

Arceus 451

Chapter 451 One is stingy, the other has no money

Under the water released by the local defenders, Mary Joa's slaves managed to escape from here with a small casualty. The evacuation of all members was an ideal result, even if the dragon people asked to try to capture these fugitive slaves alive, in the battle There will still be death.

Slaves are not just vases for the Tianlong people to entertain, there are also some war slaves in the arena, and most of the slaves who are killed and injured also come from this part.

"Cough cough. This guy is really ruthless."

In the ruins, the major general stationed here climbed up, Tiger suddenly gave him a punch before retreating, and he was able to conquer Murloc Street, making the man Jinbe willingly called the boss who was not weak among the Murlocs.

During this time period, Tiger was the strongest among the murlocs in the sea, and the murloc's innate strength attribute was ten times that of humans. That punch made the major general understand that even if he really did it, he was not the opponent's. opponent.

At this time, he felt some blood surging in his body, which was the effect of murloc karate.

Murloc Karate can not only use water as a means of attack, but also attack the water in the enemy's body, causing the attack to cause more damage.

Murlocs who are proficient in murloc karate can even inflict damage to natural ability users just by swinging their fists without being domineering.

"Major General, those guys have escaped."

"What are you doing when you run away? Go and chase."

He didn't remember this punch, he probably wouldn't be able to explain it without this.

"Major General, the other ships were pierced by the murlocs."

The most common tactics used by murlocs on the sea. Their priority target is generally not people, but ships. They have lost their foothold, and even the incompetent will not be able to please them on the sea.

"Then there's no other way, wait for the headquarters to help, where are the medics? Hurry up and find me!"

said that he started to pat his chest, and even coughed up blood, but his cronies always thought that he made it by himself.

The explosion of the arsenal made them feel ashamed, but no one felt that there was any problem. After dawn, they did not question the fault of the defenders, but Kong still replaced the defenders here, and the original people stayed in the headquarters for the time being. back end job.

Fisher Tiger's reward order also spread across the sea with the waving of the news bird's wings, and even some people with special status appeared in the Dragon Palace Kingdom after a long time, messengers from the world government.

The journey from Mariejoa to the Chambord Islands was very fast. He came with an urgent order from the World Government. At this time, they finally remembered the fact that the Dragon Palace Kingdom is still a member of the World Government.

And they came here for a very simple purpose, asking the Dragon Palace Kingdom to hand over Fisher Tiger.

Neptune did not refuse this, saying that as long as he caught Tiger, he would hand it over to them, but whether to send someone to catch him or not is another matter. noVeluSb.com

Tiger discussed a lot of things with Neptune and Otohime before the action, and they were the only ones who knew what Tiger had gone through, and Tiger had said before the action, no matter whether it was successful or not, he would not do it again in the near future. Return to Fishman Island.

The identity of the allied countries is still very important to Fishman Island, and their situation will only get worse without this identity.

At the same time, the fish people who learned about Tiger got excited.

Fishman Street used to be a large orphanage, but somehow it became what it is now.

There are a large number of unemployed people living on Fishman Island, and Tiger is very famous among them. Now they all plan to go to Tiger. For example, Aaron has begun to gather his younger brothers.

Even the murlocs who had followed Mandelfish had the same idea, and they were saying goodbye to Mandelfish at this time.

"Brother Mandelfish, we"

"Go, let's go, it's not like we'll never see you again. If you really can't do it, just report Lao Tzu's name. This name is still somewhat useful in the sea."

In fact, it is not useful, but quite useful. Because of the name "Kaido II" and his similar abilities, some people in the sea really regard him as Kaido's son, and even some places say that he is Kaido. More successors.

"I knew you were going. This is a parting gift for you."

said that Mandelfish threw a box over, which was the arms sample that Kojiro had brought over. Because the Ryugu Kingdom refused to purchase in this regard, that batch of goods has been hoarding here, and now it happens to be useful.

Although it is only a sample, those are also high-quality weapons. Mandelfish brought only a little bit, and the remaining part of Kojiro has now found an opportunity to sell.

Although there are a large number of murlocs, except for Tiger, they basically obey the orders of Aaron and Jinpei. As for the dealers of the Marco trio, who sell people from the same clan, Kojiro does not look down on such people at all.

Because of Tiger's affairs, Xiaoha, who originally sold takoyaki, also planned to close the shop and go to sea, so he also gave Xiaoba some weapons and asked him to talk to Aaron.

This time, it's not friendship assistance, Mandelfish is because of the friendship with those younger brothers, and Kojiro is just doing business.

Looking at the weapons Xiaoba brought, Aaron was very satisfied, but he did not buy any of them, because in his opinion these weapons were too expensive, and he could buy at least ten times the amount of weapons elsewhere.

Although Aaron is not bad for his fellow clan, he is greedy and stingy. In his opinion, spending such a sum of money is completely unnecessary, and there is no need to rely on this kind of weapon for the murloc's physique.

Although Aaron did not open an order here, Shipin was interested in these weapons, but he had the same embarrassing problem. He was willing to buy these arms, but he and Aaron had the opposite situation.

One is rich but unwilling to spend, the other is wanting to buy but has no money.

The salary of the commander of the Ryugu Kingdom is quite large, but he also spends a lot of money, and the money he saves to buy these weapons is really not enough.

"Can't it really be cheaper?"

"Mr. Jinbei, I've already given you a 20% discount. These weapons are much more accurate than ordinary weapons, and they are also waterproof and moisture-proof. Even if you attack underwater, it will not affect your use. The special bullets can even allow you to stay underwater. Launch, the price is already very cheap."

Although he doesn't like human beings much like Aaron now, he is not as extreme as Aaron and doesn't hate everyone, especially Kojiro, who is very pleasant to get along with murlocs.

"But. Can this be an IOU?"

"Unfortunately, Mr. Jinbei, we do not support loans, but if you are willing to help a little, it is not impossible. Do you remember the people who were imprisoned for abducting Rusaka not long ago?"

Chapter 452 Mining and Performing Arts

"you mean"

"Their sentences are too long, and you don't have to do it, it's enough to let them inadvertently get the keys."

Rushaka lives on Fishman Island. Although there are some inexplicable rumors, she also has her own social relationships. Mandelfesh does not want to directly ignore the laws of the Dragon Palace Kingdom, so that Rusaka will be embarrassed in the future.

But he was always unhappy when those few people were alive, so he needed the other party to escape.

"Mr. Jinbei, people who kidnap and sell people from the same clan are scumbags even among the murlocs, right?"

In the end, Jinbei agreed to the deal. When he returned to the Dragon Palace Kingdom to resign, he made a little mistake with his last authority. Then he left Fishman Island with a large amount of arms, and followed Aaron and the others on their pursuit. Tiger's pace.

Mandelfish, who received the news, did not hesitate, intercepted them before they fled back to Fishman Street, and ended the hatred completely.

After escaping from Mary Joa, most of those slaves have gone their separate ways, while the murlocs stayed by Tiger's side. They used the sun symbol set up by Tiger to cover up the original seal of the Sky Serpent, and let all the members. There is no way to distinguish whether other people have been slaves.

The Sun Pirates, composed of murlocs, started their adventures on the sea.

Fisher Tiger pursued a policy of peace while sailing, requiring his crew not to unnecessarily harm humans, including those at war with them.

Although they defeated many navies and bounty hunters who pursued them, they also defeated many pirates who wanted to use them to make a name for themselves.

This is the most effective way to gain fame among pirates, and defeat the person who is currently the most popular.

When the title of Emperor of the Sea first came out, whether it was Kaido, Whitebeard or BIG·MOM, they would encounter challengers who were unknown from time to time.

They have completely established their position with the bones of losers. novelusb.com

But although there are many people who have been defeated, Tiger has always advocated not to kill humans, because the meaning of the Sun Pirates is "liberation" and "freedom".

He often told his companions, "We won't kill anyone." If anyone else said this, most murlocs would scoff.

But Tiger is different, his reputation is too great, Jinbei is gradually influenced by Tiger, even Aaron has begun to pay attention to proportions, but he still starts very hard.

"Aaron."

"Big Brother."

After another battle, Tiger found Aaron. Although we had talked a few times, Tiger was not satisfied with the result.

"Not all human beings are bad people. You should be aware of the fact that the flag of Whitebeard shelters Fishman Island, and I heard that you have a good relationship with Mandelfish?"

"Big brother, don't mention that guy, that * is actually a human pretending to be. I don't know where he got the ability to not be afraid of water."

"Don't be so stubborn, Aaron, haven't you noticed that your tone has changed?"

Tiger patted Aaron on the shoulder, then walked back to the cabin and planned the future voyage according to the chart.

On Fishman Island, after a period of voyage, Taizolo, who succeeded Kojiro, also arrived at Fishman Island, and at the same time he was warmly welcomed by Otohime.

Because he represents the fruit of the beasts, even if there is a pirate group behind the fruit of the beasts, the fruit of the beasts has a completely different meaning.

It is a "legal" enterprise of the world government. The employees of the enterprise can choose to travel through the port of Marjoyachi instead of going to the fish-man island. The contact between the legal enterprise and the fish-man island has a great overlap with her philosophy.

Today, the most powerful force in the sea is still the World Government. If you want to live freely, the attitude of the World Government is very important.

Although murlocs have a natural aquatic advantage, there is only one Sun Tree Eve. This is the only way for murlocs to get sunlight in the deep sea, which leads to the fact that most murlocs and mermen live in fixed locations.

If it really leads to a breakup between the two clans, it will do more harm than good for the murlocs. Although Otohime's ideas are naive, the future she imagines is based on the current situation and is the best policy for the murlocs.

"Mr. Tezzolo, Miss Stella, please come here. King Neptune and Princess Otohi have been waiting for you for a long time."

Under the leadership of the Minister of Catfish Zuo, they came to the drawing room of the Dragon Palace Kingdom.

The Minister of the Right Seahorse took over the position of Commander-in-Chief of the Sea King Army after Jinping resigned. At this time, he was inspecting the guards at the prison, which was the impact of the previous prison escape incident.

Then came the familiar polite words, but it was much easier to talk here than the chatter of the people like Marijoya.

Soon Tezzolo got to the point and started talking about the mining company.

"Your Majesty, Princess, Kojiro should have discussed the specific regulations with you before, right? You should have thought about it for such a long time."

"After considering it clearly, we agree with Kojiro's proposal, and we will assist you in recruiting employees on Fishman Island in the name of Ryugu Kingdom."

They finally chose this way, because the people of Fishman Island didn't know how to mine, and they didn't know how to organize people to mine, and in order to expand cooperation, Otohime and Neptune finally chose this way.

Some details were discussed on behalf of Kojiro before, for example, they were going to take the Ryugu Kingdom to explore the mining sites, and the places where the murlocs and mermen could not live could not be on land, etc.

Although Otoji can sense that the other party has no malicious intentions like a human trafficker in his heart, he can't believe what the other party says. If so many people are kidnapped, the conflict between the two races will probably not be reconciled.

So they chose a model close to outsourcing. The Mining Department of Beasts and Fruits will hire the Dragon Palace Kingdom, and the Dragon Palace Kingdom will recruit employees to work, which is also to reduce the resistance of the clansmen.

Although a small number of mermaids and murlocs choose to work in Kojiro's department store, more people are still wary of humans, and it is not realistic to let them work directly in human enterprises. Many things have to be done step by step.

Tiger took away a large number of restless people, and the remaining people in Fishman Street just lacked an opportunity, and now the opportunity has come.

The mining business is basically finalized, and they have another thing they want to do. In addition to the CEO of Beast Fruit, Tezzolo is also a part-time singer and actor of his performing arts company. He brought Stella here to shoot a film. movie.

The main purpose of the movie is to promote some new products and increase Stella's exposure. It is a semi-public and semi-private matter. No matter which world, stars are an industry that needs exposure. If they disappear for too long, they will soon be forgotten by the world. .

He hoped to get some support from the Ryugu Kingdom, but Otohime, who heard the news, gave far more support than they expected.

Chapter 453 Mana Fei Sea King

Otoji spends most of her time promoting her ideas. The residents of Fishman Island can still hear her speech, but the humans on land cannot.

Compared to the five million inhabitants of Fishman Island, the total number of human beings is too much, especially in history, both the fishmen and the mermaid were regarded as fish, and discrimination between races has existed for a long time.

Apart from relying on the propaganda of the World Government, Otoji can't think of any way to change this view worldwide. There are many famous murlocs, such as Tiger, Namur, etc., but those famous murlocs are all pirates .

This is definitely negative propaganda in the eyes of ordinary people, and with the appearance of the murlocs, many people think that the murlocs are inherently vicious and vicious.

Tezolo wanted to make a movie, which seemed to her the perfect opportunity.nOvelus.b.com

The world entertainment industry of pirates is relatively lacking, and it is very limited. Some films can still be circulated on the red soil continent, but the countries on the islands are different. Whether it is propaganda or other things, most people do not have this channel.

Films from ten years ago may have just been released on some islands, not to mention those islands that are not eligible for broadcast.

Only when most of the problems of food and clothing are solved, and with spare money in hand, people will have time to pursue spiritual entertainment.

And the world of pirates is a society where the upper class decides the lower class. The king of a country has the ability to limit what the citizens hear and see. If the king and nobles of a kingdom are smearing something, then the lower class will not accept it.

If a film with great influence can really be made, then these people must be the first ones to see it. Otoji just hopes that they can see the positive publicity about murlocs and mermaids, and then make some changes.

Not to mention cooperation, she is even willing to play some roles.

Naturally, Tezzolo had no opinion on Ottoji's cooperation, and immediately changed the script, because he was originally a part-time screenwriter, director, actor, investor and a series of roles.

There are not many professional actors. After all, this is the deep sea, and it is not difficult to make a movie here.

So the acting skills of other tricks may be a problem, and Tezzolo's way of solving similar problems is real.

The plot of the movie is not complicated, and even a bit cliché, such as what kind of male protagonist encountered a storm at sea and was rescued by a mermaid after falling into the water.

At first, he was also very afraid of mermaids and murlocs, but after getting along, he found that it was the prejudice of the world, and then they fell in love smoothly.

But the identity of the male protagonist is a prince, the king did not agree with this matter, and even bought a group of pirates to abduct the mermaid.

But the ambition of the pirates is more than that. They also kidnapped the king for a huge ransom. In the end, the mermaid took the king to escape the clutches, and then at the last moment, the male protagonist appeared and defeated those people, and everyone lived happily together. .

The villain must be a pirate, otherwise the world government will not allow the screening, and the identity of the prince is to cater to the public, which is the mainstream on the red soil continent today.

Princes and princesses are far more popular than civilian protagonists, whether they are royals or ordinary people themselves, they are more able to be brought into this environment.

After all, the film is also mixed with a lot of opera, which is also the mainstream today.

And Tezolo's real acting is also reflected here. They don't need to find someone to play the pirates, but just find some pirates who have no bounty to act as the pirates in the movie.

Even the king can find someone to come and make a cameo appearance. Some kings spend a lot of money to buy the banners of the beasts for their own safety. They will not mind this kind of thing, where the beasts are the uncrowned king.

As for fighting, it's not a problem anymore. Anyway, the training of the beasts is internal fighting. It's enough to come and practice combat at that time, but those who get to the end can play, otherwise it will be troublesome if they get injured.

Among them, the mermaid and the murloc appeared when the male protagonist lived on the fish-man island, reflecting the good side of the place, which was enough for Otoji, but Tezolo made a request, he must be a mermaid with fair skin. Row.

The product he is promoting this time is a whitening product. If you get a black fish, it will be really difficult to sell.

The preparation of the film takes time, and Kojiro has already obtained the location of some minerals during the inspection.

In order to further determine the environment there, Otohime and Nipton decided to follow them to see where the mine is, and also take a look at the machines that Tezolo said to assist mining.

In order to express closeness, Neptune's whale mount Hoai had a bubble on his head and took them to the marked position on the chart.

As they gradually moved away from Eve's shrouded range, the surrounding environment began to become dark. Mermaids could still see things in this environment, but humans couldn't. Tezolo and the others could no longer see things nearby.

Even murlocs don't like to live in such a dim environment for a long time. Otoji and Neptune are not black-hearted capitalists. Just when they were about to ask if there was a solution, Manaphy started.

I saw him wave his hands, and the surrounding sea water seemed to feel something, and suddenly a pale golden light was emitted, and the influence of the light was still expanding, and soon this lonely deep sea became like daytime.

Prince Canghai is not joking, this is also his control of marine life, it is a kind of deep sea microorganisms, they have the ability to emit light, at this time, under the influence of Manaphy, they gathered together in large numbers, using their own ability to illuminate this deep sea.

And part of the energy released by Mana Fei becomes their nourishment.

But looking at the deep sea that suddenly lit up, Otohime and Nipton trembled.

"No, don't make it so bright!"

Many creatures have phototaxis, and the sudden light in the deep sea is likely to attract sea kings. Fishman Island is not afraid of this kind of thing, because every once in a while, a mermaid princess who is selected as the sea king will be born.

Due to the existence of the sea king, the sea kings will not attack the fish-man island, but not necessarily outside.

This is also the reason why they want to investigate the environment. They are worried that there is a sea king's nest nearby. If they encounter a large sea king in the deep sea, even murlocs and mermaids can only choose to escape.

But it was too late, a big eye suddenly appeared in Ottoji's field of vision, and there was a super-large sea king below them, and the size of the whale Huoai became very small compared to that sea king.

"Don't be afraid, don't move, don't shout, I'll try to communicate with it."

Mermaids can communicate with fishes, but Neptunes are not in this range. Otoji wants to use her own knowledge to communicate with them. The accompanying guards did not move, and they all knew that it was useless to run away in the face of such monsters.

Otome was worried about what Tezzolo and the others did to irritate the sea kings, but then she noticed that the two had no intention of being afraid at all, and the sea king was also very wrong, it seemed to be communicating with some creature.

"Good boy, we didn't mean to disturb you, you go to sleep."

Looking at Mana Fei on Stella's shoulders, Otohime revealed an unbelievable look.

In the eyes of ordinary people, the sea kings are monsters that cannot communicate, but Ottoji knows very well that they just disdain communication, because communicating with them is the privilege of sea kings.

Chapter 454 Jack on the way home, Charlie on loan

Under Manaphy's persuasion, the sea king swam into the distance like a good baby. Neptune and Otoji, who watched it go away, looked sluggish, and the sea king army who followed behind even lost their jaws. .

"King Neptune, Princess Otohime?"

Tezzolo waved his hand for a long time to make them come back to their senses. Anyone who encounters a sea monster in the deep sea will be afraid. Tezzolo and Stella are not afraid because they have seen Manaphy's ability on the way here. .

The big ones can be persuaded to go away, and the small ones are even better than pets.

"he he is"

"My name is Manaphy, and the Lord sent me to ensure the safety of the waters, so don't worry about the sea kings, they won't cause trouble."

Otoji's thinking was so chaotic for the first time. Although Manafei said that he was just communicating, there was no big difference between that kind of communication and control. It was a super-large sea king, and communication with it was the prerogative of the sea king.

The Sea King will only be born in the Mermaid Princess, that is the power inherited in the blood, what happened at this moment is beyond the understanding of Otoji.

And she couldn't feel any emotions from Manaphy, this humble little guy's mind was blank, and there was the mysterious Lord in his mouth.

"Princess Otoji, that's why I said earlier that we have prepared a lot of things, don't worry at all, all we need is some murloc labor."

This is the first step of the plan. After they have established sufficient trust in Fishman Island, they will prepare a deep-sea exploration team to search for what they need in the underwater ruins.

With the * of Manafei, the biggest crisis in the sea has been solved, and soon they came to the predetermined mine. The business has just started, and their goal must be the mine near Fishman Island.

Working at the door of the house can make people feel more at ease, and here, Otohime also saw the special mining method Tezzolo said, that is the frog-shaped creatures that have been following behind them, that is, the giant marsh monsters.

Tezolo gestured at them with the blueprint for a while, and they found their target. This is a "semi-open" mine in the deep sea. As long as the silt on the surface is cleaned up, the exposed mine can be seen.

The giant swamp monster's arm was like an impact drill, and it directly smashed the rock layer in person. The rest of the work was not complicated for the fish people. Just recruiting staff.

Yi Ji used her reputation as a guarantee, and quickly found some self-motivated murlocs who were willing to use their work to change the status quo. They were also residents of Fishmen Street. Although they did not have regular jobs, they were not like those who had taken refuge in Tiger. Like, willing to fight at sea.

Most people want to live a stable life. In the past, they lived a half-flat life, because there was really no place to fight.

There are no rigid necessities that they need to buy in the fish-man island. They can eat and drink in the sea. Even if they are pursuing the other half, they can also find beautiful shells and pearls in the sea by themselves.

Although there are also high-consumption shopping streets in Fishman Island, the products there can find substitutes, and the appearance of Kojiro Department Store has indirectly changed this situation.

Novelty goods from the mainland and empty islands stimulate the economy of Fishman Island, and there are no substitutes for many specialties. If you want to buy those things, you need money. They are relatively stable types, so suitable jobs become very suitable. important.

Kojiro's department store even indirectly contributed to the employment problem on Fishman Island.

Now that Kojiro is going back to Wano Country, some people are quite reluctant to bear him, and the end result is that there are many more people in his address book.

Before leaving, Kojiro went to Mandefish's house again. Jack's practice is almost done. He has taught everything that needs to be taught. The rest is to practice slowly. In this way, he has not stayed in the fishman. island is necessary.

So he will go back to Wano with Kojiro. Now he is purchasing local souvenirs from Fishman Island and intends to bring them back for distribution, but at least half of the items in the backpack behind him are for Pejiwan.

"Mandfish, I'm going back."

"Understood, pay attention to safety, thank you for the previous thing."

"Small things, small things, we are colleagues after all."

"I'm afraid Jack won't be back in a while, don't you need to bring something back?"

Kojiro knew more people in Wano, and Mandefish felt that he should also need a souvenir from Fishman Island.

"I'm ready, by the way, these are for you."

Saying that, Kojiro handed Mandefish a bag with some gold coins in it, which is the surplus of the department store's funds during this period. After deducting the fees paid to the beasts and the purchase of goods, the rest of the funds are distributed in his hands. .noVelus&.cOm

"What are you doing?"

"You're short of money now, so take the emergency first. I'm afraid you'll spend a lot during this time."

Falling in love is a very expensive process. Although Rusaka didn't ask for anything, Mandefish's expenses were not a lot at all.

Mandefish can be regarded as a senior cadre with a small share of Beast Fruit, but it is not yet the day of dividends, and the biggest source of funds for pirates is the share of loot, but the pirates outside are all dealt with by Hancock. , causing his pockets to be a little tight recently.

"Thank you, I'll pay you back."

"It's okay, my funds are much more abundant than yours."

Kojiro knows that it is useless to have money. His father is an example. Only money is a fat sheep in this world, so he has always maintained his relationship with the cadres. .

Shortly after Kojiro left, Rusaka returned here with another mermaid who looked thirteen or fourteen years old, not her daughter or sister, but Aaron's sister Charlie.

She and Aaron are half-brothers, but she was abandoned by her father in Fishman Street when she was three years old. It was indeed Aaron who brought her up during that time, but she was nothing like Aaron.

Their father was very irresponsible, both for Aaron and Charlie. Now Aaron took all his men and ran with Tiger, leaving only one Charlie.

When Mandelfish discovered her, she was relying on divination for others in exchange for living expenses. Even though she was not young, she was already a well-known fortuneteller on Fishman Island.

It's just that the business is not very good. Although the accuracy of divination is extremely high, she has not failed yet, but she has seen too many tragedies, and people will not ask her for divination without special circumstances.

He and Aaron had a little friendship back then, and this sister was different from him, so he did what he could to help take care of Charlie. Fishman Street is not suitable for young female mermaids to live alone.

Chapter 455 Where is Bailey?

Many years ago, Fishman Street was not called Fishman Street. It was still the National Orphanage where the orphans of Fishman Island lived, but after losing control there, most of the mermaids left there, because the scum of Fishman Island gathered there.

The same is true for the murlocs who sell the same race. Although the price of murlocs in the slave market is higher than that of humans, compared with mermen, it is a world of difference.

Aaron is not a good person in the eyes of human beings, or even a vicious party. The influence of racism on him is very serious, and he was slightly shaken under the influence of Tiger, but the death of Tiger made all this come to nothing.

Tiger is the belief in the minds of many murlocs, especially Aaron who grew up in Fishmen Street. Although Jinbei is equally powerful, he can only forcibly suppress Aaron, but there is no way to convince him.

But Aaron has no problem with his family. He is very greedy for money and has never done anything to sell his family.

The relationship between the two brothers and sisters can't be said to be harmonious, because Aaron and Charlie originally had different ideas, but it is undeniable that when Charlie was abandoned in Fishman Street, she really relied on Aaron.

Except for Tiger and Jinping, the rest of the people on Fishman Street basically listen to Aaron. Fishman Street is an illegal place on Fishman Island. If something goes wrong in such a place, the efficiency of looking for the official is far less than that. Find the biggest local boss.

If they attack Charlie, Aaron can find them quickly.

"Fishu, we're back."

"Well, I have something to do, why don't you go with me."novelusb.COM

1507 was a very special year for Mandelfish, because not long ago Rusaka celebrated her 30th birthday. Female mermen's 30th birthday is also known as the Tail Festival, and on this day they will have split tails. Ability.

The split tail of the mermaid is not like magic. After a flash of light, the tail directly turns into the legs, but a gap is split from the middle. The legs are not much different, and the position of the feet is still similar to the tail fin.

But by then, the merfolk will be able to set foot on land under the cover of skirts and shoes.

And the matter of Mandelfish is related to the new base he planned. Due to his lack of money recently, Kojiro lent him a lot of money before he left.

But he is the veteran of the Beasts Pirates, the first ordinary member of the Beasts Pirates to accept the abilities given by Arceus. In fact, his family background is very rich, and he is different from other pirates, always thinking of smooth retirement. Category.

So he has savings, but it has been exhausted now, the main reason is that he invested in an island.

Originally, the bridgehead of the beasts in the New World was still mainly used for military purposes, but there was not only one island, but other small islands scattered around in addition to the main island.

In the past, those islands served as shooting ranges and warehouses. In order to live a better life, he remodeled the largest one nearby. When others bought new houses, he was directly buying islands.

In addition, he transformed the uninhabited island into a residential area suitable for amphibious land and water. With this large investment, his savings were naturally exhausted, and even the coffin was thrown in.

He originally had a second choice. According to Ottohime's thinking, if he told the other party that the purpose of this island was to live with mermaids, the Dragon Palace Kingdom would never mind investing, but he didn't.

The definition of there is his private residence, and the nature of it will be changed if others invest.

The infrastructure capacity of this world is still very strong. Now that the island has almost been renovated, the water and electricity facilities have basically been completed, and you can move in at any time.

Genesect has already arrived at the predetermined location, and one of them is arranged on the island where he is stationed. He has to go back and make arrangements.

It is only a two-day flight from Fishman Island. If he travels with all his strength, he can go back in half a day. As for why he brought Rusaka back, in his opinion, although the island he is stationed on has certain risks, it is definitely more dangerous than fish. Isle of Man is much safer.

"But Charlie."

"It's okay, just go together. I don't worry about you staying here. Although it's land, it's my territory, and no one dares to do anything there."

The initial limelight of the emperor of the sea has passed. Many people in the sea today have understood a truth. The pirates who can be called the emperor of the sea are not their stepping stones, but a mountain that cannot be crossed.

Therefore, there are fewer and fewer accidents in the emperor's territory, especially the solitary brave man made them understand that he really refuted the face of those big pirates, and they could not bear the revenge afterwards.

"Brother Mandelfish, your trip this time. It may not be so smooth."

Although it didn't quite fit the situation, Charlie still said what she saw when she looked at the scene inside the crystal ball. Her divination is very accurate, so it's okay to take a look at it as a reference before going out.

"Not smooth?"

"Although the result is fine, you may not be too happy."

After thinking for a while, Charlie still said what she saw.

"It's okay, Charlie, don't pay too much attention to divination. Our purpose is not to believe in fate. If you are not satisfied with the predicted future, what you have to do is to change it, instead of waiting for it to happen."

The purpose of the Beasts Pirates is to never believe in the illusory fate. This is one of the concepts that Kaido follows. It is impossible to make the people of the Beasts give up some ideas through prophecy.

Although Charlie's divination prediction has a high success rate, there is still a strange problem. Maybe it is because she said this prediction that the person who heard the prediction wants to change the result, which will eventually lead to the occurrence of the divination result.

It is also possible that because she did not say it, everything was going on according to the original trajectory, which led to the occurrence of the result.

In the end, Mandelfish took Rusaka to his new home. Even if the divination result was true, it would only make him less happy. Safe environment.

Mermaid has a little convenience, that is, you don't need to wait for the boat, just swim directly in the predetermined direction.

Under the sea, Mandelfish, turned into a tyrannical carp dragon, was swimming towards the target island, and Rusaka kept going hand in hand with him, if the Eternal Pointer was not in Mandelfish's hands, and Rusaka had not been there. , she can even take a step ahead, the speed of the mermaid is not lost to the tyrannical carp dragon.

But he couldn't match him in endurance. After a while, he let the two put them on his back.

When night was about to fall, Mandelfish also brought Rusaka and the others back to their area, and this was the first time the two mermen had set foot on land.

Chapter 456 People are different, even if they are biological

"Hello, sister-in-law!"

At this time, Rusaka felt the enthusiasm of human beings. Hundreds of people wearing uniform suits were lining up to welcome them. Mandelfish told them when he would arrive, but he just asked them to prepare some new clothes. .

Even mermaids want to stay dry when they leave the sea, which is one of the reasons why they live on Fishman Island.

Because of the Alchiman mangrove tree and the sun tree Eve, Fishman Island is the only relatively safe place with sunshine and dry air for mermaids.

The same is true of Mandelfish. Although his ability can go into the water, it does not mean that he likes to be wet all the time, but his subordinates seem to have made up for his instructions.

"Brother, is this all right?"

"Pearman, didn't I tell you not to make such a big deal?"

"Don't worry about it, bro, you finally brought someone back, of course you have to give you enough face. According to the custom of my hometown, if the boss loses face, the younger brother has to cut his fingers, and prepare everything you want. All right."

Pearman was born on an island in the West Sea, where the gang culture prevailed. There are more than a dozen gangsters scattered on the island, and they fight every year for the position of the mayor.

While speaking, Mandelfish saw that several female pirates brought towels and shoes, and someone pushed a wheelchair from the hospital on the island, which was prepared for Charlie.

She's not yet thirty years old, so she can't do a split like Rusaka.

And this is beyond the scope of the bubble, either carry her on your back, or change your vehicle.

The infrastructure on the island is very comprehensive. It is prepared for the people living on the island. In addition to the pirates stationed here, there are four or five villages on the main island, and there are thousands of people scattered here and there. .

This is the normal state in the territory of the great pirates. The capable islands must be self-sufficient as much as possible. They protect the safety of the islands, and the residents of the islands turn in materials like taxes.

Because the collected share is completely within their range, they have already liked this kind of life, which is better than being looted by passing pirates.

"But big brother, did you get two?"

"Fuck off, don't talk nonsense, that girl is Aaron's little sister, I'll just take care of it for you."

"Aaron? That shark * has such a cute sister?"

Pearman knew about Aaron, but he didn't like Aaron. He was so arrogant without his strength. If Mandelfish had a little friendship with him when he disguised his identity, I am afraid that Pearman would not know such a person.

He is also the deputy of Kaido's cadres, and he is also a giver. It is also a supernova level outside. As long as he does not fight in the sea, he will not be afraid of murlocs.

"This is not normal, can you think that Miss Yamato is the biological child of Kaido's boss?"

"Forehead"

"Stop thinking about these useless things. How is the island recently?"

"It's all very good, and Lord Arceus sent a big guy from the ghost island. Although he hasn't fought in actual combat, it is very reliable from the data, but Brother Mandelfish, she is now stationed on your private island. superior."

"Wait. What did she mean?"

"That's what she meant, oh, that's also a Pokémon created by Lord Arceus, but she seems to like your environment better."novelusB.COM

Pearman is talking about Genesect, numbered GT-2, although Genesect looks like a robot, but they have their own consciousness of life.

So rest is not charging like a robot, but building a nest like a swarm. Genesect likes a warm environment with water, and the private island built by Mandelfish is just right for this.

This is also the biggest difference between Genesect and pacifists, pacifists will obey any navy with authority, but Genesect only obeys the orders of Arceus.

For example, GT-2 received an order to protect the island, obeying the command during battle, and she would move freely in normal times.

"Where is she?"

"A swimming pool on the edge doesn't affect anything."

"That's good, then the island will be safer."

Mandelfish quickly accepted this point. Living with Pokémon is nothing. Most of the beasts are used to this, and there are not only three people on the private island, and they usually have to help with cleaning. Hygienic people and the like.

He heard about the positioning of Genesect's "war machine", so he thought from a different angle and thought that there was a long-term bodyguard on the island.

"Okay, let them do what they have to do, don't waste time here."

"Don't worry, brother, everything that needs to be dealt with has been dealt with, and the water and electricity on your side have also been connected."

"Good job, remember to wash your face more recently."

"what?"

"Your accumulated merits are almost the same. I guess it's your turn for this year's Divine Grace Ceremony."

The slightly excited Pierman took away the extra manpower according to Mandelfish's instructions, leaving enough private space for Mandelfish, and then he also pushed Charlie's wheelchair to the small cafeteria on the island.

Although the cafeteria here is not as good as Onishima, it is no problem to solve food and clothing.

"Humans are so enthusiastic, they don't seem to be as scary as rumored?"

Charlie in the wheelchair was a little shocked by the enthusiasm of these people. She had a different idea from Aaron, and now she felt that Aaron was wrong.

"Don't be too naive, little Xia Li, although they wouldn't be buying and selling people without me, they're only some of them. That guy Aaron talks a lot, but he's not entirely wrong. Some people are for you. very dangerous.

Be careful when encountering humans in other places. "

The individual differences of human beings are too great. For non-human races, it is actually better to meet the bad people first than to meet the good people first, so that they will have more vigilance.

If they lose their vigilance against humans by encountering good people first, then encountering bad people is the real trouble.

"Human nature is much more complicated than you think. The life that your Princess Otoji has imagined is very good, but unfortunately, that kind of naive idea can't be realized in this world. Forget it, why are you talking about this, let's take a look thing."

took them to the second floor of the cafeteria here. From the window here, they could just see the private island he built. Under the reflection of the setting sun, a small amusement park appeared in their field of vision.

"Hey, a private amusement park for you, now you can play as long as you want."

This is what he built out of Coffin Ben, a private amusement park built to mimic a soap bubble park.

Chapter 457 You make me lose face

The residents of Fishman Island, regardless of gender, age, or age, mostly have a shampoo complex, because it is their dream paradise.

After leaving Fishman Island, you only need to go upstream along the rhizome of the sun tree Eve, and finally you can reach the Chambord Islands, which is the land where the fisherman and the mermaid have the most contact.

From the water, they can see people playing in the soap bubble park, which is something that Fishman Island does not have, so they inevitably yearn for it. Even people like Aaron have a unique yearning for Shampoo.

Along Park is the product of his imitation of Soap Bubble Park. There are also some murlocs or mermen who have quietly landed on the Chambord Islands. The lucky ones can return smoothly, while the unlucky ones are captured and turned into slaves.

If you want to pursue a mermaid, taking her to an amusement park is definitely the best choice, as long as you can ensure the safety of the other party, otherwise you should not take the other party to land to harm people.

Mandefish has this confidence. The evolution time is getting longer and longer, and Mandefish's control over the ability of the tyrannical dragon has become stronger and stronger, and he has also changed from an unknown captain of the scout to a well-known senior cadre. .

Not to mention the two flags flying on the island, which are the largest umbrellas in the New World.

"Fee Xu."nOveluSB.cOm

"I see that you didn't have enough fun in Shampoo Land last time, but there's nothing you can do. There's a lot of people in that place, and it's not good to stay for too long. There's no problem here. You can just play for a few days."

Charlie on the side pulled the hood on top of her head, then turned her wheelchair and walked to the side. This time it wasn't for divination. What she saw was telling her that it would be better for her to stay away now.

She already smelled the sour smell of love. The setting sun gradually sank into the sea. Lying by the window, she watched the disappearing sun and fell into contemplation. Compared with the sunshine brought by Eve, the feeling was very special.

The next day, after debugging, the amusement park's equipment was ready for use. Charlie, who arrived at Mandelfish's private territory, also temporarily left her wheelchair. In order to facilitate the movement of the mermaids, a water park was built here, and the outflowing swimming lanes lead to the islands. most of the area.

"Charlie, I told you, don't always care about your divination, don't you think it's all good now?"

Having reached his own territory, Mandelfish felt that there would be no more accidents, so he talked to Charlie about her fortune-telling, because that fortune-telling sometimes made her seem constrained in her work. It seems very bad.

was talking when something like a sponge suddenly hit them on the head.

"Are these marshmallows?"

Seeing marshmallows of different colors falling from the sky, Charlie and Rusaka looked puzzled. When they looked up, they could only see pink clouds from which the marshmallows came from. Come.

"Marshmallow rain, a feature of this island, occasionally there will be marshmallows in the sky. After all, it is in the New World, such an abnormal scene is quite common."

Compared to those weird sea areas where knives are used, marshmallows here are already a blessing, even if they are replaced with hard candies like lollipops.

The pirates living in the new world have become accustomed to the strange weather in the new world, but the mermaids are different, everything on land is a new experience for them, and Mandelfish is also doing his own tour guide.

"This island used to belong to the BIG-MOM pirates, but it was later traded to us. That is a big pirate who is as famous as Kaido's boss, and the strongest female pirate in the world, but he can't beat Kaido's boss. .

As long as our flag is hoisted in the new world, other pirates will have to take a detour, and even the navy will not easily fight with us, so you can enjoy the customs of the land. "

Boom!

As soon as Mandelfish finished speaking, the explosion sounded beside him. At this time, he felt a little pain in his face. After all, no one dared to cause trouble here after his forefoot. Looking at the crystal ball in Charlie's hand, Mandelfish Slightly embarrassing.

"Cough, accident, this is an accident, Rusaka, you guys go back to the villa over there and wait for a while, give me 30 minutes, and I'll be right back after I've settled the matter over there."

Mandelfish sent Rusaka and the others back to the room with a little embarrassment, and just as he closed the door, his expression changed completely.

That's not their artillery. Due to the difference in processing technology, the Beast Pirates' cannonballs are slightly different from the outside world. As a veteran, he can tell at a glance.

Then it turned into a tyrannosaurus and flew in the direction of the explosion, but Mandelfish didn't notice that while he was moving, the eyes of Genesect, who had settled down on his private island, also flashed for a while. red light.

"Pearman, explain to me, what the * are these guys!"

"Brother Mandelfish. I can't do anything about those pirates' brains."

Pearman reluctantly spread his hands, this is an uncontrollable factor.

Recently, it is also related to Hancock's cleanup in the first half of the Qiwuhai. The emperor of the sea has indeed established his prestige, and the days of encountering challengers in three days are over, but the pirates in the first half But don't think so.

Now the window for cleaning has passed, and a new wave of pirates has arrived at the beginning and end of their dreams.

"It's not coming sooner or later, but at this time, saturation bombing, send those guys to me to feed the fish!"

Normally, he might look at what kind of pirates the other party is, and whether it is worth recruiting, but now it is no longer necessary, and he doesn't want to see them at all when he is in a very bad mood.

The sea area around has been marked for a long time. After a simple calculation, the coastal defense artillery on the island began to adjust the firing range. Unlike Mandelfish's dissatisfaction, the pirates under his command were even a little happy about it.

If there are no pirates who come to make trouble, they will have no military exploits.

As the artillery fire began to be calibrated, the high-quality arms produced by Wano Country began to show his power. The opponent had no chance to fight back, and was paralyzed on the sea under the intensive bombardment.

"The brains of today's people are getting worse and worse. Do you dare to provoke you even if you can't stand these two times?"

Seeing that the pirates couldn't even hold on to the first round of artillery fire, Mandelfish's voice was a little helpless. If it was a few years ago, those who dared to do this would definitely have had to have a side-by-side battle, and it was impossible to deal with it simply with artillery fire. That kind of enemy.

"The number of survivors is one, and there are signs of life on the ship."

A female voice with a mechanical voice came from behind Mandelfish, and Genesect GT-2 had already appeared behind him.

"The target is locked, do you need to attack?"

The light cannon behind Genesect has been charged, and now he is asking for Mandelfish's orders.

Chapter 458 Genosect's Girl's Heart obeyed the reasonable orders of the local pirates during the battle, which was also the order received by Genosect, so she did not attack immediately. Arceus' orders meant obedience in the bones to the first-generation Pokémon he created.

As long as he is not crazy enough to want to destroy the world, no matter what he does, the Pokémon are his best assistants.

"Just attack, you time-wasting guy."

"Attack ready."

Genosect's compound eyes flashed red light. Their compound eyes combined the ability of heat detection, combined with the light cannon behind it, like a radar lock, and then the card slot on the back of the cannon began to change color. She was choosing the right one. attribute attack.

In the pirate ship on the sea, the leading pirate flew from the sinking ship. A pair of white wings had been added to his back, his body had become much stronger, and his hands and feet had become stronger. Similar to hooves.

Fauna, Eudemons, Mama Fruit, Pegasus form, a very rare Eudemons species, the ability to fly is relatively rare in the sea, with his wings and animal body bonus, he is also in the first half of the great route. It's a bit of a name.

And the reason why he fired the artillery is also very simple, in order to loot, according to past experience, first use the artillery to scare the opponent.

If you are weak, you will loot. Many people will obediently hand over the money to save their lives. If they are strong, they will turn around and run away. The power of his boat is not bad, and usually no one can catch up with him.

This kind of behavior made him not encounter too much trouble, but today, for some reason, the other party couldn't help but directly blocked all his retreats with rolling artillery fire.

Even if he thought about it with his heel, he knew that he was really kicking the steel plate.

Surviving the artillery fire, he wanted to escape, but as soon as he took off, a beam of light hit him from a distance. The huge pain made him almost faint, and the strong numbness made his body freeze at that moment.

As a bug-type card, Genosect's attack is very powerful. Except for a few supernovas, it is difficult for the arrogant pirates to fight back against Genosect.

Many supernovas of the very evil generation had no way to deal with pacifists. Although there were many opponents in the new world, Genosect was as easy to use as pacifists to deal with trash fish. NoVeLuSb.coM

Not to mention that Genosect can also switch attack attributes according to the situation. Unless it is the PX-0 modified by the body of the bear, the general pacifism is really not as good as Genosect.

Genesect's attack was just the beginning. Looking at the sea below, the pirate struggled so hard that falling into the sea was a slow death for him.

But his body stopped in mid-air, and Mandefish was hovering in the air, his scaly claws grabbed his ankles and lifted him upside down.

"Still a zoology? It's a pity that you disturbed Lao Tzu's mood."

Pirates don't treat prisoners any favors. Unless it is a specific target, how to deal with it depends on the mood of the cadres, and Mandefish is in a very bad mood right now.

said that without giving him a chance to explain, he plunged directly into the water.

Although Mandefish has the ability to fly after evolution, but in the face of the enemy, underwater is his main field, non-capable people can't stay underwater for a long time, and capable people will lose physical strength.

But he won't. Only underwater can he maximize his advantages, which is also a powerful talent unique to water-type Pokémon abilities.

There is no suspense in the result of the battle. If he can't beat other abilities underwater, and he is still an ability person who was shot by Genesect, the number on his shoulder should be erased.

Then a long horn sounded on the island, which was a signal that the crisis was over. The residents of the island heard the sound and walked out of the basement of the room. They were used to this kind of thing, but this time the speed was faster than before. Even faster.

As for the beginning, there is no need for an alarm at all. When the sound of battle is heard from the outside world, they will understand what to do. Living in the new world is almost a necessary common sense.

Although there are risks, they still have a chance to take refuge, and the inhabitants of the unprotected lawless islands do not even have this chance.

The inhabitants of the New World are not interested in who makes the law. As long as this rule does not endanger their existence and allows them to live in safety, they will support the ruler, so the emperor of the sea often has a good reputation in his own territory. .

After the battle, the people on the island also returned to their normal lives. The salvage team went to the site where the other party's ship sank and began to salvage supplies to see if there was anything valuable on the other party's ship.

This is also a supplement to the ammunition consumption, and Mandefish reacted to a problem. Pearman just told him that Genesect chose his private island to nest, but did not say where the nest was located.

So this time he followed the position of Genesect, but the more he walked, the more he felt that something was wrong. He was the designer of this water park that Totezzolo found from the red soil continent.

According to the characteristics of the island, he designed many landscapes in different regions, including the landscape of a wetland park.

And now, the central building of that landscape area has been occupied by Genesect.

"What's the matter with you?"

"Uh, let me see where you live."

"I think this wetland is very good. The Lord said that we can choose the place to build our nest. I like that building, can't we?"

Because it is a private park built for Rusaka, it is closer to women's aesthetics, and the Genesect assigned here happens to be a woman, plus Arceus' promise, she chose this place on her own.

"Yes, of course, but sometimes people may live in the house over there. Could you please pay more attention to them?"

"My mission is to guard the island, including all the inhabitants of the island."

"That's good. By the way, do you have any special requirements for food? The water here is full of ornamental fish. It's best not to attack them. I will let someone arrange food for you."

In the end, Mandelfish and Genesect reached a series of friendly agreements. Although there was another Pokémon in the private domain, the overall calculation was not very bad.

In the following time, Mandelfish took his wife and other people's sisters to play in the private amusement park, Tezzolo took his wife to film a movie on Fishman Island, Jack returned to Ghost Island with souvenirs, and The Beast Pokémon Center also has some new patients.

"Why another one? Didn't you tell them to wear insulating gloves when collecting wool? How many people were paralyzed by the electricity?"

Chapter 459 Who would refuse a wool sweater without electricity?

The triage table of the Beast Pokémon Center, looking at the state of the injured patients who were sent over, they knew exactly what happened.

His body was stiff, his hair was curly, and he could see static electricity flickering on his body from time to time. At first glance, he was paralyzed.

"How many is this?"

"15th this month? Don't they have a staff code?"

The nurses in the hospital complained about the condition of the injured patients. At first, they would worry about the physical condition of each other, but after the number of similar patients increased, the doctors and nurses became accustomed to it.

They are not nervous in the face of injuries that are not life-threatening and already have complete treatment measures. They have also treated children with light bulbs in their mouths, and some even laugh if they are not trained enough. out loud.

This is actually a good thing, it's better for a doctor to be joking than to be embarrassed or serious.

This is the consequence of workers violating safety rules.

"Where's Yingziguo? This time the symptoms are very mild, one is enough."

"lucky~"

Hearing that Geely Egg has taken out a small cherry-like fruit from the first aid kit. These medical staff have included the tree fruit into their regular medicines. When they moved here, they were no different from signing a deed of sale.

The scope of activities will be limited to the territory of the beasts, but no one cares about this kind of thing. Ordinary people will not go to sea at all. Even the navy cannot guarantee absolute safety on the sea. They are not Tianlong people and are qualified. Enjoy super-standard * power.

In fact, that kind of guarding power is not 100% effective. Rox has proven this to the world, but the self-proclaimed gods don't care about this kind of thing, and most people dare not do anything to them because of the consequences.

Most ordinary people live on an island all their lives, and they never even leave their villages. n0reLUsb.c0m

Wono has four distinct seasons, which is a very rare climate in the great route. Coupled with the different customs and customs of the six townships in the country, they live very happily here, so the internal items of the beasts are gradually distributed to them.

Sakura fruit was crushed into a puree in a container, and then poured into the patient's mouth along with the juice. It would take some time for the fruit to take effect, but the person who had been paralyzed by the electric shock suddenly widened his eyes.

".Spicy! So spicy! Water, give me water!"

After his body regained control, he began to look around for water. Although the paralysis of his body was relieved, his tongue was still hot and his lips were slightly puffy.

"It's a long memory, let's see if you dare not wear gloves next time."

The nurse handed him a glass of ice water, which slightly eased the influence of Yingziguo, which is also known as Spicy Yingguo. Although it looks like a cherry, its taste is only spicy.

For some Pokémon, this spicy taste is very comfortable, but for humans, it is too stimulating.

Although it has an excellent effect on relieving paralysis and treating electric shock injuries, this taste is not so acceptable.

In fact, the Beast Pokémon Center has a neutralized version of the drug, which is an anti-anesthetic made from cherry fruit as raw material, but the price is more expensive.

In order to keep their memory long and considering the cost-effectiveness, the nurse brought Sakura fruit directly.

On the vast plains of Ximei, Bai Pengpeng, Wind Fairy, Shuttlecock Cotton still live here, but the ecology here has become more perfect.

“咩~”

The flock of sheep walks through the pasture, babbling from time to time.

One of the most striking features of sheep is that their skin color is blue.

Wano Country already had cow and pig Pokémon, and at this time they filled the vacancy of sheep Pokémon.

Woolly Pokémon - Merry Sheep

In addition to their dark blue skin, they have a fluffy woolen pack of pale yellow, yellow and black ears and tail, and a special structure like a light bulb at the end of the tail.

At this time is the wool-picking period in Wano country. Unlike ordinary sheep, the wool-picking period of Miri sheep is only three months in summer each year.

In the normal months, the wool of the Meili sheep is no different from that of ordinary sheep, but in summer, special changes will occur.

In summer, the body hair of the Meili sheep will continue to grow, and when it grows to a certain extent, it will fall out, but it only takes a week for them to become fluffy again.

We can collect wool about three to four times a month. During the process of depilation, some wool will stick to the body. At this time, people need to manually remove the wool, which is also a process with certain risks.

This is very similar to the fur tribe. It can store static electricity by rubbing its body hair. After the body has accumulated static electricity, the body hair will expand to twice its usual size. At this time, wool is the most comfortable and most dangerous.

If you feel cute and violate the work flow, if you touch its wool directly with your hands, it is likely to be paralyzed by the electric shock, and those injured wool workers are all because they can't resist the temptation.

Because touching the Meili sheep is not 100% injured, there are always people who can't help but want to try it.

Baa Li sheep naturally appeared for their wool. The wool is picked in summer and woven, and it can be sold in autumn and winter, because the textile industry department under the jurisdiction of Beast Fruit has already occupied a place in the cotton and linen industry. Expand business.

Wool products are inevitably a problem of static electricity, and Meili sheep also have a feature. If they are not treated, their wool is extremely easy to stimulate static electricity, and they can't stand that kind of clothes except for shaking.

But after special treatment, their wool can make wool sweaters that never generate static electricity. With this feature, wool products are also rapidly occupying the market.

"Here, don't crowd the sheep, it won't rain for a while."

A few shepherds took the Baa Li sheep and walked to Ximei's open space. At this time, Ximei's sky was dark, and it was obvious that it was going to rain. place.

However, the sheep are different, they are going to find the thunder.

Literally looking for thunder, the wool of the baa sheep will become fluffy and shiny when charged, and it will also help their growth. This is also the common point of electric Pokémon. Count them as one of their foods.

Even Zeraora will charge daily. In fact, they have something in common in the fact that fur absorbs electricity, but Zeraora has gained stronger control over lightning by giving up the power-generating organ.

During thunderstorms, the Meili sheep will inevitably appear collectively.

Chapter 460 Electric Dragon Lighthouse and Strange Staff

When they gather together, they are like a large lightning rod, attracting lightning in nature. The quality of wool produced by Baa Li sheep that has not been baptized by lightning will be slightly worse.

In order to prevent fires, the place where the ram was struck by lightning was on the slightly barren hills at the junction of Ximei and Jiuli. In the past, the mountain * wild boar often appeared here, but it moved after becoming King Yanwu.

Now living with Xiaoka in Kojiro's back house, eating and drinking well every day, and occasionally being transported out to participate in some large-scale battles, life is very comfortable.

“咩~咩利~”

The Sheep huddled together, looking at the black clouds in the sky full of anticipation.

And the group of people who led the sheep had also hid behind the rocks on the side, and when they touched the wool, they were paralyzed by electricity at most. If they were affected by the thunderstorm drawn from the sky, their life would not be so good.

So they had to stay away from the Sheep at this time, but the flock was still under the command of others.

"Yo! Yoyo!"

The ears and tail are still yellow and black. From the tail, you can see the same red light bulbs as the Baa Li sheep, but except for the white belly, it is yellow. Only some black stripes can be seen on the neck, and there are many on the top of the head. A red ball of light appeared.

The body structure of is very similar to that of the Sheep, but the feet are erect and look more like kangaroos. The most important thing is that they have no hair on their bodies.

This is the electric dragon, the final evolutionary form of Meili Sheep, which shoulders the responsibilities of both a shepherd dog and a head sheep in the Meili Sheep group.

Meili Sheep will obey the words of the prestige electric dragon, which is also the recognition among the ethnic groups. Even the Meili Sheep who is too weak will look down on it.

After all, the electric dragon has to shoulder the heavy responsibility of protecting the ethnic group, and the weak cannot protect the ethnic group.

Although it looks like a kangaroo, the electric dragon actually hides dragon blood in its body. If Mega evolves into a super electric dragon, it can reawaken the dragon blood in the body and change from a single electrical system to an electric + dragon attribute.

There is no ethnic crisis in the Meili sheep living in Wano country. The main thing that the electric dragon does is to guide the sheep of the Meili sheep to accept the baptism of thunder and lightning and work in shifts at night.

The environment outside Wano is very dangerous, and the ships of the beasts cannot guarantee that they will only return to Wano when the weather is clear, so the lighthouse that guides the direction is extremely important.

Since the beginning of the maritime industry, lighthouses have always been the greatest hope for ships in the dark. As long as they can determine where the entrance to the diving port is, those experienced helmsmen can safely drive the ship back to Wano.

So every day, there are two electric dragons that act as lighthouses in the first half of the night and the second half of the night. After evolution, the tail of the electric dragon not only retains the ability to emit light, but also has been greatly strengthened.

The most exaggerated statement is that even aliens in the universe can see the beacon of the electric dragon. Although the reality is not so scary, the tail of the electric dragon is far more effective than the general lighthouse.

Because it is too dazzling, the tail of the electric dragon will not light up easily, unless they are gathering the lost Merry sheep or communicating with others, such as now.

"Rumble. Kacha!"

The thunder and lightning in the sky began to brew, and the electric dragons also began to direct their flocks to the designated area. Different flocks kept a certain distance, and there was also the interference of thunder, and the electric dragons were like this. Communicate through semaphore.

"Boom!"

As a thunderbolt fell, the cry of the baboons also came, and they felt very comfortable bathed in the thunder.

This time will last for a while, and it will reach its limit when their tails start to shine.

And the electric dragon will stare at them during this process, preventing some sheep from being too comfortable to be charged, even if they are fully charged, they will not pay attention.

Bathing in thunder and lightning is similar to cats sucking catnip for Merry sheep, and it is easy to get on them, so they will become black sheep, making the wool lose its use value.

The thunderstorms in summer come and go quickly. After the thunderstorms pass, the body of the Mali sheep swells a lot. They are different from the wind goblins. The wool does not absorb water so easily, which is the effect of static expansion.

The bloated and swollen Meili sheep are crowded together, and static electricity is generated from time to time. Next, they will forage in the pasture, and then go to the shedding place. Some of the Meili sheep's wool has begun to fall off.

"Junxiong? You came back so soon?"

At the place of work, they saw an uncle with a sausage mouth, the one who was sent to the Pokémon Center before. The sausage mouth was also caused by the cherry fruit, and the taste of Wano people was relatively light. Their general banquet can be seen.

However, there are also a small number of people who are very interested in the perverted spicy curry made by Sakura fruit.

"Yeah, I said it was a small problem, you guys are too fussy." NoVeluSib.com

At this time, he was holding a little lamb in his hand. It was the cub of the Maili sheep. The static electricity on their body surface was not too much when they were just born, so they did not pose much threat.

"Junxiong, you better put on your gloves."

"Yeah, it's still very hard to get an electric shock."

The people around tried to persuade him, but to no avail.

"You guys don't understand, I'm the first batch of workers to deal with wool here. As long as you are careful and show your sincerity to the sheep, you'll be fine even if you don't wear gloves."

As he said that, he put on an old-fashioned posture, and picked up the scissors to deal with some of the wool that was not lost.

It was really okay at first, he was lucky to deal with the first few baboons and was not attacked by static electricity.

"You don't understand, you can only feel the speciality of this wool when you touch it with your own hands. That thing will only affect the feel of work."

He started showing off his experience, but at the next moment, a static sound rang out, and he fell to the ground again. This time his explosive head was even more gorgeous than the previous one.

"Mai Li."

Next to him, the sheep that had just shed his hair let out a helpless cry, which shows how much he likes to challenge the limit. The people around him also put him on a stretcher with a look of helplessness and pulled him back to the Pokémon Center again.

Seeing that the people who had been away for less than a day were sent back again for the same reason, the faces of the nurses and doctors became a little ugly.

"Where are his gloves?"

"this."

"Hey, don't you want to touch porcelain work injury?"

She doesn't believe that some people like to be electrocuted, and even thinks that these people are thinking about some strange things, such as workers' compensation payments.

"No no no, how could it be, it's just that he didn't listen to persuasion"