

ARCEUS' PIRATE JOURNEY

Chapter 3: Kaido

Chapter 3 Kaido

"It's too slow Abel, there are more and more pesky bugs out there."

The crumbling door slammed to the ground, and Kaido walked in. This is a research institute affiliated with the World Government, but Kaido's presence here is a very normal thing.

He was arrested not once or twice. When he was in the Vodka Kingdom, he became the strongest soldier in the Vodka Kingdom when he was only ten years old.

As a member country of the World Government, the Woka Kingdom has to pay the heavenly gold every year, but due to the national conditions, the Woka Kingdom's own economic level is not enough to pay this fee.

The Kingdom of Vorka can only obtain the Heavenly Gold handed over to the Dragons by launching wars against non-joined countries.

Kaido was originally a member of the Royal Army, but that year, in order to obtain the right to participate in the World Conference, the king wanted to hand over the talented Kaido to the navy and let him participate in the navy's world conscription.

Because Kaido refused, he even forcibly captured Kaido and handed it over to the Navy.

Kaido refused to be the king's political tool and started his pirate career by destroying the warship that day.

From then on, he was arrested whenever he was hungry, and the prison ship was used as his cafeteria.

After he joined Rox's command, and he started to be arrested again when Rox had become a thing of the past.

This time, he was sent to this research institute on the red soil continent to study durability experiments and bloodline factors.

For him, not only are arrests common, jailbreaks are also common, and this time he plans to recruit new partners.

Abel was the one he took a fancy to. He saw what happened to Abel before and became interested in the talents of the Lunalia family.

So he let go of Abel, but Abel said he wanted to take the others out of here, Kaido tacitly agreed to this, and he also wanted to see how strong Abel could be.

And he is the receptionist in Abel's mouth.

Now it seems that not only Abel's strength is not bad, but the harvest is more than that.

Kaido seems to be a reckless man, but he has a lot of careful thinking. He originally planned to come out at a critical moment to make a wave of presence.

Judging from Abel's strength, it is impossible to kill him alone.

He has been observing here, the girl is not weak, of course, the most important thing is the newly hatched Arceus, the beam of light that contains the aura of destruction makes him more interested.

"Hey, Arceus, right? Do you want to join my command? Don't you want to get your power back? You join my pirate group, and I will help you find your lost power in the future."

I have heard their conversation earlier, Abel and Shaina are rare fighting forces, and they have grown enough to become a person's right-hand man.

was no problem, after all, he helped them escape from here, but the appearance of Arceus meant some new changes.

Judging from the situation of the Lunaria clan, I am afraid they will obey this holy beast. If they can be brought under their command, it will not only increase a stronger combat power, but also further bind Abel. and Shaina.

He likes capable people, no matter who this person is, who he has served for, or what his race is, as long as the ability makes him appreciate and is willing to join him, he will not refuse, and he has sufficient patience.

Arceus's combat power and the magical means of replenishing his stamina aroused his interest.

From Kaido's point of view, the opponent was just born, and it would be great to be able to subdue him at this time.

But the development of things was different from what he thought.

"Pirates? What's your name?" Looking at the tall man with horns, Arceus remembered something, and his face gradually overlapped with pictures on some forums.

But there are some differences between the two-dimensional and the three-dimensional. When he really came here, he still needs to make sure.

"Kaido, Abel has agreed to join me earlier, they are from the Lunaria tribe, and they are wanted existences, especially after leaving here.

This world is very big, and it is not enough to rely on only one or two people to find things. "

"Master Holy Beast, Big Brother Kai saved me, so I..."

"It doesn't matter, it's normal to repay others' kindness, and others have no right to interfere in your life."

Arceus is more concerned about another issue, the name Kaido, intends to establish a pirate group, plus some information obtained from the Lunaria population in the past, he finally determined where this is, the world of One Piece.

But in the later stage, he only occasionally took a look at the plot from the forum posts or the push of big data. Although he knew about Kaido, the future four emperors, he did not know the details.

Arceus didn't know the more detailed information of the three plagues, so he didn't know that Abel was the fire disaster-Jin, the first of the three plagues in the future.

In this case, the identities of those who captured the Lunaria clan were self-evident.

And the weird interference magnetic field has an explanation. He doesn't know where the remaining slates have flown. The four seas, the great waterway, the red earth continent, the scope is too large, and finding the slate does require more manpower.

If he finds it all by himself, I don't know how long it will take to find him. He can't fly for the time being. Due to the loss of the slate, several flying slates such as flying, super power, and ghost are not on him, and he has not yet fully matured. During this period, the main body cannot fly.

I'm not sure about the perception range of the slate, so instead of running around the world like a headless fly, it's better to send someone to search for some information.

Objectively, the world government is the best tool person, but it is impossible for him to have contact with it. That is the influence of the fusion of personalities. He is still him, but it is contaminated with some original Arceus preferences.

Betrayal and deceit are unforgivable, and those who covet slate are unforgivable, let alone treat him as a research object.

The potential of the future Four Emperors is really good. As for the navy or the pirates, it doesn't matter to him today, he just wants to find his slate.

But for this reason, let him join someone else's command, he can't do it.

His own personality is actually not so arrogant. Society is a whetstone. The internship has made him gradually smoother. Without enough background, the spikes on his body cannot be left.

Now that the Beast Pirates have just established, joining is a veteran. From the analysis of many gods' perspectives, Kaido has always been good for capable subordinates.

As long as there are no major accidents, he is destined to become the emperor of the sea in the future, which is one of the biggest forces.

But Arceus is different, the Pokemon who created everything, the creator **** is his identity.

Today, he has inherited the pride in Arceus' bones, which makes him feel like he has returned to his hot-blooded youth again.

His purpose is to collect slate, but focusing on the results does not mean not the process.

"I won't join anyone, but for the sake of saving Abel, I can make a deal with you, a deal you can't refuse."
