

ARCEUS' PIRATE JOURNEY

Chapter 18: turbulent South China Sea

Chapter 18 The Turbulent South China Sea

"Hey, have you heard? The naval base on Khakila Island was actually captured by pirates."

"Oh, I heard, I'm going to go out to avoid the limelight. It's too close to Khakira Island, and I'm worried about an accident."

On the island near Khakira Island, the residents of the town are discussing this matter. In the four seas, this is already a big news. The naval base was actually captured by pirates. This is something that everyone did not expect.

"Where do you want to go? The naval bases have been captured. Now we are on land anyway. If you encounter those pirates at sea, you have nowhere to run."

"But in case they come to loot here. I want to go to the Kingdom of Federer, which is a member of the World Government, so it should be safer."

This kind of incident in the originally peaceful four seas made people panic, and other naval branches in the South China Sea did not choose to support, but chose to shrink their defenses.

The navy branch of Khaqila Island is the strongest branch in the South China Sea. Just like Smog was stationed in Rogge Town, the guard here is also the colonel of the headquarters, and the navy under its jurisdiction is also an elite branch. Such a branch has been defeated, and the rest The branch can't help at all.

And most of the bases on Khakira Island are in good condition. It is unrealistic to rely on the strength of the South China Sea navy to complete revenge.

This is also the reason why that person wanted to hide in the Kingdom of Federer. As a member of the World Government, their country also has a large number of navies stationed in their country, and their own kingdom army is not weak, and the domestic environment is not bad.

"It takes at least three days to sail from here to the Kingdom of Federer, and the boats like that have either run away long ago or dare not go out to sea. Do you want to row a fishing boat? Let me hide in the mountains.

Those pirates are just for money, they will never go to the deep mountains and old forests. "

Shire Island, which is some distance from Khaqila Island, and on the sea here, three ships launched an artillery battle, two belonged to pirates and one belonged to the navy.

Whether it is the tonnage or firepower of the ship, the Navy's ships are at an advantage.

Although the latest order in the South China Sea is that the navies near Khaqila Island are not allowed to attack at will, and shrink their defenses to wait for reinforcements from the headquarters, but not all navies can tolerate this order.

There are fallen vampires in the navy. As the navy, they do the same things as pirates, but there are also people who truly follow the justice in their hearts and fight to protect the safety of the people.

Although there are orders, some branches are still carrying out activities against pirates.

"Major! Not enough ammunition! The previous supplies are all stranded on Khakila Island, we have no more shells!"

"Let's go over and prepare for the battle! Where did these * pirates come from? We can't back down. If we back down, what should the residents of the nearby islands do? Get ready, go!"

"Yes!"

In the end, one of the two ships escaped, the other was captured, and all the remaining pirates on board were captured.

"Major, Colonel's call, let us return to the base immediately, there are other pirate groups near the base, and the base is full of manpower."

Recently, the number of pirates in the South China Sea has entered a period of soaring. Some people who were hesitant before have joined the ranks of pirates in this situation. When the desire in their hearts is aroused, the fall of man is only a moment.

These surges of pirates and the orders of the headquarters have led to a shortage of navy personnel, and the navy branch that is still performing tasks has become stretched.

For the pirate ship that escaped, they did not continue to pursue it, because that direction was Khakila Island, the major was straight, but not stupid, the number of pirates gathered there was not a medium-sized warship like him that ran out of shells Can deal with.

And the order of the headquarters is to let those pirates go and wait for the reinforcements from the headquarters to arrive and destroy them in one fell swoop.

At the same time as those pirates were rampant, a huge encircling net was also laid down by the navy.

However, the pirates do not know the actions of the navy. These pirates living in the four seas do not know how terrible the monsters on the great route are. Their actions have touched the bottom line of the navy, and even the world government feels shame. Matte.

So in terms of transfer, the annihilation force led by the Admiral is already on its way.

It's just that the Admiral usually carries out missions in more important places, so it will take a while to get here.

And those pirates were still immersed in their own carnival at this time, and more and more pirates began to gather on Khakila Island.

"Captain, are we really going to Khakira Island? We'll just be cannon fodder there."

On a pirate ship, the chief mate's tone was a little hesitant. The combined reward of him and the captain was no more than three million Baileys. He didn't think he was qualified to participate in this kind of thing.

When some people are dazzled by desires, there are not only sober people in the world, but he can't change the captain's orders.

"Don't be afraid, the navies of the 277th branch have all been defeated, that is the legendary pirate from the great route, Captain John with a bounty of 2.1 billion Bailey!

How can we let go of this opportunity, as long as we catch this line, we can also go to the great route. "

The bounty issued by the navy to hunt down pirates was instead used as a capital for the pirates to show off. This kind of thing is not common in the new world. People there understand that the bounty is a reference at most, and strength is the key.

But in the four seas and even in the paradise, many pirates regard the bounty as an alternative embodiment of strength.

But the bounty is formulated based on a combination of strength and harm. Some people's bounty has nothing to do with their strength, but their crimes are too serious or they know too much.

After that, he pulled the first officer to his side again, and said in a low voice, "Besides, even if it is cannon fodder, it is done by those idiots who don't even have a reward."

"Little ones! Speed up, but Captain John said he wants to share the world's biggest treasure with us! It must be a wealth that you can never spend in your lifetime."

That is, Kaido is not here, if he hears this sentence, I am afraid he will cramp with laughter.

One of the biggest jokes on the Rocks Pirates, John's willingness to share his treasure.

If it weren't for the traces on the photo that were very similar to those made by John, Kaido could conclude that John was a fake based on the sentence of sharing the treasure.

At this time, in the room of the head of the original base of the 277th branch of the Navy, a man in a red coat with a western sword and a long sword hanging from his waist was sitting on a chair with his legs crossed.

There was a phone bug in front of him that had not closed the receiver, but the other side seemed to have hung up, and there was a strange smile on the corner of his mouth.

Thank you for the 100 points reward for your life

100 points reward for book friends 20220528003647724

(end of this chapter)