

ARCEUS' PIRATE JOURNEY

Chapter 21: It's Quinn's Wounded World Again

Chapter 21 is Quinn's injured world again

"Old friend? Then you can feel the care from an old friend!"

Kaido's entire face turned black. He was easily emotional and was always moody.

For Arceus, if he finds the wrong one, he will find it again. The slate cannot be lost, and no one can destroy them. Although he finds the wrong one, his emotions will not fluctuate too much.

Kaido is different. When he was on the ship before, he dreamed that he brought an army of Eudemons to start a huge war.

In the end, he is actually a fake. If you can't find the real John, you can't find the treasure of Rox. If you can't find the treasure, there is no whereabouts of the slate. gone.

For a pirate, what could be more serious than destroying the realization of his dream, Kaido picked up his mace, and this thing has been hanging on his belt in dragon form, which can be See that the quality of his belt is quite good.

"You are John, aren't you, then you must be able to catch up this time, thunder and gossip!"

The strangest thing is that the people on the Rocks ship never touched each other. If it weren't for the absolute crushing strength of Rocks, those monsters would not be able to gather together.

And the consequence of this is that this pirate group has no cohesion at all. In the face of a big crisis, most people chose to go their separate ways, otherwise Rox would not be so easy to defeat.

Although there is not much conflict between Kaido and John, the relationship is not very good, and now this blow can be taken even by John five years ago.

wrapped the domineering mace and smashed into John's head. No matter how much John tried to dodge, the mace was always locked on his head. He had no choice but to raise his knife and swing at Kaido, trying to block the blow.

But at the moment when the western knife and the mace came into contact, an unimaginable strange force was transmitted from the blade to his wrist.

The blade was made of something unknown, and it was not broken by Kaido's attack, but he couldn't hold his sword firmly, and he let go under Kaido's tremendous strength.

"This guy can't use a knife at all."

"The posture of holding the knife is weird, and the difference between the strength of his left hand and his right hand is too big, and he doesn't look like a second-hand sword."

Quinn and Jhin commented on John by the side. They were not swordsmen. Although Quinn had two knives hanging by his side, he had more weapons in his body, and he might pull out all kinds of strange weapons when fighting.

As for Jhin, the knife is just his weapon, he has no so-called fixed moves, his knife exists only for fighting.

But in their opinion, John is a complete layman who can't use weapons.

"No, don't you guys think he's a little weird? His movements are a little stiffer than normal people's movements."

Quinn and Jhin focused on the collision of weapons, while Shaina saw the incongruity in the body structure, which felt less like a living person and more like a puppet.

And Kaido has also undergone a strange change.

After John's weapon was released, the mace hit the top of John's head, and then smashed straight to the ground, but Kaido felt something was wrong. What he hit was more like a log than a human being.

The aroused smoke and dust dissipated, and there was no blood on the ground, only fragments of unknown material, mixed with white objects like bones, and a mask that was beaten into several pieces.

"Substitute? Ability?"

Looking at the puppet that was beaten back to its original form, Kaido didn't understand what happened, but the clues that he finally found seemed to be broken.

Quinn picked up the things on the ground without hesitation after walking over and observed it.

"This piece should be the humerus. It seems to have been dried and spliced by special means, but this kind of thing can actually speak."

Kaido ignored Quinn's analysis and walked towards the base in front of him. Although the puppet in front of him disappeared, he noticed that there was a special aura in the base in front of him.

At this time, the pirates who fainted due to the influence of his overlord color actually stood up again one by one, but their eyes were still white, and they were not awake, as if they were being manipulated by something.

A large number of pirates were blocking the entrance of the base building, and there was absolutely no intention of letting Kaido in.

The radio in the base also sounded at the same time.

"Kaido! Why are you pirates in such a place?!"

"Ah? Where does I need you, a hidden guy, I'm just here to find that guy John, what is your relationship with him! Let him come out, or tell me where he is, I'm not interested in you guy ."

If he just pretended to be John, it would be impossible to leave traces of attack like John's here, and the man's clothes were exactly the same as John's, and he seemed to have some knowledge of his interpersonal relationships. These must be premeditated things.

Kaido's voice is not too loud, but he gets a response from the other party, and he seems to have a unique way.

"Hee hee hee, do you want to find John? Let's talk when you can find me. Pirates from all over the world are really a bunch of waste, or this way they can give full play to their value!"

The surrounding area was crowded with people, and they surrounded Kaido and the others like the zombies. Quinn, Jhin, Shaina, and even Arceus were surrounded by many pirates.

It's just that Arceus hadn't even started, and the pirates who were close to him were knocked out by two figures, one red and one grey. The flames and rocks formed an airtight line of defense.

"I'm not that weak yet"

"Master Holy Beast, if anyone can get close to you, it will be a real shame for us. You don't have to do anything, Jhin and I will solve them."

At this time, an untimely voice sounded from behind.

"Hey, hey, can you two say a word! You suddenly disappeared, it's very difficult for this uncle!" Quinn turned into a huge tropical dragon, and some of those pirates who are not afraid of death have already Climb onto his lap.

The sudden departure of Jin and Shaina caused Quinn to face more pirates at the same time.

Although they are all miscellaneous soldiers, but troublesome, he does not have those heavy weapons on his body, the weapons in his body have not been supplemented with ammunition, and the ability of the tropical dragon itself has not been developed, so he can only use his huge body to fight brute force. .

On the other side, the voice of the other party still came from the broadcast.

"Kaido, you're just a trainee, don't run wild there, you're already at an absolute disadvantage in terms of military strength!"

"Military strength? What's the use of this kind of waste, how can you be so naive."
