

Arceus 27

Chapter 27 My Kaido is Impervious to Water

The thing that can make him feel this way is nothing but the slate, but at this time his emotions are mixed with anger, because the breath he perceives is moving, that is, something stole his slate .

He has a range of control over the slate, and now this slate appears within his perception range, but is not yet within his control range.

"Kaido, get up and work!"

"What's wrong?"

"I can feel the breath of the slate. It's in the ocean, and that guy is wandering in the nearby waters."

Kaido, who was fully open to seeing and hearing, didn't notice any aura, and his vision didn't focus on the range. The perception range could only be said to be average. At this time, he had a new understanding of Arceus' perception.

But this did not affect his actions. He turned into a giant dragon and took Arceus straight into the sky, flying in the direction indicated by Arceus. Shaina and the others didn't even figure out what happened.

The figures of Kaido and Arceus have long since disappeared, and Quinn is still immersed in rebuilding the ship, and the power plant is about to be installed.

His demand for his younger brother is now higher than Kaido's, and he urgently needs someone with a lower status than himself to do chores.

He was unable to instruct anyone on the whole ship, and due to technical problems, he also served as a ship doctor, boatman, helmsman, scientific researcher, combatant, chores, musician, but the kitchen was taken over by Shaina.

In the beginning, Quinn was in charge of the kitchen, but he was a pure sweetheart, and a lot of rice cakes and azuki bean soup were too sweet, so he was replaced by Shaina.

While Shaina and Jhin were installing the outer wheel outside the ship, they heard the voice of Arceus and saw Kaido taking off directly.

"We are still too weak"

If Jhin's psychology is slightly distorted, so he will vent his emotions through torture, then Shaina is a little better than him, but the object of her pressure is herself.

Weakness is the original sin. This is her new understanding. As long as she is strong enough, she will not have to run away, but will be able to pull down all the guys sitting on the throne.

But now I am too weak, too weak to help Arceus more, I can only watch them do it by themselves.
nOveLuSb.com

"It will become stronger. We have time and the Lord of the Holy Beast to rely on. Back then, the Lord of the Holy Beast could bring strength to the clansmen before they hatched, let alone today."

"That's because of Lord Holy Beast's slate. Speaking of which, where is the slate we lost back then?"

"The slate was long lost when we were born, but if I remember correctly, Brother Avanisha said that the slate was not lost, it was just hidden on an island, but all the insiders died. I only know it seems to be An island with a lot of gold."

"Yeah, but Brother Avanisha also heard from grandpa that there is a lot of gold in the island, the scope is too large."

Because of the world government, they have no fixed place to live. Back then, the Lunaria people's escape route was all over the world and the great shipping routes. No place was safe, and transfer was the most common thing.

The most peculiar aspect of the Great Route is the changeable climate and island culture. The previous island may be a future island with advanced technology, and the next island may be an ancient island full of dinosaurs.

The changes in spring, summer, autumn and winter are not at all regular at all, and there is a lot of gold. What is this much relative to? It is also a question.

"Modify the ship first, finding that John is the most important thing."

"Um."

The two men lifted the huge outer wheel and began to reinforce the outer hull.

At this time, Kaido was also flying around in the windless sea area under the guidance of Arceus.

"East.. about two kilometers, no, that guy turned, now south. bastard, go north again, don't let me catch this * thief."

The target he was chasing has been running around aimlessly, and the speed is not slow, Kaido chased after a long time before catching up, but the target still did not stop, after a while of chasing the thing stopped, Arceus And Kaido also came right above that thing.

The sky was completely dark, and the sea in the windless zone was even darker. When Kaido lowered his height, the sea was still extremely empty.

"You can't perceive it wrong, can you?"

"Impossible, right down here, just under water"

"Underwater. This is the windless zone, and below it can only be the lair of the windless zone. The things you are looking for will not be eaten by the sea kings, right?"

This unique product of the sea, the sea kings, the super-giant monsters under the sea, is a common size of several tens of meters, and the super-large sea kings of thousands of meters also exist.

One of the three ancient weapons, the sea king Poseidon, has the ability to control these super-large sea kings, although for the strong, the sea kings are not difficult to deal with, and their huge bodies are just a target.

But for ordinary people and fleets, these Aquamans can be devastating.

Super-large sea kings can even eat directly on islands, devouring an entire island directly.

And those people are not afraid of the sea kings. The premise is that the sea kings float to the sea by themselves. No one dares to be the enemy of the super-large sea kings in the deep sea. The ships they are proud of are just a toy in the eyes of the giant beasts. .

Not everyone has the courage of Jack, and they dare to go up in the face of the huge size difference of the master.

In five years, with the blessing of Eudemons Fruit, Kaido has become much stronger than being a trainee on the Rox ship, but he still has a clear understanding of himself.

Although his vitality is extremely tenacious, the sea is his restricted area. As a capable person, if he sinks to the bottom, he still has no choice. If the sea kings have been hiding in the lair, he has no choice.

"It doesn't matter, this thing has entered my control range, let's land from there first."

There is no wind in the windless belt, not without islands. Some islands in the windless belt are still rich in resources, but the danger of entering and leaving is extremely high.

And the way is always more difficult than the difficulty. Nine Snake Island can enter and exit the windless zone by relying on the highly poisonous snakes.

But the island where Kaido landed now has no one to survive, just an ordinary deserted island.

entered his control range, and Arceus began to call for his slate to return to its place.

The depth of the sea is not uniform, and the seabed is inherently uneven. There are fish-man islands located in the 10,000-meter-deep sea, and there are sea areas where the bottom of the sea will reach the bottom at a thousand meters. At this time, about three kilometers below, the sea water begins to become turbid. , something is floating up.

In the dark deep sea, a dazzling golden light also lit up.