Chapter 1431 A New Technique

The Demon raised her head. She could not accept her loss. Pushing herself up with the sword, she got back on her feet with the support of her sword.

Tang Shaoyang was getting used to his new hand, opening and clenching his hand. There was a weird feeling for the new hand, anything else, it worked wonderfully. He squinted his eyes as the demon did not want to admit defeat.

"What? You can't accept the result because you can't use everything you have?"

He could read it from her expression and sensed her unwillingness to bow down.

"That's right. It's unfair! It's two against one!" The Demon raised her voice, and could no longer keep quiet.

In a way, it was two against one because Avyn limited The Demon's Space Elemental Power. She could use it on her sword technique, but that was limited to that. She could no longer affect the space around her unless Avyn lifted her domain.

Tang Shaoyang shrugged, "I don't know demons will make a lot of excuses when they lose. You did not mention it before the fight, but after you lost. What a sore loser demon."

It seemed like his provocation worked on the demon. The latter looked upset, glaring at him with resentment. It was just like a teenager who could not accept her loss.

"Just like you. I also did not use everything I had in this fight. What you see is just part of my abilities."

He did not use Spirit Integration and True Dragon. Two strongest skills in his armory. He only used Heavenly Gate in this fight and Battle Sense. In fact, he just used Nine Heavenly Gate since The Demon challenged him into a close combat fight.

"Follow me, Demon! We will form a companion contract instead of a Slave Contract," That would make her familiar. Just like Wrath, Greed, and Kalliyan, "Fight alongside me and free yourself from this dungeon. You will become stronger if you are free from this dungeon."

"And I will give you a chance to redeem yourself later. You can fight me again in five years, and if you win. You can nullify the contract! Isn't that better than disappearing with this dungeon?"

Even though he did not know if he could contract a dungeon creature. He still made the offer first. That was the thing to figure out later.

The Demon closed her eyes, looking still unwilling to give up. Tang Shaoyang waited for her to make the decision. There was no need to hurry.

It took her a while to come up with the heavy decision, "I accept my loss. I don't want to form a companion contract. Let's do it with a Slave Contract and add a condition that I will have once to redeem myself, not five years."

"Does not matter to me," Tang Shaoyang agreed, "But we still have to go with the Companion Pact as well. We can break the pact if you win against me."

The normal contract did not have any binding force on her, so that was why he wanted to form a companion contract. They did not have a priest to officiate as well. The companion contract was the best way to bind The Demon.

"Alright. Put that condition in the contract as well." The Demon accepted her fate. It was not that bad of a deal in the paper. She took a gauze and covered her eyes with it.

Tang Shaoyang took out a contract scroll. It was a slave contract, but he edited the condition as he approached The Demon. They needed to be closer to form a Companion Pact.

He threw the scroll in front of The Demon as he landed a meter away from The Demon. He was prepared to initiate the Companion Pact. As he was about to place his hand on her head, the gauze in her eyes fell off.

At that moment, The Demon made her move as well, aiming for the body. She was confident that her sword would hit Tang Shaoyang in this distance. But then she saw a smile on Tang Shaoyang's face.

"I know you will do this!" He caught the sword with his hand. He came prepared, having his hands covered in Chaos Energy. The sword could not cut his hand like before with the protective barrier.

Nine Heavenly Gate: Heavenly Azure Dragon Force

The Azure Dragon force flared out as an image of an Azure dragon formed behind him. There was a little difference in the projection. Some of the scales were no longer azure, but black. The harmonization with Chaos Energy slowly changed The Azure Dragon. Something that Tang Shaoyang had not yet realized.

Then he followed with Heavenly Crushing Grasp, breaking the sword into pieces. The Demon screamed for the first time. Her scream echoed in this frozen hall.

Tang Shaoyang raised his knee, hitting The Demon's chin, pushing her up in the air. At that moment, he thought of a skill that he had not used recently, Thousand Blast. The skill that worked with a weapon.

But a wild thought appeared in his head, 'What if he used the skill with his fist? Will it work?' It was wild to try something in a fight where his life might be on the line. Of course, it was quite safe because he was on the advantage.

Using The Heavenly Azure Dragon Force, he activated the skill. His hands blurred, moving forward to punch The Demon. In those two seconds, he hit The Demon many times. He did not know the exact number, but it was far less than a thousand.

While it worked, it did not work perfectly as he thought. He thought of sending a thousand hits.

Boom!

The Demon crashed into the wall again. Her body planted on the wall and stopped moving. However, there was no notification, meaning The Demon was still alive.

"You killed her!" Avyn immediately came over after. With that last strike, it was decided who was the winner.

Tang Shaoyang shook his head, "Nope. She is still alive. There's no notification." Just as he finished his words, a notification rang in his head. He froze for a moment.

[You have created a new technique part of The Nine Heavenly Gates!]

[Heavenly Azure Dragon Storming Fist!]

Chapter 1432 Primordial Treasure Chest

That was right, it was a notification that he created a technique, not killing The Demon. While it was a pity to kill such a strong demon that might help in the future. He would not regret it even if he accidentally killed The Demon.

"Is she dead?" But for some reason, Avyn was more concerned about her wellbeing than him. Which was surprising.

"No. I think I just created a new technique as part of The Nine Heavenly Gates!"

[Your name will be recorded as the contributor to develop The Nine Heavenly Gates in the original scripture!]

The third notification was an interesting one. He did not really understand what it meant. But from that notification, he knew there was a physical copy of The Nine Heavenly Gates. The thing he just did was recorded in that original scripture.

"Does that mean the one that I learned is the pirate version?" From the third notification, it seemed there were more variations for each gate. He could develop a new technique or maybe learn the existing technique related to the Nine Heavenly Gates.

"What are you talking about?" Avyn glanced at him.

Tang Shaoyang shook his head. Zara went ahead by herself, checking on The Demon. Not only did her sword-like hand broke, but her body was crushed. The mark of his fist was on her body, all over her body. From the hands, legs, and body.

The Demon was still breathing, but her breathing was faint. She might really die if she did not receive aid any time soon.

"You really don't hold back, hah? She might die if you hit her a few more punches," Zara shook her head.

"Are you going to hold back fighting someone who wants to kill you?" He rolled his eyes. There was no reason for him to hold back. In fact, he was glad that he did not hold back. A new technique was created in this fight.

Tang Shaoyang held her cheek and forcefully opened her mouth. Then he chugged down the healing potion into her mouth.

Despite The Demon's high regeneration and healing potion. It still took five minutes for her to recover. She was not fully recovered, but she could stand on her own.

"Make your choice now. Do you want to follow me or not? Don't try stalling for time until you recover. I will really kill you in the next fight!" He was not joking with his words.

If The Demon did not want to follow him. There was no need for him to force her to follow her. It was not like she was needed. She was strong and had potential, that was it. It was not like her existence could bring eternal peace for him and his empire.

"I will follow you!"

Tang Shaoyang placed his hand on her head. There was no resistance or a surprise attack this time.

[Do you want to form a Companion Pact with Curtanios?]

"Your name is Curtanios?"

"No! That's my race. My name is Phemrel,"

He agreed to the notification, and Phemrel received the notification as well. She accepted the pact, and the fact was formed. There was a mark in the same shape as her pupil. The mark glowed in purple before it slowly faded away.

[You have established a Companion Pact with Phemrel of Curtanios!] n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

As the pact was established, Avyn canceled her domain, and the ice disappeared. It disappeared instead of melting. At the same time, a treasure chest and a portal gate appeared at the end of the hall.

The chest was black-gold in color, shining in the dark. He touched the chest, and the information appeared.

[The Primordial Treasure Chest]

'Is this my first time getting a Primordial Treasure Chest?' He asked himself.

He had a lot of treasure chests, not opening them all. His intention from save those treasure chests and thought of holding a tournament in the future for his people. The top thirty-two, or maybe the top sixteen would automatically receive the treasure chest reward.

Tang Shaoyang did not plan to open them because he felt like there was nothing he needed from the chest. The common reward from the chest was potion, Game Coin, and equipment. He had all of those. The rare one was the class scroll.

It was not like he was going to get a good class from the Epic Treasure Chest and lower. That was why he had not been opening them. But it was different this time. It was a Primordial Treasure Chest.

"Should I open it?" As he said that, he opened the chest.

His expression dropped the moment he saw what was inside. It was a single feather, shining in several colors. A single feather, and he had an idea what kind of item it was. He picked up the item, and immediately kicked the chest before it disappeared.

[The Feather of Oathbreaker]

It might be a precious item for the others, but that was just a garbage item for him. If he made an oath, that meant it was something serious. He was not going to use this feather just to break his oath. If he made the oath, then he must carry out the oath.

The item had no value in his eyes. His attention was then directed toward the portal, "Where does this portal lead to?"

"It's the exit," Phemrel replied. Her condition had become much better. All her bones healed up and her sword had regenerated.

"That's it? We have finished the dungeon by defeating you and those Revenants?"

"I am not sure. I don't know much about the dungeon. My duty is to kill anyone who enters my chamber!" Phemrel shook her head.

Tang Shaoyang, Avyn, and Zara exchanged glances. It seemed they reached a tacit agreement without talking. The three turned around and went back to the tunnel instead of going out of the dungeon.

There were six other tunnels they had not checked. They thought of exploring all the tunnels before leaving the dungeon.

"We are going to clear out the dungeon. You don't need to do anything. Just watch!" That was Phemrel's first order.

Don't do anything, just watch!

Chapter 1433 Easy Dungeon Run

Tang Shaoyang, Avyn, Zara, and Phemrel entered the tunnel next to Phemrel's chamber. It was another long tunnel without any monsters. Even though Phemrel had formed a Companion Pact. There was a restriction on her, preventing her from speaking the details about the dungeon.

Phemrel could not tell them any information about the monster behind the tunnel. They arrived at the end of the tunnel and were greeted with a big area. It was much bigger than Phemrel's chamber.

Tang Shaoyang furrowed his brow, weirded by the size of the room. It did not like this area was inside the dungeon. It was as if it was another space.

This area was much bigger than the area where they found the skeletons. It was a grass area with trees. A little further behind the trees, Tang Shaoyang saw a village.

The village was surrounded by a wooden fence, and there were like twenty houses. The size of the house was a clue that the one staying in this village was a giant.

The door was around three and a half meters, crude, and made of wood, "There's a village ahead...." He paused as he finally saw the creature staying in the village.

Tang Shaoyang furrowed his furrow. The creature was three meters tall and had the body of a horse which connected to a human body. It was half horse and half human. In his eyes, he saw the creature for the first time. It looked like someone cut the horse from the neck and put it on a human body. From the waist to the head.

"What did you see?" Zara asked.

"It's half human and half horse!? Do you know them?" It was quite disturbing to see. At least, it was disturbing to him.

"It must be Centaur," Zara then looked at Avyn. No words were exchanged, but Tang Shaoyang knew what they were communicating. They were discussing who should fight a whole village of centaurs.

"Alright, you can have them. The next tunnel is mine!" Avyn gave up fighting the centaur.

Phemrel just looked back and forth between the three. It was a weird scene for her and also a new one. She did not know this was how humans decided who would fight. Zara entered the forest area by herself. Tang Shaoyang and Avyn did not look worried at all.

In less than a minute Zara entered the forest, and the ground was shaking as the roar came out from the forest. The ground kept shaking for five minutes.

A few seconds after the ground stopped shaking, Zara came out from the forest. It looked like she came back after taking a stroll instead of fighting.

"They had three Legend Ranks and six Primordial Ranks," A portal formed and spat nine Centaur dead bodies, "There are more of them, but they are low-ranked than these ones."

Zara's voice sounded disappointed. It seemed like she regretted fighting the Centaur.

"It's fine," Tang Shaoyang took the bodies. After storing the bodies, a big spear landed next to him. The shaft itself was as big as his arm, and it was three meters long.

"That was the thing I found next to the exit portal. That's the reward for beating them, I guess."

Tang Shaoyang really liked heavy and big weapons. He picked up the spear and furrowed his brow. Taking a few steps back, he swung the spear. There was a big difference between the spear and his battle axe.

"Don't really like this spear," He shook his head, weighing the spear with his right hand. Tossing it a few times. Instead of using it for close combat, he felt like it was better to throw the spear, "Maybe I will train a little bit later. This one is fit to throw."

However, it was an Ancient Grade Spear. It was too good of a spear to throw. But he could not think of someone who could use the spear. It was too big for a spear, even the grip was so uncomfortable with how big the shaft was.

He shrugged and stored the spear, "Let's go for the third tunnel."

For the third tunnel, they picked up their pace. After knowing there was no monster in the tunnel. Just like the previous two tunnels, there was no monster until they arrived at the end.

It was all just like Phemrel's chamber, twice bigger. At the end of the chamber was the occupant of this room. A massive pond with purple liquid inside, bulbing. It looked like a poisonous liquid and released a foul smell to the entire hall.

The creature inside the pond was a serpent, a three-headed serpent. It hissed, welcoming the uninvited guests. After the long hiss, it shot out a bulb of purple liquid from their mouths. Four balls of poisonous acid flew toward them.

As per their agreement, Avyn would take care of the next tunnel. She formed the same ice mirror when they fought Phemrel. The acid ball froze and slid over the mirror. It seemed like the serpent had a bad match-up.

It was just one monster inside, but the three-headed serpent was a Demi-God Rank. Avyn had a smile on her lips. She made the right decision to let Zara fight the centaur.

Tang Shaoyang was observing the ice mirror. It was made of ice, but it looked harder than any steel. While he was focused on the mirror, the serpent's hiss raised by multiple notches. As if it was in pain, but Avyn was still inside the ice mirror with him.

Then he noticed that the three suffered burn marks. The dark scale on their heads melted with the purple liquid on that burn mark. He looked at the frozen purple liquid earlier. They had the same color, and the burn mark was similar in size with the ball as well.

Tang Shaoyang realized that this Ice Mirror was more than just a shield. It returned the attack the mirror received. Then he remembered the fight against Phemrel where Avyn used the Ice Mirror and waited for something. She waited for the Ice Mirror to reflect the unlimited swords, but it seemed like the Ice Mirror could not reflect Phemrel's sword.

What happened next was bullying. Avyn bullied the serpent with her Ice Mirror as the serpent killed itself with its own ability.

Chapter 1434 Legendary Dungeon (1)

Jaylen looked around, clenching his hand tightly. The nerve got into him after Sir Tang Shaoyang entered the dungeon. It was just twenty minutes, but his mind was running wild.

He imagined Sir Tang Shaoyang died inside the dungeon. The Clown Troupe failed to clear it. The Black Iron Adventurer's party failed to clear it. And The God Rank had no interest in this Primordial Dungeon either.

The Dragonewt stood next to the portal, not budging from that spot as well. The fact that The Dragonewt looked so calm did not help to calm him. He wanted to strike up a conversation to calm his nerves, but he was too nervous to start a conversation too. Nôv(el)B\\jnn

Another five minutes passed, and he could not hold back anymore, "Do you think they are fine?"

Jaylen knew that usually, a dungeon took hours to finish. Some of them even took a few days. Especially if it was a dangerous one.

Maldros glanced at the elf, then he looked past the elf. He did not answer the elf as he walked past, "Welcome back, Master."

Jaylen skipped a beat when the Dragonewt came to him. He thought The Dragonewt would slap or even knock him down for asking that. But then he heard the voice.

The elf turned around with his eyes widened open, not expecting to see Sir Tang Shaoyang and the two girls. Then he looked at the back. The dungeon was completely closed.

"Did you destroy the dungeon core too, Sir Tang Shaoyang?" He blurted out.

"Am I not supposed to?" Tang Shaoyang sounded irritated.

He was not irritated by the question but by something else. He got three Primordial Treasure Chests, and the thing inside those chests was Feather of The Oathbreaker. Three same chests with the same reward. That was what irritated him.

Jaylen immediately shook his head, "No! You need to destroy the dungeon core since it was a dangerous dungeon...." He paused when he mentioned danger. The dungeon did not sound dangerous when Sir Tang Shaoyang finished the run in twenty-five minutes.

"Is there another high-rank dungeon? This one is too easy," Tang Shaoyang checked the time, and it was just half an hour since he entered the dungeon. He still had a lot of time. If there was nothing to do, he might as well be back to Earth.

"There's one Ancient Primordial Dungeon, but it's a little further from our territory. But the dungeon belongs to the Arganos Kingdom. They have claimed the dungeon, and we need their permission to clear the dungeon. And I don't think the Arganos Kingdom will give the permit. They use that dungeon to train their high-ranked soldiers."

"That's it? There's no more aside from this one and the one belongs to Arganos Kingdom?" Tang Shaoyang furrowed his brows.

He was quite disappointed because he thought The Osligia Kingdom had a complete list of dungeons.

"Unfortunately, yes. We have a limited range of searches because The Clown Troupe watched our border. If you want a higher-ranked dungeon, I think the Adventurer Guild is your choice. Some weak kingdoms usually made a request to the guild to clear a high-ranked dungeon such as Ancient Primordial Dungeon and Legendary Dungeon."

Tang Shaoyang was about to ask about another Primordial Rank until he received a message from Rowan The Abyss Storm Wolf. He furrowed his brow when he heard what Rowan told him.

"Let's return for now. Hemlin is making a ruckus in the temple," The timing was perfect. He needed Hemlin for Legendary Dungeon. It looked like Legendary Dungeon was the highest-ranked dungeon, "I will meet you guys there!" He waved his hand as he switched places with Rowan.

As he switched places, he was greeted with a palm from Hemlin. It seemed like Hemlin tried to grab Rowan. The God of the Adventurer Guild was surprised that the wolf changed into his Master. But it was too late to retract his hand.

Tang Shaoyang reacted quickly and grabbed Hemlin's hand with both hands. He turned around and slammed him to the ground. Then he landed a quick jab to the nose, causing his nose to bleed.

Of course, Hemlin could react to Tang Shaoyang's counter, but he knew that he messed up big time. He just accepted himself getting slammed and the jab as well. That was how he proved his innocence. He did not know Rowan was His Master's summon.

"What are you doing?" Tang Shaoyang squinted his eyes. The temple square had become a mess, and Rumru transformed into his dragon form. It seemed like Hemlin was fighting them and Rowan.

"You did not come back for a long time even though the barrier was gone. I thought you were trapped by the elf and Luneia. So I came to help you...."

"Didn't they explain anything to you?" He turned toward The Exalted Priests with her legion of knights as well the priests behind her. It almost turned out to be a big fight for sure. The Elf's army was also around to assist the temple.

"They told me that you are going into a dungeon...." Hemlin's voice got smaller, "But how am I supposed to believe them? You told me you came to kill Luneia. But they tried to lie to me....."

"Did I say that I came to kill Luneia?" Tang Shaoyang squinted his eyes. He was pretty sure he said that he wanted to meet Luneia, not to kill her.

Hemlin opened his mouth, recalling the past conversation. He quickly realized that Tang Shaoyang never said anything about killing Luneia. It was meeting with Luneia, not killing her. But he presumes that the meeting was to kill Luneia since he wanted to kill the Seven Gods.

Tang Shaoyang almost sent another jab to Hemlin's nose, but the latter quickly covered her nose. He shook his head and turned around. Then he realized he was inside the temple. A big part of the temple went missing.

"It's a misunderstanding!" He had to explain to clear the misunderstanding. It was not really necessary, but he did it out of goodwill. He assumed these knights and priests would follow with Luneia to join the Tang Empire.

Gracia and the others were shocked to hear Hemlin was part of the Tang Empire. Especially King Manasa who was not that far from them. Even if Goddess Luneia took their side, they did not think they could win if The God of The Adventurer Guild joined with Sir Tang Shaoyang.

The King was relieved that he really made the right decision. He almost brought his kingdom to a ruin.

Chapter 1435 Jaylen's Plan

Jaylen did not like the first trip, and he did not like the return trip even more. He was forced to close his eyes with how fast Maldros was. There was no way for him to tell how long he had been flying.

The moment he could open his eyes. He was already back at The Capital. But he still felt like it was a long journey.

The bad part did not end there as Maldros dropped him without saying anything. He had been flying for a while, so he could not keep his balance and almost fell. That would be embarrassing if he fell in public.

Fortunately, there was a kind soul that helped him from falling. Someone caught him, and he soon realized it was an elf soldier.

"Are you okay, Sir Jaylen?" The soldier addressed him respectfully.

That was just a simple question, and yet, that hit him hard. The realization that he had been taking everything for granted. The realization came after he was treated just like a nobody before, similar to a slave. Now he appreciated the soldier who addressed him respectfully.

"Thank you, Soldier!" Jaylen straightened himself, trying to shake off his dizziness from the crazy flight. If it was the old him, he would not thank the soldier. Back then, he thought it was one of the soldier's duties. There was no need to thank the soldier for such a simple matter.

An hour-long journey taught him to appreciate his status even more. An hour trip that taught him a life lesson. Ironical, but that was the truth. It made him appreciate his status more than before.

As he got rid of the dizziness from the crazy flight, he then realized a lot of army around. He made sure that he was not dropped in the Osligia Kingdom's barrack. And he was not, he was at The Temple of Light's square.

Battalions of soldiers were ready to fight, and that scared him a little, "What happened?" He thought there might be a conflict again with Sir Tang Shaoyang's people. If that was the case, he must persuade The King not to fight Sir Tang Shaoyang.

"From what I heard, Sir Hemlin from The Adventurer Guild came to the temple and asked for Sir Tang Shaoyang's whereabouts. He attacked the Black Dragon and also Sir Tang Shaoyang's summon."

Jaylen immediately ran through the soldier. There was a fear in his mind that The King would side with Sir Hemlin and fight Sir Tang Shaoyang instead. If that was the case, then he must do his best to persuade King Manasa.

He worried for nothing as he saw The King standing on the side, looking at Sir Hemlin talking to Sir Tang Shaoyang. He overheard the conversation. They were talking about dungeons. Then he was shocked to hear what Sir Hemlin called Sir Tang Shaoyang.

His eyes widened in shock as he heard it again. Sir Hemlin was called Sir Tang Shaoyang Master, then later changed into Your Majesty. That showed the status between the two. Sir Hemlin served Sir Tang Shaoyang. A God from the Adventurer Guild served Sir Tang Shaoyang.

That was a shocking revelation for him. It seemed it was not just him, but everyone nearby was shocked to know that. That just proved how scary Sir Tang Shaoyang was.

They did not disperse until Sir Tang Shaoyang left with Sir Hemlin.

King Manasa sat on his throne, lamenting the future of his kingdom. Without the barrier, The Osligia Kingdom must be prepared for the aggression from the neighboring kingdoms. It would be just a matter of time before the words of The Osligia Kingdom lost Goddess Lune's blessing spread out.

They needed to prepare for the worst. It was a known fact that those filthy humans loved to keep elves as their pets and sex slaves. Even with the barrier, a group of poachers kept coming, trying their luck to kidnap the elf.

It would be worse without the barrier. More people would be more daring and bolder with their attempts. Another issue was that Sir Tang Shaoyang did not like him after what they had done. He made the worst first impression.

The door to the throne opened without any warning. That irritated him even more. He was plagued with the future problem, there was an insolent fool entering his room without notifying him.

"Your Majesty! Your Majesty!" Jaylen rushed toward The King.

King Manasa calmed down when he noticed it was Jaylen. The Head of Dungeon Management was one of his close aides.

"Better it's not about dungeons, Jaylen. I don't really have time for that!" The King shook his head.

"No! It's about the future of our kingdom! I have a proposal in mind," Jaylen came closer to the throne, "What do you think if we, The Osligia Kingdom, serve Sir Tang Shaoyang just like the Adventurer Guild and The Temple of Light!"

He came not without doing his research first. He asked the priests and the knights. They told him that The Temple of Light was now part of the Tang Empire.

Jaylen found out that Sir Tang Shaoyang was The Emperor of The Tang Empire. He knew King Manasa was stressed out about losing the protection from Goddess Lune. But then they had stronger protection than Goddess Lune herself. Sir Tang Shaoyang was the best option for the elf's future.

Jaylen was also aware of the problems The Osligia Kingdom would face the moment the barrier disappeared. But it was different if they gained Sir Tang Shaoyang's protection. The Temple of Light and The Adventurer Guild would protect them as well as The Tang Empire. n/o/vel/b//in dot c//om

King Manasa's eyes brightened with the idea. That was indeed the best option for them, but then he frowned.

"But Sir Tang Shaoyang hates us for what happened earlier...." The King lost confidence, remembering Sir Tang Shaoyang hated them. He knew Sir Tang Shaoyang hated them, but he pretended not to notice it.

"But we must try even if Sir Tang Shaoyang hates us. Or if you are willing, we can tie our relationship with Sir Tang Shaoyang by marrying the First Princess to Sir Tang Shaoyang. Sir Tang Shaoyang is actually a human, not a dragon. He is a human with a Dragon Bloodline!"

Chapter 1436 Legendary Dungeon (2)

Hemlin and Forlan were waiting in front of Legendary Dungeon's entrance. It was earlier in the morning, and this was the twelfth dungeon. Both did not understand why Tang Shaoyang wanted to enter the high-ranked dungeons.

In their eyes, Legendary Dungeon did not really bring any benefit to them. Especially after knowing the reward from each dungeon. The best thing they could get from this dungeon was a rare Class Scroll and Myth Grade Equipment.

Despite its difficulty, the reward was nothing desirable. Both were puzzled as to why Tang Shaoyang was interested in the dungeon.

There are two more levels above The Legendary Dungeon. Those two dungeons were the ones that The God Rank was looking for; The Legendary Hell Dungeon and The Fallen Star.

The Legendary Hell was a dungeon with a guaranteed God Rank Boss monster inside. The Fallen Star was a dungeon that connected to a desolate world. A destroyed world infested with mutated monsters and Void Creatures.

Hemlin and Forlan only experienced the Legendary Hell Dungeon. They cleared the dungeon but also almost died inside the dungeon. That was the reason they could contest The Seven Gods.

The Legendary Hell Dungeon they cleared was the first and only dungeon spawned in Aqura World. The Seven Gods was the first and only group to explore the Fallen Star. It was unknown what they obtained from The Fallen Star.

The rumor was that the seven Gods managed to take down the dragon because of the things they got from that dungeon. It was still unknown what that was. That was the reason why Hemlin and Forlan had been avoiding a confrontation against the Seven Gods.

If not their alliance with the other six dragons. The seven Gods might take down the dragon one by one before hunting Hemlin and Forlan.

Unfortunately, those two types of dungeons were never seen again after their first spawn. Hemlin and Forlan had been looking for Legendary Hell Dungeon. That was the biggest reason they became the backing for the Adventurer Guild.

Using the guild to look for the guild they wanted. But of course, both were attached to the organization they had built so far.

"Welcome back, Your Majesty," Hemlin and Forlan bowed their heads, greeting Tang Shaoyang who just came out of the dungeon.

Hemlin looked past and noticed the dungeon was disappearing. It was the twelfth dungeon, and His Majesty kept destroying the core of the dungeon. That was bad news for the Adventurer Guild.

Legendary Dungeon was not much of use for them, but that was a valuable asset for The Adventurer Guild. The dungeon was a training ground for them to train the adventurers. Losing one was a massive hit.

"May I know why you keep destroying the dungeon core, Your Majesty?" Forlan could not keep it anymore and asked. The Adventurer Guild was affiliated with The Tang Empire. There was no reason for Tang Shaoyang to destroy the dungeon to weaken The Adventurer Guild.

"Am I supposed not to?" Tang Shaoyang asked. He was genuinely curious because Jaylen also asked him once.

Hemlin and Forlan exchanged glances. They were confused whether it was a test for them, or Tang Shaoyang really did not know anything about the dungeon.

Upon killing all the monsters or the boss monster, they could destroy the dungeon's core. Or they could leave without destroying the core. Destroying the core meant the dungeon would disappear, but the dungeon would remain if the core was intact. But there was a cooldown before they could enter the dungeon again.

If the dungeon was not so dangerous, a dungeon with few to no casualties. The Adventurer Guild would keep it, turning the dungeon into a training ground. It was the same for the other kingdoms.

Hemlin and Forlan are unsure if Tang Shaoyang really did not know or if it was just a test for them. While Hemlin was hesitating, Forlan was straightforward.

"The dungeon will remain if you don't destroy the core, Your Majesty. We prefer to keep a high-ranked dungeon such as Legendary Dungeon to train our adventurers. For them to increase their levels as well. It's better not to destroy the core unless the dungeon is too dangerous for a training ground."

Forlan took the gamble and explained. He was ready to bear the scolding. However, Tang Shaoyang just nodded his head at the explanation.

"I see. Why don't you guys tell me sooner? This is our twelfth dungeon," Tang Shaoyang realized how it worked. He did not really think that far. He thought since he defeated the boss, he must destroy the core. There was another treasure chest upon destroying the core, after all.

Hemlin and Forlan exchanged glances once more. They were confused that Tang Shaoyang did not know such basic knowledge about the dungeon. Their suspicion that this might be Tang Shaoyang's first experience dungeon run became stronger.

"Perhaps, you have never entered a dungeon before today, Your Majesty?" Forlan could no longer hold his curiosity.

"Nope. There are no dungeons yet in my world. But as soon as I reach God Rank, the dungeon will start spawning. I entered the dungeon to get information about the dungeon," Tang Shaoyang told them the truth.

He had not told them he came from another world, not from Aqura. Since Hemlin and Forlan were part of The Tang Empire now. He did not mind telling them right now.

Hemlin and Forlan were shocked to hear that. They had a suspicion that Tang Shaoyang might come from another world. That was because they had never heard of The Tang Empire before. But the suspicion lessened when Tang Shaoyang told them he wanted to kill the seven Gods. It was as if Tang Shaoyang had unfinished business with The Radiant Temple and the seven Gods.

Now he told them that there was no dungeon in the world where he came from. That shocked them even more. They were shocked by how Tang Shaoyang became this strong without a dungeon. They were shocked and also intrigued by how a Demi-God Rank was stronger than a God Rank.

Tang Shaoyang killed The Clown God. That was something they knew after the priest and the elf told them about it before leaving for the dungeon hunting. It made them curious how Tang Shaoyang became this strong without a dungeon in his world. Both were curious, but they held back the question.

"For the last dungeon, lead me to the dangerous Legendary Dungeon you talked about. You have one, right?"

"Ah, yes, we have three such dungeons on our list," Forlan nodded. Nôv(el)B\\jnn

"Lead me to the nearest dungeon then, just one," Tang Shaoyang received a telepathy from Rowan that Luneia had woken up. It was earlier than they predicted.

He could still explore more dungeons if he wanted to, but he had enough information. Another important thing he learned from the dungeon. The dungeon could be re-entered, meaning it did not really matter if his people were ready or not.

He could just enter all spawned dungeons and gather the information. He got out with information for his people to clear out.

That was right, he planned to take an ascension early instead of waiting for his people to grow stronger. He had to focus on The God Trial after he returned from Aquara.

Chapter 1437 Legendary Dungeon (3)

Hemlin led to the uncleared dungeon, the notorious dungeon that failed to clear after three attempts. Four Black Iron Adventurers, which was Demi-God Rank, never returned from the dungeon.

Despite losing four Demi-God Ranks. The Adventurer Guild still labeled the dungeon as Legendary Dungeon because of the gate color. All Legendary Dungeons had red crimson color gates. That was why they assumed it to be Legendary Dungeon.

"Do you want me to be your guide inside, Your Majesty?" Hemlin offered his assistance.

After hearing that today was Tang Shaoyang's first experience. He felt like it would be better for him to guide them inside. It was better than having Tang Shaoyang trapped inside a dungeon for days.

"No. You can give me the information about the dungeon later. I want to experience the dungeon without any help."

After saying that, Tang Shaoyang motioned his hands to the three to follow him. Avyn, Zara, and Phemrel followed him into the dungeon.

As the four entered the dungeon, a guild leader from the branch guild came closer to Forlan, "May I know who they are, Sir Hemlin?" He was quite nervous about the tone of his voice.

If Sir Hemlin and Sir Forlan acted so respectfully, that meant those four were very important figures. He just wanted to find their identities and warn the adventurers in his city.

"I will tell you later. Not just you, but all of The Adventurer Guild's branches. We will hold a Grand Assembly in three or four days. Just make sure your people do not do anything stupid. Forlan and I can't save you if you anger them!"

The Guild Leader gulped down a mouthful of saliva and nodded his head. He then retreated silently while sending a message to his secretary. He sent a detailed message to the four, making sure his people did not make a mistake that would lead to a disaster.

But there was something that bothered him. For the fact that one of them was a demon. The demon was a foul creature. They detested demons who kept trying to invade the Aidan Continent several times. But kept his dissatisfaction and followed the instructions.

[You have entered Legendary Dungeon!]

Tang Shaoyang thought it would be the same as the previous dungeons. Looking for the boss monster to finish the dungeon. But this one was different as there was a mission for them.

[Phase 1: Survive for seven days or kill all The Seven Orc Tribes!]

"This is a new...." Tang Shaoyang muttered in a low voice.

The three girls looked at him with the face asking 'What's new?'

"You don't get the notification?" He thought they would get the same notification, but it seemed like the three did not get the notification. They shook their heads, confirming his guess.

Tang Shaoyang could understand if Zara and Avyn did not get the notification. They were part of him, but it was weird for Phemrel not to receive the notification. While they formed a Companion Pact. Phemrel's situation was different from his spirit.

That was new information, not that useful but still information. He told them the notification.

"Shall we split up then? That way we can complete phase 1 faster instead of waiting for seven days. From the way the notification was phrased, it seems the Orc will hunt us down during those seven days anyway."

Tang Shaoyang was well aware that this Ancient Dragon just wanted to fight and hogged all of them for herself. But that was the most effective plan as well. Rather than waiting for seven days, hunting those seven Orc Tribes was a much better choice.

"Let's do...." Before he finished his words, the three girls had already disappeared from his sight. It seemed like Phemrel was affected by Zara and Avyn's rivalry. Those two always competed who killed the most monsters and beasts. After all those dungeons runs, it caught Phemrel.

He hopped to the tree and got into a comfortable position. There was no intention to compete with the girls since it was just Orc. He let them have those Orcs.

Of course, he watched them through the Spirit Eyes. There were four Orc Tribes in a radius of two thousand meters. The three seemed to be able to find their target quickly without the same vision.

The three were headed in the direction of the Orc Tribe. As if they already knew the tribe's location. Zara and Avyn were apart, and he was curious how Phemrel found the tribe's location. As the three girls got closer to the tribe, Tang Shaoyang focused on Phemrel.

Hemlin said there was a chance for a God Rank to appear in The Legendary Rank. Since The Adventurer Guild lost their four Demi-God Ranks in this dungeon. The guild predicted there must be a God Rank inside.

He focused on Phemrel since she was the weakest of the three. He did not need to worry about Avyn and Zara. But Phemrel might be in danger if she encountered a God Rank.

As soon as Phemrel entered the tribe's periphery, The Orcs noticed her. A roar came from Orcs who guarded the tribe, alerting the other Orcs in the village.

The space around the village distorted, just like a puzzle fell apart. By the time the distortion was over, the fence, the houses, and dozens of Orcs were sliced into pieces.

Tang Shaoyang looked at her fight from above instead of facing her directly. It looked amazing in his view, different from. He was slightly jealous of her ability, "Maybe I should acquire her Space Elemental Power...." Just like how he obtained Chaos Energy and Void Elemental Power, he wanted to obtain The Space Elemental Power.

"I needed a spirit with Space Elemental Power...." He thought of how he obtained Void Elemental Power. That was the result of his integration with Zara during his True Dragon form. If he had a spirit with Space Elemental Power. He thought of integration with that spirit and used True Dragon Form. There might be a chance he might acquire the Space Elemental Power.

He tried it with Avyn's frost, but it seemed like her frost was more special than Void Elemental Ability. He did not get her elemental power. But maybe because of how strong Avyn's frost was. Of course, he had not given up yet to obtain Avyn's Frost Elemental Power. Especially after witnessing how strong her Frost Elemental Power was.

Again, Phemrel used her space sword technique. She swung it from afar, but it reached the Orcs in the distance. That was another amazing technique that he admired. It was similar to his Invisible Slash, but his skill was much shorter than Phemrel's ability. Her ability could reach further than his skill that could only extend the sword by thirty centimeters at most.

Within a few minutes, Phemrel slaughtered all the Orcs that kept coming to her. She faced the last standing Orc which looked different than the other Orcs.

The last one was a meter taller than the other Orcs which was three meters tall on average. There were tribal black marks on the chest, arms, and belly. The last Orc also wore a large pendant made of bones, and dual-wielding saber in his size.

He thought it would be a great test for Phemrel. This was the chance for him to see her full power. But then, the distorted space covered the whole village. Then his vision was blocked by that weird distorted space.

The Spirit Eyes failed to see through, and he could not watch her fighting. That was a let down that he could not watch the fight.

Shaking his head, he checked the other girls. Zara and Avyn had killed their enemy, a whole tribe was slaughtered and frozen.

Avyn had not used her transformation yet, meaning the Orc was not really a threat to her. In the Orc tribe where Zara fought, he witnessed a horrifying scene. The Orc's red body turned purple, their eyes withered, and the Orc's fat was gone, leaving them with skin and bone.

That was quite a terrifying sight. He realized that Zara was using the Orc for her to test her Death Power which was still a mystery even for her. It was the power she got after reaching an Archaic Spirit. She had not yet mastered that power, so she rarely used it, afraid the ability had a negative impact on her ally since she had not yet mastered that ability.

The terrifying part was for the fact that the environment was affected by her Death Power. The tree withered, the soil grayed out and cracked, and faint dark energy gushed from the crack. The skill was indeed dangerous to use as it might hurt friends as well.

After checking on Avyn and Zara, he returned to Phemrel. The distortion was over, and as a result the big Orc died with its body sliced into several parts. From the result, Phemrel did not look troubled.

Tang Shaoyang was worried for nothing, and now he just enjoyed the show.

Just like that, Seven Orc Tribes were wiped out in ten minutes. If not for the distance between each tribe, they might end phase one faster than that.

[You have finished Phase 1!]

[You are entering Phase 2!]

[Survive Fifty Assault Waves!]

Right after the notification, the ground was shaking. There was no break time from phase 1 to phase 2. Tang Shaoyang started to understand why those adventurers failed to clear this dungeon.

Chapter 1438 Legendary Dungeon (4)

The Assault Wave came for him, but it was not just him but the other three as well. Even though the dungeon did not recognize the three as the players. They still had their own wave.

Tang Shaoyang came down from the tree, checking the first wave with his Spirit Eyes. The wave consisted of monsters and beasts. He saw the same Orc leading the charge followed by a dark-furred wolf. Running among them were the small and nimble goblins with black caps and a scythe.

The number was over a hundred, but less than two hundred. Maybe around a hundred sixty of beasts and monsters. Not that much for him, but it might be different for the Demi-God Rank.

The vibration was getting stronger, and the wave came into sight. Tang Shaoyang raised his right foot and stomped the ground.

Earth Split!

The ground cracked and split open, widening up to seven meters, forming a deep pit. The Orcs and the dark-furred wolf lost their footing and fell into the pit. In that situation, the goblin, the least threatening monster, managed to make an escape.

The nimble goblins jumped between the bodies of Orc and wolf. They managed to reach the top with their nimbleness. Half of them managed to save themselves from falling into the pit while the remaining half was squished into paste by the closing ground.

Boom!

The ground shook as the pit closed. The goblin who managed to reach the ground lost their balance. By the time they regained their footing, they lost sight of their target. It was not until they realized their target was standing between them.

Tang Shaoyang swung his battle axe and decapitated seventeen goblins. Before the remaining goblin could react, he slaughtered the remaining goblins. That was an easy first wave for him. Two moves, he wiped out the first wave.

At the same time, he gained more understanding as to why the adventurers might not be able to clear the dungeon even without a God Rank in this dungeon. The first phase might be easy, but the second wave was quite brutal.

It was quite brutal because there were fifty waves. The worst part was that each person was given their own wave. If they entered as a party of twenty. That party had to face twenty waves.

Considering there was no break between the first phase and second phase. This second phase might wipe out half of the party or even the whole party. Even if they survived, the third phase must be more brutal than the first two waves.

The party could be wiped out before they faced the boss dungeon. This one was the hardest Legendary Dungeon so far.

It was a surprise of how the same rank dungeon could have such a steep difficulty, "Hmmm.... This is bad news. I have to establish a Dungeon Management Division, and prepare a strong party to gain information for the dungeon."

Tang Shaoyang did not like having unnecessary casualties. But that was it, he must prepare the most powerful squad to enter the Legendary Dungeon, "Maybe I should lead the team myself..." He caressed his chin, "I have Luneia, Hemlin, and Forlan. I can create two teams with two God Ranks, or maybe four teams with a God Rank as the leader."

The ground started to shake again as the second wave appeared to his south. He checked the second wave. The number was doubled with the same composition. The wolf, goblin, and orc again.

There was one Legend Rank from each monster with the remaining Primordial and Myth Rank. He shook his head and checked somewhere else with his Spirit Eyes. He kept an eye on Phemrel.

The Demon Curtanios was doing well. This type of wave should not pose a threat to her. Parts of the monsters strewn all over around her. The blood trickled down from the tip of her blades.

Tang Shaoyang nodded his head and repeated the same skill without looking at the incoming wave.

Earth Split!

He stomped the ground as the ground split up. It was the exact repeat of the first wave. The Orc and the wolf fell into the pit while the goblin used their bodies as footing.

The orc, the wolf, and more than half of the goblin squished as the ground closed up. It was followed by his quick movement. He arrived in the middle of the goblin.

Even though the number of goblins was doubled, the goblin survivors in the second wave were around the same number as the first wave. A single swing of his battle axe killed many goblins. The goblin's body was torn apart by his battle axe as they screamed.

Tang Shaoyang covered his mouth, yawning because of how boring the fight was. He thought this Legendary Dungeon would give him a challenge a little bit. While his purpose was to gather information about the dungeon. It would be better if he could have some fun too.

As soon as he finished the second wave, a third wave appeared. He saw where this monster wave was coming from. There was a portal formed to his east this time. The monster wave came out of this portal.

Still with the same composition Orc, Wolf, and Goblin. The difference was their number, tripling the number of the first wave instead of the second wave. There were around five hundred monsters for the third wave. Two Legend Ranks from each species as the highest rank.

Tang Shaoyang furrowed his brow, not so pleased with how this assault wave worked. He felt like it would be more interesting if the dungeon could throw fifty waves at once to him. That would give him some challenge.

He shook his head and activated the Domain of Paragon Armament. All types of weapons popped out around him. His favorite was the shield with a sharp edge. This time he chose the big shield that could cover his chest down to his feet. Holding two shields in both of his hands.

Instead of waiting for the wave to come at him. He rushed toward the monster wave instead. Soon enough, the monster wave was just twenty meters away from his reach.

The vanguard for the monster wave was the big-sized Orc while the wolf shadowed the Orc. Meanwhile, the goblin tried to hide behind the wolf and the Orc.

Tang Shaoyang leaped into the air from twenty meters away. He swung the upper part of the shield as if he threw a punch.

The sharp edge of the shield sliced through the body, cutting through several Orcs at the same time. As he landed, he put his shield forward and ran through the monster wave. Whoever got hit by his shield was blown away.

Chapter 1439 New Weapon

Tang Shaoyang was glad the monster did not try to escape from fear. It looked like the monster was brainwashed to fight the intruder. They rushed toward him even though he killed many of them without any fear.

After killing more than a hundred, he threw the two shields, killing several monsters. At the same time, two silver spears flew through the body of the monsters before arriving in Tang Shaoyang's hand.

The goblins goblins who always hid behind the Orc and wolf thought it was their chance to strike after he threw the shield. Sixteen goblins jumped from behind the Orcs. They did not expect the flying spear to arrive in Tang Shaoyang's hand.

He swung the spear just like he swung the sword. By imbuing Chaos Energy into the spear, the spear splits the goblin's body. Even though he had the knowledge of the spear as soon as he held the spear. He did not follow that knowledge and swung the spear like he swung a sword.

Tang Shaoyang was smacking the monster with his spear until none left. The silver spears died red by the blood. The blood flowed to his hand before trickling down to the ground.

He furrowed his brow as he looked at the spear. At the end of the fighting, he tried to use the spear properly. As he thought, he did not really like using a spear. The lack of heaviness made him dislike the spear.

The fourth wave started as the monster came out from the portal gate from the north. He held the spear in the middle and threw it toward the monster wave. The distance between him and the portal was more than a hundred meters.

Halfway from the monster wave, the spear blazed in the black fire as it accelerated even faster. The blazing spear reached the monster wave. The monster could not react with how fast the spear was.

The spear pierced through many Orc and Wolf before it entered the portal. Tang Shaoyang kept hearing the kill notification in his head after the spear entered the portal. That meant he killed the monster inside that gate as well.

Then he threw the second spear. He was a second late as the portal was closed. Four times the first wave number with the same composition. There were four Legend Ranks from each species. In this fourth wave, he knew what he would face in the fifth wave.

The fifth wave would be five times of the first wave in number and eight Legend Ranks from each species.

"If there's a chance of a pattern. It should be at the eleventh wave...." If the dungeon wanted to increase the difficulty. He predicted it was after the tenth wave.

"This can be challenging if all monsters for the last wave are Demi-God Rank," He muttered as a grin formed on his lips.

"What should I try for the next weapon?" The wave was coming. He thought of learning a new weapon after trying the spear, "Hmmm.... Glaive might be interesting."

Glaive was similar to the spear with the spearhead changed into a blade. There were several types of Glaives available in his domain. There was one glaive that half of it was a blade and the remaining half was the shaft.

It looked like a sword but with a shaft. He did not like it because it looked lighter than a spear. He chose the glaive with a short curved blade. The blade was similar to a machete's blade but thicker and wider. The shaft was also bigger than the spear.

The moment he held the glaive, he liked this more than the spear. He nodded in approval as the glaive's weight was almost the same as his Nightfall. Slightly lighter than his sword, but in the acceptable range.

Then he noticed there was a similar glaive with this one. But the blade part was longer. Half of the glaive was the blade and the remaining half was the shaft a little over two meters long. He liked this type of glaive more. It was heavier and longer, almost the same as his battle axe.

Again, he dual-wielded the glaive and rushed toward the monster wave. With the basic knowledge implanted in his head because of his class. His movement with the glaive was quite smooth even though this was his first time using the glaive.

With a single swing, he killed at least ten Orcs. Their bodies were sliced apart before the Orc could reach Tang Shaoyang. His feet kept moving forward as each swing of his glaive killed several monsters.

He liked glaive more than the spear for sure as he used the glaive until the last monster of the fifth wave died.

Tang Shaoyang smiled after killing the wave, enjoying his first try with the glaive, "Yup, this is more fun than just wiping them out with a single skill."

He could use his Realm of Fire, and that would be enough to wipe all the monsters instantly. However, there was no fun in that kind of fight.

"Should I summon Skelly7 and ask him to make me a glaive?"

Skelly7 was his skeleton with the Bonemancer Class. Not only could he create a skeleton from bones, but he could make weapons with bones as well. Abyssal Bone, his new battle axe was made by Skelly7.

It was just an Ancient Grade weapon, two grades lower than the spear he got from killing Centaur. Yet, he had not broken it yet even though he used it to fight the God Rank. It was a good quality despite being a lower rank.

He looked around, to count the bodies, "Maybe I should Summon him after the tenth wave. More materials for him to make the weapon."

More than a thousand monster dead bodies scattered after the fifth wave. But he felt like he needed more high-ranked monsters to make a better weapon. Who knew Skelly7 could make him a Primordial Grade Glaive.

The sixth wave arrived in front of him. There was no break for him as the sixth wave already came right after he finished the fifth wave.

Chapter 1440 Legendary Dungeon (5)

In the middle of the forest, a man swung his glaives while the monster charged at him. Despite the desperate attempts from the monsters, they could not reach the man. They were slain before they got too close.

The monster parts were strewn all over around the man, creating one and a half meters circle. The ground around the man's feet was clean from the body's parts and body. That was the proof that the monster could not reach the man.

Each swing created a swift noise in the air. Even though the monster used their skills, they still could not go through the swing. The man let out a hearty laugh as if he was having fun being swarmed by the monster wave.

The number of the monsters dwindled very fast. In ten minutes, Tang Shaoyang slew the monster with his glaive. He was not expecting to have fun with his new weapon so he lost track of time.

During the fight, he did not really think of anything, just went with the flow. After killing the last monster of the wave, he furrowed his brow. He did not count how many waves he fought.

The ground started to shake again. He used the Spirit Eyes, looking in the direction where the monsters came from. There were too many of them, more than five thousand.

There were more monsters in addition to the Orc, Goblin, and Wolf. The Troll who doubled the size of the Orc led the charge now. Side by side with the Troll was Centaur. While they looked smaller to the Troll, their charge power was quite terrifying.... For their rank which was mostly Primordial Rank and Legend Rank.

Following the Troll and Centaur were Orc, Lizardmen, and demons. The Lizardmen were equipped with armor and a spear, well-prepared soldiers. They were two and a half meters tall, and their scales were quite hard as well which made them quite hard to kill, for their rank at least.

Meanwhile, the demon was around the same height as Tang Shaoyang's human height. Less than two meters, with the goat-like horn, and red skin. While they walked side by side with the Lizardmen, they were adept at sneak attacks. More adept than the goblin for sure.

[This is your forty-second wave. You have to face eight more Assault Waves after this one] Crystal The Frost Knight reminded him.

"Thank you for...." He paused as he noticed Avyn and Zara were above him, looking down at him from the sky. The two girls had a judging look on their faces.

'We have finished our wave, and you are still struggling to finish them off? Do you want some help?' That was what the vibe he got from their judgy expression.

"How long have I been here?"

[Around an hour? Or maybe less, I am not sure.]

Tang Shaoyang just rolled his eyes at Avyn and Zara as he canceled The Domain of Paragon, "It's time to go to the next phase, I guess...." At this point, he found out why the Demi-God Rank adventurers failed to clear the dungeon.

The monsters were mostly Legend Rank and Primordial Rank, but their number was overwhelming for a small party. Bringing more people into the dungeon also could not solve the problem. The more adventurers entered the dungeon, the party would have to face more monsters.

Without a well-planned strategy, it would be hard for Demi-God Ranks adventurers and lower to clear this dungeon. But a plan could not be made without information.

Everyone who entered the dungeon could not return without clearing the dungeon. No information, no strategy. The only way to tackle the dungeon was to send an overwhelming force to clear it.

A party of ten Demi-God Ranks might be able to clear the dungeon. But from what he knew, The Adventurer Guild only sent four Demi-God Ranks split into two parties from the last two of the dungeon raid.

That was a lesson for him in the future when the dungeon started to appear on Earth. The Adventurer Guild's guide was faulty. For Legendary Rank, he must send at least one God Rank and ten Demi-God Ranks for the first dungeon raid. The scout raid to gather more information about the dungeon.

If it was a safe dungeon, they would keep the dungeon as the training ground. If it was too dangerous, then they had to destroy it. This was why he wanted to have first-hand experience of the dungeon run instead of hearing it from Hemlin and The Adventurer Guild.

The vibration was getting stronger as the monster wave closed up to him. He then activated the Realm of Fire. The soil melted into black lava, and the black fire burst out from the ground in the middle of the monster wave.

Since the monster was brainwashed, they did not retreat in the face of the black fire. Even though a raging black fire was in front of them. They kept running into the fire without fear. Before the monsters managed to reach one and a half meters range, this time the monsters were burned to crisp before they could get close to ten meters.

It was just that easy for Tang Shaoyang to wipe the monster wave. He did it to show the girls that he was just playing around and having fun with the prey.

The next wave suffered the same fate until he reached the forty-ninth wave. There was a Demi-God Rank for each species, making it up to six Demi-God ranks. The Realm of Fire could not kill the Demi-God Rank.

Unfortunately for those who arrived with the burnt smell on their skin, they were facing Tang Shaoyang, an abnormal Demi-

God Rank himself. He killed them all within twenty seconds.

For the fiftieth wave, the number of the Demi-God Ranks increased. Triple the number from the previous wave, eighteen Demi-God Ranks.

Finding this out, he was convinced that the party who tried to clear this dungeon was killed in the second phase. The overwhelming number of Legend Rank and Primordial Monster plus the eighteen Demi-God Ranks.

It was just impossible for a party with two Demi-God Ranks to pass the second phase. But Tang Shaoyang easily wiped them out. He finished his wave, but he did not hear any notifications that they were entering the third phase.

"Are you forgetting about your companion?" Avyn snickered from the side.

Only then did Tang Shaoyang remember Phemrel. He kept checking on Phemrel until the tenth wave. He enjoyed the fight himself and forgot about Phemrel.

Compared to him, Zara, and Avyn, It was a struggle for the Demi-God Rank. The no break between waves really took a lot from her. She was exhausted, gasping for air from her mouth. Her chest heaved up and down frequently.

Tang Shaoyang came over next to Phemrel, "I would like to wait for you to clear your own, but we have spent too much in this dungeon. Let's wrap this up."

Phemrel watched how Tang Shaoyang, Avyn, and Zara cleared the monster. It did not take them ten seconds to clear the monsters. Phemrel had faced the wave up to the forty-third wave. It was quite an achievement that she managed to reach the forty-third wave by herself as a Demi-God Rank. Alas, she was still far from Tang Shaoyang's power level.

[You have finished phase 2!]

[You are entering Phase 3!]

[Kill The Skeletal Dragon!]

The dark forest turned darker as a massive portal formed in the air. The portal was fifty meters away, and a massive skeleton dragon came out from that portal. There was a small chance that a God Rank might appear in Legendary Dungeon. That was what Hemlin said, and this dungeon was one of them.

Phemrel was overwhelmed by Skeletal Dragon's presence. She lost her composure for a moment until three figures stood in front of her. The pressure disappeared as soon as the three stood in front of her.

Soon enough, she realized that she made the correct decision to form a contract with Tang Shaoyang.

Hemlin and Forlan waited outside anxiously. It had been more than an hour, and yet Tang Shaoyang had not come out. This was the longest dungeon raid so far.

"Is he dead in the dungeon?" Forlan blurted out. Despite his trauma against Avyn, he still dared to speak like that. Of course, he only spoke like that when Avyn was not around. He was a scaredy cat in front of Avyn.

"Stupid! Stop with your stupid jinx. If they are dead inside the dungeon, that means this dungeon is extremely dangerous even for us. What will happen to us if they can't clear this dungeon? We are doomed!"

Forlan realized the severity of the situation. As Hemlin said, if Avyn could not clear the dungeon, then no one could clear it. He believed that Avyn was stronger than most of the dragons. If someone like her failed to clear the dungeon, then the world was doomed.

Now he regretted saying that, hoping for them to clear the dungeon and return safely.
