

Ark Vol 3 Chapter 8

Jackson's Hero

- I saw a player solo the 130+ level boss that 50 players couldn't beat together. Because he was in the muddy water and was out of range of the [Detect] scroll, I couldn't check his name or level. I was unable to watch to the end because I was logged out in the middle of it, but it was amazing. I really want to know who it was.

- If he could fight a 130+ level boss on his own, just what is his level?

- I have never seen someone move like this underwater, could it be an NPC for balance?

- It feels like a fake... but if it's amazing if its real.

-To the person who commented above, as if. Shut up, wash your feet, and go to bed.

Notice to the residents of Jackson!

"OUR HERO!"

The residents cheered as they raised their glasses high.

The young Lord raised his glass with a pleased face and handed it to Ark. "You aren't a person who sings his own praises. Even if you do a virtuous deed, not many people will recognize you for it. But look. A heroic deed won't be hidden if you try to hide it. Rather, the more you hide it, the more it shines; we call such a person a hero. No matter what someone else says, to the people raising their glasses in this moment and this place, you are a hero. A brilliant hero who shines from a distant, high place. I am truly proud to know such a genuine hero."

It was then. A cheerful tune rang out as a message window popped up.

You have received the title 'Jackson's Hero' from the Jackson residents.

* As a title related bonus, All Stats rise by 2.

* Intimacy with all Jackson residents has increased to the maximum value.

* Fame increased by 50.
