

Arceus 501

Chapter 501: Pure "free" behavior

The time when Jack acquired the ability in the original timeline is unknown, but it can be determined that it was after he became an adult. According to other people's memories, the historical text of the seabed in the Inland Sea was discovered by the adult Jack.

Now, because of a series of butterfly effects, this fruit still flows into the hands of Doflamingo.

As for the ordinary elephant fruit, it was originally going to be traded to the world leader, but now because of the change of Doflamingo's plan, this elephant fruit also has a new arrangement.

In the transactions in the underground world, it is common for black people to eat black people, but they are all local snakes who do one-shot transactions, and they can't make big things at all.

For the underground world, the character of the transaction becomes very important. Once some bad news spreads, other forces will try to avoid continuing the transaction.

The reputation of the Beasts in the underground world is not bad. As long as they don't change their minds, they will not take the initiative to destroy the content of the transaction.

Originally, he had to guard against being backstabbed by the other party, such as contacting the navy during the transaction. Doflamingo also considered that the appearance of the crane was related to this, but it was obviously abnormal several times.

He is not worried about this issue in this transaction. As the number one pirate in the New World, Beasts will not have any contact with the Navy.

The world government is the world government, and the navy is the navy. Although the navy is a subordinate force of the world government, they cannot be confused.

Even if it is Doflamingo's own plan, his future trading target is the world government, not the navy. As a former Tianlong person, he knows too many secrets that ordinary people don't know.

"Dover, here they come."

While Doflamingo was talking with Torrebol, a sharp voice came from outside the door, and then a tall and strong man walked in.

He is Pica, one of the cadres of the Don Quixote family. His sharp voice is his characteristic and something he hates. If anyone laughs at him in this regard, he will be furious.

Pica and Torrebol chose to focus on Doflamingo at the same time, and he was also one of his most trusted cadres. He was monitoring the situation on the beach before.

「Are you here? It's really on time.」

「Well, but they only came with two people, "Plague" Quinn and an unknown girl, and the other is a strange flying machine.」

"It doesn't matter, as long as it is a beast, let's go, the transaction has begun."

The existence of Yamato is still unknown to the outside world. Even Guima has not figured out her identity. Now the only known titles are "Miss Yamato" and "Master Onihime".

This is the news I got from Quinn and Genesect during the battle before. It wasn't that Quinn and the others were loud, but that they were in the battlefield environment, and they didn't communicate with things like phone bugs.

In this case, the other party cannot hear at normal volume, and shouting is the only way.

But if I didn't figure it out, it doesn't mean that I have no clue. The person who can be called Miss by Quinn can only be the child of the high-ranking Beasts. Quinn already holds a high position in the Beasts Pirates, so Yamato is either Kaido's Daughter, or the daughter of Arceus.

Although they still have doubts about Arceus, they all regard each other as eccentric abilities.

The news is still being verified within the World Government, and of course Doflamingo doesn't know about this.

The transaction went smoothly, there was no phenomenon of gangsters eating gangsters, and no inexplicable navy came to the door, but the development of the transaction was not the same as that of Dover

Brother Ming thinks differently.

The value of the two devil fruits is certainly not small. Although he already felt that using these two fruits as favors, he didn't want to collect money at all, but according to his understanding, after he said that the trade item this time does not require money, The other party should have understood what he meant by deepening cooperation.

Logically speaking, a smart person shouldn't waste his brains when he speaks. If he offers his sincerity, if the other party chooses to accept it, he should give him a contact method or something else. But Quinn doesn't follow the routine at all, and picks up the fruit without saying a word. went straight away.

also

He couldn't say nothing, he kindly told Doflamingo that if he wanted to give a gift next time, he would continue to make that phone call. In a sense, this could be regarded as establishing a communication channel, but for some reason, he always felt that this was the same as I thought differently.

「Dover, is this... a success?」

Looking at Quinn and Yamato who left in the Genesect, several cadres around him also felt that there was something wrong, but they had already taken off, and it was impossible for them to take down each other again.

「It should be... count...」

This is his first time trading with monsters in the New World, so he inevitably has some doubts about the trading style of the New World.

On the other side, Yamato, who had already left, looked at the two fruits in the box and felt weird. He didn't encounter any trouble, which was also different from her psychological prediction.

「He doesn't want money, he seems like a nice guy.」

Doflamingo received a good person card for his free behavior, and it was a good person card that he had never heard of.

"Good guy? That guy is just an idiot, Ms. Yamato, although there is a saying that the most expensive is the free one, but that saying doesn't apply here."

Quinn can naturally see what Doflamingo means, but now he is not qualified to talk about this kind of thing with the Beast Pirates. Farmers in Wano can find a devil fruit while doing farm work. Occasionally taking out two fruits doesn't mean much.

If you want the other party to favor you, your own status and strength must be higher than the other party's, at least equal to be effective. The gap between the two sides makes Doflamingo's behavior just flattery in Quinn's view.

Unless what he took out was a slate, this is almost a gold medal for avoiding death within the Beasts Pirates.

"I think so, how can a normal person sell things for free, but Jack should be very happy, these two fruits should be given to his deputy."

Jack has a strange hobby for elephants, including but not limited to liking the strength of elephants and eating grilled elephant steaks. If she guesses correctly, these two fruits will most likely be thrown to Jack's future deputy.

This is also related to the current internal rewards of Beasts. The highest level of reward is Arceus' complete ability grant, followed by Arceus' transformed devil fruit, and then the unmodified devil fruit is the same as the ordinary endower with skills. belongs to the third level.

If it is not a particularly powerful fruit, members of the Beasts Pirates usually want to acquire some skills, but no one will dislike devil fruits. Although they are afraid of water, they are powers that ordinary people do not have.

Chapter 502: Don't underestimate the landlord's daughter

Genesect continued to head south and returned to Oni Island, but on the way, Quinn made a proposal to Yamato.

「Yamato-san, how about we discuss something?」

"what?"

"Look, we brought 300 million Baileys for this deal, but that guy Doflamingo didn't ask for the money, so the money was saved."

300 million is the amount of the transaction they negotiated before. The ancient species is rare, but the price has not overflowed. It is only slightly higher than the ordinary animal type. After all, the ability of the animal type depends mostly on its own body strength, which is different from the natural type and the superhuman type. The powerful abilities brought by them vary greatly.

The treasures taken from the Kingdom of Corkia have been brought back to Ghost Island by Genesect in advance, and now they only have these trade shares left.

"so what."

"So...how about Ms. Yamato, let's split it up quietly, 150 million per person, this is a lot of pocket money."

Even for Quinn, 150 million is a huge amount of money. Anyway, it is Doflamingo who saves the money, and they will not care even if they split it quietly. It is enough to go back.

He used to make money like this when he was in MADS. MADS research funds have always been scarce, and everyone has their own research scope, and each research is a crazy money-burning project.

If you want more funds for yourself, you have to find a way by yourself.

Now Quinn already has sufficient research funds, so he no longer needs to worry about money, but as a person who maximizes hedonism, he still loves small money.

Although Hundred Beasts is the real ruler of Wano Country, all cadres have to spend money for activities in Wano Country in order not to collapse the economy of Wano Country.

Although he himself has a dividend, he can't refuse a windfall.

It's just that Quinn is acting with Yamato, and he has to find a way to persuade Yamato.

If the plan is successful, then he is the biggest beneficiary, and the biggest victim is of course Doflamingo. He originally wanted to spend money to change his face, but he was cut off by Quinn.

If he couldn't find the slate that Beasts were searching for, he would definitely not choose this method, but he is just a devil fruit supplier, not a robot cat, so he really can't find what he wants.

Doflamingo, who was still in Beihai, didn't know what he was going through, but Quinn's plan failed in the end because he hit a wall in Yamato.

"I do not want."

「One hundred and fifty million, you can buy a lot of things.」

"No, it's only 150 million Baileys. The adoptive father will definitely be unhappy when he finds out. By the way, Uncle Quinn, I will tell the foster father and the others what you think."

Quinn's painting style has gradually turned gray and white, with a vague tendency to be sloppy. This is not a big trouble. After all, his ability is there, and neither Kaido nor Arceus will be able to do it because of this small amount of money. what to do to him.

But a lecture and special training are absolutely unavoidable. This is a mistake he discovered. Although Yamato is sometimes a bit like the stupid son of a landlord's family, she is not really stupid. A mere 150 million, it is impossible for her shake.

To be precise, it is completely impossible to lure her with money. The Hundred Beasts Pirates is a famous warlord force in the New World, and the Hundred Beasts Fruits has also developed into a world-class consortium. More than 150 million is to her Really just pocket money.

She won't do stupid things like making parents unhappy because of such a little pocket money.

Quinn began to think about how to dissuade Yamato from speaking about this matter, it is impossible to silence

Silently, he didn't even dare to think about this idea, but he really couldn't figure out what Yamato wanted.

Just when he was about to sell miserably, Yamato took the initiative to give him a step.

"It's not impossible not to say, Uncle Quinn, I remember you said during the battle that you know all the skills of Germa, right?"

「Of course, Gaji's talent is no match for me!」

mentioned this

Quinn was full of confidence and immediately agreed with this.

"Okay, then you make me that fun battle suit, and I won't talk to my adoptive father about it after I make it. Tell me, GT-6, GT-7."

As he spoke, he also communicated with Genesect, otherwise they would have been able to report.

「Eh...I will try my best, but Ms. Yamato, you have to give me some time.」

It is not difficult to reproduce that battle suit alone, but Germa's battle suit is realized with the modification technology of the blood factor, even the children of Gaji cannot exchange battle suits.

Neither Arceus nor Kaido would agree to him modifying Yamato's bloodline factor. Fortunately, all she wants is a toy, and it can always be done with a little time, but it will take some time to stay up all night.

Even if they fly, it will take some time for them to return to Ghost Island, and during this time, everything on the sea is going on, Vegapunk is still studying Arceus steel in retreat, and occasionally in the closed laboratory There will be a sound of shock.

"It's amazing, it's amazing. With this, the memory alloy can appear perfectly, but... what is the unknown ingredient in this material? Isn't this something that can be combined by human beings? It's a legacy from ancient times... If there are more just a little bit

When Vegapunk complained that there was too little of these Arceus steels, a carriage of Arceus steels was being transported in the fringe area of the Beast Territory, Scotch's defense zone.

「Skoki! What Master Arceus gave you has been sent from Wano Country!」

The former captain of the island guard and now the captain of the Beasts Security Team, Gabriel found Scotch with the things he sent. As the first island occupied by the Beasts Pirates, Gabriel who lived on this island witnessed too many changes.

It can be said that he has witnessed the process of the island from ordinary to prosperous, and his heart has changed from resisting the rule of the pirates to accepting it, and even joined the other party himself.

At the beginning, he opposed the rule of pirates because of the tyranny of the previous occupants, but now his thinking has changed, and the banner of beasts has given the island peace that has not been seen for a long time under the dispute.

If it weren't for the flag and Scorch who stood in front of them, the pirates who had just entered the new world would be enough for them to drink a pot.

"coming."

Because it is the transformation of people, Scorch's tone is a little strange, but he can feel a kind of joy. This car of Arceus steel is his reward. Light Arceus Steel.

Pearman's Sun Coral can only evolve in regional form. Excluding this special case, Scorch is the only one among the top ten benefactors with initial form. He has been looking forward to this for a long time.

Chapter 503: "Smart" three-in-one magnet monster

He is a very special example among the benefactors. Due to the transformation of people, he has very little physical exercise. Although he has cultivated a certain amount of knowledge with the help of the ability of electric-type Pokémon, he cannot be armed. .

Defense depends entirely on the steel body and its own steel attributes. Whether domineering or fruit is stronger, everyone has their own opinions, but the top capable users all have good physical skills.

Even Polusalino, who was named by Zefa and said that he relied too much on his abilities, is the same. Scorch is not such a top powerhouse, but a relatively high-ranking cadre in the Beasts Pirates for the time being. With the new generation With the influx, his ranking has been dropping.

However, he himself is not dissatisfied with this. The people he mainly deals with are newcomers who have just entered the new world from Paradise. With their own abilities and special equipment, they can deal with most situations.

These new metals fused with Arceus steel are for his evolution.

The evolution of Magneto is called Magneto 3 in 1, as the name suggests, it is three magnets combined together.

There are two ways for Magneto to evolve, one of which is to evolve with the power of Pokémon as its level increases.

The other kind is that three magnet monsters are connected together by magnetic force and then fused into a brand new life, that is, a three-in-one magnet monster. The latter is more suitable for some magnet monsters with slightly less talent.

The quality is not enough to make up the quantity. When the three magnetites choose to combine, the power of the three magnetites naturally meets the conditions for evolution.

Aside from the shifted position of the magnets, Magnemite Trinity looks like Magnemite only quantitatively.

Skoki's own talent has come to an end, and he can only rely on this kind of external force to achieve evolution. As an island's long-term defense, he is a typical type who has little credit, but he is also an excellent employee after a long period of time.

He was qualified to have this ability after the Onijima Ranking Tournament ended, but it was delayed for some reason, so it was delayed until now.

During this period of time, he was repairing the house here. In order to facilitate the battle after evolution, he had to change his residence.

Because he lived in the factory area before, and the power of the three-in-one magneton is three times that of the small magneton. Due to the extremely strong magnetic force and voltage in the body, the body will involuntarily emit a kind of electric wave, which is very powerful for machinery. Strong destructive.

The more sophisticated the machine, the greater the impact. There are weapons factories and hospitals here, and there are many sophisticated instruments in it.

However, Scorch often enters a state of empowerment for convenience in life, and if he does not change his residence, it may have a great impact.

During this time, he was preparing for a new home.

After Gabriel sent the metals, Scorch felt a special breath from above. When the magnetic force he released came into contact with it, the metals also began to integrate into his body. A brand new evolution is here. start.

Originally, he wanted to see what Skokie would look like after he evolved, but as soon as Skokie started to evolve, a familiar siren sounded from the island. Once, most people on the island are used to it.novELusb.com

From panicking at the beginning to seek shelter, then calmly queuing to enter the shelter, and finally calmly drinking tea at home, these are the changes that have taken place on the island over the years.

Because most of the alarms are just in case, less than half of them can break through the coastal defense artillery, and the remaining half can endanger the interior of the island, not even one-tenth.

Only two supernovae have accidentally broken into the interior over the years, but both were quickly cleaned out.

Walking on the road, Gabriel even saw the old man relaxing in the sun, and at the same time saw the little Gabriel running over with a gun on his back.

In more than ten years, his son has also grown up and became a member of the security team, contributing his strength to protect his hometown.

"Father, have you seen Mr. Scotch? This group of pirates seems to be relatively strong. They are breaking through the defense line of the coastal defense artillery. After the alarm sounded, he did not respond."

This is

The division of pirate strength on the island is not based on the bounty, but on the specific expressiveness. Only the pirates who can break through the coastal defense artillery positions will notify Scotch.

"He has something to do right now... You arrange for those big-hearted people to take refuge first, and I will go to the defense line to have a look."

Speaking of Gabriel, he changed Gabriel Jr. to a safer position. As for Scorch, he will naturally rush over when he hears the siren after his evolution is over.

As soon as the voice fell, the siren above became intermittent. Scorch, who had several magnets on his body and two big eyeballs, had already appeared here.

「No need, I'm already here.」

The evolution process is not that complicated. With the absorption of special metals, Scorch's evolution has been completed, but the radio waves he emits are affecting some equipment. The siren sound is an example.

Little Gabriel continued to evacuate the others, while he flew to the coast with Gabriel.

"Skoge, is this evolution?" After so many years, he has become acquainted with Skoki, and there are not so many honorifics in the title.

"Yes, the power of evolution is really wonderful, and my thinking is very smooth now."

The three-in-one magnet monster will not double its own intelligence, especially Scorch is only a capable person, but after evolution, he has different abilities. Those two big eyes are the external performance. He not only has Gained a wider field of vision, and possessed the ability to think distractedly.

Distraction can become deadly in a fight of the same level, but now Scorch is different, he can think about three things at the same time without confusion, for example, he can write three different reports at the same time, or have nothing to do with himself Landlords.

This is not the essence, but similar to the ability of spiders to differentiate the consciousness in the body, and they have two assistants, the Minister of Body and the Minister of Arms.

During a battle, he can aim, charge, and fight at the same time, or prepare for a sneak attack while harassing the opponent with his mouth.

Coastal defense artillery positions, although the shells failed to take effect, they still did not stop bombing, even if it was just to waste their energy.

The capable man does not have a human arm, so he manipulated a metal telescope to float in front of his eyes using magnetism. Scorch saw how the opponent defended against the shells, and several swordsmen chopped open the shells with knives.

「Swordsmen... unlucky guys.」

Because of his own ability, the swordsmen are the ones he is most afraid of, and when Skokie observes them, the people on the ship are also watching Skokki.

「Captain, come out a weirdo, and write numbers on himself like a fool!」

Chapter 504: The Weather Hands of Small Weather Weapons Per Capita

Some people like to keep a low profile, while others like to show off. In an instant, they just mark their nails with nail polish. If you don't look carefully, you will just think it is a special manicure.

But Scotch is different, he is more ostentatious, his strength has almost reached the upper limit, in order to cherish the days when the numbers were still small, he not only marked the numbers on his shoulders, but also wrote big numbers on his chest and the coat behind him 8.

The Hundred Beasts Pirates know that this is a confirmation of status, but outsiders don't know it. In the eyes of these newcomers to the new world, this behavior is even stupid.

Only those who have dealt with Beasts often understand this ranking mechanism, and those who come into contact with them for the first time can only rely on guessing.

"Don't be careless, this is a new world. Compared with the first half of the great route, the people here are much stronger."

They have experienced battles before and have a certain understanding of the new world, but they won that battle. They only defeated some defeated dogs who were lingering in the new world. They didn't understand the gap in strength, so they still felt swollen in their hearts. ambition.

"Little ones, prepare to dock. This is our first battle. Before becoming the One Piece, let's defeat the so-called emperor of the sea! Let those addicted to external forces know that the body is the foundation!"

"Oh!"

Under the leadership of their captain, the pirate ship continued to rush towards the island, and Scorch also noticed something was wrong.

The coastal defense artillery of the Beasts Pirates has a much longer range than the artillery of ordinary pirates, but this distance is enough for even the worst artillery to attack the target, but the opposing pirate ship has still not fired a single shot so far.

Looking at the pirate flags on the sails, Scorch didn't recognize who they were. There were too many pirates on the sea, so naturally he couldn't remember so many flags.

Compared with most pirate groups, this pirate flag is very simple, with an ordinary skull drawn on the two crossed knives.

The pirates on the ship have a characteristic, that is, those who have no ability, are all swordsmen or people with physical skills. They were born on an island in the first half of the great voyage. They used to be gangsters on the island. The idea of the island is to develop the body. strength.

Whether it is the ability of the devil fruit or the firearms and armor, in the customs of the island, they are the embodiment of the weak, and they also defeated some capable people during the voyage, which also made them believe in this idea.

It was because of this idea that they didn't fire the guns. There were no artillery on their ships. Even if they met at sea, their choice was to engage in boarding battles.

And since they sailed, they have come into contact with some people in the underground world, and they also know the news that the Hundred Beasts Pirates have purchased a large number of devil fruits.

For example, the captain told his men to be careful, but still provoked an unmatched enemy.

Relying on good swordsmanship, they have a way to deal with the shells, but this has nothing to do with Scotch, he is using his ability at this time.

After using his ability, his legs would have been transformed into big magnets, but now the situation has changed. The other two big eyeballs appeared at the position of the hip bones, and the rotation range was extremely large, which gave him a very wide field of vision. The positions are turned into two magnets.

The change of the left hand is the same, two slender U-shaped magnets, and the right hand is holding the modified rotary machine gun. At this time, he is holding his right hand high, and an unknown electromagnetic wave is being emitted from him.

This is the ability of the three-in-one magneton. With the three-in-one magneton as the center, the area with a radius of one kilometer will cause the temperature to rise slightly due to the special radio waves it emits.

As the temperature rises, water will be evaporated to form rain clouds, which will eventually form the same effect as a thunderstorm.

The wild three-in-one magnet monsters will gather together to cause a larger thunderstorm cloud, absorbing the energy they need from the lightning in nature.

In combat, thunderstorms also mean that the hit rate of thunder has become higher.

Among many Pokémon users, the weather has gradually integrated into their fighting habits. It can be said that they have small weather weapons per capita.

The scope of the thundercloud is concentrated over the ocean, it is still the same, he does not want the other party to dock.

When the ship was still some distance away from the coast, Scorch had already flown over.

"This is our territory, explain why you are here."

This is his fixed line. It means a declaration of war since they ignored the warning and broke into this place before, but some people who want to join will do the same in order to show their force, so Scorch will conduct a routine inquiry.

While asking, the magnet in his hand also began to condense currents. Although there will be people who take the initiative to join, they are very few after all, and most of them are here to provoke trouble.

This group of pirates also proved themselves with their actions. The two who blocked the shells before had rushed towards Skoki with their knives in their hands.

「Communication failed, it seems that you have chosen to be hostile.」

Skoki's dispersed thinking continued to launch special power into the sky while speaking, and the body also condensed new attacks. The two people clearly felt the difference in the weapons in their hands. Today's knife has become extremely heavy.

This is why Skokie is not afraid of swordsmen. Except for a very small number of people, the magnetic force of ordinary swordsmen facing him is equivalent to a self-defeating arm. His vision captured all of this without being too knowledgeable.

Not to mention normal swinging of knives, under the influence of strong magnetic force, some people even uncontrollably slashed at their partners beside them.

「Is this your level? Then you can leave your last words.」

Boom!

A thunderbolt flashed in the sky, Scorch's battle arena was ready, but before he could make a move, a sword energy suddenly flew out and slashed at his chest, the huge force made him fly in mid-air without stopping. It flew upside down for a distance.

「Captain!」

「You know our captain is amazing, you magnet bastard! Your tricks are useless against the captain!」

Magnetism is only part of his ability, the closer he is to him, the stronger his magnetism will be, the long-distance flying slash is the best way to deal with him.

「Captain, let's knock down this weird guy who likes to write numbers on his body!」

Zila Zila~

The person who said that Scorch's numbers were strange suddenly heard a sound of electric current. Before he could react, several electric currents struck from a distance, and at the same time, Scorch's deep voice came.

"Don't look down on my honor, when will you rookies control your mouths."

Hearing what he regarded as an honor being insulted by the other party, Scorch's inner anger has also risen, and these pirates saw that there was only a faint white mark on his chest, and they all showed disbelief.

"How is it possible, the captain has already comprehended Zhan Gang..."

「Steel cut? Do you think the metal created by the mighty power of Lord Arceus is the same as ordinary steel!」

Accompanied by the roar of thunder in the sky, the magnets on Scorch's body were surrounded by bursts of electricity, and the rotary machine gun on his right arm also began to spin and warm up.

While the electric current was released, the machine gun began to pour out firepower, and the magnets on the legs also began to condense electric balls.

NO.8 Scotch, the full fire mode has been activated...

Chapter 505: "Electric Fish" Behavior and Quinn

Although the appearance of the capable Skokie is more curious, it cannot hide the advantages of this state. At this time, he is like a small sky fortress, pouring firepower down wantonly.

The deputy brain is responsible for aiming and recharging, while his main brain is perfecting the details of the battle.

The hit rate of thunder in a thunderstorm is much higher than that in a sunny day. With the blessing of the locking skill, the electromagnetic cannon that is difficult to hit has also been greatly strengthened, and the first target of the Scorch electromagnetic cannon is not a person, but it's a boat.

People who can fly have an advantage in destroying enemy ships first in sea combat. Those people can cut shells, but they can't cut his electromagnetic gun made of electric current.

The moment these ordinary people who are not proficient in armed color touch the electromagnetic gun with the blade, a strong current will spread along the blade to their bodies.

Boom! Boom!

After two loud noises, two large holes appeared on their ship, and sea water began to pour into the cabin along the holes. This ship carrying the dreams of a group of newcomers had ended its mission ahead of schedule.

The people on the ship were trying to save the ship, but it was useless. The electromagnetic gun launched at high speed had left irreparable wounds on the ship, and Scorch's attention was also on the captain of the other party.

This man who can unleash flying slash is the only person who can pose a threat to him. Although he is a modified human, there are still a large number of human organs in his body. pose a certain threat to him.

The sub-brain brought by the three-in-one magnet monster is equivalent to allowing him to have a fire control system. At this time, the rotary machine gun on the right arm is constantly changing the target of its attack.

Ordinary crew members couldn't attack Scorch, they couldn't even get close to him, in this case, their captain chose to stay close to Scorch.

The direct slashing power of the blade is much greater than the flying slash. The flying slash just now showed that his attack was ineffective. In this case, he could only make this choice.

The opponent's ability is related to magnetism, which can be seen by a blind person. The big magnets that replaced the hands and feet are too obvious. The moment he got close to Skokie, he clearly noticed that his knife became heavier. Knives have also become extremely laborious.

But being able to become the captain shows that his subordinates recognize his strength. Unlike those ordinary subordinates who cannot even swing a knife under the influence of Scorch's ability, he can barely control his own blade.

Bang!

A burst of saber light slashed, and the barrel of Scorch's right arm was cut off by him, and his blade continued to slash towards Scorch's chest unabated.

At the moment when he cut off the barrel of his gun, a hint of joy appeared on the captain's face, but when he saw Scorch's playful eyes, a bad premonition suddenly appeared in his heart.

He suddenly sensed a strange force coming from the blade, and this time it was not repelling his blade, but flying towards Skoki by absorbing his blade.

It's just that nothing like the severed barrel happened. His weapon is now firmly locked on Scorch's chest, and a huge magnet is also placed across his head.

「The gun barrel is the most vulnerable part of my body, you don't think you can get close because you are strong enough?」

The swordsman's personal slash can make the attack more powerful, but for Scorch, the closer the distance, the stronger the magnetic force he releases.

This captain's strength is indeed stronger, but after being close to the body, his strength is not enough to get rid of Scorch's magnetic force.

As for his own safety, as long as he guards the exposed parts, he will not worry about these newcomers hurting him. It is a brand-new body integrated with Arceus steel, and he has absolute confidence in the power of Arceus.

"To be honest, your skills are far inferior to those of the samurai. Although you are not bad among the rookies, you have picked the wrong opponent!"

He also recognized the strength of some samurai in Wano, and most people in the open sea were not as good as those powerful samurai. When Skoge's voice fell, a strong current was also flowing between the magnets.

Boom!

The thunder in the sky slammed towards Scotch. This is the lightning that fell from him. For him, this kind of lightning can't hurt him, and it can also enhance the power of his own attack.

But for that captain, the thunder that fell from the sky plus the electric current released by Scorch was a fatal attack.

As the clouds in the sky dissipated, there was no trace of the pirate ship on the sea surface, only a few fishing boats were left to salvage things. They were not fishing, but people.

The captain did not die after enduring the duet of thunder, but passed out from serious injuries, which aroused a little interest in Scorch. If the troublemakers had a little strength, the pirates of beasts would look at them highly.

Such people are usually held in custody, and those who are willing to surrender are sent to the peripheral forces, and those who are not willing are sent to mining. Now they are salvaging people who have been stunned by Scotch, and occasionally they can catch a few sea fish.

This kind of thing can only be regarded as the norm in the new world. Every pirate with a fixed territory will face this kind of thing, and even the civilians on the island are used to it.

「Is this your new body? It's really powerful.」

Looking at Scotch, who has only a few shallow white marks on his body, Gabriel is a little envious of this body.

「Of course, this is the power of Lord Arceus, I am NO.8,

If you can't even defend this place, you will also live up to the trust of Brother Kaidou and the others. "」

It wasn't just Scotch's territory that was invaded. Mandelfish also dealt with a group of newcomers. The difference was that he didn't keep any prisoners, and he was in a bad mood when he was interrupted for a date.

On Ghost Island, after a long journey, Quinn and Yamato have returned here. In order not to be reported by Yamato, Quinn went directly to the New Tree of Omniscience, and he was going to consult some ancient documents.

After O'Hara's materials were shipped back, he discovered the difference in those materials, which even recorded some issues that Vegapunk had raised in the past. With those materials, many researches will become much easier.

According to the original timeline, O'Hara's book will be brought back to Elbaf by the giants, and Vegapunk will use his extraordinary talent to memorize the content of the book there, so that his research will advance by leaps and bounds.

But now all these books have been cut off by beasts, which has slowed down some research on Vegapunk. These materials are collected by O'Hara from various ruins around the world.

Although the World Government also has some records, it is not so easy for Vegapunk to read these materials from there.

Chapter 506: I think you're a fake kaido

The world government is downplaying the blank hundred years, but the things left by the huge kingdom in the blank hundred years are constantly affecting the development of later generations. The ancient times are not necessarily backward, but may also be extremely developed ultra-ancient civilizations.

Kuin began to go to the library for his own future, and Yamato also returned to Onijima smoothly.

「Father, look, we brought back the fruit!」

Yamato walked in with two fruits as if asking for credit, as if expecting praise.

「Good job, anything interesting on the way?」

Appropriate recognition and praise are beneficial to the development of positivity. Yamato is getting older, and in a few years she will be able to go out on her own. According to her luck, it is not surprising to find a slate and come back.

"It's okay, I watched the movie played by Brother Tezolo, and I saw very interesting combat uniforms, but I don't know where those nasty white suits came from, by the way, foster father, GT-9 and GT-10 How's it going?"

「It's been fixed long ago, you don't have to worry about this.」

Genesect's spare body has been stored in the warehouse. The two self-destructed Genesects returned to Ghost Island first, and they had already replaced their new bodies.

At the same time, Hundred Beasts is also inquiring about the details of the Kokia Kingdom from the underground world. How the CPO team got there is a very serious question.

Although Corkia's royal family has high suspicions, they will not do anything without conclusive evidence. Leaking information about employers and attacking employers are taboos in the underground world.

Just wanting to investigate the secret information of the world government is a bit laborious after all, and I haven't seen any results yet.

"By the way, this is for you, and the task of raising it will be entrusted to you."

A giant egg more than one meter high appeared in front of Yamato. It was just created not long ago, and it was also a part of the Giant Beasts plan.

Sky Island's giant Monarch Snake, Wano Country's Yanwu King, these two are currently super-sized Pokémon, and they don't need to be gigantic to have a huge size.

But apart from them, there are no new members for the time being. This giant egg is one of the new members, but limited by its growth mode, what Arceus created is a huge egg.

Different from the previous Elizabeth's egg which had patterns on it, this egg is very smooth, and the whole body presents a stone turquoise color.

Yamato is almost 15 this year, and girls grew faster than boys when they were young, and this one-meter-long dome only reached her waist.

The power of Viridian can make her feel the fetal movement inside the eggshell, but this life has not grown enough to restore her.

「Father, what's in here?」

"When you hatch it, you'll know, this is a wonderful baby."

Here, Arceus made a fool of himself and didn't tell Yamato what kind of Pokémon was in the egg, but it didn't affect her and returned to her room happily holding the egg.

"Dianci, are you there? How about making me a brace, we're going to have a new partner soon."

She couldn't find a suitable place to store the egg for a while, but she found Diancie. Her ability to fabricate diamonds is called a bug, and she can make anything of any shape she wants.

"No problem, it's very simple."

With the help of Diancie and her lone Genesect, a brand new litter was built, and Tutu painted it a new color, giving the future companion a new version of himself. new home.

「By the way, what about Jack and Maria? Are they still training?」

「Maria should be with Ms. Riko in Hanakai, Jack went to sea to train himself, Ulti and Peggy Wan should be on top.」

Tianxi pointed in the direction of the ceiling, and Yamato knew what this meant, and then put down the milk fairy who was making out with him first, opened the window and climbed up along the wall.

She has brought the matter of not taking the usual path to the extreme. Diancie's meaning is very clear. Ulti and Peggy Wan are undergoing someone's cruel training, but everyone he did not hear the sound, which means that the other party is not on the roof, but on the upper level of the sky island training ground.

No trouble for the resting Millennium Dragon, this time Yamato chose to climb up the vine by himself.

As she gradually approached the training ground, she also heard a familiar scream. This sound seemed familiar to her, and that was how she came here back then.

Although she is still not out of the sea of suffering, under the premise of Kaido letting the sea go, she already has a little bit of strength to resist, so she feels like someone who has passed through.

The screams didn't last long, which meant that Kaido's training had temporarily stopped. When she climbed up, she happened to see Ulti and Peggy Wan lying on the island cloud.

「Little Ur, Xiao Pei, I'm back!」

According to the past habits, Urti would make a strong rebuttal to her address, roughly saying "Don't call me Little Ur! Only I can call him Little Pei!"

But not this time, she saw a different look in Ulti's eyes, she seemed to be looking forward to her return.

In fact, it was exactly the same. Ulti never thought that one day she would miss Yamato so much.

Yamato went out with Quinn for almost half a year, while Jack and Maria began to take the initiative to go out to exercise because they were getting older. Iska and Perona did not have the need for Kaido to train personally because of their lower talents.

In this case, Kaido's main energy was put on Ulti and Peggy Wan. In order to make the children of old friends stronger, they realized what Kaido's special training is like.

Coupled with Ulti's daily stubbornness, they have had a very troubled life in the past six months. Kaido previously meant when Yamato came back and when they could rest. Life-saving straw.

The last power in the body was squeezed out, and she directly dragged Yamato to Kaido.

「Hey! Your own biological daughter is back, go find trouble with her! Xiaopei, let's go!」

As he said that, he grabbed Peggy Wan and jumped off the island cloud. According to Peggy Wan's voice feedback, he should still have the ability to fly, and seeing that Kaido didn't catch up, Ulti's excited voice also spread come up.

Looking at Urti who turned around and ran away, Yamato suddenly realized that she seemed to have come to the door by herself.

"Hey, it seems that the two little guys haven't reached their limit yet, they can adjust their strength."

Kaido walked up to Yamato while speaking slightly scary words, but this time it was different from what she expected, he just put his big hand on Yamato's head.

「It's a good job this time.」

At the same time, a reward order also floated in front of her, but what Kaido got was Yamato's suspicious eyes.

-

Chapter 507: Father and Daughter, Yamato Who Cast Himself into a Snare

Kaido is not a qualified father. There is no doubt about this. It can be seen from the outrageous operations made by his raised daughter in the original timeline. Whether it is thrown into the enemy pile or exploded the bracelet, it is not a normal person can do.

But on an individual level, he took special care of this daughter. Although she kept saying that she would become the stupid enemy who left her wounds, Kaido still taught him what he had mastered.

Lei Ming gossip is his own martial art, if he didn't teach it on purpose, Yamato would not be able to learn it at all, and being beaten blindly is different from being beaten with moves.

The same is true for the fruit of Dakou Zhenshen. Although Yamato said that she ate it accidentally, and she didn't want to eat the fruit, but it is a very rare phantom beast species. Without Kaido's instruction, Yamato would not be able to get this fruit at all.

He wasn't a good father, and his deformed childhood led to different ideas, but in that case, he still gave Yamato enough strength and followed her own opinion to a certain extent.

However, this strength was also created by Yamato. It can only be said that it is all the fault of Voldemort's diary.

But it is different now. Although it is a little different from what Kaido expected, at least Yamato's growth has not been skewed, and under the strengthening of Arceus, Yamato's strength has made him more and more satisfied.

The news spread faster. Before she and Quinn returned to Wano Country, the reward order for her and Quinn appeared.

Quinn's reward reached 1.5 billion Baileys, surpassing the peak of his original timeline, but the composition of the 1.5 billion is more complicated, and because of Quinn, Arceus's reward also increased to 2.88 billion.

Vegapunk, the navy and the world government are not completely of one mind, and he can only talk about some things.

The things about the beasts made them more and more difficult to understand. Finally, someone came up with a plan. No matter who was responsible for it, they couldn't deal with it now anyway.

In the end, such a result was obtained. In fact, the mechanical version of Genesect has something to do with Quinn this time. At least he is a manufacturer of shells. Although the core technology is made by Arceus, he also Be involved.

Of course, these are not reasons for Kaido to be happy.

Onihime-Yamato

A bounty of 170 million Baileys is offered

DEADORALIVE

This reward order belonging to Yamato is the reason why Kaido is happy. He recognizes that force determines value. Although he knows the extent of Yamato's force value, it does not mean that outsiders also know.

The reward order issued by the world government is to arrest others, but in the eyes of the pirates, this is a certification. Yamato's reward shows that her strength has been certified by the enemy, which is a performance in Kaido's view The most appropriate way to value.

"Hey, 170 million, 100 million more than Lao Tzu."

Although Bailey has been inflated a lot compared to when Kaido was younger, it is still a huge amount. It is not easy to offer a reward of over 100 million for the first time. Even Arceus' first reward was only 5,000 Bailey .

After Yamato has met his psychological expectations to a certain extent, he will still give affirmation. He has learned the concept of entertaining and teaching from Arceus at the beginning, so giving affirmation is naturally the same.

But Yamato still didn't react. Kaido's praise was completely unheard of for her. She was even moved for a while, but the emotion lasted less than a minute.

"Okay Yamato, you've been out for long enough, let me see if your strength has regressed, and if you can afford this bounty."

Said Kaido moved away from Yamato, and then his face was gradually wrapped in blue scales.

「Wait! Father, what are you doing?!」

"Oh? Now you don't need to release water, don't you forget, I am also a capable person! Lei Ming... gossip!"

Island clouds and land have similar properties, in Kaido a stick hits

After the above, Yamato confirmed that this Kaido is the real Kaido, but she also ushered in a new **** life.

And under Dao Yun, Ulti patted Peggy Wan under him.

"Let's go Xiaopei, that guy Yamato is back, that idiot Kaido shouldn't have time to take care of us, they should be very happy to hear the sound."

Originally, they could have gone down long ago, but Ulti deliberately made Peggy Wan wait for a while, just to hear the voice, otherwise she would feel unbalanced.

「Sister, then it's not good to call Yamato-san and Captain Kaido.」

"Don't worry about it, this family is weird, the most normal one is actually the white-haired adoptive father, let's go, do you want to be dragged back by that pervert Kaido!"

「Obviously you asked me to wait a while」

Although he was complaining, Peggy Wan still took practical actions and flew towards a "safe" place.

Compared with being tortured by Kaido and being tortured by Ulti, he would rather choose the latter.

...

Yamato, who threw himself into the trap, once again entered the hot water training. The advantage of the air training ground is that the feeling of the earthquake will not be transmitted to Onijima.

In Arceus' office, Shaina appeared here again. She came to report some things and apply for some things.

In fact, some things are not that complicated for her. Apart from Kaido and Yamato, it is not difficult for her to get something from Arceus. The red chains that specifically restrain other Pokémon have been given to her. Arceus' trust has already been explained.

It's just that she guards the so-called rules very much, usually in the spirit of not being troublesome if she can, without a suitable reason, she will not apply for things based on personal preferences, and now she is reporting some things respectfully thing.

For example, the recent development of the Arceus religion, the further improvement of Misu's teachings, etc.

"Master Arceus, Sister Missu has a request."

"what?"

"It's the girl Lamy's problem. Although the therapy used to treat the leftover platinum lead disease, the platinum lead has penetrated into her bone marrow, and it is difficult to remove it with external force. Now there is a vague sense of relapse."

People's physiques are not the same, Misu is fine, but Lamy is obviously more affected.

"Misu has done a lot of things over the years, and I have also talked to her about her achievements. If possible, please give Rami the ability to stinky mud."

This is the method she can think of to solve the problem from the root. Alola's stinky mud that can absorb platinum lead is obviously not afraid of platinum lead, so let her have a similar ability once and for all.

Chapter 508: Smelly Mud and Mantis Fruit

Platinum lead disease is heavy metal poisoning. Heavy metal poisoning and ordinary poisoning are not the same concept, so the smelly mud was chosen at the beginning. Knowing that the Alola smelly mud can deal with this situation, there is no need to try other methods.

Shaina is not a Pokémon doctor, and there is no Pokémon illustration book in her mind. This is the way she can think of to deal with the sequelae of Rummy.

Most people are not qualified to actively choose abilities, and they don't know how many abilities they have, and for the vast majority of people, they are not qualified to choose abilities.

Animals' physical growth and the abilities of phantom beasts, it's a blessing to be able to acquire abilities. In comparison, the impact of appearance is not very serious. For example, Scorch seems very curious after becoming capable, but he still enjoys it.

Alola Smelly Mud is also very special. Its body is a mud-like product, so its ability performance is also different from other Pokémon. Compared with the animal type, its expression is more like the natural type.

It can even be regarded as a poisonous swamp fruit. The body can enter the poisonous mud state at any time, and it can release deadly toxins while being immune to physical attacks.

Countless toxins have already reached a mutated state in the smelly mud. Except for the special antidote made by the tree fruit, there is no special medicine for this toxin in the outside world.

Alola stinky slime is different from ordinary stinky slime and does not emit disgusting smell.

Under Shaina's application, Arceus agreed to this request.

"Bring people in, they've been waiting outside long enough."

The aura of the two big living people couldn't hide from him, but for some reason, he had a feeling that something was wrong with Misu's appearance.

Although she didn't come up with any embarrassing teachings, the performance of this fanatic is very different from that of Shaina. Sometimes he can't understand the thinking of this religious personnel.

Misu, who came here, had already expressed her intention to come here with Shaina. She wanted to witness the process of Arceus' ability empowerment, and then preserve it in the form of painting as a mural in the future church.

Compared with the monastery that was just a prototype at the beginning, the monastery is now undergoing reconstruction, and the design drawings were handed in by Misu himself. It was not until that day that Shaina knew that Misu was actually a famous designer and painter of the original church division.

Now the new monastery has basically been built, only these decorations are missing, although Misu has drawn a lot of content based on the description and what he has seen and heard in Wano country, such as the eight million Pokémon Grass Head God, the World-Destroying Holy Flame And so on, but it's still short of some glorious content.

There is no doubt that the empowerment of abilities is the content that best embodies all this.

The process of Arceus' ability empowerment is not a secret. Almost all the internal members of Beasts have seen that moment, and that is also their goal, so Shaina did not report this trivial matter to Arceus alone.

Lamy came here under the leadership of Misu, and performed a slightly complicated set of etiquette according to what she arranged in Arceus. Take it to heart.

For her who lost her memory, Missu lied that she was her biological mother. Her original intention was to hope that Lamy would forget everything about Frevans, but as a fanatic, she naturally had a certain bias in teaching.

At this time, Lamy does not have a lot of white spots on his body like Luo does, but he can see some small spots like freckles.

「Lord, your glory spreads across the sea, your faithful believers long for your mercy, may you grant Mira the ability to cure the disease, and I will continue to work hard to spread your gospel...」

"Stop, Shaina has already told me that your hard work can give Lamy that power."

He is used to the honorifics, but he can't get used to the words like reading the Bible. If the spread of this belief is not conducive to the search for slates, he might be the first to reform this sect.

But it is not without benefits. Although some prayers are not used to him, as a professional religious person, she is more professional than Shaina in terms of preaching.

Just as Shaina requested, the ability was selected as the form of Alola's smelly mud, and the process of granting it went smoothly, but Arceus always felt that Misu's eyes were shining. If there were special effects, her eyes would have turned into stars. shape.

...

"Let her maintain the transformed state of a capable user. If she persists for a period of time every day, the things in her body will be decomposed and digested soon."

The transformation of animals has always been the most basic ability, even people who are not full-time fighters can master it, not to mention that Lamy is not a powerless person, she is Luo's biological sister, and she has the same blood in her body. .

Although the bloodline is not absolute, for example, the daughter of a certain Oden has no talent, but at least there is a certain possibility that Misu did not tell Lamy to do nothing, but train her in a specific direction. If possible, she may Will become a member of the Inquisition.

However, the current Arceus religion does not have this institution, at most it is a Holy See knight.

After being empowered, Lamy did not have the novelty-seeking style of Scotch, but a fairy-tale-like style. This style is actually closer to the BIG MOM Pirates than the Beasts Pirates.

Although the pupils and the mouth were stained with a different color, the body did not change much, but the hair showed a slight melting posture, and the sleeves and skirt were dragged on the ground as if they were melting, and they were full of colorful stripes .

And those toxin crystals are distributed on the body like a pendant, and she herself already knows how to use this ability, and then there is a set of prayers the same as Misu, and then she left here with Misu .

"Shaina, the things you wanted before are also reserved for you, you can figure out the rest, I'm going out for a while."

「Yes, do you want me to accompany you?」

「No need, just do your own thing.」

It is still the familiar way of looking for the stone slabs, the Shiyuan continued to move towards the unfamiliar sea area, and Shaina also got the thing that Arceus mentioned.

A modified devil fruit, which is the modified form of the bug fruit-mantis that she found back then, and this fruit was what she wanted for Iska.

There is a big difference between the transformed fruit and the ability given, for example, it does not need to be given in person, it can be saved in advance, and it can be more quickly familiarized with the power or develop the fruit.

The power brought by Mega and Gigamax is equally powerful, but there is still a certain difference between them and awakening. The awakening of the fruit also has its own advantages, and it is not without advantages to speak of.

-

Chapter 509: Iron Muscle - Giant Claw Mantis

Whether it is the endowment of abilities or the transformation of fruits, ordinary members are things that cannot be met. Shaina also came to the training ground with the fruits left behind and a manual. training silhouette.

That was Iska, who had just passed her 12th birthday, and her training method was also very special. Although it was just an ordinary obstacle run, the obstacles included fire rings and other very special things.

If you don't know it, you might think this is an animal training ground. In fact, this is Iska trying to overcome her fear. Ever since she came here, she has a sense of fear of fire.

Whenever I see a scene of a large number of flames burning, the fire that night will appear in my mind, and she lost everything that night, and whenever I think of it, I will always fall into fear involuntarily.

Facing fear is one way to overcome fear, but sometimes fear is not so easy to overcome.

Shaina watched as Iska slipped and fell due to physical exhaustion and fear, and her face might be burned by the fire in the next moment, but she didn't move at all. Before Iska was burned, a tail had already swept away. past.

The human body is afraid of ordinary flames, but Pokémon are not.

「If you are afraid of fire, stay away from it. Do you have to do this kind of training?!」

Ulti's unfriendly tone came from the side. In terms of age, Iska is three years older than her, but this is completely invisible now.

「I don't have the talent like yours, so all I can do is work hard... This time it was an accident...」

After such a long time of overcoming training, she still can't walk when she sees the fire, but after exhausting her physical strength, that strange feeling came out again.

"It's up to you, Xiaopei, let's go!"

She was just passing by here, but from Iska's footsteps, she saw the precursor of something going to happen. Kaido's training was not in vain.

In addition to costing her life, the improvement brought about is also real, and she also saw Shaina, so it's better to go play with Peggy Wan in this case.

On the way to leave, Peggy Wan questioned Ulti.

「Sister, don't you care about her? Why don't you tell her well?」

"I don't care about her, even if she really burns herself, it doesn't matter to me."

Besides being stubborn and likes to tease Peggy Wan, Ulti is okay in other aspects. For example, he always thinks that Kaido is an idiot, but wants him to be the new One Piece, but the problem of stubbornness is basically hopeless.

Back then, Shaina might have been able to correct it if she was more ruthless, but after Shaina corrected Ulti's attitude towards Arceus, she didn't care much about other things.

If it wasn't for Ulti's meeting, Peggy Wan would have been unable to bear it, although he prefers to be alone now.

On the other side, Shaina picked up the fire ring that fell on the ground. The burnt iron ring had no effect on her, and her skin could completely withstand the high-temperature burn.

"Iska, it's a good thing to work hard, but you must also pay attention to your own safety."

"I..."

"I don't mean to blame you. I got this from the Holy Beast. Human talent has limits. Ordinary people can't change it, but we are different."

As he spoke, he put the fruit in Iska's hands, and the meaning he expressed was already self-evident.

"What's the matter? The goal of your efforts is more power. A little help from outside is not bad. Most people here are capable people. With this, you can better achieve your goals."

...

The fruit has disappeared, and only the sound of Iska retching is left in the empty training ground. Only Yamato has enjoyed the devil fruit that eliminates weaknesses.

At this moment, Iska couldn't find the right words to describe the weird smell, but the change was obvious. Within a few minutes, Iska's appearance changed dramatically.

The clothes on the back began to swell, and then a pair of crimson exoskeletons popped out, and two pairs of transparent insect wings also popped out from them. The exoskeletons were obviously used to protect the insect wings.

However, compared to ordinary exoskeletons, the structure of Iska's body is more like steel, and the changes are still going on, with the crimson iron armor gradually wrapping her body.

Insect-type card - giant pincer mantis.

Its own attributes are very strong, and it is very similar to Iscar's current development direction, both of which are in the direction of quick attack, but in a sense, its compatibility with Iscar is very strange. One is that the attributes make it afraid of fire, and the other is There is a resistance to the fire in my heart.

"Did you feel it? This is the power of the Holy Beast. Only he in this world can give people the power of a phantom beast according to his own mood. This is very different from ordinary praying mantises."

Shaina patted Iska on the shoulder, and Iska also felt the changes in her body. Compared with her previous self, her strength and physical fitness had undergone qualitative changes.

The giant pincer mantis has a body as hard as steel. This hardness is not only the exoskeleton, but even the muscles of the body are made of special metals.

This metal muscle endows the giant pincer mantis with unparalleled explosive power and strong defense power, and ordinary attacks cannot hurt it in the slightest.

And this steel muscle is also the reason why it has a slender body, but it has amazing attack power.

Compared to Charlotte Lingling, who is called a steel balloon, Giant Pincer Mantis is a solid body of steel, but Charlotte Lingling is stronger in strength, and her steel is just an adjective.

At this time, Iska's hands have turned into two large pincers, which are the most powerful weapons of the giant pincer mantis. Most of the things caught by the steel-evolved giant pincers can almost be crushed.

The pair of pincers account for one-third of the body weight, which is why it is so powerful, and because of this weight, the giant pincer mantis does not have to use clamping, it can choose to use smashing.

The pattern on the giant pliers is its protective color. During the high-speed movement, this pair of pliers can make the enemy misunderstand, so as to better protect their own heads.

Clang, clang, there was a crisp metallic sound when the pliers collided. Looking at the two pairs of insect wings behind him, Iska flapped his wings and wanted to fly, but it didn't work.

"Don't try it, your ability is called Giant Pincer Mantis, and its wings are not used in this way."

From the note left by Arceus, Shaina learned some characteristics of the giant pincer mantis.

In a sense, the giant pincer mantis and Gulardo have the same fate. Although the giant pincer mantis has two pairs of wings, the giant pincer mantis cannot fly because those wings cannot drive its metal body.

These two pairs of wings are not flying tools for the giant pincer mantis, but radiators.

Chapter 510: Inheritance of the Mantis, the ghost ship! ?

Because the shells and muscles are made of steel, protracted battles may cause their bodies to dissolve, so most giant pincer mantises adhere to the quick-fix style of play.

Because long-term fighting will cause their body temperature to rise sharply, but in the wild, the giant pincer mantis cannot guarantee that it will never encounter this situation, so it has evolved wings for heat dissipation.

The giant pincer mantis seems to be flying, but in fact it relies on the explosive power of its legs to move at high speed, but because of its high jump height and its wings cooling its body, others will have the illusion that it is flying.

"Can't fly..."

Flying is the dream of many people. Countless people have wings to soar in the sky in their sleep. Even in the world of pirates, only a few people can fly. If you have wings but cannot fly, you will still feel a sense of loss.

"No, it can also fly, but the way of flying is very special."

The giant pincer mantis can rely on its wings to allow itself more time in the air, and it can also glide when the wind is strong enough and the height is sufficient, which is the same as the thousand-face avoidance.

"I will ask Elizabeth to teach you when I have time. If you are brave enough, you can ask Peggy Wan to teach you. He is also very good at skating."

Due to the difference in flying methods, Peggy Wan also started from taxiing. Although he has mastered the principle of jet flight now, what he has learned will not be forgotten.

"But now there is one more thing."

As Shaina picked up the iron ring, some flames rose from her palm, re-igniting the fire ring.

"Iska, the flame is not that scary, you have to overcome this fear, come, hold it."

Giant Pincer Mantis has weak fire, but it also depends on the degree of fire. The temperature of the flames emitted by those Pokémon is much higher than the normal flame temperature, so Zhiye and Team Rocket's physique can withstand lightning strikes and fires every day.

Ordinary flames can't threaten the giant pincer mantis. Now Iska has the ability to rush out of the fire even if she is exposed to the fire again. She can completely extinguish the ordinary flames before they hurt her.

"But..."

"The strong need a heart. Believe in the power of the holy beast. Your new body is not so easy to be injured. Now control the shape of your hand a little bit."

Some Pokémon themselves look no different from humans. There is usually no big difference between the beast form and the human form of such Pokémon users, and the biggest manifestation is in the hands.

Giant Pincer Mantis's animal form arms are completely two pairs of giant pincers, but in the full body form, the pair of pincers become like gloves attached to the outside, revealing the hands attached by the insect armor.

A scar can be seen on the worm armor of one of her hands, which is the trace left by the original flame, and it is also the root of her fear of the flame.

Even with new abilities, she still felt a sense of fear. After a long time, she mustered up the courage to extend her hand.

The hard and thick steel armor temporarily isolated the temperature of the flames, and it also dissipated a lot of the fear in her heart.

"Very good, this is a good start, don't worry about flying, I will let Emmaline train you later."

Emaline obtained the ability of the orchid mantis much earlier than Iska, and she was the giver of the leaf blade before, so she is very familiar with the body of the mantis.

Although the giant pincer mantis evolved the sickle into a giant pincer during evolution, they still have something in common.

In addition to the fact that Emmaline and Iska are relatively familiar, it is very appropriate for her to be in charge of the early training.

...

After Iska started his new training for a period of time, the Siyuan came to a strange sea area.

After Arceus set off, the people on board went south to the new island according to the pre-planned voyage. According to the chart records, they were headed towards the West Sea, but now they felt that something was wrong.

In the control room at this time, several people looked out of the window and felt very strange.

"Why is there such a large amount of sea fog in the West Sea? This concentration is almost catching up with the New World."

"Who knows, I feel a little cold, are we close to the South Pole?"

The Great Route is similar to the equator of One Piece World, with the West Sea below and the South China Sea are the southern hemisphere here, and they also feel this way because of the drop in temperature.

"Impossible, our speed cannot reach that position."

The navigators took the charts and compared them carefully. Starting from passing through the windless zone, it was impossible to reach the South Pole at their speed.

The navigator carefully compared the charts, but after a few hours, he stopped the ship.

"Why stop?"

The helmsman looked at him in puzzlement. Although the sea fog was thick, it wasn't enough to stop them. It was nothing compared to the dangerous seas of the New World.

"According to the sea chart, we should have arrived at an island half an hour ago. From just now until now, I haven't seen any light from the lighthouse. Although it is unlikely, we seem to be lost..."

"Are you kidding me? We got lost in the West Sea???"

Several people in the operation room leaned over. It was hard for them who had been sailing in the New World on weekdays to believe such a thing.

"I don't believe it either, but you see, even the record pointer and the eternal pointer are confused."

He raised the two pointers on his wrist, whether it was the eternal pointer returning to the Wano country or the special record pointer sailing around the New World, the four pointers were now swinging like pendulums.

Even if they don't know how to sail, they can still see that something is wrong in this sea area.

"How about... let's go to Lord Arceus."

Although Arceus is on the ship, he usually doesn't care about sailing matters. Unless he encounters a special crisis, he will not intervene in the sailing.

And this is why the people on board did not panic because of this. Although the situation is unknown, they have Arceus on board. As long as Arceus is around, they will not worry about the crisis.

Jingle...jingle...

"You...do you hear any sound?"

"Not only did I hear it, I saw it..."

The navigator pointed out the window, and a tall ship appeared there. The height of the ship's side was even one knot higher than that of the Shiyuan, but there were a lot of seaweed hanging on the ship, and even holes could be seen. The bell rang It's coming from above.

Through the glass of the cabin, you can still see a strange fluorescence.

"If I remember correctly... the style of this ship was eliminated decades ago..."

On the deck, some pirates who noticed the abnormality were also watching, and the shipbuilder even came up with a slightly weird conclusion.

Coupled with the weird fluorescence and the holes on the hull, the word ghost ship appeared in their minds.