he actually became Batman himself.

As we all know, Batman is extremely intelligent, super intelligent, and his fighting skills are extraordinary, but—what does all this have to do with me, a time traveler?

oh! It's okay, I can inherit Batman's power and memory...? ! ? Wait, why are they all parallel universe versions?

Chapter 1158 Brother Guihu and Masked Meow, a cage with nowhere to escape

"Roar!"

The roar of the tiger was deafening, and the movements of the cat viper also stopped, and part of the strength in the arm disappeared inexplicably.

The combination of loud roar and its own deterrent characteristics will have a serious impact on the enemy's attack. Under the deterrence of the tiger's roar and the terrifying gaze, the cat viper actually felt scared.

"Just a brat"

Compared to just now, Worf's body size has swelled by two full circles, and his original arms have also become muscular, and the size gap between him and the cat viper has been directly reduced by a large amount.

Compared to the original Fire Spot Meow, Worf's ability has lost the cuteness of the past, replaced by a beauty of strength.

Blazing Roaring Tiger, because of its powerful performance in the game for two consecutive generations, is called the number one Pokémon in the universe by players.

Different from the four-legged walking form in the previous two paragraphs, the Flaming Roaring Tiger is a bipedal walking Pokémon. Its strong body is full of well-developed muscles, which directly sublimates its own strength.

A belt made of flames wraps around Wolf's waist. Different fire-type Pokémon have different ways of releasing flames, and the flame-breathing position of Blazing Roaring Tiger is his navel.

The two hands pressed against each other, seemingly controlling each other at the same time, but Worf still had a backhand.

The flame at the waist burned violently, and the burst flame sprayed towards the cat viper.

The stronger the fighting spirit, the higher the flame temperature of the Flaming Roaring Tiger, and the Blazing Roaring Tiger is a warlike Pokémon. After superimposing its personality and abilities, it can explode with stronger combat power.

Pretend to be my mother's friend, doing all kinds of unreasonable and weird things in Wano Country, and now I still want to do it. To deal with this kind of weird person, their solution has always been very straightforward, just fight first.

Fight if you can beat it, and make some noise if you can't. This is Wano Country, even if the recent cadres are busy again, there are also big cadres stationed here. As long as there is enough movement, there will be someone in a few minutes was drawn over.

Even if other cadres are not there, Quinn will rush over as soon as he finds a problem.

Caring about his own safety is one thing. On the other hand, he has taken over Wano Country's defense and security in order to build his own security fortress.

If foreign enemies do something in Wano, no matter what the reason is, Quinn will always be doomed.

The fastest person is Zeraora, but at this time, Quinn is most likely to be more impatient than Zeraora, the father.

The bursting flame exploded in the chest of the cat viper, instantly burning his chest to blackness.

The flames released close to his face also affected Worf, but he is not hurt by his own flames because he is a fire element, he just can't elementalize. In terms of temperature alone, the flame temperature of the Flaming Roaring Tiger is comparable to that of a burning The burning fruit is higher.

Hands were clamped, and the burning of the flames continued to transmit pain. In order to extinguish the flames on his body, the cat viper turned to the side, and rolled Wolf down from the hillside, trying to extinguish the flames on his body in this way.

The Blazing Roaring Tiger makes up for the gap in size, but the tonnage of the cat viper is already larger than that of Worf, and he has traveled 20 years less. He is still eight years older than Worf, and he will not lose the ability to resist.

"Stupid brother, let me see how you can explain it if you burn the forest home."

Moon Lion is still useless, Worf still has his hole cards, Miao Na is not worried about her brother's safety, and there is another enemy in front of her, but at this time Inuarashi is also attracted by the cat viper.

After all, the state of Viper Cat seems to be much worse than that of Worf.

"Cat viper what?!"

Suddenly, several plants of different shapes appeared in front of Inuarashi, including blooming flowers and buds waiting to bloom. They had come to Inuarashi's side at some point and stuck to his hair.

"Don't underestimate me, your troubles are no smaller than that cat."

Boom! Boom!

As soon as the words fell, all the plants exploded, and the strange pollen replaced the gunpowder smoke, but the kinetic energy produced by the explosion of natural energy was not weaker than that of gunpowder.

Miao Na's appearance has also changed. Instead of the brotherly style of the blazing roaring tiger, it is a masked and charming style.

The final form of New Leaf Meow, Magic Mask Meow.

In addition to the flower seeds that exploded on Inulan just now, there is also a flower bud floating beside her.

That's not levitation, Miao Na controls the flower through the vines extending from her body, but other than herself, outsiders can't see the connected plants.

The neck of the magic mask has a special structure, and the leaves growing on the neck become like a cloak.

It looks like a cloak made of plant leaves, but it is made of fur like the structure behind Zeraora.

The hair on the inside of the cloak can automatically reflect light, making the stem controlling the flower bud enter a state of invisibility, and finally achieve this floating effect. novelusB.COM

Compared to Wolf's fiery fighting style, Meowna's attack is more ingenious. When Inuarashi was distracted by Wolf, her flower trap was completed.

Send the explosive bouquet to the enemy without anyone knowing it, and set up traps around it to draw the enemy into your own battle space, and let the flower bomb explode at the right time. This is the battle mode of Magic Mask.

The aftermath of the previous explosion has not disappeared, and the magical bouquet came to Inulan again out of thin air. Just as Inulan wanted to avoid it, a strange force suddenly came from under his feet. The invisible stem directly entangled Inulan's feet, and then the bouquet The energy in it also exploded completely.

The same thing happened not only to Inuarashi, but also to the cat viper not far away.

"There are thousands of flowers, thank you for watching."

The exclusive move of Magic Mask Meow, a magical bouquet that is almost impossible to avoid.

Although the two brothers and sisters have already assigned opponents, this is doubles. When the situation is right, it is normal to take care of your teammates.

Cat Viper's condition was not very good. After being hit by the ever-changing flowers released by Meowna, the strength in his hand was loosened, and he lost the restriction on Wolf's arms.

The previous rolling could be said to be "lose-lose", but now it's different. Worf's fists were wrapped in flames, and the flame belt around his waist continued to spew flames, turning his whole body into a high-speed rotating fire vortex.

Using his arms as weapons, Worf hit the cat Viper's head one after another with his combos, but he didn't call out the name of the move like Meowna did.

He didn't know why this move was called "DD Golden Gou Arm".

The tacit understanding between the two brothers and sisters is good, and they just hit Maomushi and Inuarashi together.

"Brother, the name Cat Viper, where do I think I saw it?"

"In my mother's diary, like Uncle Quinn, my mother has marked her name in red, but I remember that it was more than 20 years ago, and my parents were not married at that time."

Setsuna's diary can always help future generations understand what happened in the past. At first, Inuarashi and Maomushir called them stupid cats and stinky dogs, but just now Inuarashi called out the name of Maomushir.

As the person who offended Setsuna a lot back then, Mao Viper was also the one who was marked.

"Why do I think this matter is so troublesome?"

"I think so too, it's better to change someone to have a headache."

Speaking of Worf, there was an extra fireball in his hand, and he planned to throw it into the sky as a flare to detonate. The two of them would never bring Rotom or phone bugs with them when they came out to play, so that there would be enough people not to answer the phone. reason.

Anyway, they are in Wano, so Zeraora will just follow the two of them.

Seeing the fireball thrown upward by Worf, Inulan became anxious. Meowna and Wolf were too young to completely lose their mobility. Seeing that they were about to send a signal, Inulan jumped out and blocked it with his body. the fireball.

"Stupid cat, go and take Monanosuke-sama away! I'll hold them both!"

Inuarashi never thought that these two children would be so powerful in combat. If he had known earlier, his decision would have been to escape with Momonosuke.

Under the current situation, it is impossible to escape unscathed. All he can do is delay the time, try not to let them spread the signal, and leave a certain amount of evacuation space for Momobamushi and Momonosuke.

But when the gap is too large, even if you risk your life, some things cannot be done.

Even though Inuarashi blocked the fireball with his body, there was still a harsh buzzing sound not far away. Along with the noise, a dazzling light cluster appeared in the sky.

On the hill behind him, Melo was sitting on top of the bear's head, holding a small flare launcher in his hand.

"Brother Wolf, do you want to send a signal? Is this okay?"

"Beautiful forehead."

Wolf gave his thumbs up, and then together with Meowna stopped Inuarashi and Maomushi, as for Mello.

It's not that he doesn't have confidence, wearing a bear is something he can't deal with, it's all from his painful childhood experience.

The flare gun in Melo's hand Mandefish found a private product customized by Quinn. It is waterproof, pressure-resistant, and high-brightness. It is a flare gun he specially reserved for Melo.

Not much to say, even if it is daytime, it does not prevent the entire Wano Kingdom from seeing the signal here, especially Mandefisch himself.

Setsuna and Zeraora weren't at home, so Mandefish didn't share parenting experience with them. He just drank tea and chatted with Quinn. Seeing the signal flare in the sky, he couldn't sit still.

"Brother Quinn, there seems to be an accident at Melo's place. I'm leaving first, and we'll talk later."

"This is Wano Country, and there are two brats from Zeraora's house next to her. What can happen?"

"I don't know, but I told Melo that it's only for emergencies."

Saying that he stopped talking to Quinn, a few flashes disappeared here.

"What a daughter slave, what can happen to Wano country, it will smash the window of my uncle."

Quinn drank tea talking to himself, looking extremely calm, but this calmness only lasted for less than a second.

Boom!

Quinn rushed directly to the spot of light along a straight line. Originally, the glass was smashed by Mandefish, but now it directly demolished a wall.

Mello has no history of pranks. If she can use the signal flare, something must have happened. In case something goes wrong

Quinn doesn't want to see organizations like the Anti-Quinn Alliance continue to grow.

It was about his own daughter, Mandefisch's movements were fast enough, but just like that, Quinn rushed out of him like an afterimage, the speed was unmatched by Mandefisch.

"Brother Quinn. Is it so fast?"

Chapter 1159 Someone really gave away the head after 20 years

Mandefisch can fly, and it is a variant of jet - water jet flight.

Among the cadres who can fly on Onishima, Mandefisch's speed has always been at the bottom.

There is nothing wrong with this point. He is a cadre of water combat type, and air combat is not his strong point. Jhin, Shaina and Zeraora are in the front, and air combat is not his turn no matter what.

He wasn't fast, but Quinn wasn't much of a fast flyer either.

He and Quinn are like the two physical education teachers who run last in the sports meeting. One is not a runner, so he can't run fast.

I thought it was my good brother next to him, but it turned out that he was all pretending.

Mandelfish tried to catch up with Quinn, but found that he couldn't do it, and instead was pulled further and further away by Quinn.

Quinn was supposed to transform a madman, even in the eyes of outsiders, his brain was abnormal, after all, he could transform into a perverted posture like a "snake form".

Plus Gage's research Quinn is all involved, he even made a jet on the sole of his foot to accelerate.

"At this speed, the elder sister may not be able to catch up with her head without turning off the fire."

According to his estimation, this speed has surpassed Shaina's normal mode. If Shaina doesn't switch modes, she may not be able to catch up with him.

"Does Brother Quinn care so much about other people's children?"

Mandelfish himself was there because his daughter was there, but none of the three children there had any direct contact with Quinn. Mandelfish couldn't figure out why Quinn had such a high potential.

Before Shayna chased and killed Quinn, he had never seen Quinn run so fast. This is not a reasonable performance for Quinn who is willing to die.

And this is where Quinn is sober, he can't escape Shaina's pursuit, unless either he or Shaina dies halfway or quits Beasts, or the Beasts Pirates disband halfway.

Otherwise, he will be caught up by Shaina sooner or later. The incident has already happened, and the consequences cannot be avoided. Therefore, the best solution is to be beaten up when Shaina's anger is almost gone, so that it is temporarily safe.

It is a different approach to Kaido. It can be said that after being beaten for so long, Quinn already has a flexible response plan.

The situation is different this time. It hasn't happened yet, so there is room for redemption. He wants to contain it before it happens, not to remedy it afterwards.

A plump figure passed by in mid-air, a steel armored crow that had just returned not long ago was bumped and staggered, and the floating shuttlecock cotton was blown aside by the air current.

"Cotton? (Did a * mouse fly over just now?"

"Ga (I didn't see clearly, what is that light spot like a strange ball? Do you want to go and have a look?"

"Cotton (forget it, there are already powerful humans passing by, let's go to the sun."

Some Pokémon flying in mid-air were affected, but they quickly returned to the right track. If there is an air traffic police here, then the crime of Quinn speeding up and changing lanes must have not escaped, and it will have to wait until the later stage to eliminate it.

But even so, Quinn still felt that he was not fast enough, and even felt that time was passing too fast. It would be great if he could slow down.

For Inuarashi and Momomushi, time has passed very long, they can't get rid of Meowna and Worf at all, the double play effect of Blazing Roaring Tiger and Magic Mask Meow is surprisingly good, and it is broad daylight, they Even if you want to use the moon lion to go all out, there is no way.

Relying on the advantage of age, Inuarashi and Maomushir can still delay, but it is completely impossible to lead people to retreat.

"Master Momonosuke! Please run away yourself! We will hold the enemy for you!"

"That's right, the rest is up to you."

Fortunately, they can drag it on for a while, and only bears and Melo are left in front of them. They just misestimated the combat power of Miaona and Worf, but this kind of thing can't happen twice in a row. nOvelusB.com

Melo looks smaller, and the bear below also looks like a doll. If such a creature can explode with exaggerated combat power, then this day will not be over.

But Momonosuke didn't run away at this time. It wasn't that he wanted to fight side by side, but that his legs were weak and he couldn't stand up at all.

Lust, cowardice, although Momanosuke occasionally shows a backbone, but most of the time, he is a coward, even if he has the courage to go to the battlefield, he always retreats in his heart.

The haze caused by Kaido still hasn't dissipated in his heart. Seeing Inuarashi and Momomushi meet the enemy, his heart is only fear.

Now his brain is blank, he can't direct his limbs at all, and he hasn't heard Inulan's words.

Although Inuarashi and Maomushir were impatient, they couldn't escape at all, but they didn't worry for too long.

Boom!

There was a loud noise, and there was a big hole in the forest, and Quinn appeared here sweating profusely.

"Where is the person? What happened here? Which * dares to provoke trouble here!"

Quinn's aura dissipated to the surroundings. Quinn didn't have a domineering look. It was just his anger and killing intent. Whoever dared to make his life have problems would be his life-and-death enemy (referring to those who could afford it) kind).

Being provoked and not being provoked, Quinn has completely different attitudes. He is playing bullying and fearing toughness, unless you touch his sweet tooth, then Quinn will temporarily lose his mind and dare to challenge any enemy.

As for the guy who is even at a disadvantage against Miao Na and Worf now, Quinn certainly doesn't pay attention to him, and even feels a bit outrageous, there are fur tribes who are so brave enough to fight their royal heirs.

Whether it's training or the real thing, Quinn can't fail to see.

"You two * are really brave, Winch Queen!"

The mechanical arm of the left hand ejected, and the internal structure began to operate, and just at once, the two of them were rolled into the air.

"Do you know how impatient I am?! Power Queen!"

The device in the mechanical arm began to release a strong current, and the azure current enveloped the forest in an instant, and then Quinn's mechanical arm slammed down hard, smashing the half of Inuarashi and Mobashi directly into the soil .

"It's Quinn, * it, did you delay too long?"

"Damn how can it be so strong so fast."

With the strange power of the winch green and the electric current of the electric shock blue, Quinn easily knocked down the troublesome creatures he saw.

Whoever survived for 20 years after being fought by Shaina, Jhin, Kaido, Setsuna and Yamato occasionally will let Antique 20 years ago know that times have changed.

After being attacked by Meowna and Worf, they can get up and fight again, but facing Quinn, Inuarashi and Nekomushiru are too weak.

The reason why they didn't kill them directly was because these two guys belonged to the fur clan. There are special rules in Wano.

After solving the potential enemy, Quinn didn't take care of Momonosuke, he was not blind, he had already noticed the cowardly kid next to him, after all, even if Inuarashi and Momomushi fell down, they still looked over there nervously .

For Quinn, Meowna and Wolf are more important.

Quinn's robotic arm has turned into a simple X-ray machine, and it is sweeping around Meowna and Worf. Quinn must first make sure that there is nothing wrong with these two little guys.

After scanning around, he didn't feel completely relieved, so he turned around and picked up the phone bug again.

"Pokémon Center? Arrange two nos for me, arrange three medical examinations, and three people will be sent there in a while."

Looking at Melo, who was being led by a bear and gradually approaching, Quinn decided to let the three of them have a physical examination together, so as not to make things unclear in the future.

In fact, wearing a bear can choose to participate in the battle, but it judges that Worf and Meowna are enough to solve the situation in front of it, so it is carrying out the task of protecting Melo and will not come until the end of the battle.

Quinn also made a temporary inspection of Melo, who did not participate in the battle, and then asked Meowna and Worf.

"What's going on here? These two guys want to rebel? You fur people are starting to feel uneasy?"

"No, Uncle Quinn, don't talk nonsense, these two guys have problems."

"That is, no one questioned the position of the mother, the Duke. If anyone questioned, Grandpa Yang Jisihan would explode."

This is one of Zou's weird situations.

In an instant, Zowu's changes were a bit big, so that her prestige was too high. If she quit, it would be impossible to find a successor in a short time.

Zowu can't be without a king all the time, if he can't find a new one, he can only let the old one go.

Yang Jisi Khan took great pains to retire smoothly. Whoever asks him to continue to work, he will tell the other party what it means to grow old and strong. Therefore, looking at Zou, Yang Jisi Khan is the most staunch supporter.

To say that Setsu is not good, isn't that indirectly saying that he misjudged the person?

"The fat cat is called the cat viper, and it is the annoying ghost in the mother's diary 20 years ago."

"Well, you are as annoying as Uncle Quinn, that's what Mom wrote."

Wolf and Meowna each stated their views one by one, which made Quinn very embarrassed.

"Okay, needless to say the second half of the sentence, your mother is really narrow-minded. But the prophecy left by that woman 20 years ago is not a joke, you really traveled to the future to seek your own death.

So that brat is Oden's son, right? It doesn't look like that at all, don't you think, Mandelfisch? "

"Isn't it true that Oden is not so weak, at least he won't scare his pants."

At this time, Mandelfisch has also come here, and landed directly beside Momonosuke. In the wilderness, it is not normal for a little ghost to appear out of nowhere.

As soon as he landed, he heard Quinn's words, and then he picked up Momonosuke, and then he almost got peed on his leg.

At this moment, Mandelfisch is full of disgust. This is not his own child, even if it is a friend's child, he can accept it, but this is just a passerby, or even an enemy, and it is completely unpleasant to look at.

Momonosuke has a cowardly personality. He was living overseas in the original timeline, and he has experienced so much with Luffy before he has changed. Now he is far more timid than the original timeline.

Not to mention that Mandelfisch is also in a transformation state at this time. His nickname of Little Kaido is not for nothing. Apart from the similarity in the form of ability, even the style of the scale armor is somewhat similar.

However, Mandelfish's scales are bigger, and the shape of the dragon's horn on the top of his head is also different, but Momonosuke, who was already panicking, can't tell these apart. Mandelfish who fell from the sky even made him feel that he saw Kaido.

At this time, his eyes turned white, and he passed out directly.

"Master Momonosuke!"

"Damn it, Kaido, what did you * do to Momonosuke-sama?!"

Human beings are unwilling to accept the too cruel reality. How could their young protagonist be so useless? Mandelfisch must have done something bad to make it happen.

"Mhahaha, Mandelfish, someone has been deceived by your appearance again, why don't you just do a paternity test with Brother Kaido, anyway, you don't know your own background, maybe you will have an affair with that Brother Kaido has something to do with it."

"Brother Quinn, I advise you to stop saying such things, why can't you remember the things that came out of your mouth?"

"It's okay, there's nothing here"

Just as Quinn was about to say that no one would backstab him, he saw the eyes of Miao Na and Worf staring at him, and suddenly had an ominous premonition.

"You two... shouldn't be talking nonsense, right?"

Chapter 1160 Is this the enemy? This is the feat of being able to run!

"Sister, what do you think mom will do when she hears this?"

"Tell my mother that the effect is not good, and she should sell it to sister Dahe. She must like the news more. The things in her hand are much older, so there must be something interesting."

"Just sell a few more copies, maybe Aunt Shaina wants it too."

Meowna and Worf didn't answer Quinn, but started plotting loudly in front of him.

"Who did you two brats learn this kind of thing from?"

No one whispers in this voice unless they do it on purpose.

In Quinn's view, this is a blatant threat. If he doesn't do well, what will happen to them, quite like Yamato a few years ago.

"Tell me, what do you two want?"

"Don't want anything right now."

"We'll talk about it when we have something we want."

"Very well, it's best not to let me know who you two learned from. You even learned to ask for bad checks, so can't you learn something better!"

Facing the overlord clause in front of him, Quinn's cheeks began to twitch, and the life of the cadres became more and more difficult. Originally, the second generation learned to cheat themselves, but now, even the third generation has learned it.

"It's okay, it was taught by Sister Dahe, she said that if she catches you, she will squeeze you hard, otherwise she won't be relieved."

Faced with Quinn's question, Miao Na gave him the answer very simply, making Quinn hold back the rest of the words.

"Yes, Sister Yamato also said that you can only do this to you, not others."

Wolf's last attack is even more accurate, Quinn is a little confused, why Yamato, who has always been heartless, holds grudges so much.

"My eldest lady. When did she teach you this sentence?"

"Well, after that time when you all went out to fight."

"Everyone went to fight that time. On top of the war"

Quinn patted his face feebly, he solved the case, Yamato suddenly became vengeful for one reason, he wanted to drag Yamato into the water and be beaten by Kaido.

As it turns out, he underestimated Yamato's resistance to Kaido.

"Forget it. But I have to teach you one thing, even if you are a pirate, you have to be benevolent, so after we reach a contract, you are not allowed to tell others about this, understand?"

It's just two twelve-year-old children, and they need a mecha for the top of the sky. It's not difficult to build a small mecha. Quinn is just worried that they have only learned half of the university, and they will betray him if they ask for benefits. .

"Don't worry, Uncle Quinn, Sister Yamato also said that trustworthiness is a must, otherwise it won't be easy to trick you in the future."

Quinn didn't respond this time, and even felt that he had gained a lot. At least he can be sure that Yamato must be planning something again. It seems that Hawkins will have to do more divination in the future.

Just because of Arceus, things related to Yamato will be covered up, so how to predict risks has become a new problem.

After dealing with the issue of his personal safety, Quinn took out a communication snail from his pocket.

He has quite a lot of communication tools. Rotom contacted the cadres of Beasts, the phone bug contacted outside members and some organizations, and the snails contacted the local forces in Wano Country. The effects of the three communication tools are quite good, and each has its own purpose. .

"Hey, Hotei? There are a lot of troublesome guys in Wano Country. They are the sons and retainers of Kozuki Oden 20 years ago.

I don't know exactly who they are, take someone to find them for me, and tell your generals by the way.

This is her brother, it's interesting to think about it, hahahaha! "

Passed the news back, and Quinn also planned to take the group of people here to leave. After all, he was Kozuki Oden's son, and it was impossible for him to die here quietly.

"Forget about them, let me do it myself."

Quinn habitually wanted to greet a few younger brothers, but found that only Mandel fish followed, except for him, the three little ones and the bear in clothes.

It's not easy to order because it's small, and it's not very convenient to wear a bear. In front of Melo, he didn't intend to let Mandel fish do other jobs, so he simply dragged Inuarashi and Momushiba out of here.

As for Momonosuke, he doesn't want to take over, since Mandel fish already holds it, so let's continue.

"Mandel fish, speaking of which, your daughter is very lucky. This signal flare was fired at the right time. You have also accumulated a lot of merit for her over the years, which is almost enough.

With such an opportunity, it will be easier for you to speak up. Asking Lord Arceus to designate an ability is much better than gambling on luck. "

"I originally wanted to talk about this matter, but I didn't expect that Lord Arceus is not here."

"We can't say where Lord Arceus is, by the way, you haven't been back for a while, I have to remind you, be careful, Brother Kaidou, he may suddenly fall out from various places now."

"Brother Er Quinn, with all due respect, the recent Kaidou seems to be more dangerous to you and the eldest lady."

"Mandel fish, I don't like you anymore"

Here, Quinn has already started his return journey, and on the other side, Hotei also held a meeting of the Shinsengumi.

"Everyone! The news of Lord Quinn has come back. This is a very critical moment for us."

The people around Budai are all close to middle-aged people, and there are even some ninjas. Although the leader of the ninja group is Koga Ninja, Koga Ninja only manages some leaders most of the time. What do the rest of them do? will not interfere.

Even the jurisdiction of ordinary members is in the hands of the cloth bag. Anyway, there are no strong people, and they can't make waves.

"This is the information I found in the warehouse, Kin'emon, Kanjuro, and Raizo, the faces of the three of them are very similar to the scammers reported by Kuri Castle earlier!

Adding the news of Master Quinn, I guess, there is a high probability that they are them! "

With the popularization of modern communication facilities, Bu Dai can receive information from other areas in the fastest time even if he is in the capital of flowers.

Does not know Kaido and Arceus, behaves strangely, and is very fast.

This is the information from the feedback below, and it is also the reason why Bu Dai held the meeting.

"Everyone, you are all people who made the choice to join with me. It has been 20 years since that day, so no one is dissatisfied with their current life, right?"

Budai didn't get any objection, so he continued immediately. ηOveℓUsB.c0m

"Very well, I won't tell you those meaningless things, I just tell you the reality, these people are followers of Kozuki Oden, and they support Kozuki Momonosuke.

Although this situation is impossible, if they are successfully restored, it will be us who are unlucky! You will not forget the lessons of the Heitan family, will you?

I don't need to say more about the fate of those traitors decades ago. Today's general is Hiyori-sama, but in the eyes of other Kozuki family members, we are traitors! "

This is a matter of position. In the eyes of the current citizens of Wano Country, the Shinsengumi is a well-paid civil servant.

Compared to the clutter of the original timeline, the newly selected group at this time has undergone careful assessment. Only after passing the written test, interview, and force assessment, can they join smoothly.

But no matter how nice it is, in the hearts of those loyal to Momonosuke, they are traitors.

"You know the current Wano country, they are all petty thieves, and it is not easy to catch a serious criminal.

If you are a liar, you can only make up the number at most, but these people... this is a feat of walking! It is almost impossible to wait for this kind of opportunity. There are only three enemies, take them down at all costs, and I will take credit for you when the time comes! "

"yes!"

Whether it is for their own safety, or for their own interests, or from the perspective of the current Wano country, they all have reasons to take down each other. A large number of Shinsengumi are approaching Kuri, launching a campaign against Kinemon and others. big search.

At the same time, Kozuki Hiyori also received the news.

"Master General, news from Lord Quinn that your brother, Kozuki Momanosuke, has appeared again."

"Oh? Really? Then my dear brother, where is it now?"