Chapter Chapter 1389 The First Pot of Gold

The intravenous treatment for gastric spasms was administered quite quickly. In just forty minutes, two small bottles of liquid were completely injected.

Emmeline and her father returned home.

Dinner was still ongoing in the dining room.

Due to Emmeline's unexpected illness, this meal was somewhat awkward.

Emmeline didn't return to the dining room; instead, she went straight to her bedroom and fell into a deep sleep.

After Albus left, her mother, Kimberly, didn't say a word to Emmeline for the entire afternoon while Maxwell smoked one cigarette after another in the bedroom,

Based on the events of that day's lunch, Maxwell was not particularly pleased with Albus. However, since his wife's mental state was not good, he didn't want to go against her wishes.

The World Trade Building's proposal was refined in detail and awaited signing.

On the day of signing the contract, Emmeline wore a suit and black heels and tied her hair into a bun, looking professional and competent.

Three copies of the contract were prepared and successfully signed.

Vernon, following the terms stipulated in the contract, transferred 30% of the initial fee to RetroWave Advertisements.

Tony deducted 10% of the revenue and gave Emmeline 29,000 dollars as her share.

Out of these 29,000 dollars, Emmeline kept 9,000 as a reserve for her clothing business development. She- gave the remaining 20,000 to Abel.

“The factory does need money,” Abel said. “But I can’t use your first earnings.

“The money is in your hands now; whether you use it or not is up to you.

“If the factory were running normally, I’d be willing to convert this money into shares for you,” Abel said. “But right now, I’m gambling with my life, so this money can’t be touched.”

Abel opened a bank account for Emmeline and deposited her 20,000 dollars, preserving it for her.

“How’s the factory contracting going?” Emmeline asked him. I was genuinely worried for you; it’s such a big deal.”

“It’s mostly settled,” Abel said. “On paper, Scott is in charge, but in reality, I’m the one contracting it

“With so many people in your factory, will there be a lot of layoffs?”

“That’s for sure. We’re putting our lives on the line, so we can’t afford to be a charity organization.”

“How many people will be laid off?”

“Going to be over a hundred, I suppose.”

“That’s a lot!” Emmeline exclaimed..

“What did you expect?” Abel said. “There are even twelve janitors just for cleaning the toilets! And I still haven’t seen the toilets being particularly clean!”

“What will they do after being laid off?”

“The temporary workers will be disbanded, and the permanent employees will have to handle their own. unemployment procedures and liaise with the labor bureau.”

You’re making quite significant changes! Emmeline remarked. “It will really depend on your management skills.”

“I’ve learned the ropes after watching Scott work all these years. Abel chuckled. “It’s not that difficult.”

“Well, I can’t help much with this, Emmeline said. “You’re on your own. Just don’t forget to make time for me. Don’t get so busy that you leave me behind.”

“How could I?” Abel ruffled her hair. Without seeing you, my mind would be empty. Even if you didn’t want to see me, I’d still want to see you. Otherwise, all my efforts would be meaningless.”

“Abel, I want to move out and live on my own. Emmeline changed the subject.

“Why do you suddenly have this idea?” Abel questioned.

Emmeline said nothing. She lowered her head and sighed softly.

“Is something wrong, Emma?” Abel pressed her shoulders.

“No, I’m just not in a good mood.” Emmeline looked extremely gloomy.

Abel knew she wasn’t telling the truth, but he also understood what she meant.

A few days ago, Hannah had called Abel. She asked him to persuade Emmeline not to go further down the wrong path, as Kimberly was very concerned about her.

Although Hannah had asked Abel to help convince her sister, she had also sounded a warning to “Abel, I’m telling you, you can’t mess around with Emma. If she can’t get married in the future, it will be a big problem. Don't blame me for not warning your

Her words left Abel speechless, and he abruptly ended the call.

Hannah sent him another message afterward. You and Emma are not possible. Don't let her sink deeper into this!

Chapter Chapter 1390 Accident

The World Trade Building project commenced.

Tony assembled a construction team and strictly followed the specified materials for production and installation.

Emmeline came over from home every day and collaborated with the designer on the floor plan.

After lunch, Emmeline would rest at the Transport Guesthouse.

Tony arranged a room for her at the guesthouse so that she could stay there if she worked late.

Janie, the receptionist at the guesthouse, had been absent for the past two days.

Emmeline inquired about her specifically

She and Janie had become close friends.

The front desk informed Emmeline that Janie was on sick leave in the dormitory.

After the afternoon break, just as Emmeline was about to check on her, Janie appeared before her weakly.

Janie, where were you these past two days?" Emmeline asked with concern.

Janie's face was pale, and her lips lacked color.

Her appearance startled Emmeline.

"What's wrong. Janie? Are you sick?"

Janie looked up at her, her gaze fixed as if contemplating something.

Suddenly, she mysteriously said to Emmeline, Let's go to your room. I have something to tell you."

"What is it?" Emmeline was taken aback by her expression.

Nevertheless, she and Janic returned to the second-floor private room, and the two girls sat on the bed.

Janie immediately grabbed Emmeline's hand. "Emma, I'm pregnant. I'm terrified, and I don't know what to do!"

"What?!" Emmeline was also shocked. "What happened? I didn't hear you mention having a boyfriend. Is... Is it Benjamin's? You should tell him right away!"

"If it were his, I wouldn't be so anxious and scared!" Janie said, almost on the verge of tears.

Emmeline was at a loss. "Then, who is it? Should I ask my brother?"

"Why would you ask your brother?" Janie said, laughing and crying at the same time. "What does he have to do with this?"

"I'll ask him if we should go to the hospital or... whether you should get married to that person!"

“I can’t believe you. I thought I had no one to talk to, but you’re even more panicked than me!”

“But you haven’t told me who the other person is. You should get married quickly!”

“We can’t get married.”

“Why not? Isn’t it Benjamin?” Emmeline asked. “You mentioned before that he was going to get engaged to you

“I said it’s not him!”

“Then who is it?”

“It’s... Tony!”

Emmeline was shocked. “Tony?!”

“Shhh!” Janie covered her mouth. “Don’t shout!”

“How could it be him? Are you having an affair?”

Emmeline lowered her voice, never expecting to hear that name.

“No, that’s not it. Tony Janie lowered her head. “I never liked him in the first place.”

“Then why.” Emmeline clasped her hands together. “Please spare me the riddles, Janie. You’re confusing me.

“I’m the one who’s truly confused. My mind is a mess.”

“You say it’s not Benjamin, but Tony. But you don’t even like Tony Emmeline frowned. “I heard he’s divorced. Don’t tell me it’s because of you?”

Janie was speechless.

“You’re pregnant now. If you like him, you should marry him quickly. The child is innocent, a precious life! Emmeline’s face turned red with urgency.

“He did get divorced because of me, but not because we were in a relationship. It’s. It’s...”

“What is it?” Emmeline couldn’t understand. No relationship, yet there’s a child?

Janic took a deep breath and said softly. “I had an accident with Tony!”

Emmeline’s jaw dropped in shock. “I don’t understand, Janic. How could you have an accident with Tony?”

Janie lowered her head and whispered, “We were both confused that night.

Emmeline was completely puzzled. “What happened exactly?”

That night, Janie began. “We were celebrating Benjamin’s birthday. I had a lot to drink, and Tony and Benjamin were also drunk. So, I booked two rooms, hoping everyone could rest.”

“I fell asleep right away, but later, someone slept beside me. At that time, I thought it was Benjamin... But when I woke up, it turned out to be Tony. I was terrified. I thought I was finished. I thought it was all over. So, I grabbed a pillow and started hitting Tony, crying the whole time.”

“Tony was also terrified. I threatened to call the police, and he got down on his knees and groveled dozens of times. Then, he made a phone call, and Benjamin came over.

“There were people gathered outside the room. To make it look better for Tony and me, we pushed the blame onto Benjamin. They all knew that Benjamin and I were in a relationship...”

“Later, Tony gave me sixty thousand. Considering the situation in my rural hometown and my disabled brother, and how difficult my parents’ lives were, we let the matter pass like that.

“But little did we expect, his wife found out about this. His wife reported him, and Tony was suspended and lost his job. Later, his wife divorced him.”

Emmeline came to a realization. “I finally understand what Benjamin meant when he mentioned taking the blame
