Chapter 61 This is a notification, not a discussion

Shaina and Jhin in the sky made many people feel fearful, beast-like faces and flying wings, which in the eyes of many people have surpassed the scope of human beings

The residents of the New World are not necessarily well-informed. There are also many weak people in the New World. The more dangerous sea areas and the battles of pirates from all sides have made the communication between the islands of the New World more blocked.

The vision of many islanders depends on the level of the occupiers here. Some islands still live a primitive tribal life, where the able ones are even worshipped as gods.

Although John is a capable person, he has never exposed his abilities to outsiders. Moreover, he was also a notorious pirate before his death. Few people invaded his territory. Most people on the island have never seen him in their decades of life. A few capable ones.

And they are just ordinary civilians, they don't need any ability to deal with them, a few ordinary pirates with knives and guns are enough to deter them.

Abilities are usually cadres because of their strange abilities. These people have a more important position in the pirate group. As long as the residents in the territory do not break out large-scale rebellions, they will not take action.

But whether it is the man called Gabriel or the village head here, they are no strangers to the capable people. A large part of the reason why they can become the leaders of the island is that they have more knowledge than the people on the island and can handle things. ability is also stronger.

"Are you new to the Beast Pirates?"

The war that broke out on the island has been going on for a long time, and the newsbirds have not approached here during this time. Those newsbirds know how to seek advantages and avoid disadvantages, and will not send letters to places that would threaten their lives.

Therefore, the people on the island lacked a certain understanding of what happened in the outside world, and lacked understanding of the beasts who had just made some famous names.

Kaido's previous style of behavior did not provoke the navy, and he went to the new world wholeheartedly, or strayed into the naval base after being drunk, so that the new Beast Pirates were born in the public eye.

According to the past habits, the Beast Pirates can also be regarded as a new pirate group. If Kaido's pirate career has lasted for a long time, he is a well-deserved supernova among this group of pirates.

Even if they didn't know about the beasts, Gabriel and the others knew one thing. There was no such thing as the beasts in the previous pirate group, and the pirate flag they were holding was also a brand new pattern.

"This island is really troubled. If you have the ability to deal with other pirates, we can accept your rule."

"But we can never lay down our arms!"

Before the village chief's words were finished, Gabriel said this sentence and clenched the short gun in his hand. In his opinion, the safety of the island must not be handed over to an outsider. They must have enough force to protect themselves. , to prevent the pirates from doing more excessive things.

"Gabriel! Shut up! Two, he's not"

"You seem to have made a mistake. We are not discussing or negotiating with you, but informing you that you have only two choices, accept it, or be forced to accept it."

Arceus' request was to let them stop resisting, with the additional condition that the means be milder, otherwise the act of firing at them earlier could already be regarded as a declaration of war.

But moderate means does not mean sitting down and negotiating, and appropriate deterrence by force is also indispensable.

So Shaina's eyes turned to the huge cannon, and the burning right leg kicked the cannon, and the big guy who let the islanders deter the previous pirates flew out directly under this foot, and it was still in the cold winter. You can see traces of melting on the barrel.

"The skill of casting guns on this island is really good. No wonder that guy Quinn respects the mechanical level of this island so much."

"I thought it was you who pulled back."

"I didn't use all my strength, but it didn't achieve the effect I expected. I thought I could just kick the cannon to pieces."

Jin and Shaina whispered about the island's technology, and the people on the island, in addition to Gabour who still insisted, also put down their weapons.

Shaina and Jhin are not at the same level as the previous pirates.

But in Jhin's eyes, this is the last thorn.

In more than a year, Jhin, who is well nourished, has grown rapidly. It is remarkable for ordinary people to grow more than ten centimeters in a year, but Jhin has grown more than one meter in height in more than a year, which has surpassed the scope of ordinary humans. , exceeded the three-meter mark.

Shaina's height change is not so exaggerated. It is only about 1.9 meters now. Even if they are of the same race, their individual genes are very different. They are only 15 years old. They still have a lot of room for growth.

Although there are many people with exaggerated heights, there are more ordinary people of normal size overall. Size does not necessarily represent strength, but it means greater deterrence.

Besides, Jhin, who is dressed in black, is much more ferocious than Shaina. Fossil pterosaurs do not come with a mask like a flaming chicken. Although the appearance of the human-beast form will change after the transformation, it still has the original characteristics.

Jin is still the same as the original timeline, choosing special clothes that are airtight.

"Gabriel, forget it, didn't we come here like this before?"

"Yeah, this is the same guy as those monsters under John's back then, we can't beat it..."

The people around persuaded Gabriel one after another, but their will was not that firm, and only after Gabriel's persuasion did they decide to stand up and resist.

When people like encounter force majeure factors in their cognition, they will naturally back off, especially when Shaina and Jhin have left them ample retreat.

The island is ruled by a certain pirate, which is not unacceptable in the new world. There are even people who are willing to pay a lot of money to enter the territory of some big pirates, which means a safer living environment.

For example, Da Ma's territory, the Kingdom of Totland, although Aunt has not occupied a number of islands, it has already appeared.

Due to the power of the Soul Soul Fruit, she requires people living in the territory to pay one month of lifespan every six months as a unique protection fee in her territory. The main island within is extremely dangerous.

Aunt forbids people who join Totland to leave. So far, those who want to leave will usually be drained of their lifespan, but if you try to figure it out, the survival time in Totland will be longer than the outside world, because under the protection of Aunt, it is very difficult to survive. Few pirates will riot in the territory.noVELuS&.com

The same is true for this Winter Island. The flames of resistance exist, but most people choose to go with it.

If it wasn't for the previous battles of the pirates, these people could hardly survive, and these people would not have any idea of resistance at all.

Jin's footsteps will not stop because of their hesitation, at this time he has come to the front of everyone.

A little more order

Chapter 62 The Gap of Force

Every time Jin took a step forward, the others would take a step back. When Jhin walked in front of them, only Gabriel was left. It could be said that Gabriel represented the last will to resist.

As long as you handle this person well, other people will be suppressed due to fear or other reasons even if they have the desire to resist.

According to Jhin's idea, the most concise way is to directly kill the person who dares to resist. After all, there are only a few who are not afraid of death. Under absolute force, violent rule is the way that many pirates choose.

This will leave the seeds of hatred and resistance, but as long as the force can be suppressed, resistance will not be possible.

This is not the best method, but it is the fastest method. Except for Lunaria, all people are foreigners to Jhin, and he will not be soft on these foreigners.

Arceus' request saved his life, and milder methods are not suitable for direct killing, but if he continues to persevere, it may not be.

Jin's big hand held the barrel of his flintlock gun, and the barrel was twisted into a ball in his hand like a twist.

"This kind of toy is useless. No one wants to stand with you. Your resistance will only be in vain. You won't gain anything except make your family sad."

Jin's palm also ignited a flame, the temperature is not as good as that of Shaina, but it is enough to kill one person

"Wait, wait! Gabriel is the best craftsman on this island. You must be occupying this island for the factory here. If you kill him, no one will be able to reach his level!"

Looking at Jhin who wanted to do something, the village chief hesitated for a while, but stopped in front of him and gave a very reasonable reason.

The weapons manufactured by the factory are the main foreign trade products of this island, and are also the target of most of the pirates who occupy this island. Gabriel has the technology that others cannot reach. This is the only "chip" that the village chief can think of. s things.

Being the village chief in the pirate territory is not an easy task, especially since it was previously John's territory, and the notorious John is not a good person to get along with.

It is useless to reason with him, only interests are fundamental.

"I'll convince him to work for you. Killing him wouldn't do you any good, would it?"

He doesn't have the strong spirit of resistance like Gabriel. He just wants to let the islanders live smoothly. It doesn't matter who the ruler is, those pirates are all virtues anyway.

In his eyes, the guns in his hands are simply not enough to trade with pirates. What really makes those pirates willing to trade is the technology in their hands.novelusb.com

Those complex machines are not accessible to anyone, and most of the pirates are not engaged in production, they need a sufficient number of workers.

So the owner of the island changed again and again, but the residents of the island were not affected too much.

"Who are you?"

"I am the village head here, and I was in charge of things here when Captain John managed this place before."

"You'd better be able to do this. It's us who are here now. When the rest of you come, if you still have such thoughts, you will really die."

The atmosphere is almost set off. It is obvious that this village chief is the real person in charge here. It can be seen from the reactions of the people around him when he speaks.

The sound of gunfire in the distance gradually diminished, which meant that all the fighting was over, whether it was on the periphery or at Kaido.

"The battle is almost over, give you two hours to integrate the people here, and let a few people take us to the rest of the pirates' quarters."

"I'll go with you, I know all the locations of those pirates."

"Gabor you!"

"Don't worry about the village chief, they won't worry if I stay here, right? Help me take care of my family."

The reason why he knew the location of the station was because he was planning a bombardment, so he summed up where all the pirate ships stayed.

And the reason why he went, was not because of what he wanted to do, but because he didn't believe in these pirates. The reason why the villagers were very resistant to resistance was because in John's time, all those who tried to resist had no good ending.

Even if they have good skills in their hands, even if the village chief said so, he didn't think Jhin would let him go. In that case, it would be better to ask the gender to drag down his family.

Gabriel walked out of the safe house in the wind and snow, and everyone thought he would not come back, but two hours later, Gabriel was brought back with all his tail and tail, but he looked a little sluggish.

There are also some pirates who sent some food. The food on the island is almost consumed, but those pirates are different. They still have sufficient supplies on board. As pirates, they have more than the islanders. material channels.

After their defeat, these naturally became their spoils.

Now that this island has been occupied by the Beast Pirates, we can't let these people starve to death here.

Those pirates left here after delivering their things. They were going to have a banquet. Kaido, who had quit drinking for many days, couldn't bear it any longer.

"Gabriel, how are you? What did they do to you?"

After the pirates were far away, many people gathered around Gabriel and touched him.

Gabriel's sluggish expression made them think Gabriel was tortured, and that's why he became like this.

"I'm fine, just. I saw something incredible."

Shaina and the others didn't do anything, they just killed hundreds of pirates and two pirate ships in front of him, and then walked back unharmed.

The high-end combat power of those pirates has already been taken over by Kaido, and the remaining trash fish can't hurt them at all, which also made Gabour understand how powerless his resistance is.

The idea of freedom he insists on is nothing but empty talk.

"It's fine."

"Village Chief, these are all food!"

". It seems that these people are stronger than the previous ones. Let everyone share a point. At least they can eat enough today."

The islanders had a rare meal, and the beasts also started their own banquets. As for the pirates who originally fought for the ownership of the island, it can be said that the losses were heavy, especially the top members of the pirate group were not spared.

Kaido was a little bit stronger because the wine jar was smashed, and none of the people present could handle Kaido's thunderous gossip in anger. When Arceus and the others arrived at Kaido's place, the battle would have ended long ago.

For those pirates, the way to deal with them is also very rough. The serious wounds are directly repaired, and there is no intention to waste medical resources. Among the remaining people, those who are willing to surrender are accepted for the time being and used as coolies on the island.

Those who are unwilling to surrender are directly executed, these people are not worth wasting time at all.

And now is the time when the Beasts will lay down their own basics. In the future, these people will become the grassroots strength of the Beasts Pirates, and these people cannot all be composed of prisoners.

Chapter 63 Slate Radar

In a few days, the island made a simple plan, and the factory that had been shut down for a long time was put into operation again, but the operation policy had changed a lot, and the people on the island voluntarily went to the factory to continue to work.

Although Kaido is the captain, it is normal for the captain to do nothing. Usually, there will be another person on board.

And so far, the one who is best at managing personnel in the Beast Pirates is Asie, who used to be the manager of Al Kemi, so it can be said that he has more experience in this area.

He is not a vicious pirate, so he did not oppress the islanders blindly, but offered a certain salary like a normal manager, but the share was less than the outside, those who were counted as island residents Taxes to be paid.

And made some rules about the island, restricting the pirates from harassing the residents for no reason.

At the beginning, some people objected. This kind of thing is incomprehensible to many pirates, but their objection is meaningless at all. Kaido doesn't care about this kind of thing, and Arceus's behavior is supported by Arceus. This indirectly obtained the consent of all the cadres.

Quinn feels that this kind of thing doesn't matter, anyway, his interests are not damaged, and Asie is not a dead man. Knowing that these pirates are not ordinary law enforcers, they have stricter requirements on the islanders, which can be said to be divided. the status of the island.

But for this kind of request, the residents of the island not only did not rebound, but were very happy. Compared with the period of John's rule, Assière's policy was much better.

During John's time they had to go to the factory to work without any pay. They worked to keep themselves alive. John's territory didn't need worthless people. Once they couldn't show their worth, then John's crew wouldn't give out any food.

On Winter Island, this kind of thing is almost fatal.

Although the work requirements set by Asier are now mandatory, in addition to the necessary food, part of the salary will be paid, which is a big change for the people on the island.

As for the captured pirates, their status is even lower than that of civilians. In addition to the arms business, the island has another business - minerals.

Mining in the climate of Winter Island is undoubtedly a very difficult thing, so this kind of work is handed over to the pirates with more physical strength, and it is also a place for those in the Beast Pirates to vent their emotions. It's the overseer of the mine.

For these pirates, the policies formulated by Asiere do not have so many restrictions, whether it is beating or scolding, there are no special restrictions.

The flag of the Hundred Beast Pirates fluttered over the island, which can be regarded as giving the island some stability.

Then, with this island as the center, Kaido began to expand to the surrounding islands, and the policy to implement is very simple.

The pirates who voluntarily attached themselves to surrender were temporarily accepted as subordinates. Among those who resist, if there are people who Kaido likes, he is willing to give a chance and throw the rest directly into the mines and farms on the nearby islands.

This Winter Island alone needs to rely on the outside world, but the islands nearby can form a complete industrial chain, mining, manufacturing, grain production, etc.

Shaina and Jhin followed Kaido to fight the territory, while Arceus brought Quinn and Assie to the factory on the island to study things like "Slate Radar".

"Do you remember how that thing was made?"

Arceus looked at the environment here and understood the reason for the island's foothold.

There are factories on every island. It is not necessary to choose this place simply to make some weapons, but there is a very precise machine tool on this island that can process more delicate parts.

"That's it. It was also one of MADS' secret bases back then. This thing is what we left behind."

"With this you can make it?"

"This.. I'm not too sure, Vega Punk also made an experimental machine, and it's still a semi-finished product, but I know the idea, and it can always be re-engraved after some time.noVelusb.COM

The conductivity of pure gold should meet the demand. "

"I haven't forgotten the production method of pure gold, but there is a problem. I looked at it before. Many materials of pure gold are now contraband, and if they are purchased in large quantities, they may attract the attention of the government."

"Mumhaha, don't worry, the most important thing in this world is the gray industry. Even if it is the world government, they can't control the underground market in the world, let alone in the new world."

"Really, I won't talk about common materials, these are some scarce resources, let's see if you can get them."

Asier handed Quinn a list of materials, there is no ratio and synthesis method, it is useless to just take this, he is not afraid to expose this.

A few drops of sweat fell on Quinn's head when he saw the list of materials.

"Master Arceus, maybe our plan didn't go so well?"

"What's wrong."

"These materials are too difficult to handle. The fresh branches and leaves of the treasure tree Adam and the eggshells of island turtles. Although these things are rare and expensive, there are still ways to find them. The problem is that some materials have long since become extinct. "

It has been more than 100 years since he made pure gold, and many things have happened in the past 100 years.

But at the same time, many creatures and plants have been declared extinct during this period. The manufacture of pure gold is not a simple mineral synthesis, but also some animal and plant components.

"In other words, this ring is the last pure gold?"

"This... I'm afraid that's the case. Maybe there are still some leftovers in Primordial Island or some people's inventory, but..." Quinn didn't continue to speak, he couldn't do anything about this kind of thing, he couldn't change the extinct materials.

At that time, there was still a lot of pure gold in the belly of the sea king, but he didn't care about it at that time. Now that sea king should have become the nourishment for other creatures. In terms of the proportion of pure gold, it is so long. Time does not know where it was brought to the deep sea by the current.

Finding that pure gold is like looking for a needle in a haystack, it is better to look directly for the slate.

"Gather up some of those materials, look for them slowly, and try first with what you have on hand."

This news made him unhappy, but he did not release his emotions to Assie or Quinn. After all, this is an uncontrollable factor.

As for using the power of time and space to go back to the past to find materials, when he has the power of time and space, he will have recovered his heyday, and there is no need to do such a thing.

With the assistance of Arceus, Quinn and Assie stayed in this laboratory for several months, but the efforts during this period were not in vain. A slate radar with a perception radius of about one kilometer was successfully built come out.

Chapter 64 Three-Line Operation

"One kilometer reconnaissance radius."

Arceus was not satisfied with this result, this distance was far worse than his own perception range. Acier and Quinn also knew that the result was mediocre, but there was nothing they could do.

"There is no way, Lord Arceus, although you helped us solve the problem of reconnaissance fluctuations, the core components of this radar are made of pure gold, and only the characteristics of pure gold can make this device run smoothly.

But there is only so much pure gold we have on hand, and Assie and I have tried to stretch it as far as we can. "

It is difficult for a clever woman to cook without rice. He built the original test machine and perfected it. Asier solved the problem of core parts, but without raw materials, even if they have complete technology, they can't do it.

This is what they can cross.

Even if they are dissatisfied, there is nothing they can do. In a few months, they not only conquered the technology here, but also found out a lot of things. For example, some materials have disappeared from the world, even in the black market.

Now, in addition to the slate, the things that the beasts are looking for has an immemorial island, and only the environment of the immemorial island has the possibility of being preserved.

During this time, they also tried fishing with pure gold in their hands to see if the sea king had any luck in surviving. It turned out that it did not have such luck.

But it's better than nothing, with this radar, at least on the way to find the slate, you can operate on two lines.

"This Mr. Arceus, in fact, we can barely make a little bit of the remaining materials. The perception range of one kilometer is an ideal value. This value is the most cost-effective. After that, I want to increase it. Perception range requires more pure gold.

The remaining pure gold can't expand the range, but with a little modification, it can probably create a small radar with a range of several hundred meters. "

"You mean to delete the specific positioning function, leaving only the general perception ability?"

"Yes, in this case, although it is impossible to locate it, the range is also reduced. The range of a few hundred meters is not as big as digging three feet into the ground, so you can always find it."

Under the suggestion of Asier, the two-line operation was upgraded to a three-line operation. Arceus was not interested in whether the location could be determined in detail, as long as he had general information and notified him.

He proposed to disassemble the original one and make two more low-profile versions, but due to the ratio of pure gold, even if it was disassembled, it could not be made into two, so two radars, one large and one small, became the final product. .

"Where did Kaido go?"

"Brother Kaida, it should be expanding the territory during this time, and the nearby islands are almost all our territory. Asie's policy is very effective, the people on the island are very cooperative, and the enthusiasm for work has also improved a lot. ."

"That's of course. Blindly squeezing will only accumulate conflicts. Even if it doesn't break out for a while, when it accumulates to a certain extent, and our troops have problems again, there will definitely be a fire in the backyard.

In exchange for a part of the profit for the sense of belonging of the islanders, so as to better rule an island. By the way, Lord Arceus, Shaina wants to cast a statue for you, what do you mean"

"Forget it, I'm not interested in that kind of thing, how about those newly recruited pirates?"

He has absolutely no interest in statues, and he doesn't need anything like belief. He is more concerned about the recruited pirates. Compared with the residents of the island, these pirates are the ones who go out to search for news.

Even if there is no radar, it is possible to find the news of the slate simply by using the number of people to pile it, but it depends on luck.

"Those pirates. Not very formal, but generally okay."

"Of course, Assie, you still don't know about pirates." Quinn answered Assie with the same words, although he is not good at internal affairs, but he knows more about pirates.

"As long as you can convince them by force, even if your will is not in line with their thoughts, they will obey your orders. Your arrangement can be carried out smoothly, thanks to Boss Kaido, you are so kind to them, so Where does the majesty come from?"

"Forget the coolies who dig, you should be kinder to yourself. You don't want your subordinates to think about how to rebel every day."

Quinn disagreed, but if he was blocked by Arceus, according to Arceus, he could do whatever he wanted with the enemy or the prisoner, but for his own people, at least don't treat them blindly as consumables.

Even if they are actually consumables, treat them like an ordinary subordinate.

Pirates who don't take their subordinates' lives seriously usually don't have a good end. Not to mention John is an example. If he wasn't too heartless, causing all his subordinates to betray him, the result would not be so miserable.

During the War of Wano, there was a large number of rebellions among the subordinates of the beasts. If this matter is to be divided, Xiaoyu's fruit ability is one aspect, and the Dango fruit allows her to control animals.

The half-made artificial devil fruit made by Caesar is on the other hand. This kind of half-made artificial devil fruit causes most of those who give it to be controlled. If it is a real animal fruit, it will only give people the power of beasts, not transform people. into a beast.

As for the rest of the question, the pot is probably going to be thrown on Quinn, who is also one of the reasons for those people to rebel.

To change the problem from the source is to change Quine's idea first.

After the radar research was completed, they naturally would not stay in the research institute, but when they went out, the people who were not working in the village saw Arceus and they all moved out of the way, with respectful expressions on their faces, but There is also a hint of fear under the respect.

Assie continued to deal with the internal affairs of the island, while Quinn and Arceus went to the sea.

"Why do I think they look at me so strangely?"

"This. Lord Arceus, you should ask Shaina about this question. Although she did not build a statue, she instilled the importance of your status to these villagers. If you disrespect you, she will really be thrown into the mine by her. mining there."

Although it feels a little strange, Arceus is not good at saying anything. What Shaina is doing is to protect him, so he can't criticize others because of this kind of thing.

He originally planned to wait for Kaido and the others to come back, but when they came out, they happened to see a group of assembled pirates sending boxes of shells to the bow.

"You guys, what happened?"

Chapter 65 The World Breaker - Bundy Ward (seeking to read)

"Big Brother Quinn, Lord Sacred Beast, is your business over? Big Brother Kai met a group of difficult people, we are going to send ammunition."

Kaido has been expanding the territory. For the pirates at the grassroots level, manipulating artillery is one of their main jobs. As soon as they landed on an island, they encountered new enemies, and their ammunition was somewhat insufficient.

"Makes Kaido difficult? Who has he met?"

"The Walder Pirates, the captain is the Bundy Walder known as the World Breaker." The pirates next to him answered this question respectfully, and then took one out of a pile of bounties.

A man with a horn helmet like a Viking pirate showed a slightly honest smile on the reward order.

World Breaker - Bundy Ward, with a bounty of 200 million Baileys.

Looking at this reward order, Arceus remembered something. Although he couldn't remember the details, he was also a big pirate active at sea, but the reward was a little unscientific.

These years, the bounty of the big pirates in the New World is basically above one billion Baileys, especially the remnants of the original Rocks.

Although the events of Locks are something that the World Government and the Navy want to hide, Locks still buffs these remnants invisibly, and the World Government has a very high reward for them.

And Bundy Ward's record includes Whitebeard, Golden Lion, Roger, and the fleet led by Zepha himself before he stepped back behind the scenes.

Of course, there is some moisture in these battles. It is also called a melee fight for three days and three nights, and a few shots from a distance can also be called a fight.

In most cases, he fought briefly and then withdrew. If all these people were defeated by him, his bounty would not be so low, nor would he be able to sail for so long. I am afraid the government will give him and Locke the same treatment as Sri Lanka, mobilized a heavy army to destroy him.

But no matter what, he still gallops on the sea after fighting against these strong men, which already shows his strength.

And the reason why the World Government gave him the title of World Destroyer is because he is a threat to the order of the World Government.

Navy warships, powerful pirates, and innocent residents are all his targets. His existence seems to be for destruction, and his purpose cannot be found at all.

"Why is this guy only offering a reward of 200 million?"

"This. I seem to have heard people mention it in the research group at the beginning, the government seems to deliberately want to downplay the existence of this person, so after he entered the new world, he never raised his reward."

The world government doesn't mind that the pirates on the sea maintain a certain balance. What they hate most are those who try to break this balance. The original Rocks was one of them.

Unlike other pirates who occupy a territory and head snakes, he destroys aimlessly. With his ability to multiply fruit, he can increase the size and speed of cannonballs by a hundred times, so that his pirate ship firepower is stronger than a naval fleet.

In addition to his irregular destruction, not only the navy hates him, but even the pirates don't like him.

Pirates like are easy to cause panic among the people, so the world government stopped the growth of the bounty.

And Walder is not a remnant of Rocks. His reputation has only risen in the past two years, and he has no background bonus.

As long as his bounty is not further increased, more pirates will challenge him, causing the pirates to consume their strength in infighting.

Many people who are pirates want to be famous, and the best way to be famous is to step on other people's corpses.

There are very few Erlangs who challenged more than one billion pirates from the beginning, and Walder's 200 million bounty is just right in the new world.

"Quinn, how old is this year?"

"The year 1491 of the Haiyuan calendar, is there any problem, Lord Arceus?"

After working hard for a few months, the time has come to 1491. All his bananas have regrown. This time he did not eat them, but planned to find a suitable place to grow new bananas.

"It's nothing, let's go and see how Kaido's battle is going."

He remembered that Bundy Ward was imprisoned because a large number of CPs were mixed on the ship, and he was besieged by pirates and navies. Counting the time, it was almost this time.

Arceus and Quinn boarded the material transport ship together and went to the battle in the distant sea.

The battle between Vald and Kaido is still going on. At this time, Vald has not experienced thirty years of freezing, and his physical condition is still in its prime. When the ability of multiplying fruit is attached to his body, his speed can be maximized.

According to Polsalino, who was still a recruit in the navy at this time, speed is power, and after he multiplied himself, even Kaido would not be able to take too much advantage in head-to-head.

At this time, Kaido was already in the form of a human and beast, standing in a group with Wald who was fully armed. The battlefield around the two had been completely emptied, and the ground was full of cracks and pits. It seemed that they would be separated for a while. Not winning.noVelUsb.com

But it can be seen that Vald is a little distracted, and now he can be on par with Kaido, but in the battle between the two pirates, the Vald Pirates are already at an absolute disadvantage.

The gap between cadres is too great.

The Beast Pirates had insufficient ammunition, and the artillery on the ship was basically misfired, but the artillery on Wald's side was unable to cause any impact, and all the shells were blocked by Shaina in the sky.

Under the cover of Shaina, the ships of the beasts were approaching. Without ammunition to keep a distance, they could only be beaten unilaterally.

At this time, on Wald's ship, a small man was directing the battle with a phone bug.

Bundy Bingjack, Wald's eldest brother, but compared to Wald's strong physique, he is frail and sickly, and has no fighting ability at all. He is the deputy captain and staff officer on the ship, and he arranges the specific actions on the ship. .

Usually he sits on Walder's shoulders, but when facing a strong enemy, Walder doesn't take Bingjack along with him.

"Fall back! Keep your distance! Don't melee them, they don't have enough ammunition, try to use our firepower advantage! Sebastian! Find a way to get rid of that capable person!"

A capable person completely blocked their firepower advantage. Sebastian is the cadre of Walder's ship, a fish giant of scorpionfish, and his size is huge, because he is a hybrid of a fish and a giant.

Blindness in both eyes due to the battle, but the sight and color make up for this deficiency.

After Bingjack's order was given, Sebastian planned to attack Shaina in the sky with murloc karate.

But things didn't go as smoothly as he thought, the ship shook suddenly, a large number of thorns pierced the deck, and Jhin had broken through to Walder's ship.

Chapter 66 Where did so many phantom beasts come from?

The pirates around quickly shot at Jin with their guns. The muskets can have unexpected effects many times, and there are many strong people who end up falling on the inconspicuous bullet.

However, when faced with people who are prepared and strong, bullets generally have no effect. The wings behind him are in front of him, shining with metal light. The wings strengthened by steel wings block the intensive firepower of those pirates.

Domineering requires stamina, and abilities also consume stamina. Although Jin is a Lunaria clan, and he is also a transformed Pokémon, his stamina is very abundant, but it is not infinite stamina.

It is also very important to properly distribute physical strength in battle.

Then Jhin stomped on the deck with one foot, and a row of sharp stone thorns extended from his feet, sweeping away the surrounding pirates, and many of them were directly pierced by the stone thorns.

The rock that came out of thin air, the body of the dragon, these features together, there is only one understanding for ordinary people, the ability of the phantom beast.

"There are already three other Eudemons, how could they find so many Devil Fruits of Eudemons." Seeing Jhin who slaughtered all directions, the sweat on Bing Jack's forehead increased.

Kaido, who was battling Valder, Shaina, who blocked all the shells by one person in the sky, and Jhin, who broke through to the ship, the ability of three different phantom beasts made him very incomprehensible, and it was praised as being rarer than the natural system. Why did the phantom beasts appear together at such a time.

But he has no time to think about such meaningless things. No matter how the Beast Pirates obtained these abilities, this is a fait accompli, and now what they need to do is fight.

And instead of destroying the artillery on the deck, Jhin, who had cleaned up the surrounding soldiers, rushed in the direction of the rudder.

"Not good! His goal is the power room, Guyram! Stop him! Sebastian, you go find a way to deal with that woman!"

At present, the ships of the Wald Pirates are pulling with better power and sufficient firepower. Although the guns of the beasts are more powerful, their ammunition has been exhausted, so they are approaching them to try to start a battle.

BingJack didn't want to waste the advantage of firepower, so the two sides have been circling around this sea area. If Jhin destroys the power plant and waits for the other side to charge up, then the original advantage will be gone.

Guyram, the boatman of the Wald Pirates, is also a combatant on the ship. He and Sebastian are the two cadres with the highest combat power on the ship. Although their performance in 3D2Y is mediocre according to the timeline, this is not the same as the heart. changes have a lot to do with it.

The power of domineering can be said to be the power of the heart. The young Moria dared to confront the young Kaido head-on, but after all the partners died in battle, their hearts changed greatly, and they became a "fat house" relying solely on zombies and fruits. When I was young, I was much weaker.
noveLuSB.coM

Crocodahl dared to challenge Whitebeard when he was young, and he also played against Barrett, but after experiencing a huge setback, he also changed his mind and began to look for the legendary Hades, and finally lost to the hand of the straw hat.

After being sent to the advance city gate, it took a while before he could relax, and it became the 55 to 50 that year, and anyone who came could make two moves.

The Vald Pirates at this time were much stronger than they were thirty years later. At that time, not only Vald's strength was greatly reduced due to long-term freezing, but even these cadres suffered damage due to their old age.

Coupled with Walder's resentment towards his subordinates who "abandoned him" at the beginning, the combat effectiveness of the Walder Pirates has been weakened too much.

However, the world government still called the Shichibukai directly over the navy, and the navy headquarters was also led by Akainu to show its importance.

Now the Wald Pirates of this period are much stronger than they were back then, both cadres and Wald.

Bing Jack's voice fell, and a man with a square sledgehammer on his back and his hair tied into two square claw braids rushed out of the crowd and slapped his hands directly on the deck.

"Block space!"

Strips of light appeared on the deck, and the deck split into blocks, blocking Jhin directly.

, he is the one who has the ability to eat the superhuman cube fruit, he can turn any object into a cube and move it together.

However, Jhin has the ability to fly, which makes him lose most of the effect of the block space.

"Air · Cube!" He threw several blocks compressed by air towards Jhin, and the blocks exploded when they approached Jhin.

The surrounding pirates couldn't help at all. Under Jhin's indiscriminate attack, the surrounding artillery fires all misfired, which indirectly relieved the pressure on Shaina to block the cannonballs.

During the battle, Jhin's flame ignited the sail. His flame temperature was not as high as that of Shaina, but simply igniting something was enough. After they put out the flame, the sail was almost damaged.

Although this ship is not driven by pure wind, but without sails, the speed of sailing is also slowed down by the naked eye, and the ships of the beasts are getting closer and closer to them.

Shaina in the sky formed an airtight barrier by herself, and no shells could cross her line of defense, but a sense of crisis suddenly rose in her mind, and she instinctively tilted her body, and then several boulders shot a Exaggerated speed brushed past her.

Her wings were accidentally hit by a rock, and she flew much closer to the sea.

And Sebastian, who had just dived into the water, also took the opportunity to emerge from the water.

"Oyatake shark!"

A shark composed of currents appeared together with his figure. Although he failed to hit Shaina, the rolled-up current enveloped Shaina, and he rushed up with his weapon.

"Those who are capable are powerful, but the sea is your natural enemy, and your flame is nothing in front of the sea!"

The sea is the home of the murlocs, even if he is only a half-murloc. After releasing the Oyatake shark, he used murloc jiu-jitsu to roll up the waves, trying to drag Shaina into the sea.

But as fast as he rushed up, he flew back as fast, and the huge impact directly hit him back to the bottom of the sea.

When he came up again, there was a charred scar on his shoulder. "Is the amount of water not enough?" He thought that the amount of seawater he had rolled up was not enough to make the other party enter a powerless state, but he didn't know that this behavior had already annoyed the other party.

"I hate the feeling of being wet the most." Shaina was wet all over, but her eyes under the mask were a little unkind.

At the same time, her flying posture is also a bit strange. The sudden flying stone affected her wing on one side, and now the posture of waving is very strange.

Although Crocodile is a problem caused by the lack of domineering in the early stage, I think this explanation still works.

Chapter 67 Spear and Shield

Sebastian's body in the sea gradually became illusory, and finally entered a state of invisibility and dived into the water, sneaking at Shaina in the sky from all angles, and the two entered a contest of seeing and seeing.

But he also successfully dragged Shaina. If Shaina ignored him, he would probably attack the ships of the beasts directly. If they lost power now, they would become a living target with insufficient ammunition.

He tried to do this before, but was stopped by Shaina, and only Jhin went to carry out the assault operation, just to prevent the fish giant from destroying their ship.

Shaina hates water, but is not afraid of water, so she is left to protect the ship, and Jhin goes to destroy the enemy's ship.

And Sebastian had tried to destroy the ship before, but he would always be stopped by Shaina, even if he approached from the bottom, Shaina's flames would stop him when he approached the bottom of the boat.

The power of the flame will be affected by the sea water, but her destructive death light is enough to attack the target in the sea water. After a long time of training, her stun time after using the destructive death light is almost negligible.

After several unsuccessful attempts, he returned to the ship of the Wald Pirates as instructed by Bingjack, and started this kind of kite battle. Bingjack did not expect that Shaina could stop such a dense artillery fire.

So Sebastian was dispatched again, and it was enough for him to keep Shaina free.

"You guys! Full speed ahead! Just charge up and win!"

When she saw Sebastian's position, she also gave orders to the people behind the beasts. If the opponent has slowed down, the ships of the beasts have the ability to catch up.

"Leave it to us, big sister! Little ones, go ahead at full speed, Kaido boss said that the best performer in this battle will have a special reward!"

Sebastian can do it if he wants to evacuate. As long as he dives into the deep sea, Shaina can't do anything about him, but whenever he wants to destroy the ships of the beasts, he will definitely be stopped on the way. His attack It's not enough to see in front of Shaina.

And the people of the Beast Pirates were also in full swing at this time, and the ramming angle of the bow successfully hit the ship of the Walder Pirates, and the tragic landing battle began.

But compared to this, the battle on the island is the key to determining the battle situation. At this time, Kaido was very angry, because not long ago, Wald actually attacked Shaina in the sky in front of him.

The boulder that hit Shaina earlier was the rubble that Vald enhanced with his ability. After the speed and strength were multiplied, Valder threw the stone, which caused Shaina a lot of trouble and relieved Sebas. Tien's pressure.

But this is a provocative act for Kaido, and he actually intervenes in other battles in the battle with him, and it also allows him to succeed.

"You * really underestimates Lao Tzu. Originally, I wanted to recruit you, but now it seems that you should die, thunder and gossip!"

Kaido in human-beast form raised the mace in his hand and smashed it towards Walder's head.

"Recruiting? What a joke, I'm Bundy Ward! Multiplier · 30 times faster!"

The fruit ability acts on himself, and Walder's speed is better than before, and at the same time as his speed is faster, his power is also stronger.

A strong domineering blesses the whole body, and Wald, who is attached to the whole body, turned into a little black man, and his fist slammed directly into Kaido's head.

He thought that Kaido would definitely return to the defense and would not choose to take the punch hard, but Kaido did not use any defense, and looked like he was swapping injuries for injuries.

The Multiplier Fruit will not increase his defense, but he thinks his punch is more powerful than Kaido, and since Kaido wants to do it, he let Kaido know what it will be like to do it.

The mace hit Wald in the face, even though he was covered in armed colors, he spat out a mouthful of blood with a few teeth mixed in it.

Looking at Kaido, the corner of his mouth was full of smiles, and Walder's fist didn't hit him at all, and was blocked by an invisible barrier in mid-air.

"Although it takes a lot of physical strength, this ability is really useful! Rising Dragon Gossip!" Turning around, Kaido's mace swung from bottom to top, directly knocking Wald out.

When Walder got up again, the horn helmet on his head was gone.

rolled in a woeful way and avoided Kaido's combo. Every collision between the strong is crucial, and now he has entered Kaido's rhythm.

was hit twice in a row, his mind was in chaos, and he felt groggy.

The mysterious force that blocked his fist also made his wrist swell a little. The force was mutual, and the unknown object almost bounced back all the power of his fist.

"The ability of Eudemons is really willful."

He didn't expect that Kaido still has barrier skills, and the 30-fold multiplier failed to break that barrier.

And this is not Kaido's ability, but Arceus' ability.

Arceus taught Kaido two skills in total, one of which is Sword Dance, Kaido's attack power under the blessing of Sword Dance is even better, it can be said that this is his spear.

And the barrier just now is the shield he taught Kaido, which can be called "absolute defense".

The consumption of is larger than that of Sword Dance, but the effect is also more significant. Wald's full-strength strike can't even shake the generated barrier, and the force of the anti-shock also damaged his wrist.

In addition to the easy failure of consecutive releases, holding on to certain aspects is stronger than the barrier fruit that requires specific gestures to activate.

"Multiplier · 20 times the shot!" Wald grabbed the gravel on the ground, multiplied it and threw it at Kaido, and then the gravel was blocked by Kaido's sword dance to form a sword shadow.

After several months of development, he has been able to skillfully incorporate domineering into the sword dance. Not only can he move when released, but he can also perform long-distance defense while releasing.

Dragon flames ignited on Kaido's mace after the sword dance blessing, and the thunder and gossip hit Wald again.

The balance of victory was completely tilted towards Kaido.

On Walder's ship, the two sides had already completely fought each other, and Shaina was able to assist from afar from time to time. Sebastian had no way to completely restrict Shaina's actions, but at best he could hold her back. Keep her out of the fight.

And over time, the strong resilience allowed her to heal the wound on her wings gradually, and he soon couldn't do that.

The battle on the ship was fierce, but some people were hiding in the corners and talking on the phone.

"Mosimoxi, sir, the situation has changed. The Walder Pirates and the Beast Pirates fought fiercely. I'm afraid they won't be able to enter the ambush sea area within the estimated time."

Chapter 68 Quinn, who is as handsome as three seconds (seeking further reading)

There are many pirates in the sea, and there are many stronger than Wald, but the world government has recently made a similar plan for Wald.

The reason is very simple, Wald's actions are too harmful to the world government, he is not like other big pirates, he maintains the alternative stability of a sea area like a warlord.

This world is very large, and each member country needs the strength of the navy. Although the overall strength of the navy is very strong, it must be involved in the energy of the whole world, and a part of the force must be allocated to serve the Tianlong people.

As for the power of the world government, they have always let this kind of thing be free. The existence of the big pirates in the new world does not affect the operation of their rules. The annual gold in the sky is collected as usual, and the pirates can help them transfer conflicts.

Even in the commercial activities in the sea areas under the banner of these big pirates, the world government is also the beneficiary. The slave trade, the arms trade, this kind of gray business is inseparable from the existence of pirates.

As long as it is not a major event that shakes the foundation of the government, the world government will not interfere too much, just to maintain the balance in its own eyes.

A lot of things are a nuisance for the world government, but as long as it doesn't involve the mysterious D-Clan and Joey Boy, it's not a big trouble.

Rocks has gathered too much power, he has the idea of subverting the world, and the mysterious letter D is in his name. These reasons put together are the reasons for the government to act.

Karp also has a D in his name, and he's now sitting firmly in the position of a naval hero.

As for Wald, although there is no D in his name, what he does has nothing to do with the balance of the world government.

The purpose of his voyage has long since deteriorated. At first, he wanted to take his big brother to see the world, but in the process, he lost himself in power, destroyed, overturned the current world government, and pursued the highest "freedom" "became his purpose.

Ward does not have a huge territory and fleet, and he attacks indiscriminately. Pirates, navy, civilians, no matter who they belong to, will be attacked by him, so he is naturally added to the exclusion list by the government. noEusb.com

The reason why Wald appeared in this sea area is to build a powerful artillery, with this super artillery plus his ability, he thinks it is enough to subvert the world.

His Guyram is talented in mechanics, and the blueprints have already appeared, but they need the technology of Kaido's island to make them, and they also need a lot of special materials.

And these plans have already been reported to the World Government by the spy on the ship. According to Walder's voyage, if he wants to obtain those materials, he will inevitably pass through a sea area after a period of time.

At this time, the navy had already set up an ambush near that sea area, but there were too many changes in the sea. The leader of this sea area suddenly became Kaido, and he fought with Wald, causing the original plan to be completely destroyed. upset.

"Act by chance, don't reveal your identities until necessary, and report the battle situation at any time."

"Yes, I understand."

Although the battle between Kaido and Wald is an opportunity, there is no intention to send troops to take the opportunity. This is why they arranged an ambush halfway. The nearby territory belongs to the Golden Lion and others. balance now.

The world government does not want to rashly start a war. They will wait for the battle between the two pirates to end, and then dispatch corresponding personnel according to the situation of the two sides.

There was more than one agent sneaking into Walder's ship, but an elite team, who disguised their identities as miscellaneous soldiers on Walder's ship.

The cadres won't intervene in low-level battles until they've solved their opponents. It's easy for them to fish.

Animals are not afraid of protracted battles. The longer the time goes on, the better it will be for the animals, and their strong resilience can even make them more courageous.

Sebastian is a hybrid of a fish and a giant, and the home field advantage brought by the ocean allows him to avoid most attacks, and Shaina and him have always been in a fighting state, and their physical strength is still abundant.

But it was different for Guyram who was fighting with Jhin. His fruit was not strong in frontal combat, and the flames behind Jhin were very fierce, which meant that his own defense was already full. The rock-skinned, thick-skinned body made it difficult for his attacks to be effective.

And Guyram had to fight Jhin head-on. After the Beast's ship had already approached, he had no need to continue attacking the power room, and instead focused on Bingjack.

Standing on the bridge and directing the battle is too conspicuous.

As the commander of the ship, the combatants must protect him of course, not to mention that he is Walder's eldest brother.

The ship doctor Naiqin has also joined the battle, and the two together only dragged Jhin's footsteps.

Naijin is the only female cadre on Wald's ship. She is good at using the "Chinese medicine boxing method" that she has researched, and occasionally throws some medicines to interfere with the enemy.

Originally, the battle here could continue for a while, but reinforcements from the beasts have arrived.

"Mahhahaha, taste the power of your uncle Quinn!"

A dense rain of bullets fell from the sky, and a large number of members of the Walder Pirates fell, but some of the beasts were also shot.

This is not Quinn's indiscriminate attack. Under Arceus's repeated requests, he will still pay attention to this kind of thing, but now the two sides are fighting, accidental injury is inevitable.

From the perspective of overall benefits, Quinn's attack solved most of the enemies, and his own people were only injured. Compared with letting them continue to fight, such casualties were smaller.

Quinn's human body modification technology has always been outrageous. Originally, he had a machine gun installed in his mouth, but after obtaining the ability of the tropical dragon, he modified it, removed the original ammunition feeding device, and replaced it with a special one. barrel.

Through this special barrel, he can increase the power of his seed machine gun, and he can also attach special toxins to the bullets fired by the seed machine gun.

This time, because he was worried about accidental injury, he didn't have poison, but he was able to suppress unlimited firepower while flying in the sky.

"It's Boss Quinn! Our reinforcements are here! Go!"

The ships that appeared in the distance and Quinn in the sky completely turned the tide of the battle. The morale of the Beast Pirates was boosted.

"That's right, that's it, give it to me!" Quinn in the sky let out a wild laugh, but he was only handsome for three seconds, and a heavy punch hit him in the face, which was originally with Kaido. Ward Ward suddenly appeared here.

Quinn's huge body suddenly fell down and hit the original ship of the Beast Pirates. The ship did not stop his huge body, and the whole person fell directly into the sea.

"This trash. You guys, go and get him up!"

"Yes!"

Quinn exited at a faster speed, which made Jhin, who was fighting on the boat, very speechless. He could only ask the people around him to pick him up. After all, he was a capable person and could not swim, and he was still in the middle of the battle. Open hands.

Fortunately, the beasts are the advantage now, and there is no problem in separating a few people.

And Quinn also has something to do with this advantage. Pirates who have freed up their hands just because Quinn solved the enemy can go down and pick him up. Except for those who are capable, there are almost no pirates who can't swim.

Living in the sea and swimming is a compulsory course.

The only person who can knock Quinn to the sea with one blow can only be Bundy Wald himself. The battle between the officers on board came to an end, and Jin looked at Wald in the sky with some vigilance.

That is the skill of moonwalking, and Walder learned this skill from nowhere.

His condition is very bad, one eye can't be opened due to swelling, and the armament color attached to the whole body has dissipated, which is a manifestation of physical weakness.

Although he was panting heavily, Jhin had no intention of relaxing. The skinny camel was bigger than a horse. Even if a pirate like this monster was dying, there was a possibility of a final blow.

Judging by the fact that he took down Quinn with one blow, he was in bad shape, but not out of combat yet.

The most critical question is, what happened to Kaido, who was fighting with him, when Valder appeared here again.

However, Kaido, who chased after him, dispelled Jhin's doubts.

"Hey! Don't run! I'm just having fun, I haven't met an opponent worth fighting for in a long time!"

When John was in the past, he didn't do much, just sat and reaps the profit.

John has never encountered an enemy of this level again. If he hadn't had the skills to keep this bug level, he would have spent a lot of effort against Wald in this period, and he might have been fighting for a few days and nights.
OverLusB.COM

Although Kaido has pressed Vald to fight again just now, but at this level, if the opponent wants to run, it is very difficult to keep the opponent.

Not long ago, Vald fainted and applied the maximum multiplier and 100x speed to himself, and got out of the battle with Kaido. In this case, Kaido was not comparable to Vald in terms of speed.

Ward's physical condition can no longer withstand the second multiplier and 100x speed. The reason why he did this is that he is not sure whether it will be blocked by Kaido's defense if he uses it as an attack, and the second is that he discovered the disadvantage of his subordinates.

Now he has not experienced betrayal, and still has some feelings for his subordinates. Even if he can defeat Kaido, his pirate group will cease to exist, including his eldest brother.

That's why the decision to retreat was made.

Being together for many years, BingJack also understood what Wald meant.

"Sebastian, come back! Guyram! Emergency plan!"

Kaido didn't know what BingJack's emergency plan was, but he certainly wouldn't let him get his wish, his body lit up and rammed directly towards Walder's ship.

"Guardian Fire Dragon Torch!"

A protective barrier is attached under the flame. With that barrier being indestructible, there is no reason why it cannot be used in attacks.

The people of Hundred Beasts ran back to their original boats when they saw this, and Jhin also quickly got out of the battle to avoid it, but in the face of the giant dragon that came down, Vald had nowhere to back down.

"I'm Bondiwald! Multiplier · 100 times faster!"

His body can no longer bear the addition of this strength, and this increase in strength is also a burden to the body, which is one of the reasons why he cultivates the addition of full-body armament.

In the face of Kaido's blow, he had already overdrawn his body, and before he touched it, multiple cracks appeared on his skin, and blood flowed from his nose and mouth.

The fist collided with the huge dragon head, and after a stalemate, Vald was shot down as the final result, but he also successfully blocked Kaido's blow. When Kaido was about to continue, Vald's ship appeared huge. The change.

Just now Kaido and Wald briefly fought, Sebastian had returned, Guyram directly activated the cubic space, and the hull instantly disintegrated and reorganized into a new structure.

"Multiplier · Fifty Times Clippers."

The engine of the hull was running at full force, and it rushed out at an exaggerated speed. In the blink of an eye, only the white line left by the ship remained on the sea.

This is BingJack's emergency plan and the Wald Pirates' retreat plan. Guyram uses his ability to enhance the hull structure so that it can withstand the burden of acceleration.

After , the engine was overloaded, allowing the ship to break through to the safety zone. However, the disadvantage of this is that it can only walk in a straight line and will cause irreversible damage to the hull.

Even the ability of the golden lion can't keep Walder, relying on this ability he can always break out before the navy's siege is closed, which also makes more and more people hate the Walder Pirates.

If there are fewer people, he can't fight, and if there are too many people, he can't keep it, but he is very strong and keen to destroy.

Looking at the fleeing Walder Pirates, the people under the Hundred Beasts looked at each other.

"Is this a win?"

"What nonsense, of course you won, little ones, ready to have a banquet!" Kaido, who returned to human form, reprimanded his subordinates in dissatisfaction, and at the same time found a reason for the banquet.

Although there are casualties in battles, these pirates are already commonplace, how can there be pirates with undead.

They also grieve, but they are not immersed in grief, banquets are always a good place to vent their emotions

There were no casualties among the cadres, but their physical strength was a bit more exhausted. The one who looked the most miserable now was Quinn who fell into the water. He was so heavy that a group of younger brothers took a long time to pull him up.

Arceus' supply ship also approached, but it seemed that the supply was temporarily unavailable.

"After several months, you finally came out of it, and that thing was made?"

"It's done, wait for you to finish the banquet and then talk to you slowly." Now I told him that he would have to emphasize it again when he sobered up, so Arceus didn't waste any time.

On the other side, the Vald Pirates also evacuated to a safe distance, but compared to the Beast Pirates, their condition was much worse, Vald fell directly, and several officers were not lightly injured.

Just when they were about to rest, a gunshot came, and there were several more bullet holes in the seriously injured Walder.

"What are you guys doing!"

Chapter 70 The Betrayer NoveLuSB.com

There were a few more men in black on the ship at some point, and even many of the rest of the crew were on their side.

The Wald Pirates split into two factions at this time.

is headed by a member who joined the Pirates some time ago.

"We got along pretty well during this time, but unfortunately, we are not your companions. Finger guns!"

made a few more touches to the fallen Walder, and they were relieved after making sure that he would not suddenly get up.

The situation changed abruptly. The above instruction changed from lurking the Walder Pirates and introducing them into the encirclement to acting on a whim to see if the seriously injured Walder could be taken down.

This is an opportunity. If he recovers from his injury, then it is likely to pay a higher price to capture him.

After observation, the agents lurking on the ship believed that the Walder Pirates had entered a rare period of weakness at this time.

The captain was seriously injured, and the two cadres, Guyram and Sebastian, who were mainly in charge of the battle, were also injured.

That's why the rebellion was launched in advance.

"Bastard. Why did you let the agents of the World Government get on the ship?! You have been on the ship for a long time, aren't we partners?!"

Bingjack's tone was full of bleakness, the new crew was an agent, so what they did was very reasonable, but the rest even had their first buddies, crew members who had been with them for many years.

They also chose to rebel and pointed the gun at their partner.

"I'm sorry Big Brother Bingjack, but Captain Walder has gone crazy, he actually wants to destroy the world government, how can such a thing succeed!

And also"

The rest of the words seemed a little ashamed to him, and he couldn't say it for a long time, and the CP on the side took over.

"And we promise that as long as Walder and the cadres on his ship are arrested and brought to justice, we can absolve others of their guilt. If you don't want to suffer, you'd better capture them."

Looking at his brother who was lying in a pool of blood, Bing Jack endured the pain and shouted: "Now I announce by the order of the acting captain that the Wald Pirates are temporarily disbanded, and everyone aims to survive and break through!"

The Vald Pirates, who had just broken through to the safe place, became chaotic again, and Sebastian and others, who had suffered from severe physical exhaustion, could only break through with difficulty in the face of the rebellious subordinates.

"Traditional Chinese Medicine Boxing · Ginseng Vitality!"

As a ship doctor, Naiqin sprinkled a piece of medicinal powder on her own people, which briefly stimulated the vitality of the human body. Although the price will inevitably be paid later, there is no chance for hesitation at this time.

Sebastian used the last strength to hold several cadres in his arms, jumped into the water at the cost of several bullets, and fled to the distance by relying on the physical strength of the murloc.

Although these cadres were allowed to escape, Walder had already been arrested, and this plan was still a great success for them.

"My lord, we have done what you ordered, you see"

"Oh, you're talking about a pardon, we'll do it." As he spoke, a finger pierced his chest, and the remaining CP agents also acted independently.

In the face of these superhumans cultivated by the world government, these miscellaneous soldiers are not opponents at all.

Their main goal is to bring back Walder. Without Walder, his cadres would not be able to make any waves. These rebels are unstable factors, and of course they must be eliminated after the matter is over.

"How could the government forgive the pirates, there are always naive people who believe this kind of nonsense."

"Isn't that bad? The more idiots like this, the smoother our plan will be."

In fact, it is not absolute. After all, in a few years, the Shichibukai system will be proposed.

The pirates selected as the Shichibukai are special pirates with legal right to plunder, but such pirates also need to show their worth. This kind of ordinary rogue, with no background, has not negotiated conditions with the World Government. qualified.

"How's the photo collection going?" After restraining Walder with sea stone handcuffs, the agents took him to the target location, and as long as he was handed over to the prison ship, their mission would be complete.

At the same time, the leader of the agent also asked the next question.

As the spy agency of the world government, they will also part-time photographers, the strongest profession, to obtain photos of certain wanted criminals.

"Almost all of those cadres have been photographed, and there are more. It's good to let the people above make arrangements."

He pointed to the small camera in his arms, as if you can rest assured that I am doing things.

A few days later, the banquet of the Beast Pirates has also ended. They have occupied the nearby island chain and have a piece of their own territory in the new world.

The celebration banquet is over, and the rest is business. The small island where Kaido and Vald fought has been turned into a deserted island. Arceus changed it into the cemetery of the Beast Pirates. The members who died in the battle are in He left his tombstone there.

This is already a rare thing for most pirates. Many pirates die by sea burial. They have no fixed place to live in the sea, and few people care about dying in battle. Ordinary subordinates, let alone arranging cemeteries.

This kind of behavior slightly improved the Beast Pirates' sense of belonging, and made them feel that the Beast Pirates' messy rules were worth it.

The banquet is over, the dead have been buried, most of the wounded have been healed, and the rest is the reward for meritorious deeds promised by Kaido.

The most basic reward is property, which is what most pirates need most.

Whether it's drinks or anything, they have to spend money to buy them in the territory. Asiee has formulated a discount for members of the pirate group to buy things at the cost price, but they are opposed to prostitution in various senses.

Similarly, even if you really want to prostitute, you will have to spend money. The maritime customs industry has always been very developed. He knows that this kind of thing is not dead, even if the navy does not prohibit it.

He can only formulate regulations not to harass ordinary civilians. It was troublesome to implement at first, but after Shaina dealt with a few typical cases, it was much better.

But you can't just look at the punishment, there is no reward. The rules that Asier and Arceus and the others negotiated and formulated came into play at this time, that is, the person who gets the final reward must be the person who has not violated discipline for a period of time.

This time the first person to get on the Walder's ship happened to be such a person, and he was the first to jump off and pick up Quinn, so he was the first beneficiary of the Beast Pirates.

"Babanuki, come up, today I'll let you know why you must honor him as Lord Holy Beast!"
