

Arceus 151

Chapter 151 Arceus vs Buddha Warring States

But this will at least wait for Sora to hand over his marshal position before the replacement will take place.

They still need to learn, and there is a lot to learn to be a qualified admiral.

Now most of the time Kuzan follows Karp, Polsalino follows Sengoku, and Sakaski follows another veteran lieutenant general, but this position is not fixed and changes from time to time.

In addition to Sengoku, there is another lieutenant general on board, but his strength is not as good as that of Polsalino at this time. With the glittering fruit, he is more suitable to use his advantages in the air.

Under the order of Sengoku, Polsalino turned into a flash and came to the sky, but before he could do anything, Zeraora had already attacked him.

"The little brother of the fur tribe, or the little brother of the fur tribe, can you please step aside, my mission target is not you."

Looking at Zeraora, who was much shorter than himself, Polsalino had a hint of resentment on his lips.

His character seems a little unpredictable within the navy, but because his choice is to join the navy and his own strength is also very strong, the navy is also condoning this kind of behavior.

Unless it is a matter of life and death, he will also bargain slightly for the command of the general. Many people do not understand why such a person would choose to join the navy.

"This is my lord's entertainment time, and idlers must not interfere."

"It seems that the negotiation failed, but it doesn't matter, Yata Mirror." Polsalino turned into a flash of light, and after several refractions, it crossed the Zeraora in front of him, intending to quickly execute the requirements of the Warring States and return warship.

The effort at this time is to better fish, after all, only after completing the order can we go back.

But the truth was not as smooth as he thought, and Zeraora's voice sounded in his ear, which turned into a flash.

"I said don't go there, didn't you hear me!"

The tail wrapped in armed color swept towards him, directly interrupting Polsalino's Yatagara mirror.

"Young people are getting scarier today."

Looking at Zeraora who was catching up, Polsalino adjusted his glasses. It seemed that he had to be more serious. This was not the ordinary pirates who could easily solve it before.

The ability of Glitter Fruit makes his speed unique among the navy, and almost no one can keep up with his speed.

This is the ability that the glittering fruit brings him, the speed of light, but this speed cannot get rid of Zeraora, because Zeraora can also move at the speed of lightning. Flash and electric light are both types of light. Raola is not inferior to Kizaru in speed.

The thunder was rustling, and Zeraora and Polsalino fought together, not giving him any chance to interfere with Arceus. He couldn't get rid of Zeraora in melee combat, and even if he released the laser, he would be killed by Zeraora. Aura's lightning stopped.

Most of the people on the Navy warship couldn't see what was happening in the sky, they could only see two groups of lights colliding back and forth.

"General Warring States, Major General Polsalino seems to be entangled, he can't break through the enemy's block, or I"

"No, you come to take over my command. If you defend for a long time, you will lose. You can't keep defending like this." He stopped many waves of dragon star clusters, but the follow-up dragon star clusters continued to flow and could not solve the problem from the root cause, then Always be passively beaten.

And the Warring States seem to have discovered the law, that is, the formation time of those meteors will have an interval, seize a gap, the figure of the Warring States disappears on the boat, and the next moment, the palm containing the endless Buddha light patted Arceus.

The sixth form is the skill of the navy and the world government. As an admiral of the navy, he naturally knows how to use the moon step. Zeraora watched Sengoku appear next to Arceus and wanted to stop him, but Polsalino did the same thing as him.

"Hey, little brother of the fur tribe, where do you want to go?"

"Go away."novelusb.com

"It's a terrible tone, but it can't be done, otherwise the Warring States General will criticize me back, but then again, have you ever been kicked by the speed of light?"

The shimmering shins and the fists wrapped in thunder came into contact, and a more violent conflict broke out in the sky.

And the Warring States attack has indeed achieved certain results. For example, the warship did not continue to be attacked by the Dragon Star Group, but he was shot empty. The palm penetrated the body of Arceus, but failed to cause any damage. The touch is exactly the same as hitting the air.

As Arceus, who was hit by him, slowly disappeared, his real body was revealed again. The one just hit by the Warring States period was a fake made by a shadow clone, and Arceus's body had already shifted his position.

"Who are you? People like you cannot be unknown."

"Interesting question, unfortunately I don't want to answer you, but as an admiral, how confident are you in your own strength?"

In just a blink of an eye, Arceus disappeared again, and Sengoku felt a sharp pain in his chest.

Divine speed, a rush attack type of trick, according to a sentence Polsalino often said, speed is power. The device caused a small impact.

"Your golden body doesn't seem to be just an empty shell, it's really hard enough."

Sengoku didn't speak, but his body grew even bigger, gradually turning into a huge Buddha sitting cross-legged in the air. With a * on the giant Buddha's hand, he grabbed it towards Arceus.

"I'm not a monkey, but Buddha, how about trying this trick?"

A large number of plant rhizomes appeared out of thin air, and entangled together to form a big Buddha. Under the influence of electromagnetic floating, this big Buddha also floated in the air, and Arceus stood on top of its head.

Then thousands of giant arms made of vines smashed towards the Warring States Period.

Crazy Plant Transformation - Really Thousands of Hands · Top Buddha.

This may not make the moves stronger, but it can make the moves more cool. In the past, he could at most fantasize about them, but now he can really reproduce those moves.

Simply smashing people with vines is not as deterrent as such a giant tree Buddha, but I don't know if it's an illusion, Arceus seems to have heard the sound of a camera shutter.

At the same time, Zeraora also came back to him, and just now he exploded a large amount of electricity and temporarily forced Kiabou back, because some of his remaining battery life could not support him to continue fighting.

"Sorry, my lord, I" It has been more than three years since its birth, and Zeraora has not been recharged. If it hadn't been for a battle with the young yellow monkey, his battery life would have been longer.

Arceus naturally saw that he was out of power, and since this was the case, the battle should be over.

"Warring States, I'll give you another gift before you leave." A grass-type sanctioned light was shot from the top of the Buddha's head towards the Warring States. The Warring States in the state of the giant Buddha failed to avoid this blow, and his golden body also Couldn't resist the power of this sanctioning light gravel.

A huge crack appeared on his golden body, at the same time, the attack of the crazy plant has not stopped, countless fists smashed on him one after another, and the figure of Warring States also fell from the sky.

Although Polsalino caught the fallen Sengoku, Arceus and the others had long since disappeared. .

Chapter 152 Zefa is right

"General Warring States, are you all right?"

"What do you think?" The Buddha Fruit also gave him a strong resilience. Although the characteristics of the Buddha's golden body allowed him to take over the punishment of Arceus, his current state is not very good.

"They're gone."

"I know, the * in the intelligence department, I will sue them with Marshal Kong when I go back!" He was not afraid of not having any information, but he was afraid that the intelligence department could not figure out the truth and dare to send it up.

This kind of completely wrong information is just for the purpose of deceiving people. Although Polsalino quickly caught him, Sengoku did not want to praise him in this regard, because compared to the scars left by Sengoku, Polsalino can be said to have not lost a single hair.

However, due to the big lightning that broke out in Zeraora at the end, his hairstyle was affected to a certain extent. When he was young, the hair of Polusalino was not replaced by the simple short inch, and he was almost permed for a new hairstyle. .

"What were you doing just now?" novelUsB.com

"General Warring States, I fought hard against the enemy, but this fur clan is different. He seems to be capable, with the speed of thunder and lightning, and his domineering level is not low. Neither of us can help each other."

It is very difficult for the body of the natural system to be injured in battle. Although the armed color can touch the entity of the natural system, the person with the ability of the natural system can also disperse the body to be attacked in advance through the prediction of the knowledge color, so that the enemy cannot touch it. encounter yourself.

Zeraora's experience is slightly worse, so it's hard to deal effective damage to Polsalino, and he doesn't have much to do with Zeraora.

Polsalino's attack itself has a certain pause, that is because although his body turns into light, his reaction thinking is still human. Even if he is a monster among humans, it will take a certain amount of time to react.

This time is very short, and it can hardly be seen with the glittering fruit, but the momentary pause is enough for Zeraora to react. Although he is not as good as Porusalino, his fighting nerve is naturally better than Porus. Salino is stronger.

"Zefa is right, you pay too much attention to fruit ability, so you neglect the training of taijutsu." In this generation of the Warring States period, neither Garp nor Zefa is capable, and he himself is an animal ability. has always been important.

Polsalino has been a natural ability user from the day he joined the training camp, and he is also the fastest glittering fruit, so he has been neglected in this regard. There is a big gap between the strong ones.

"Sanguo-san, you'd better recuperate first."

Polusalino doesn't really want to talk about this topic. Among the many students taught by Zefa, his relationship with Zefa is probably the most general one.

So when I heard the old sayings of the Warring States period, I took him back to the ship directly, and it was very outrageous that he had been floating in the air.

Although the Buddha form was lifted, the Warring States period still maintained his golden body, looking like an Oscar statuette.

This is the ability of his fruit. The cracks in the golden body can be slowly repaired by the ability of the fruit, but the ability is directly removed and the injury is fed back to the body. It is not so easy to restore the injury.

Most of the Dragon Stars were blocked by the Warring States period. Only when he rushed out to fight, some of the Dragon Stars smashed onto the hull. The Navy suffered some small casualties, but the whole was still within the acceptable range.

In the cabin of the Warring States warship, a person is checking his own film, and it is his task to accurately photograph the target's face, and it seems to be done well so far.

However, he has a lot of obsessive-compulsive disorder in taking pictures. After careful selection, he finally found the photos of Arceus standing on the top of the plant Buddha and Zeraora wrapped in electric light.

According to Arceus's order, the Origin had already left early, and he first charged Zeraora. After all, Zeraora was one of the very few electrical Pokémon that did not have a power-generating organ.

However, his battery life is still very high. Although this battle consumes a lot of electricity, it is also related to the fact that his remaining battery is not much. Under normal circumstances, his battery life is still very long.

However, this battle did reveal a shortcoming. After all, Zeraora's height is not suitable for this world of little giants. It seems that he needs to adjust his height self-development ability slightly.

There are a lot of other things. In the future, he really has something to do with the instant. According to the development of the instant, that is the strange development of driving a big car.

After they returned, the Siwon began to move forward in the direction of Wano Kingdom, and also inspected the territory outside the beasts along the way.

Sengoku's ships returned to the naval headquarters ahead of schedule. Once Garp started chasing Roger, he would go up. It would be unwise to wait for him to come back here.

And when Sengoku returned to the naval headquarters, the first thing he did was to go to the air and complain about the negligence of the intelligence department.

"You mean, it's not a pet of the Beast Pirates, but a powerful animal-type ability?"

"Well, he's very strong, I don't know how much he has done, but he is enough to threaten the general."

"How does it compare to Roger and Whitebeard etc.?"

"I don't know, it's not easy to judge this matter."

"I understand what you mean, but this information was not collected by our navy, but captured by the agents of the World Government, who didn't take it seriously at the time.

I will file a complaint with the World Government, but it is estimated that it will not achieve much effect. As for the identity of the capable person, I will send someone to investigate later, but you should take a look at this first. "

Sora handed the new information to Sengoku, which was detailed information on the naval battle of Advor.

"Is the loss of the golden lion so great?"

"Well, more than half of the ships were destroyed in that sea area, and the cadres and subordinate captains were also damaged a lot. Those pirates in the New World are going to be restless again."

Pirates are all eager for higher fame and fortune, stepping on the bones of the old ones is the fastest way, so every year there are new people who don't know what to do to challenge the old pirates in the new world.

The Flying Sky Pirates, which have suffered heavy losses, are seen by many people as a piece of fat, but the big pirates did not act rashly.

They are very clear that compared to those subordinates, the Golden Lion himself is the most important part of the Flying Sky Pirates. As long as the Golden Lion is still there, then the Flying Sky Pirates will have a solid foundation.

"Is this going to be published in a newspaper?"

"Of course, those pirates will probably start a new round of civil strife when they see this news. Letting them consume themselves is what the above wants to see. You should go back to recuperate first. Even if you are capable, you must pay attention to these problems. I will urge the intelligence department to do a good job."

Chapter 153 Excellent Intelligence Officer

Although the navy and the world government do not have a large number of troops stationed in the new world, there have been a lot of intelligence personnel. Bounty hunters, black market merchants, and some pirates are all disguised by the personnel of the world government and the navy.

They have no other task, they just need to collect relevant information. Arceus often appears in the territory of the Beast Pirates. It is not difficult to investigate his name, but in terms of his abilities, the agents have limited collection.

Those elites were all brought into Wano at this time, and those who had seen Arceus' abilities were considered to be the little leaders of pirates. In order to avoid exposing themselves when inquiring about the news, they rarely met with the leader. touch.

In addition, although the Beast Pirates now have many capable people, it is not surprising to the personnel of the Navy, and they only dispatched personnel because Arceus had the power to injure the Sengoku.

Under this illusion, they did not discover his true power.

is called a holy beast by the members, has a close relationship with Kaido, and is suspected of being the second-in-command or an equal position. This is the conclusion they came to after a simple investigation.

Although is still not very comprehensive, compared to unknown creatures, the outrageous name of the pet of the Beast Pirates is too detailed. Novelusb.com

After the intelligence collection department collects information, it will be fed back to the superior behind him, and then the analysis department will analyze the specific situation based on the intelligence.

Based on this information they gather, the analytics department will re-create bounties and titles.

However, the analysis department has the same idea as Sengoku on this point. They believe that Arceus is just a phantom beast with special abilities, not a strange creature. How could Kaido be on an equal footing with a strange creature?

However, the fruit ability of the opponent is unknown. According to the analysis of the past data, the opponent can control plants and flames, and also has the ability to fly. According to uncertain information, the opponent also has the ability to give power to others.

This analysis department has come to two conclusions, one is that there is no problem with the collected intelligence, and Arceus does have this ability.

The other is that these are all Kaido pretending to be ghosts, and those so-called empowerment are just technological breakthroughs made by the Beast Pirates. When this news was mentioned, Quinn's information was also sent up.

"Pandemic Quinn, a member of the Beasts Pirates, one of the former members of the MADS research team, and later joined the Beasts Pirates. He is good at human transformation and has some research on bloodline factors. We think he may have achieved success in this regard. better achievements.

Maybe we underestimated him at first, and we should have included him in the scientific research unit. "

However, neither side was able to convince the other. In the end, the two conclusions were sent to the empty table together. The specific result can only wait for more detailed information from the agents.

But it didn't cause much reaction from the navy. There are not a few people who can injure the admiral. Some of them have now entered the underwater prison Impelton, and some are still outside.

Golden Lion, Whitebeard, Roger, Red Earl Baroric Redfield, and now there is only one more Arceus, so they just increase the reward as usual.

In the beginning, Rocks didn't make any big moves in the Navy before exposing his ambitions, and now the various behaviors of the beasts are just petty troubles in their eyes.

As for Zeraora, his information is even less than that of Arceus. At least Arceus would often move in the territory, and Zeraora had not searched for any information except for the cadres' identities and names.

In this way, the news of the new bounty and the battle of Idwall spread all over the world. As for the matter of accountability brought up by Sengoku, it was only held high and gently put down.

The CP department is directly under the World Government. They and the Navy are two completely independent departments. If the Navy has to deal with its own subordinates because of any complaint from the Navy, then the CP chief will lose face.

The most important point, CPs don't think it's a big deal. It's inevitable that there will be mistakes in the information of the agents. Even the ace agents can't guarantee the success of the mission 100%.

And the Navy didn't take it too seriously, and didn't pursue any further after filing a complaint.

So under the navy's complaint, they just imposed some literal punishment and confinement on the agent, and there were no more practical measures. The world government also meant it. It's okay for both sides to pass, anyway, there are no major consequences.

The navy is the thugs of the world government, and the CP is their eyeliner. The friction between the two departments occurs from time to time, and they are used to it.

Whether it's CP or the navy, each other's provocation will be resolved. Unless this matter is not clearly related to the Tianlong people, the world government will put more energy into it.

However, this incident also gave birth to changes in the naval system. They needed more of their own eyes. Under the auspices of the Warring States Period, a secret force called SWORD appeared in the navy.

Gathered and analyzed information, held a meeting to discuss, and waited for the new bounty to be determined. The Siwon had already returned to the country of Wano, and there were two more towering chimneys. It seems that two new factories have been added here.

"The Holy Beasts are back, pull up the Siwon!"

In the diving port, the rotating gear drives the chain, and the original elevator took the Siwon into the inland sea of Wano. Soon after they returned, Shaina appeared on the Siwon, holding a stack of A document that records some recent events in Wano Country.

In general, the development is relatively good. The weapons made by the factory have been put into production, and the planted fruit has also begun to sprout.

And shortly after Arceus returned, Kaido also turned into a blue dragon and left here again. Wano Country is still developing. There must always be a person who can achieve absolute crushing by force to suppress in order to prevent accidents.

On the way back, Arceus used Yamato's luck to choose a few more places, but her luck was not always there, and she didn't find the target a few times.

He planned to go back to the ghost island first and then deal with other things. The exit of the diving port is still a long way from the ghost island, and he has to cross the inland sea of Wano country. , Yamato's "A Jian" fell into the water.

Different from the lethargy of other children, Yamato has already shown the talent of Kaido's daughter, and is so energetic that it can even make Gillette feel tired.

And that mace has also become her favorite toy, but this time the force of throwing is a little bigger, the mace did not bounce back, but bounced into the water.

A loud cry resounded through the entire cabin. Seeing that Mandelfish jumped into the water before the others could react, Kaido's daughter, the righteous daughter of Arceus, this proper hundred. As the future successor of the beast, it must be right to please her earlier.

Chapter 154 New Bounty Order

If you can have a good relationship with each other when you are a child, it is naturally excellent. When Yamato grows up and takes over the Beast Pirates, I am afraid that he should retire too. How can he have a good relationship with this relationship. bad thing.

Although he thought a little far, Mandelfish felt that his idea was very reasonable, so after seeing Yamato's thing falling into the water and there was a cry, he was the first to jump down.

Others gave up this opportunity when they saw Mandelfish jump into the sea. In terms of swimming, Mandelfish is almost unmatched in the Beast Pirates, and the ability to dive into the water brought him this aspect. Great advantage.

This was the heaviest cry after Yamato was taken back to the Beast Pirates by Kaido. Even Arceus was attracted. Ji Lidan briefly described the situation at that time, and then pointed to the side of the ship.

"How long has Mandelfell been on?"

"It's almost five minutes."

"You guys, go down and see what's going on." After all, he has obtained the ability of the carp king, and he can't drown himself with a mace when he goes into the water.

Arceus looked at a few people at random, and then they jumped down without saying a word, but they quickly swam up again.

I tried a few more times, but still the same result.

"Master Holy Beast, the water is too deep, we can't dive!"

"Yes, we haven't seen Mandelfish for a long time downstream, and we can't see the end at all. I'm afraid we have to prepare a diving suit."

Even if they are relatively elite pirates, they are still ordinary people. They have neither murloc blood nor Mandelfish-like abilities. Although they can swim, few of them have practiced diving. Not anymore.

Fortunately, the climate in Wano country is relatively cold only in Reihou. Except for the waters near Reihou, the waters in Wano country are relatively warm, so they still have sufficient physical strength after several dives.

And after a few minutes, Mandelfish emerged from the water, holding the big and dropped little mace in his hand, and jumped back to the deck with his feet in the water.

After gaining the ability to splash water, water is a whole new ground for him.

"Master Holy Beast, there are secrets here, and Wano Kingdom is not as simple as it looks on the surface."

"What did you find?"

"The terrain of Wano country may be artificial"

"Wait, get the things first." He took the mace from his hand and handed it back to Yamato. After coaxing the child, he motioned for Mandelfish to continue talking about what he saw.

According to Mandelfish, he jumped into the water to look for the mace that Yamato had dropped. With the ability granted by Arceus, he caught up with the fallen mace without much effort, but he seemed to Saw something underwater.

Because he was a little curious, and the carp king gave him the ability to breathe underwater, he went down to investigate.

"You mean this is a flooded town below?"

"Yes, Lord Sacred Beast, and the style of the building is very similar to that of Wano Kingdom, or the lower part is older. Then I swam to the edge and found that the surrounding cliffs may be their walls."

According to the information brought back by Mandelfish, it seems that someone built a very tall fence to surround this place, but the water level rose due to unknown reasons, which led to the current situation.

But this situation Arceus always felt very nonsense, and the situation was somewhat familiar.

"Shaina, is the construction of Onishima finished?"

"There is no holy beast yet, what's the matter?"

"Go back and ask an older person to see if there is someone named Isayama Chuang in their ancestors."

He built a huge wall to enclose his country. This strange operation made him feel familiar, but he did not notice any sleeping lifeforms from the rock walls around Wano Kingdom.

Shortly after.

"Master Holy Beast, I have asked, and now the leader of the craftsman is called Gangyou, and he is considered a legendary carpenter in Wano, but he said that he has never heard of the surname Isayama in Wano.

Riko has never heard of such a thing, and Quinn has also sparred with Orochi, but he doesn't seem to know it either. This matter should be the secret of Wano. "

"Understood, business as usual, let Mandelfish explore the underwater ruins to see what's inside."

Mandelfish therefore has a new mission to explore the nearby underwater ruins. Although Quinn got a few sets of diving suits, those people still do not have the convenience of Mandelfish.

In order not to be discovered by others, they secretly dived from the ghost island. Only Mandelfish can freely explore all areas without being affected by oxygen, so this responsibility is basically placed on him.

Two days later, on Ghost Island, Shanna just jumped off the boat and ran, carrying a small backpack behind him, which was full of newspapers.

News birds will not enter Wano, so the only way to get newspapers is through the nearby island, which is the outpost of the beasts outside Wano, and external information is generally sent from there.

The biggest news is of course the Battle of Edwall. This huge battle has almost been recorded in history, and it is also a battle between a few pirates named after a battle.

However, the relationship with the beasts is not very big. The ones who have challenged the Golden Lion recently are all newcomers. As old acquaintances, they know that the Golden Lion is still the same Golden Lion, and there will be no changes due to the reduction of his subordinates.

And he cared more about the two reward orders in his hand.

"Lightning" Zeraora - Bounty 270 million Bailey

"Hidden" Arceus - Bounty of 1.19 billion Bailey

This is the conclusion drawn by the Navy after comprehensive analysis. It has directly raised from 5,000 to 1.19 billion. In this era, this is almost a huge reward.

Today, the bounty of more than one billion Baileys is almost all members of Rox's remnants and Rogers, all of which are heavyweights.

Although Arceus had the strength to injure the Sengoku, he left suddenly after gaining an advantage, which made the navy doubt his ability to continue fighting.

Although the information from the investigation shows that Arceus is not a tyrannical type, but the other party is suspected to have magical special abilities, and this amount was determined after comprehensive consideration.

The hider is the navy who thinks that he is hiding his true face, so he has been showing people in the form of beasts. They decided to use all the information they sent, and formulated this document based on the principle that no points will be deducted for wrong writing and extra points will be added for correct writing. Reward order.

And this caused Quinn to look at her bounty with a very puzzled look. NovelUsB.Com

"I've been farming and doing research, how come the reward is higher than that of Jhin's pervert?"

Looking at the reward of 444.4 million, Quinn suddenly felt that it was very unlucky.

Chapter 155 The Second Son of a Downturned Merchant Family - Kojiro

However, Quinn's bounty did not receive attention. After all, he didn't know why he raised the price, and it was a sudden price increase.

He could not have imagined that some intelligence personnel thought that he was the one who truly realized the ability, so he also increased the price by the way.

His bounty is even higher than that of Zeraora. In the view of the Navy, his influence will be greater than that of Zeraora as an individual. After all, he also has a certain suspicion now.

This time, Shaina's mood is normal. Although the hider is not a serious name, but looking at the information about the reward order, Shaina feels that she is in a good mood, which is much better than the * who made the reward order last time.

In the world of pirates, few people are worried about the bounty order, and most of them regard it as an honor.

The higher the boss's bounty, the more excited they are as younger brothers. They are even more excited than Arceus when they see that Arceus' bounty has also broken through the billion mark.

The previous reward of 5,000 Bailey was regarded as a disgrace, and the later updated reward can be regarded as an alternative "honor".

As for Shanna, she had been living in Zuowu until she was seven years old and had little knowledge of the outside world. When she came to the outside world, she was first kidnapped by the organ trafficking and assassination group, and then came to the Beast Pirates, so her cognition was also affected by hundreds of people. The influence of animal atmosphere.

She believes that the high bounty is a proof of strength, and the photos taken by the photographer this time for Zeraora are very cool. The towering hair, the surrounding thunder, and the eyes full of electric light are completely in line with the aesthetics of the fur tribe. View.

"So cool, Zeraora, take me with you next time."

"No, unless you can stick with me for five minutes."

"Then next time we will go on the full moon day. If I use the moon lion, I can last for five minutes! Besides, I can give you remote support. I am best at bows and arrows."

Shanna has always been confident in her bow and arrow skills, and she also has this capital. She doesn't know how to use a gun. The firearms of the beasts can't hit people at all in her hands. Even using shotguns is useless. But her bow and arrow are very accurate, and she will never miss a target within a few hundred meters.nOVELUsB.COM

The craftsmen of Wano are also helping her build longbows. There are many similar craftsmen in Wano. Except for the output that cannot be compared with machines, their hand-made products are even better than machines in some aspects.

Mandelfish is still exploring the mysterious underwater area of Wano, and the development of the world has not stopped. The Golden Lion used the heads of many pirates to prove to the world that although he lost to Roger, it does not mean that he became a weak.

In the country of Wano, the development of the beasts is still continuing. The exclusion of foreigners in the country of Wano is a fundamental problem. It is very difficult to solve it in a short time, so the beasts are recruiting some local people to join the beasts. Pirates.

It is not to make them pirates, nor to just work in the pastures and orchards of the beasts, but to become the local partners of the beasts in another way.

Black Charcoal Orochi is not interested in such trivial things at all. His mind is full of revenge, so the beasts are looking for other suitable people, but they have been waiting for a long time and have not been able to find them.

They can still accept grazing for the beasts. After all, this can only be considered part-time work, but the cooperation is different. Therefore, in the face of the commercial cooperation of the beasts, most of the local rich and businessmen in the country of Wano chose to refuse.

In fact, this has something to do with Orochi. Although his goal is to persecute everyone, it is mainly about ordinary civilians. He has not touched those famous and rich people, and his own interests are also linked to these rich people.

And the actions of the beasts also made him doubt whether this partner can achieve his goals, so he does not plan to continue to expand the cooperation except for the cooperation that has been reached.

Because of the closed nature of Wano, gold coins only flow domestically, which means that the funds of these people are in a state of closed-loop flow, and the snake has a great influence on it.

If he changes some policies, these rich people may also go bankrupt, after all, he is the acting general in name.

So they all obeyed Orochi's orders. Coupled with the national conditions of Wano, they were not interested in the trade of beasts.

And the trade of the beasts itself has the meaning of interfering in the economy of Wano. Although they can forcibly intervene by force, it will cause the economy of Wano to collapse first, which is not in their own interests.

Therefore, Hundred Beasts need to break this closed-loop economy first, and let Hundred Beasts' foreign capital pour into Wano Country.

There is no shortage of commodities for all animals, and everything from the outside world can be sold in Wano, and they lack a local merchant.

After all, the people of Wano country are very strange. The people of Hundred Beasts go directly to sell things and they are unwilling to buy them, but if they are replaced by a native of Wano country, they will buy those products excitedly, so that Hundred Beasts want to sell the goods. You have to change into local clothes first.

They are pirates, and they are also not good at this kind of things. Haggling, selling, these things are embarrassing them.

They could use force to persecute a merchant, but that would lose its original meaning.

But not everyone will reject the beasts, no matter where there will be the first person to eat crabs.

One day, a man with short purple hair rowed a boat to the ghost island.

Now that the construction of the ghost island has been completed, and those workers have returned to their homes, and in Wano country, except for those who are arranged to send supplies here, few people will take the initiative to go to the ghost island.

So seeing that person, the members of Hundred Beasts were surprised.

"This guy can't row a boat, how can he use an oar like that."

"It's normal for people in Wano to not be able to row a boat, but if you want to help him, his drowning here will ruin the plan of the holy beast."

"No way, there is no wind and waves in this place, how could he capsize."

As soon as he finished speaking, he saw the man in front of him overturned his boat.

"What did you just say?"

"I said hurry up and find people!"

"Thank you for your rescue. My name is Kojiro. He is the second son of an ordinary businessman in the Flower City. This time, I want to seek cooperation. I am willing to sell goods for the Beast Pirates in Wano."

Then he didn't even have a chance to change his clothes, and was brought directly to Shaina.

"Big sister! Some businessmen are willing to take the initiative to cooperate!"

"Reason, why are you willing to accept our cooperation." After searching for so long, she couldn't find anyone, and now someone came to the door by herself, she naturally asked.

"This is such an adult. I was born into a merchant family in the capital of flowers, and my family was very wealthy, but after the death of General Sukiyaki, he appointed Kurotan Orochi as the acting general.

And our biggest competitor teamed up with the black charcoal snake to destroy our family's business, my parents and my mother died of depression, and the family has declined since then. I need a chance to come back and avenge them. "

"Big snake? You should know that we were brought in by the big snake."

"Yes, my lord, I know about this, so I'm only here now, because I don't think your business with the Black Charcoal Orochi is that close, and your actions are fundamentally inconsistent with the Orochi's purpose."

These are all his speculations. Although he has no conclusive evidence, he has nowhere to go, and no one in Wano is willing to help him, so he can only put his hope on outsiders.

Chapter 156 Kojiro's Ambition

He is from a family of merchants. Since he was a child, his father asked him to learn various things. Even if the country of Wano is closed to the country, it is a university question to understand business in this country.

The mutual flow of products between the six townships and the consumption power of the people must be thoroughly studied. It was fine before the black carbon snake started to act, but during this time, the behavior of the black carbon snake was full of strangeness.

The prices of items have been changed arbitrarily. Recently, there have been more coins circulating in the Wano country market, and many of them are new money. If it is not for the currency of the Wano country, it stays on the metal currency, and there is no foreign trade. The impact will only be greater.

He is not the only businessman who has been attacked. Almost all those who choose to join forces with the black carbon orosh in various industries have used various improper methods to overthrow their competitors and achieve a monopoly position.

In Kojiro's view, the behavior of the black charcoal snake is to challenge the limit, and as long as an opportunity, the economy of Wano can completely collapse.

This kind of behavior became more and more obvious around the capital of flowers, and the wealth gap began to widen. Only the rich can live in the capital of flowers. Many families relying on small businesses were forced to leave the capital of flowers in this environment. Settling in nearby villages and towns.

In other regions, because several daimyo have jurisdiction over their own townships, this trend is less, but the economy of Wano country is a whole, and the capital of flowers is the economic center. Under its influence, the rest of the The region will inevitably be affected.

And the beasts play a very special role here. They are at odds with the Black Charcoal Orochi, and they seem to have some agreement to help the Black Charcoal Orochi build a factory, but there seems to be a contradiction in the details.

Those orchards and pastures all mean that water must flow, which is completely different from the policy of the Black Charcoal Orochi. He has observed it for a long time. The Black Charcoal Orochi neither supports nor opposes these behaviors of the beasts.

Or he didn't dare to oppose it openly. He had never seen a big snake who dared to directly intervene in the affairs of the beasts.

That is to say, there is something in the hands of the beasts that makes the black charcoal snake fear. Even if he is active enough, he has never left the country of Wano. The frog at the bottom of the well cannot imagine the vastness of the sky, so he can only guess about it.

Coming here alone this time is a gamble, because he can see that the beasts also want to intervene in Wano's economy, and that the beasts will get involved sooner or later. If others can't accept it, they will eventually be abandoned because the beasts The advantage is too great.

For example, on the issue of farming cattle, he knew that the Hundred Beasts Pirates raised two special types of cattle. Those three-tailed monsters had at least ten times the labor force of ordinary cattle, and they were also stronger, even smarter. Can understand the master's commands.

In actual operation, one Kentaro can do the work of more than 20 ordinary cattle, and the price of renting them out by the Beast Pirates is the same as that of ordinary cattle.

Now most people are afraid of those strange cows, but some people have started to try, and then they will be able to cultivate more farmland, or free up their hands to do some other livelihoods.

When the neighbors see it, if you don't want to be completely thrown off, then learning their behavior and renting Kentaro is the best way.

He has also seen the products sold by Hundred Beasts, many of which are novelties that have not been seen in China, and the market is very broad.

He was betting, betting that he guessed correctly, if he guessed the relationship between the Beast Pirates and the Black Charcoal Orochi wrong, then the result would not be so good.

However, after he finished explaining his reasons, he did not get an answer immediately. Shaina gestured to the two pirates, and they left. After a long wait, the two who left came back again. here.

"Big sister, I checked it out, the experience he said is true."

The Hundred Beasts Pirates are indeed looking for a local businessman, but they haven't reached the point where it's enough to be an individual. Kojiro's reason is very good, but Shaina did not believe it immediately, but sent someone to the country of Wano to investigate. for a moment.

It didn't take long for the eyeliner left in the tour to find out about this kind of news. As long as what he said was true, then this kind of news of a businessman going bankrupt could easily become a joke in people's mouths.

After all, his father was just a businessman and not a good man. There were many people who were jealous of the rich. When he saw his misfortune, he would only feel happy, not sad.

"How many people do you need?"

"There are still a few trustworthy old people at home. We don't need many people in the early stage, as long as the people from the big snake won't stop it."

"You two should follow him from now on. Remember to bring a flag. Anyone who encounters a big snake will take it out." Shaina watched the two people who brought Kojiro over and gave him a new order.

Kojiro, who has received the support of the Beast Pirates, has already thought about his future plans, and he has to take back what he lost.

"By the way, you are a smart person, it's better not to do anything stupid."

Before he left, Shaina sent him a piece of advice, or a warning.

His family was already poor and empty. The Beast Pirates meant that he only needed to sell the goods, and he didn't need to worry about other things, but he refused.

Because he knows that it is not difficult to find a person who sells goods. Now it is because Wano country is exclusive. When they are used to the existence of the Beast Pirates, their own existence becomes dispensable. NoVelU&b.coM

So he wants to show his value when the beasts have not been recognized by the people, and let the beasts understand that he has the ability that others can't do.

He borrowed a sum of money from Beasts, used the money to buy a batch of goods with Beasts, and said the "crazy words" that he could pay for the goods first in the future.

"Interesting, let's see what his abilities are. If he has good abilities, there is still a lack of excellent people at Hundred Beast Fruits. If he is credible, let him be absorbed. This is also a talent."

Looking at Shaina's report, Arceus gave new instructions. Today's beasts still lack some professional talents.

Although he has gone bankrupt, his family used to be a big businessman in Wano Kingdom. His family crest still has a certain reputation in Wano Kingdom. The cart started its own business journey from scratch.

The two beasts followed him, which really helped him avoid the trouble of the black charcoal snake. The snake was very good at forbearance. Although the actions of the Beast Pirates were different from what he expected, he also took advantage of the beasts. Force has done many things that were not possible before.

Because Kaido didn't agree, he didn't dare to directly say that this was what Kaido meant, but he deliberately acted recklessly, which made those big names a little jealous of him.

Chapter 157 Kinemon's Plan

Under the condition that the daimyo did not stop it, the ordinary citizens of Wano country naturally have no ability to resist. In fact, these daimyo are also somewhat unclear about the situation. After all, there seems to be an agreement between the Beast Pirates and the Black Charcoal Orochi.

The black charcoal orochi helped Kaido build the ghost island, and Kaido also forcibly established many factories in the name of the big snake in the rabbit bowl, but sometimes the actions of the beasts are diametrically opposed to the big snake, giving people a sense of finesse. a feeling of.

Kojiro's business was very smooth. The rare goods from the outside world and his eloquence quickly paid off the first loan of Hundred Beasts and brought in more goods.

Orochi's manpower did not stop Kojiro because of the Beast Pirates, but other businessmen were not sure, especially the businessman who ran and went bankrupt on Kojiro's family. He didn't believe that Kojiro would let him go after his comeback.

So he took the gift to find the black charcoal snake and hoped that he could get rid of Kojiro, but unexpectedly, the black charcoal snake did not do anything with the gift, and all the gifts he sent were accepted, but there was no intention to solve the trouble at all.

He was able to get some answers for the first two inquiries, but after a few more times he couldn't even see anyone. In this case, he made a new choice, which is to spend money to find some troublesome gangsters.

Some time ago, the beasts cleaned up the gangsters on the street, and many people who like to pick things up were caught in the mine to mine, which made the street clean for a long time.

And the remaining gangsters hid when they saw that the situation was not good, but after a period of time, they had to come out to find their own business. The reason why they were called gangsters was because they didn't have a regular job and didn't have much savings.

It's fine for a short time, but it can't survive for a long time, so for money, a few thugs took over the task of smashing Kojiro's stall. They have done this before. After all, the protection of the stall is their main source of income. .

Although the underworld boss of the Flower City is Binggoro, nicknamed "Binggoro of the Flower", not all the gangsters are his subordinates. About 200 people will obey his orders, and these people do not bully ordinary people. Traders receive protection money for a living.

Hyogoro himself is very friendly to the people, and he also has a good reputation in Wano Kingdom. These little gangsters do not have the opportunity to join Hinggoro directly, and Wano Kingdom is also very strict in this regard.

As for the laws of Wano Kingdom, they are just playing small troubles, they are locked up for three or four days at most, but they will get worse after they come out, so most people choose to break the wealth and avoid disasters. After the big snake came to power, this kind of thing changed more frequently.

The last cleaning of Hundred Beasts not only replenished the workers of the mine, but also gave these civilians in Wano a preliminary understanding of Hundred Beasts. As for those gangsters who were reformed through labor, they were currently living in the Rabbit Bowl mining farm. living a fulfilling life.

Recently, the work system there has been improved, because some pirates who were captured after their defeat in the outside world were also sent here.

Those defeated prisoners are still different from these gangsters. Those prisoners of war are the lowest level of existence, and their jobs are indefinite, and these gangsters have at least one sentence in prison, and they have a meager living security deposit in their accounts.

If you don't work, you won't even be able to eat. On the other hand, working hard can not only improve living conditions, but also reduce your sentence.

After that, no one was sent to the mine for a while, but today there are new people there, and it is these few provocative gangsters.

Black Charcoal Orochi not only collects money and does nothing, but also didn't even tell the businessman the reason. He did it on purpose, hoping to stimulate the conflict between the Beast Pirates and the local residents. Only in this way can they achieve their goal.

In the face of this situation, the people of the beasts naturally sent these people into the mine very rudely, but not all of them. One person ran out of the chaos and ran to Jiuli.

Hyogoro is not his boss, but he has his own boss. Now Kozuki Oden's retainer, Kinemon was his boss before.

Although Kinemon was born in Kuri, he was a gangster in the capital of flowers when he was young, and he was also a famous gangster. Naturally, he also had a group of subordinates, but as he joined Kozuki Oden, these subordinates had less contact with him. .

After all, he is already a samurai, and he can't continue to live as before. In the past, those people would not come to him if there was nothing, but this time is different.

Although the Hundred Beasts Pirates took away those gangsters in the name of reform through labor, and they were really trying to reform through labor, the connection between the Rabbit Bowl mining farm and the outside world was cut off, and those who were caught would also be lost to the outside world. contact.

And rumors are the most terrifying thing. Some words will be changed when they are passed on. In the rumors, the Rabbit Bowl mining farm has become a very scary place.

This made him overwhelmed when he saw other people being taken away, so he had to come to Kinemon for help.

"Brother Kinemon! It's not good, Azhu and the others were captured by the beasts!"

"What did you say?! What the * is going on!"

"It's like this, we're picking up a little business as before."

"Didn't I tell you not to do that again?" He used to be a gangster, so he naturally knew what their business was.

"We won't do anything else, no, big brother, listen to me." He said everything that happened before, and also said the folk rumors again, the implication was to let Jinweimen think of a way. Take a few of them out.

In fact, he can ignore it, but after all, these people used to be his little brothers, and they always thought that the Beast Pirates had bad intentions, so he decided to think of a way.

He didn't tell anyone about this because he thought it was his own private matter.

After thinking about it, he came up with a very unique idea. He found a leaf and put it on top of his head. Then, with a puff of smoke, his costume changed into the costume of the Beast Pirates, and his face was still there. More sunglasses and fake beard.

He planned to pretend to be a member of the Beast Pirates to fish out his former little brother.

Before came to Wano Country, the Beast Pirates had their own uniform costumes. Except for the cadres, the costumes of ordinary members had a certain degree of similarity.

And Kinemon's ability to do this is due to his own fruit ability, superhuman type and clothing fruit, which can freely change clothes according to his own imagination.

His idea is very good. The Hundred Beast Pirates have thousands of people in Wano. It is impossible for everyone to know each other. This gives him a chance to fish in troubled waters. However, his ideals are beautiful, but the reality is cruel. NOvelus b.COM

Chapter 158 Exposed Kinemon

Kinemon did not act directly, but observed the situation near the Rabbit Bowl Mining Field. The members of the Hundred Beast Pirates often come and go here, and there seems to be no regularity.

Occasionally, people inside will be taken away, and people will be sent in.

This is a kind of alternation of work. Prisoners who perform well will be rotated to work in the factory. The work there is much easier than the mine, and there is no sun exposure. Similarly, some people who make mistakes in the factory will also be punished. Here, but these Kinemon are not clear.

At the same time, he also discovered that there were no Black Charcoal Orochi staff at all, and all the people who came in and out were members of the Beast Pirates, and this was also one of the few places where Kaido was completely caught in his hands.

The ore vein of Hailoushi is very important. He doesn't plan to let Orochi manage this place, and Orochi knows that he can't intervene here without Kaido, so he acquiesced to this matter.

This is the information that Kinemon had collected, and then he changed himself into a stone-like camouflage uniform and sneaked into the vicinity of the mining field to eavesdrop on the information, mainly the name of the guard.

It is not too difficult for him to do this kind of thing. He still has some strength. Although the members brought here by the beasts are the elite among the pirates, they are only stronger soldiers, compared to Jinwei. There are still some gaps in the door.

He used to be a famous gangster in Wano country. If he wants to be a gangster in Wano country, he must have some strength. If he can't conquer others, he can't receive his younger brother, and he can't gain the respect of others.

If it wasn't for his strength and the identity of the Kozuki family, Kozuki Oden would have died many times because of his actions.

Kinemon, as a famous gangster in the past few years, has been learning non-stop in recent years, and his strength is still much stronger than that of ordinary members. After he confirmed some information, he started his own plan.

changed into the costume of the Beast Pirates again, and dealt with some details, and then walked over carelessly.

"Yo, Reddy, you're still on duty."

"Yeah. Who are you?"

"Huh? I'm Nate. We were drinking together at the banquet the day before yesterday, so you forgot?"

Just as he guessed, the biggest difference between a large pirate group and a small pirate group is the number of people inside. It is impossible for the people inside to recognize everyone. Only those iconic cadres will be recognized by everyone.

He pretended to be very familiar with the other party, and accurately said the name and some things, which were all information gathered from the intelligence he had just heard.

He is very good at things like swaggering and deceiving. NOvelusb.COM

In this case, Reddy really thought that he remembered the wrong person, and it would be embarrassing to say that he didn't know the other person at this time, so he agreed.

"Yeah, last time I said I'll drink it next time." This kind of person should be an acquaintance, but he is not very familiar with himself, so in his opinion, he should have met by chance when he was drinking last time, and the banquet was a carnival. Sometimes, it's normal to meet a drinking buddy.

"Well, I went first."

"go Go."

He didn't censor anything, and he was a little lax in this regard. After all, few ordinary people would approach the Rabbit Bowl mining farm, and he didn't expect that someone would be so daring to come here with the idea of robbery.

After entering the mine, all he saw were the sweating prisoners and the foreman supervising them, and after a while of searching, he also saw his former little brothers.

Just in time, someone was leaving here with two people.

"I want to take them to investigate the information. This is the order of Lord Babanuki." A member of Hundred Beasts came to the mine and pointed to the two prisoners and took out a slip of paper.

After seeing it, the supervisor opened the prisoner's handcuffs without much checking, and this also let Kinemon know who the manager here is.

He has successfully infiltrated here, and the people inside naturally won't interrogate people without handcuffs and wearing uniforms. He casually asked a single person: "Have you seen Lord Babanuki? I just didn't find him. ."

"Ah? Isn't Lord Babanuki upstairs?"

"Maybe I just missed it, I'll take a look."

The chief guard here was handed over to Babanuki, and the diving port was handed over to others, and the so-called upstairs was the resting room for the overseers, and they would definitely not live with those prisoners.

"Master Babanuki, I was ordered to take the newly arrived prisoners to interrogate some things."

"Again? Why do you want people to be so diligent recently?" Originally, Babanuki was just a casual comment, but Kinemon's next sentence made him directly reveal his identity.

"I don't know, it's just a request from Big Brother Kai." As soon as these words came out, Baba Nuki's hands stopped, and then he raised his fist and hit Kinemon.

The table in front of him was directly overturned by him, and the document originally placed on the table flew into the air, and the paper flew around with his fist, but he failed to hit Kinemon. Jumping sideways, Baba Nuki's fist hit the ground directly.

The shards of the wooden floor were flying around, and Kinemon didn't seem to realize that he had been exposed, thinking that he had inadvertently committed his taboo.

"Sir Babanuki, what are you doing! Did the little one do something wrong?"

"Stop pretending to be a bastard, and you dare to pretend to be a member of the beasts, you are not small."

The reason why Kinemon was exposed is very simple. He said it was Kaido's request, because Arceus doesn't make many appearances on weekdays. People in Wano only know about Kaido's existence, and they don't know Arceus's status in the Beast Pirates. .

Everyone in the Hundred Beasts Pirates knows that Kaido left Wano Country a few days ago and has not returned, and even if Kaido hadn't left, he was not in charge of the mining farm, but Arceus.

It is Kaido's request to be able to say this, and it can only be a fake.

Kinemon never imagined that the internal management of the Beast Pirates was such a special situation.

But even if he didn't say this, he would be exposed after a while if he couldn't come up with the procedures to bring people. Although it was easy to get in here, it was not so easy to take people away.

Seeing that it was exposed, Kinemon also released his disguise, and his sword was always on his body, but it was not exposed because of the disguise of the fruit.

Seeing Kinemon showing his true face, Baba Nuki was also surprisingly angry. The Hundred Beast Pirates had been smooth sailing since they came to Wano Country, but now they were tricked into the face by others, so his body began to swell, gradually Transformed into a giant ape.

is not the primitive fruit, but the transformed form obtained like Mandefish - the King of Leave.

Chapter 159 "Cut the gun" of the king of leave, Kinemon who was hit hardnOvelusb.cOm

Since Mandefish, Babanuki has also successfully obtained a new reward with a single hand of magic. Although he failed to obtain the ability to breathe underwater like Mandefish, he was stronger than the other in terms of the types he obtained. Not a lot.

Compared with his own weak ability, he can only build a foundation. The rest of the carp king, which relies on training, has an extremely good attack power and physical strength. Coupled with Babanuki's strange power technique, he can dismantle that terrifying giant. power to the extreme.

The white mane appeared around Babanuki's neck, and the already tall figure was raised a lot again, and then he punched Kinemon again.

Although failed to hit him head-on, the aftermath of the hit on the ground also knocked him out.

This temporary house was knocked down with a punch, and the foreman in the mine immediately reacted when they saw this.

"Everyone, if you don't want to die, go back to your cell immediately!" They fired a few shots into the sky with their guns, and the captured gangsters returned to their cells under threat.

And some other people have also rushed towards Baba Nuki's room, just saw Kinemon who was knocked out.

Because of the aftermath, Kinemon's body was not affected in any way, and his physique was not bad. In the future, he will be a man who can take Kaido's blow and stand up.

At that time, he was the one who was sent to the future by the Fruit of Time. That is to say, he did not undergo much training in those 20 years. It can be said that this is a kind of talent.

"Master Babanuki!"

"It's the intruder, don't let him run away!"

Baba Nuki came out of the smoke, the ability of the king of leave is very powerful, but there is only one drawback, that is the laziness of the king of leave.

The King of Leave will enter a resting stage after the attack. It is not simply taking a rest, but accumulating strength. This is the biggest drawback of the King of Leave, and there is a certain gap in the attack.

After training, this gap period will become shorter and shorter, but now Babanuki has no ability to overcome this gap period, but he has found another way and found another way.

Although he will be affected in beast form and human-beast form, but not in human form, so he developed this unique mode, which Arceus called "cut gun mode".

As we all know, in fps games, the reload speed of the heavy sniper is extremely slow. In order to reduce this neutral position, people will use the main and secondary weapon switching to shorten this time.

And Babanuki is through the state switch, using the human form to go through that period of rigidity.

Although he would be much weaker without his abilities, Kinemon has not yet reached his peak, and at this time there are still two years before Kozuki Oden returns to his country.

Baba Nuki, who has obtained the ability to ask for leave, has greatly strengthened his strength, and it is not a problem to deal with Kinemon during this time period.

Although he will be weaker when he returns to human form, but this is the Rabbit Bowl mining farm, and now it is the territory of the beasts. Kinemon is not facing a Babanuki, but a group of people.

"Catch the live one and see what he wants to do."

As the Hundred Beast Pirates came to Wano Country, the first opponent to take the initiative to provoke them, so they didn't use firearms, but rushed up with weapons. Fool.

And I don't know why, Kinemon felt that these pirates who rushed up were a little crazy. He didn't understand the system of the Beast Pirates. Strength determines status, and merit is rewarded.

If you want to get more, you have to work harder.

The rules that Arceus and Asie made together are very restrictive for pirates, but no one refuses, because it is the absolute crush of status and strength. If you want to join the beasts, you must follow this rule.

Because the beasts not only have rules, but also rewards.

And those rewards are what all pirates are excited about. As the first person to cause trouble, Kinemon is a lottery ticket in their eyes.

"Damn, Foxfire! Draw the sword!" Looking at the person who rushed up, Kinemon didn't give up his resistance. He was called Foxfire Kinemon because of this swordsmanship.

The two knives were drawn, and flames ignited on the blade. Kinemon parried the first attack, and then slashed another person with the knife, but this did not stop the next pirates, but it was the ability to use flames. The people of the Beast Pirates have long been accustomed to this.

Even if he cut down the first few people who rushed up, the people behind them still attacked him one after another.

He wanted to break out of the siege, but the guards of the Rabbit Bowl quarry didn't intend to give him this chance. The gate had already been closed, and Babanuki's "gun cutting state" had ended. He once again transformed into the human-beast attitude of the king of leave. .

"Get out of the way!"

The ground was full of cracks under the violent rise, and Baba Nuki's figure burst out. Although the king of leave looked lazy, when he acted, the burst of power was extremely amazing.

Hearing Baba Nuki's shout, the surrounding people dispersed one after another. The members of the Beast Pirates are basically allocated according to small cadres like Baba Nuki. They are responsible for leading ordinary pirates, and the sea pirates under them are basically assigned. Thieves rarely make substitutions.

Because he is not familiar with his boss's fighting style, he is likely to cause chaos in the battle. Seeing Babanuki rushing towards him, Kinemon also slashed at him with a knife.

Unexpectedly, Baba Nuki neither dodged nor used domineering. Instead, he slammed the next two knives he swung, and then hugged Kinemon.

"Caught you, bastard." Then a strange wave lit up on Babanuki.

followed by a scream, and two deeper stab wounds appeared on Kinemon's body.

Double return, double return of physical damage.

There are two sources of skills for Pokémon capable users. One is given by Arceus. In this respect, he is an all-purpose move machine. He can master the skills of the existing slate attribute and give them to the right person.

The other is to self-improve with the exercise of the ability person, so as to understand new skills, which can be regarded as an alternative fruit development, and the double return is the skill that Babanuki has realized by himself.

And it's not over yet, before he entered a state of laziness, Babanuki, who was holding Kinemon in his arms, launched a strange force technique, and a crisp sound followed, which was the sound of bones breaking.

The arm bones, ribs, and even the vertebrae were all damaged, and Kinemon fainted directly from this blow.

"Master Babanuki, didn't you say you were caught alive?"

"Isn't he not dead? Send it to Brother Jhin, and say we have caught a rebel, and let Brother Jhin do the torture." After speaking, Baba Nuki took the food that his subordinates handed him. Bandages, skillfully wrapped around himself a few times.

It seems that this is not the first time he has done such a thing.

Chapter 160 The Betrayer

Babanuki, who ended the battle, looked a little lazy. This is also the influence of the ability of the king of leave. Although he is strong, his strength will be limited due to laziness in the continuous battle, which is why he serves as a guard.

His ability is more suitable for fighting in his own field. Although the ability has side effects, it cannot cover up the power of the ability. Besides, it is a very reasonable thing that the ability of the wardens has some side effects.

Although he gave the order to send people to Onishima, he did not do anything. The defeated pirate captives continued to be sent to work, while the local gangsters in Wano country were concentrated.

"Everyone, we are all acquaintances. After getting along for so long, I believe that none of you are dissatisfied, right?"

Babanuki's words made these people a little angry, but no one refuted them. They are all bastards, bullying the soft and fearing the hard is their essence. The so-called chivalrous and righteous, one or two of the * in the entire Wano country can also be found.

Most of the gangsters use this as a reason to cover up the fact that they are bullying the weak and afraid of the hard, and they harm the village.

The strength of the guards at the Rabbit Bowl Mining Field is overwhelming compared to these gangsters, and any act of resistance will only cause him to suffer.

On the contrary, honestly, re-education through labor can change a place for work, or be released, although very few, but there are indeed two model workers who have regained their freedom.

And their hard work made them understand the value of freedom. After returning home, they became a lot more honest. The neighbors felt incredible about this, and the Rabbit Bowl mining farm became a new reason for adults to scare children.

Seeing that no one stood up to pick on the thorns, Baba Nuki showed a satisfied smile.

"Today, an intruder appeared here, and I don't believe he broke in here for no reason." No one would come to this place for an outing, and he just said that he was going to bring a few new ones out, so the result was already very Obvious.

"Among your new arrivals, someone has a relationship with him. Whoever can report this matter can get three days of vacation and meat. There is only one place."

As he said that, he made a gesture to his opponent, and Kinemon, who was tied to the wooden cart with chains, was dragged around the field for a week, so that everyone could see his face clearly.

Although Babanuki is confident that he has hit him hard, it can be seen from his death that his vitality is very tenacious. In order to prevent him from waking up halfway, Babanuki ordered other pirates to use the chains made of sea tower stones. Its locked up.

Hailou stone is very rare in the outside world, but in Wano country, Hailou stone is a very common material, but the forging process is difficult.

And Baba Nuki believes that Kinemon is an ability person. Whether it is the smoke that appeared on his body when he changed his clothes before, or his ability to set fire on the knife, Baba Nuki felt that something was wrong.

Lock him up just in case. Although Jin is an expert in torture, he has to understand the basic information before sending him away.

"His name is Kinemon, yes"

"His name is Kinemon, known as Foxfire Kinemon, and now he is a retainer of Kozuki Oden! His wife's name is Ahe, she lives in Jiuliboluo Town, and she runs a teahouse on weekdays!"

One of them had just recognized Kinemon, but before he could finish speaking, someone next to him preemptively said it.

"Hey! Aren't you his former little brother!"

"So what, that's all in the past." He also betrayed Kinemon, but his former younger brother was faster than anyone else, and he said more things based on his familiarity with Kinemon.

Because he had had enough of being caught here, he couldn't escape, and of course he didn't want to give up any chance to leave here.

"Very good, very good, reward him, put this person in the most tired position."

Looking at a few quarrelling gangsters, Baba Nuki ordered that the reward be given to the gangster who spoke first, and then replaced the younger brother who betrayed Kinemon to the hardest position.

"Why? You don't say"

And all he got was a whip from the guard.

"I'll reiterate one more point, the first person to speak can get the reward, the answer is invalid, and the most important point of this rabbit bowl mining farm, here, I am the boss! He came to save you, you betrayed big brother The scum should be here to die."

Then these people continued to work under his order, and Kinemon was sent to Onishima along with his identity information.

"Brother Jhin, that's it. He infiltrated the Rabbit Bowl mining farm and was caught by the head guard Babanuki. This is his personal information."nOvelusb.cOm

"Understood, send him inside and let Naiqin take care of it first." After touching Kinemon a few times, Jin gave new instructions after confirming his injury.

Naiqin has shown her worth over the years. Apart from not officially joining the Beasts Pirates, she is no different from the members of the Beasts, but she is very determined in this regard, and has been working hard to save money to wait for Walder's Comeback.

Kin'emon's state obviously couldn't stand the torture, so he asked Naiqin to deal with him. Naiqin and Quinn can be said to represent the two routes of traditional Chinese medicine and Western medicine in the current Hundred Beast Pirates, and their respective fields There are no small achievements.

Naiqin just didn't have the right to command the members of the battle of the beasts and know the core plan. Like the information on Kinemon, she didn't need to avoid her. She simply used some drugs to hang his life, and then glanced at the information sent over. .

"Isn't everything that should be investigated already found out? What else do you need to torture?"

"Sometimes torture isn't about getting results, I just need the process." Jhin moved his hands, and then took out various strange-shaped objects, but Naiqin could see their effects with just a glance.

It can cause great pain without destroying the human body. In this regard, Jin is probably more comprehensive than a doctor like her.

"Did you drink the herbs I prescribed for you earlier? You really need conditioning, I don't know how you persisted, but ordinary people like you should have gone crazy long ago."

"Ordinary people should have died a long time ago. You don't have to worry about it. As long as those guys are still alive and well, I'll be fine. But your medicine does have some effect."

Before left, Jin began to admit this matter. Naiqin is good at herbal medicine, and it is not so fast for many things, but she is very good at nursing.

She believed that both Jin and Shaina had certain heart problems, and it would be impossible if they were not controlled and allowed to develop, so they were both prescribed drugs for conditioning.

Of course, this method can cure the symptoms but not the root cause, and it is not much different from their usual venting therapy. Only they can cure themselves, and the special medicine for this disease lives on the red soil continent.