Chapter 1701 Fight Against The Void Cult (6)

Caeso let out a chuckle, "Yeah, I somewhat understand why you are so disappointed in me. The current me, can't ever beat you, but that will be different if we fight again in the future!"

His voice changed, maybe the gold palm damaged his vocal cords, but that was not important right now. He forced himself to speak despite the pain in his throat.

He tried to goad Tang Shaoyang into sparing his life. For someone like Tang Shaoyang who enjoyed the fight. Someone who could have fun in the life-and-death battle. He tried to provoke his enemy with a promise of the future. Of course, he did not have a plan to fulfill his promise.

He would not let someone like Tang Shaoyang have fun. He would start by looking into his enemy's weakness and use it to bring Tang Shaoyang down. A quickly would be too lenient, and he would make sure Tang Shaoyang would suffer before he died.

Caeso resorted the method he despised the most because of his strong will to avenge his brothers. He did not want his brothers' sacrifice wasted.

Tang Shaoyang chuckled, "You should come up with a better offer. Also, control your emotions when you try to trick someone. You are not the only one who can sense someone's mood and emotion. I can feel yours, your wicked and malicious intent are leaking out."

Tang Shaoyang grabbed Caeso's neck and brought him to the air. His legs and hands were broken, dangling in the air. He was not capable of continuing the fight anymore even though he could still use his Void Energy.

Even with his limbs, he could not defeat his enemy, let alone now. He thought his enemy would end his life, but he was shown what happened to his brothers.

His brothers were defeated just like him. They were in worse condition than him. Seven of them died, and their disfigured bodies were even in worse shape after the fight. The one who was still alive was Arruns.

Arruns was the mutant with tentacles on his back and around his mouth. Losing all his limbs, not being able to regenerate them again. His tentacles were cut, and the black blood continuously flowed out from the wound. The tentacles around his mouth were cut and froze, and his body lay on the ground powerlessly.

Caeso's body shook at the sight of his brothers. Rage flashed over his eyes, but there was nothing he could do. He was not in the situation to help them. His life was at the mercy of his enemy. The rage then replaced it with sadness.

He was disgusted by himself when the Void Creature's parts were transplanted into his body. He could not accept his new life until they appeared.

They comforted him, consoling them that the pain was temporary. They convinced him this was a worthy sacrifice for a better world. That was the day they became brothers.

No more brothers now, everyone died for him, and he could not even live for his dead brothers anymore because he would follow them to the afterlife soon if an afterlife truly existed.

The sorrow lasted for a moment as vicious gleamed in his eyes. He could not live for them, but he would avenge them.

Caeso laughed and turned toward Tang Shaoyang, "You are stronger than me, but you made a fatal mistake!"

Tang Shaoyang was confused about what got into Caeso's mind. He looked at the mutant as if the mutant was a fool.

"You are truly a newbie as my brother said. You haven't learned anything about us."

Caeso made a crazed grin and shouted, "DON'T WORRY BROTHERS! YOU CAN GO TO THE AFTERLIFE WITH EASE BECAUSE I HAVE AVENGED YOU ALL!"

As soon as he said that, Void Energy burst out from his body. The Void Energy crept toward Tang Shaoyang's hand and spread out. Void Energy was like a poison except for Calamity and Void Creature. It was a poison for Tang Shaoyang.

There were only two outcomes for humans infected by the void energy: die or become a corrupted being like him. However, the death rate was much higher as not many could adapt to the Void Energy. It was between twenty to eighty chances of survival once his enemy got infected by The Void Energy.

"I WILL BRING YOU DOWN WITH ME! YOU WILL DIE WITH US! YOU ARE MY PRESENT FOR MY BROTHERS!"

Caeso let out a maniacal laughter as he brought forth all the remaining Void Energy.

However, his laughter stopped as he saw His Void Energy stop at the upper arm. Instead of going into his enemy's body like what he expected, his Void Energy dispersed. Not just the one in his enemy's hand, but the Void Energy that came out of his body as well.

As soon as The Void Energy came out of his body, it dissipated. His eyes widened in shock. It was supposed to be poison in Tang Shaoyang's body.

"What did you do!?"

Caeso was shocked and confused. He was never told anything about such a reaction. The only thing he knew was that Void Energy was a lethal poison for any living being.

Then he saw Tang Shaoyang smile at him. It was the moment that the Void Energy stopped dissipating. His Void Energy swarmed toward Tang Shaoyang, not just the arm but the whole body. His Void Energy seeped into his enemy's system.

Caeso was even more confused because his enemy just let the poison enter his body. He drained his Void Energy into his enemy, and that was it. He expected a violent reaction from Tang Shaoyang, but the latter was still standing there, holding him by the neck.

A minute passed, and there was no reaction from the Void Energy. There was one explanation, Tang Shaoyang was immune to The Void Energy. How was that possible?

Tang Shaoyang smiled as he looked at the confused Caeso, "It seems like you are the one who needs to learn a lot, not me."

The Chaos Energy surged out from Tang Shaoyang's right arm, rushing toward Caeso's mouth. It was much less compared to Caeso's Void Energy.

Chapter 1702 The Emperor (1)

Caeso looked at the dark-red energy entering his body. At first, he felt nothing about it, less than three seconds later he felt the reaction. His Void Energy revolted, fighting the foreign energy inside his body. That was a normal reaction when a foreign energy was forcefully injected into his body.

However, that was not the end of it. The foreign energy was much stronger which resulted in an even more violent reaction to his body. He felt like the flesh inside his body was torn apart by the clash between the two energies.

He felt like his bones were getting crushed, grounded by the clash. The Void Energy and his energy pool went berserk, uncontrollably. But that was futile because his Void Energy was eaten by this foreign energy.

Caeso's body shook in pain, but he held it. It was nothing compared to when he adapted to the Void Energy when he received the Void Creature's organs and parts transplanted into his body. The violent reaction spread out, his eyes, nose, and ears were bleeding. His dark skin cracked one of his small horns detached as blood came from the small hole in his forehead.

His body shook violently when the foreign energy reached his brain. He struggled, trying to break free and yet it was futile.

What was supposed to happen to his enemy, happened to him. It was Tang Shaoyang who should be writhing in pain right now. But what happened in reality was different.

Tang Shaoyang let the mutant go. Caeso writhed in pain on the ground. The skin cracked and blood sprayed from his cracked flesh.

The Chaos Energy would reside in the mutant's body. That would prevent Caeso from regenerating his broken bones and recovering from the external injury.

Right at this moment, the sky darkened. It was an instant change, as if night arrived earlier. The whole sky strangely turned dark, and the sky split open.

A figure wore a black robe coming out from the splitting sky. Half of his face was red, and the other half was purple. Similar to Caeso apart from the brown part. There was no doubt this figure was another mutant, and he was much, much stronger than Caeso and his brothers.

This figure was not as disfigured as the eight mutants. He looked like a human but with weird skin. That meant his body adapted to the Void Creature's parts better than the other mutants.

The figure looked down, straight toward Caeso, and then it was followed by colossal pressure, coming out from the splitting space. It was just a dam broken by the pressure from the water. The Void Energy flowed down like a waterfall from the splitting space.

Tang Shaoyang did not hesitate to use his Absolute Chaos Domain. His team members were nearby. They would die if they got swept into the waterfall of Void Energy.

Through the Absolute Chaos Domain, he blocked the flowing Void Energy from contaminating the land and the living beings inside his domain. He made it in time and covered a big area with his domain. He was relieved that none of his team members were affected by the Void Energy.

He looked up, passing through the figure. He looked into the space behind the powerful mutant. It was a giant who opened his mouth. Inside the splitting space was the Void Creatures. Not just one or two or even three, thousands of them if not hundreds of thousands.

The figure opened his mouth, still looking at Caeso, "I wondered why my disciple's life force is dying out. You lost to a pesky Administrator?"

Of course, Caeso could not respond. He was still squirming on the ground.

"It's quite embarrassing for The Emperor's disciple to lose to an unknown Administrator!"

The figure continued, "I have to make sure no one will know what happened today."

"No wonder you lost. He was someone with more powerful energy."

Caeso's body was calmed down, but he passed out.

The Emperor locked his gaze on Tang Shaoyang, "A weird domain that blocked off the Void Energy. Not only do you have a strange powerful energy, but you also have a strange domain."

"It's a disgrace to make a move against someone like you, but I have to get rid of you before you become a threat to us!"

The Emperor raised his right hand. The Void Energy surged out from his right hand. It released out and formed a gargantuan axe. The dark-purple energy formed an axe, bigger than Tang Shaoyang's True Dragon form.

By this, his spirits gathered around him, ignoring the eight mutants. They realized that this one was more dangerous than the ones they just fought. This one was the real deal.

"It's a disgrace. A disgrace that I will accept because you have to die now!"

The Emperor swung the colossal axe made from the Void Energy down toward Tang Shaoyang.

It was not fast, not slow either. His eyes captured the movement and was supposed to be easy to dodge. However, Tang Shaoyang had a gut feeling. His instinct told him that it was something that could not be dodged. It would follow wherever he moved.

Something similar to Caeso's sword attack that went through the spaces, coming from all directions. He trusted his instinct and used all his defensive skills. Lastly, Nine Heavenly Gate - Seventh Gate: Heavenly Tortoise.

The black shell formed above him as layer upon layer of barrier formed, covering his body. Then he held his sword tightly, looking up at The Emperor.

"We will help!" Avyn and the others also tried to reinforce the defense. They had the same feeling as Tang Shaoyang. They could not avoid the axe. The only choice was to block.

However, before all the spirits could do anything, Tang Shaoyang pulled them back into Spirit World, with no exception.

His spirits were angry at him, they screamed in his head. They knew the reason why Tang Shaoyang pulled them back, but they could not accept. Especially for Zara, Avyn, and Karan. They were extremely angry by Tang Shaoyang's decision.

Chapter 1703 The Emperor (2)

Tang Shaoyang cut off his connection with the Spirit World and focused on the colossal axe. The reason he pulled them back was because he did not want them to die. There was a chance that they would die if they failed to block the axe. If they died, then they would be gone forever.

Swoosh!

The colossal axe descended and hit the Tortoise Shell.

BOOM!

The Void Energy burst out and covered the air like clouds. The Emperor looked down, looking at where Tang Shaoyang was. He felt it, his axe shattered the shell.

Roar!

Right from the spot where Tang Shaoyang stood, a deafening roar resounded. Then an Azure Dragon went through the cloud of Void Energy, followed by a slash from Heaven Severing World.

This was the first time Tang Shaoyang combined a skill from his sword and Heavenly Swords. He needed to come up with his strongest attack, and he thought of combining the technique and the skill.

The Azure Dragon roared, cutting through the void energy cloud. In the blink of an eye, it arrived before The Emperor.

The Emperor extended his right hand forward and formed a barrier made of Void Energy. However, the Azure Dragon cut through the barrier, and the slash sliced through the barrier.

The Azure Dragon swallowed his right arm, and the slash cut through his right arm. His right arm broke apart, and his blood vessels ruptured, revealing the bone inside. Then the slash cut through the entire right arm.

The Emperor's right hand fell from the sky, and he did not bother to catch his missing hand. He did not feel the pain or even angry about it. He was surprised that it could hurt him.

The cloud of Void Energy dissipated after that, revealing the figure down there. Even more surprised that his target was still intact.

Tang Shaoyang was still standing, but his body almost split into two. From his shoulder down to his chest was split open, revealing his heart. His heart was glowing, covered by the radiance of violet, red, golden, and white light. The radiance kept changing in color, covering his heart.

His body was not balanced, swaying to the right because of the split. However, the wound was recovering at a high speed. The high-speed regeneration patched his body quickly. The flesh was pulling each other and closing the split.

The split closed, and he lost his entire left arm. The flesh was regenerating, quickly forming new veins, flesh, and bones, forming a new arm.

Badump! Badump! Badump!

His heart was thumping crazily in excitement. His adrenaline was at its peak, and his lips grinned as he locked his gaze with The Emperor. He barely survived a single attack by The Emperor and countered with a new combination of attacks. He got The Emperor's right arm.

The Emperor cracked with a smile, "What a lunatic, but a pity you are The System's dog."

At this time, The Emperor's right arm had fully regenerated. His regeneration was even faster than Tang Shaoyang. That was why he did not get mad when he lost his right. He could get it back faster. He extended his right arm and made an offer.

"Join us! Let's bring down The System's reign and rule the universe together with us! You are a perfect candidate to be one of us, young man! We need your power to bring down The System!"

Tang Shaoyang was surprised. He thought The Emperor would follow the second attack when he extended his newly regenerated arm. But he did not expect for the opposite party to extend an invitation.

"Rule the universe?" He chuckled when he heard that.

Tang Shaoyang enjoyed the fight and was having fun with it, but he never had such a big ambition to rule the universe. He did not even take over Earth as he could not imagine how annoying and troublesome to rule such multiple worlds.

The reason he kept looking for more power was to protect his family, ensuring not repeat the same tragedy in the past. The bonus was the pumping of adrenaline when he fought someone strong. That was just a bonus, not his main motivation.

The safety of his family was the only motivation that pushed him to this point. Anyone could call him weak-willed or anything. He did not care about those aside from the safety of his family and people.

The Emperor invited the wrong person. He never had the ambition to rule the world, let alone a universe.

"Don't be hasty to reject my invitation, young man," The Emperor seemed to be able to know that Tang Shaoyang was about to decline the invitation. He did not give up on recruiting Tang Shaoyang, "I will give you more time to think about it. However, I wish to hear your answer in our next meeting, young man."

The Emperor looked up, furrowing his brow, but then he looked down at Tang Shaoyang once more, "Once you know the dark side of the Administrator, you will be looking for us. I know that, and I will be waiting for your arrival!"

"But of course, you must survive this test first. If you can't survive from this, then you don't deserve to be one of us!"

He raised his hand to the air and motioned down. Hundreds of Void Creatures swarmed into Sulan. Just hundreds of them because the space closed down before all Void Creatures could descend. It seemed there was something that forcefully closed the splitting space.

The Void Creatures spread out, they split up in different directions. However, none of them came for The Salyra Kingdom. As if they were instructed not to descend at The Salyra Kingdom.

The Emperor had long gone together with Caeso as the space closed down.

The Void Creatures were like a new disaster for this world and its people. As they all spread out, the sky returned to normal. The blue morning sky returned, but the massive Void Creatures remained.

"CAP!" "CAP!" "CAP!"

Tang Shaoyang calmed down when he heard his team member's voices. His heart calmed down as the excitement died down. He looked down right at his right hand, still trembling. He was prepared to use Seven Souls, prepared to die when that axe hit the tortoise shell. That was right, Tang Shaoyang himself was surprised when he survived the attack.

"F*CK! Why don't you respond to our call if you are still alive!?"

An angry voice snapped him back from his thoughts. The colossal axe formed a giant pit, and he was at the bottom of the pit. The village was gone, but Arkir and his family survived thanks to him. The seven mutants' remnants were also intact, and the last mutant was still alive.

Tang Shaoyang looked up and was surprised to see Nayla was in tears. The other seven Admin Helpers looked so concerned as well.

Chapter 1704 Three Emperors and Eleven Kings

Ira and the others were assigned outside the village, quite far away. Their task was to cut any reinforcement coming to help. Of course, that was just a pretext for them to avoid the Void Cult.

They knew their limitations as they might be a burden in a fight against the Void Cult. They agreed with the assignment and waited outside of the village. Exactly five hundred meters away from the village, but ready to join if there is any mishap.

It was until the sky split and a figure descended from the Void. Looking at the splitting sky, everyone froze. When the waterfall of Void Energy fell onto them. Everyone froze in the spot, not because they were frozen in terror. Because they knew it was not something they could avoid.

It wasn't until they noticed the world turned black and white. The black tree with no leaves. Then the Void Energy stopped a hundred meters above them as if there was something invisible blocking the Void Energy.

"This is Captain's domain!"

Agnes and Castor recognized the tree and the change in their surroundings. Even though the tree was somewhat different, it gave off the same aura. The black tree during the trial had leaves, but this one was not.

"So this is Absolute Domain..."

Ira muttered in a low voice, still looking at the Void Energy, pouring down to the world. One problem was solved, but they had another problem. The figure that came from the Void. That was the real problem rather than the Void Energy disaster.

That was when the colossal axe made of Void Energy descended toward the village. Their hearts jumped in terror because Tang Shaoyang was in that village.

Boom!

As the axe fell, it exploded and sent a violent shock wave, sending the flying. They were not prepared for the impact and were blown away.

It was then everyone saw the manifestation of Azure Dragon. Flying to the sky and cutting the figure's arm. Despite getting such a result, none of them were happy. They did not think about the Void Creature that came down from the Void. They did not care about the figure in the sky. All of them rushed together toward the village.

They called their Captain but received no answer. Their hearts pumped crazily, thinking that a colossal axe might kill Tang Shaoyang. They kept calling him out until they found the massive pit. Nayla was in tears, looking around. The village was gone, nothing around them was the same anymore.

They arrived at the pit and saw a standing figure at the bottom of the pit, everyone was relieved. Nayla could not help but yell at her Captain.

"F*CK! Why don't you respond to our call if you are still alive!?"

Tang Shaoyang smiled, waving at them, "I will come up! Just wait up there."

He stored the seven mutant dead bodies. Then he brought up Arkir's family and the last living mutant. He threw the mutant in front of his team, "He is..."

Before he finished his words, Lucia and Nayla jumped at him. They hugged him, and one of them sobbed.

Tang Shaoyang was not expecting them to be this emotional. Because of the previous attack that almost split his body, he did not have his clothes on. He could feel the cold tears on his shoulder.

"Let me wear something first then we can continue the hug."

He was teasing Nayla. Only then did both girls realize that Tang Shaoyang did not have clothes on. They pushed Tang Shaoyang, awkwardly. Then they scanned his body, and the others did the same. Checking whether he was fine or not.

Tang Shaoyang got his spare black clothes, "I am fine. That axe cut my left arm and almost split my body into two, but I have healed the injury and regenerated a new arm."

He explained while waving his left hand.

They frowned upon hearing, but since he looked fine they did not ask further what happened to him. Then their attention was on the mutant who could not heal.

"He is one of the culprits. There are nine of them. I killed seven and captured two, but The Emperor took the second captive with him. Apparently, that one is his disciple."

They nodded at first, but then they heard The Emperor uttered by Tang Shaoyang. All of them looked up at their captain in great shock.

"What!? What's with the reaction?"

He was surprised by their reactions. While that Emperor might be the leader of The Void Cult. He did not think they needed to be surprised.

"Ah, yes. Our powerful, yet lazy captain of course does not know. I guess it's my fault for not explaining them properly," Ira rolled her eyes after seeing her captain's casual reaction after mentioning The Emperor.

The Void Cult was a big issue, not just to the Administrator, but also to the other factions and alliances in the God Realm. The Void Cult's purpose was to destroy everything under the System, and The God Realm was the main target. Every faction and alliance knew about this Void Cult, The God Realm's common enemy.

They forgot that Tang Shaoyang was someone from a new world. He did not know anything about the God Realm's affair. In fact, he spent more of his time in Administrator Space than managing his territory in the God Realm.

"He is the leader of the Void Cult, but he is not the only one. From what we know so far, they have fourteen leaders. We called them the Three Emperors and Eleven Kings. As you thought, they are all former emperors and kings, and they are the strongest individuals in the Void Cult..."

Ira continued, explaining their background. The Three Emperors were former Emperors of a big fallen empire. They fell from the throne and used the Void Creature for revenge. They were just not any Emperors, but beings that had lived for thousands of years ago.

Even though they were on the wanted list, none had succeeded in killing them. The Three Emperors were the founder of the Void Cult.

"Three are former Executive Administrators in the Three Emperors and Eleven Kings. The Sage King, The Unholy King, and The Corrupted Immortal Emperor!"

Chapter 1705 Greed (1)

Tang Shaoyang's body trembled when he heard those three names. It was so cringe, and he could not bear it. His face grimaced when he said those three names in his head.

"Are they naming themselves or is it you guys?"

Ira shook her head and made a resigned look when she heard the question, "Aren't you focusing on the wrong issue here? We are talking about The Emperor from the Void Cult! One of them is a former Executive Administrator!"

"Those names are indeed cringe. I understand you, Cap!"

Nayla nodded, agreeing with Tang Shaoyang.

Tang Shaoyang nodded at Nayla, then he turned toward Ira, "That's why he said something like this line: Once I know about the dark side of the Administrator, I will come to look for them. Maybe he is The Corrupted Immortal King."

Everyone was surprised to hear that part. If the figure said that, that meant that the figure invited Tang Shaoyang to join the Void Cult. That made them worried deep inside, especially after the manipulation incident. That was one of many dark sides from The Administrator.

He waved his hand at his team member, "Don't make such a face. I will not join them just to disfigure my face. Even if I lose my Administrator Class, I will not come to them. I don't want to lose my good face."

He stroked his handsome face as he said that, assuring them that he would not cross to the other side. Albeit, that did not sound convincing, at all.

"I would like to hear the rest of the story, but we don't have time for that. We need to hunt the escaped Void Creature to complete our mission before it is too late."

Tang Shaoyang summoned all his spirits, seventy-four spirits. One of his shadows was still in Salyra Kingdom's capital. He left one spirit there in case something went south there.

All seventy-four spirits did not look happy, at all. He could see that from their expression.

The other Admin Helpers also could tell the bad atmosphere from the spirits. They were confused and concerned with how little they knew about the spirits. Could the spirit revolt from their master? That was a big concern.

"Don't put on such a face. You know why I made such a decision. You also know that I can't die from that one attack. That's not enough to kill, but that might be enough to kill a few of you. That's the best decision, and I will do it again."

Vandir broke from character and let out a sigh, "I know. We are not supposed to blame you for that decision. But it still feels wrong here." The skeleton tapped his chest two times.

Tang Shaoyang chuckled, "Where? In your bones?" The skeleton did not have a heart, but just bone.

That eased the atmosphere a little bit, and Tang Shaoyang immediately arranged his spirits to form teams.

"Form a team of five, and you will hunt The Void Creatures for me."

He ordered them to form a team on their own. All of them were High Archaic Spirits with four exceptions. There was no need to balance the team since all of them were in the same rank.

They were quick to form the team. He sent one team to look for Anne. He was worried that some mutants would be there as well. Then the remaining teams split up, leaving Karoen, Avyn, Zara, and Maldros.

Tang Shaoyang asked Karoen to stay because he needed the Void Knight to make the long-distance portal any time he needed them. Mostly for his team members. Avyn, Zara, and Maldros were supposed to be the fifteenth team, but they decided to stay with Tang Shaoyang.

"We will be your bodyguard!" That was Zara's words while Avyn still did not want to talk with him.

Tang Shaoyang rolled his eyes and shook his head, "Alright, whatever."

Meanwhile, The rebellion in the capital of Salyra Kingdom started. When the sky turned dark and split, Duke Amalric deployed his force to take over the capital. He did not know what happened, but he took the chance to strike.

The concealed force came out from their hideout and started to take over the city. Of course, The Imperial Guard resisted, but they were outnumbered. The battle soon turned into a one-sided massacre.

Khaya and her team were caught off guard because of the Void in the sky. The natives of this world might not know what happened, but they knew very well. A gate to The Void was opened and hundreds of Void Creatures came down.

What concerned them the most was the surge of Void Energy. Even though they were God Ranks, their chance to survive after touching the Void Energy was small. However, they were relieved when they noticed that Void Energy did not reach the city.

They saw the colossal axe and also relieved it was not aimed at the city. Although they could see it was close to the city.

Khaya ordered her team not to get too close to where the colossal axe landed. That was the place with the densest Void Energy. It was a suicide coming there. She did not know where Tang Shaoyang went, but she hoped he was not at that place.

The Daenelis Clan was too focused on what happened in the sky, and they lost their target. Each member of The Daenelis Clan had a target to follow, but they lost them because of the Void.

The massacre started in the city, and they were scrambling to look for their target. The city was very big, and it was chaotic. But it was obvious that The Imperial Guard lost quickly, and they retreated to the castle and locked themselves inside. The castle was the last defense for the Royal Family, and they were surrounded.

"I found Count Fontanella! He is at the castle gate with Duke Amalric's force."

Arsus reported to his Captain through the Administrator Team's feature. He was not the person assigned to Count Fontanella, but he was the first one to find one of their main suspects.

"Keep watching him over. We will look for the others!"

Khaya had no choice but to give the task to Arsus since he found the man first.

The rebellion force brought the captured Imperial Guards and lined them up in front of the gate to the castle.

"Open the gate and surrender! If you don't surrender, we will execute them!"

Ten Imperial Guards were forced to kneel. Ten soldiers from Duke Amalric's force came out and stood in front of the captured Imperial Guards. They were waiting for an order to execute the Imperial Guards.

"SURRENDER OR THEY WILL DIE!"

The army followed Count Fontanella's words. Their voices reverberated through the city.

Chapter 1706 Greed (2)

Imperial Guards were hiding atop the wall, watching their comrades from above. The order was to lock down the castle. No one was allowed to enter, and they were ordered to use their lives to defend the castle. That was King Sebastia's decree for them.

They could not save their comrades even if they wanted to. They were outnumbered, and they only had a limited supply inside. Their chance to survive from the rebel army was slim. The only way for them to survive was for the army to return.

Receiving no answer from the castle, the ten soldiers beheaded the captured Imperial Guards. All the guards on the wall looked away.

Ten heads rolled on the ground. Their blood painted the stone road. But that was not the end, the soldier brought another ten Imperial Guards.

Count Fontanella repeated the same threat again. Then the army followed after him. The first time did not really have any effect on the guards. But it was different after they beheaded the first ten Imperial Guards.

Another ten heads rolled on the ground, and more captives were beheaded. In ten minutes, a hundred and seventy-two Imperial Guards were beheaded.

When everyone thought that was all the captives they had. The force under Count Fontanella brought up the innocent resident. Two families, one family of fours, and another a family of six. There was even a ten-year-old boy, crying as he was dragged on the floor.

The Imperial Guards on the wall were shocked to see this. The rebellion meant to overthrow the ruler and take over the kingdom. The rebel army needed the people to keep the kingdom intact. Without the people, there was no kingdom. However, they decided to execute the people as well.

"Surrender or we will kill them! We will not stop until King Sebastia surrenders!"

"SURRENDER OR THEY WILL DIE!"

Count Fontanella shouted, which was followed by his army.

All ten soldiers stood in front of the ten people. One soldier held the boy, making sure the boy did not run. His cry was disturbing amidst the intense and terror atmosphere.

Count Fontanella raised his hand. The ten soldiers followed and raised their swords to the air. There was no hesitation as he motioned his soldiers to chop their heads.

As everyone expected the ten innocent lives would be claimed. The ten soldiers that were about to execute the ten residents fell to the ground. Their heads flew into the air. Until their heads fell to the ground, everyone just stared at their dead comrades.

The clanking noise made by the helmets of the dead soldiers snapped them out of their shock. They saw a figure standing there. A man with a weird outfit, but then recognized this person. The captain of The Reds Mercenary.

"What are they doing? Why don't they finish them off and chase the Void Creatures instead?"

Tang Shaoyang was mad at The Daenelis Clan. The things that happened a while ago could not be missed by them. Hundreds of Void Creatures came into this world, and they were wasting their time, watching all of this.

There was a more urgent matter, so they should have finished things here quicker, and then they must chase after the Void Creature. They did not need to identify who held the summoning scroll anymore. Stop or wipe the rebellion, kill The King, and capture Count Fontanella if they want to find the summoning scroll. Count Fontanella would tell them who had the scroll with a quick torture.

Count Fontanella took two steps back as his soldier lined in front of him. He was surprised by The Reds Mercenary's appearance, but he was not afraid or worried. He had a whole army to wipe a single mercenary corp.

"Do you know what you did, Captain Tang Shaoyang?"

Tang Shaoyang gave the man a glance. He had forgotten Count Fontanella's face, so he did not know who talked to him. He straight ignored Count Fontanella and looked up.

WAAAAA! Fwoosh! Bugh!

A person just fell right in front of Tang Shaoyang. The man did not wear armor, but a familiar golden robe. That person was King Sebastia who was kidnapped from the throne hall by one of Tang Shaoyang's shadow spirits.

Tang Shaoyang grabbed King Sebastia's neck and lifted the man into the air. Everyone gasped in shock, especially Count Fontanella. He was one of Duke Amalric's supporters on the surface, but he only received orders from King Sebastia. He was the one who encouraged Duke Amalric to rebel under The King's order.

"He is the mastermind behind this rebellion!"

The shock turned into confusion. What they heard from Tang Shaoyang did not make sense, at all. The rebellion pointed their swords at The King. Why would The King want the rebellion to happen? That just did not make sense.

King Sebastia's panic-stricken face changed into a mad grin when he heard Tang Shaoyang. No longer wearing his kind and gentle mask, King Sebastia let out a burst of maniacal laughter.

"BAHAHAHAHAA!"

"Impressive! Impressive! How do you find out, Captain Tang Shaoyang?"

"NO, there's no need to answer. All answers are pointless because the world will fall with me! WE ALL WILL DIE TOGETHER! IT'S TOO LATE, CAPTAIN TANG SHAOYANG. YOU CAN'T BE A HERO ANYMORE, NO ONE CAN STOP ME! NO ONE CAN'T STOP THE WORLD DISASTER!"

They were still confused as to why The Captain from the most powerful mercenary corp would accuse The King. Now they were even confused because of The King's confession. King Sebastia just admitted the rebellion was his doing.

At this moment, another figure landed in front of The King. They recognized this person as well. A member from The Daenelis, a rival mercenary of The Reds.

"What are you doing!?! You are ruining the plan!" Arsus bellowed at Tang Shaoyang. His plan was to let Count Fontanella summoned the Void Creature so he could kill it for bonus Credits. However, Tang Shaoyang ruined his plan.

In his anger, he took out his dagger and tried to stab Tang Shaoyang in the shoulder.

Tang Shaoyang easily ducked the attack. At the same time, he activated Dragon Transformation as he smashed King Sebastia's face to the ground.

He looked up at Arsus and their eyes met. The moment their eyes met, Arsus realized he was f*cked up. Not because he attacked Tang Shaoyang, but because he realized he would not be able to dodge what would come after him.

Chapter 1707 A Chief Administrator For Reasons (1)

Tang Shaoyang released King Sebastia. His hand moved toward Arsus' neck as he stood up. He caught Arsus' neck, but the male snow-elf continued his attack instead of trying to free himself from Tang Shaoyang's hand.

Arsus aimed his dagger to the head this time with an intent to kill Tang Shaoyang. However, Tang Shaoyang easily blocked the dagger and slapped the dagger off Arsus' hand with his wrist. The dagger flew to the castle wall and stuck there.

He could kill Arsus with a single attack with Heavenly Force - Heavenly Crushing Grasp. Arsus' neck would get crushed, but that would kill Arsus. He did not intend to kill the snow elf from the start.

Tang Shaoyang slammed the elf down to the ground. Then five Chaos Blades formed above him. The five dark-red blades shot toward Arsus. Two pierced the snow-elf in both arms, two pierced the thigh, and one on the chest. The last sword did not hit the heart, the reason the snow-elf was still alive.

Arsus was pinned down with a panic-stricken expression on his face. He tried to use Bloodline Transformation but soon realized the skill did not work. He was confused, panicked, and in fear.

The five blades pinned Arsus down to the ground. Imbued by The Absolute Domination Energy, disturbing the flow of Arsus' energy inside his body.

It was then followed by a punch right at Arsus' nose. Once, twice, thrice, and he kept going. The snow elf was known for their snow-white skin. But those were bruised, the skin on his cheek cracked, and his face down to his neck was covered by his own blade.

"STOP!"

A woman's voice echoed in the air and was followed by an arrow. The arrow was spinning in the air, creating a swirling wind as it aimed at Tang Shaoyang's head.

However, an ice wall rose from the ground and blocked the arrow. Everyone thought that the arrow would destroy the ice, but the arrow stuck on the ice with minuscule impact. The ice wall stopped the dangerous arrow.

The ten snow elves, accompanied by Tang Shaoyang's Admin Helpers rushed toward Tang Shaoyang.

Ira and the others were tasked to get The Daenelis Clan. They were not expecting to see Tang Shaoyang beat Arsus into half-death.

Khaya led her team, trying to attack Tang Shaoyang and retrieve Arsus. But a figure landed on the top of the ice wall. Avyn stood there and her eyes locked on the snow-elf that shot the arrow just now, not Khaya.

Khaya was confused at first because she could not sense any aura or energy from Avyn. But she quickly realized her opponent was a Spirit Contract. That might be one of the strongest spirits for Tang Shaoyang to put there to block her and her team.

She signaled her team to stop and landed ten meters away from the ice wall. Her eyes fell on Arsus and was relieved upon sensing that Arsus was still alive.

Then she looked at Tang Shaoyang through the ice wall. She asked Nandra to shoot the arrow, not to kill Tang Shaoyang. It was meant to keep Tang Shaoyang away from Arsus so they could save Arsus from Tang Shaoyang.

But the arrow was stopped by the ice wall, and she had to guess. The woman above the ice wall was the one who made the ice wall.

Khaya was about to say something until she saw a shadow with three pairs of wings. She looked up and discovered the fallen angel in the sky, looking down at her. Then behind them, she found a dragonewt standing above the building, watching her and her team.

"Our shadow is gone!"

When she heard that from her team members, she looked down. They were standing on top of a shadow, a giant circle of shadow. There was something inside this shadow. In the blink of an eye, they were surrounded by Tang Shaoyang's spirits.

Added with the Admin Helpers behind her, they were surrounded. If there was a fight, she could make her way out, but that might not be the case with her team members. Continuing the fight would get her team members killed.

"You owe an explanation to me, Tang Shaoyang!"

Despite her situation, she kept her composure. Whatever was below her, she believed that would not be enough to hurt her.

Tang Shaoyang met with Khaya's gaze and replied, "No, I don't owe you anything. He is alive, and you can ask him what happened."

King Sebastia had recovered and stood up, his body swayed because of the wound. But he had a crazed expression on his face, "What are you guys doing!? He attacked me! Kill them all!"

He expected Count Fontanella's army and The Imperial Guard would charge at Tang Shaoyang, but nothing happened. He looked around, and they were looking at him as if they were looking at aliens. No one listened to his order.

"Do you guys listen to me!? Kill The Reds Mercenary and The Daenelis Mercenary! It's an order!"

Right after he finished his words, his vision abruptly changed. He was confused because his vision was upside down. He looked at them from above, which confused him. Then he saw his own body, his headless body. The realization struck him late as his vision darkened.

King Sebastia Mateo Estanyol died. Once known as the beloved king was no more. Tang Shaoyang walked past the ice wall after killing The King.

The Daenelis Clan tensed up, but then Tang Shaoyang went past them. Tang Shaoyang approached Count Fontanella. As he walked, he created hundreds of Chaos Blades. In the blink of an eye, the Chaos Blades moved.

Count Fontanella could not believe what he saw that his army was wiped out in the blink of an eye. He did not hear a scream from behind. The only thing he heard was flesh getting sliced and the blade's movement sound.

When he turned around, his army was wiped out, leaving the resident he captured earlier. His hands were trembling, but he remembered something. Whilst his hands were trembling, he took out a black scroll from his inventory.

'Activate the scroll after he killed half of the residents in the capital.'

That was the order from King Sebastia. He was about to activate the scroll until a hand took it from him. Someone just took the scroll casually from him. He looked up and his pupil constricted in terror.

Tang Shaoyang opened the scroll. There was some kind of magic circle and an inscription of unknown language written on it. He thought of burning the scroll, but then he realized that he might need the scroll for the report. He kept it in his inventory.

Chapter 1708 A Chief Administrator For Reasons (2)

Tang Shaoyang looked at Count Fontanella, taking a step forward, and questioned the trembling noble, "Do you still have this scroll in your inventory!?"

Count Fontanella was thinking in his head about how to escape from this devil. Before he could think of anything or answer. A sharp pain came from his right thigh. The pain made his leg go weak and fell on his right knee.

"Do you still have the same scroll in your inventory!?"

The question was repeated, but he did not want to give up yet. He was about to use a movement skill, but he realized he could not use the skill. Then the sharp pain transmitted from his left thigh, forcing him to kneel to Tang Shaoyang.

Tang Shaoyang bent slightly and grabbed Count Fontanella's cheek. He forced Fontanella to look at him and asked again.

"Do you still have the same scroll in your inventory!?"

Count Fontanella remained stubborn under the pain and pressure. He swung his right hand, trying to punch Tang Shaoyang's face. But the fist he expected to hit Tang Shaoyang's cheek never came.

He looked to the right, and his entire right arm fell to the ground.

Arrrggg—

Tang Shaoyang hit Count Fontanella's chin with his palm, forcefully closing his mouth to stop the scream.

"I don't understand why you choose the hard way when you can just answer me. Do you still have the same scroll in your inventory!?"

"Yes— No! Arrrgghhh!" When his answer changed from yes to no, his remaining arm fell off to the ground. A clean cut to the shoulder.

"Which one!? Do you still have it or not!?"

"No! No! I don't have it! I gave one to Duke Amalric and told him to activate it in case of emergency!"

As soon as Count Fontanella answered, three more blades pierced his head, killing him instantly. That was what he wanted to know. Then he glanced at his Admin Helpers, "Kill Duke Amalric or take the scroll from him. It doesn't matter!"

They nodded and left to look for Duke Amalric except for Ira. Her chest was tight when she saw Tang Shaoyang like this. This was completely different from Tang Shaoyang who was not in combat mode.

When her captain was like this, he exuded a fierce pressure that made her nervous. She felt like she would be hit if she did something wrong when he was like this now.

Ira trusted Tang Shaoyang that he was not that kind of person and approached her captain, "What about them?"

She was curious about what happened between her captain and the Junior Administrator from The Daenelis Clan. However, she was smart enough not to ask what happened. She asked how they should act in the following mission.

"Ignore them. We don't need to work together with a bunch of incompetent fools!"

Tang Shaoyang had expectations when he knew about The Daenelis Clan and Khaya who was a Chief Administrator. However, they performed below his expectations so far. Far below his expectations for a team with an experienced leader.

"We will meet Anne after we take care of Duke Amalric. After taking care of Baron Navares, we will hunt the Void Creatures."

Their mission was to catch the culprit and kill the Void Creatures in this world. The mission did not specify if they only needed to kill the summoned Void Creature through the summoning scroll or The Void Creature that The Emperor released into this world. Meaning they had to kill all Void Creatures in this world even if they were not summoned through the summoning scroll.

"Don't believe him, Khaya! He tried to ruin our plan! I tried to stop him, but then he tried to kill me!"

From the other side, Arsus who woke up after getting healed, immediately shouted and pointed his finger at Tang Shaoyang. Despite the beating, he did not show fear. He believed that he lost because he was caught off guard, not because Tang Shaoyang was stronger than him.

If they had to fight again when he was ready, he believed he could take on Tang Shaoyang. Especially now Khaya, a Chief Administrator, was here. They could take down Tang Shaoyang. That was what he believed.

Avyn came down from the ice wall and chuckled, "Try to kill you?"

Arsus turned toward the voice and shouted at Avyn, "Who are you!? How dare you laugh!"

"He tried to kill you? Do you think you would be alive by now if he wanted you to die?" Avyn shook her head, "A fool indeed. What's worse is that he is also incompetent and weak!"

Arsus was about to get up and attack Avyn, but Khaya pushed the man down, "Stay still, Arsus! I will kick you out of the team if you move!"

Arsus stopped and looked at Khaya in shock. He knew Khaya was serious after seeing her grave expression. She was angry that Tang Shaoyang called her incompetent, but that was the harsh truth. They barely contributed to this mission.

Furthermore, she was also aware that the woman tried to provoke Arsus to attack her. It was so obvious. The woman wanted Arsus to attack; she had the justification to retaliate and maybe kill Arsus.

After a quick observation of her surroundings, she could guess roughly what happened here. The two quivering families, the beheaded Imperial Guards, and the headless Count Fontanelly's soldiers.

Arsus most likely was letting Count Fontanella gather the sacrifice to summon the Void Creature. Then he planned to kill that Void Creature for the bonus credits. However, Tang Shaoyang stopped Count Fontanella and saved the residents from getting executed.

With Arsus' temper, he would likely attack Tang Shaoyang. However, the latter beat Arsus down to half-death. As the woman said just now, Arsus would be dead by now if Tang Shaoyang wanted him dead. He never intended to kill Arsus from the start.

Khaya quickly found out everything that happened here. She might not be a hundred percent accurate with her deduction, but what happened here must be close to her deduction. She did not need to question Arsu as it might hurt his pride further.

Chapter 1709 A Chief Administrator For Reasons (3)

Khaya did not intend to admonish Arsus for what he did in front of the public, but she did not intend to pursue it further because Tang Shaoyang did not kill Arsus. Her team was fine and healed now, and that was enough.

"Tch!"

Khaya heard the woman in the blue outfit click her tongue. She guessed right, the woman intentionally provoked Arsus to attack her. She was glad that she came in time, or else Arsus might be really dead, especially with how stubborn and arrogant he was.

She glanced at Nandra, and Nandar looked at her. Even though they did not say anything, Nandra understood her captain.

Nandra looked at the two families who were still trembling in fear, hugging each other. They covered the children in the middle, protecting their child from harm. At least they were trying to. These people were witnesses to what happened between Tang Shaoyang and Arsus, and they would not dare to lie.

As Nandra healed the resident while inquiring about what happened, a body fell from the sky. The body from the sky fell, rolling on the ground until it stopped right in front of Tang Shaoyang. It was like someone throwing the body, and the body was Duke Amalric.

The man was in blue armor, and he immediately stood up. His right hand was broken, dangling in the air. His face was bruised, his lip cracked, and his nose was broken.

Duke Amalric was confused, looking around where he was. His pupils dilated in terror as he discovered the dead armies. He quickly recognized the army's armor worn by his people. Panic-stricken, he looked around, hoping to see one of his people.

However, none of the rebellion armies were alive. It was just the residents and the two famed two mercenaries. There was no need to ask who did this, it must be them. Then the one who kidnapped him was also one of the mercenaries.

With how panicked he was, Duke Amalric missed King Sebastia's body. In his mind right now, he was screwed. The two mercenaries turned out to side with King Sebastia.

"Don't get close to me!"

Duke Amalric took out his spare sword from his inventory and positioned himself in a fighting stance. Instead of giving up, he decided to fight it out.

Tang Shaoyang was not in the mood to play. With Blink, he appeared in front of Duke Amalric. The latter was shocked and flinched. His reaction was to leap backward, but Tang Shaoyang grabbed his neck and swatted the sword with his other hand.

The sword flew away, and Duke Amalric's body was hanging in the air. Despite his situation, he hit Tang Shaoyang's arm to break free. He did not give up, resisting with all he had. Alas, his punch was met with an unbreakable scale. At least, Tang Shaoyang's dragon scale would remain unbreakable for Duke Amalric until he reached the Demi-God or maybe God Rank.

Tang Shaoyang used his Chaos Touch for a moment, and Duke Amalric immediately writhed fiercely in pain. However, he was quite tough not to make any noise despite the pain.

After that, he slapped Duke Amalric on the cheek, "Stop resisting and listen to me!"

Duke Amalric was dizzy from the pain and the slap. His ears were buzzing from the slap, but he heard Tang Shaoyang's words. After a moment, he stopped resisting and looked Tang Shaoyang in the eyes. He accepted that he would not be able to escape from Tang Shaoyang.

"What do you want!?"

"A scroll from Count Fontanella. Give me the scroll or I will kill you to get rid of the scroll!"

Duke Amalric was confused at first, recalling if Count Fontanella ever gave him a scroll. He finally remembered that he received a scroll a month ago from Count Fontanella. Even though Count Fontanella told him to use the scroll when he was in danger, he did not think much about it back then.

He thought it was just a gift to get his favor, making a good impression before he took the throne. But he did not expect the mercenary to look for the scroll. Then he looked around and found Count Fontanella's body. His eyes regained the spirit as a thought came to his mind.

"Don't be stupid and try to negotiate with me. I will kill you just like I killed Count Fontanella. Accept my terms or you will die!"

Tang Shaoyang was too familiar with Duke Amalric's expression. Most of the people he killed made the same expression in their last moments. It was the same with Caeso as well.

Could not think any more of a way out, Duke Amalric gave up and took out the black scroll from his inventory. He did not know what the scroll did, and he did not mind exchanging the scroll for his life. He would take the chance to survive.

His expectation to be alive was ten percent, or maybe even less than that. Duke Amalric thought he would be killed the moment he gave the scroll, but he was wrong. He was thrown once more, not that far this time. He landed next to a dead body, falling while facing the ground. That hurt, but that was much better than dying.

Duke Amalric tried to get it until he found the identity of the dead body next to him. The dead body lay in the pool of blood. He could see the chest was pierced by multiple swords. The dead body was King Sebastia Matteo Estanyol.

The King was dead, he did not kill the King, but he achieved his goal. He was shocked and looked back at Tang Shaoyang. However, The Reds were gone, he could not see them. Their target was not The King or him, but the scrolls.

Even though the situation was in his favor, he was confused. The second most powerful mercenary was next to him. They were looking in a direction, but they did not spare a glance at him as if he was just nobody. He wanted to ask The Daenelis what happened, but he was being cautious. He did not know what The Daenelis and The Reds were doing here, and he did not want to know. It was better not to know anything.

After healing the residents and asking what happened, Nandra returned to Khaya. She glared at Arsus, obviously angry at him after finding out what happened.

"Tang Shaoyang was killing the army that was about to execute them and kidnapped The King from the castle. But Arsus attacked Tang Shaoyang first when he was about to kill The King. They could not see the fight, but Arsus was beaten so quickly. It was so quick, five seconds or maybe less than five seconds."

Obviously, the residents could not see the fight. Tang Shaoyang and Arsus's movements were too fast for their eyes. It happened so fast that it looked like they were watching a movie with a skipped scene. First, they saw Arsus was about to stab Tang Shaoyang from the back. Next, they saw Tang Shaoyang take down Arsus.

Nandra let out a sigh, frustrated by Arsus, "Yeah, you are lucky to be alive. He obviously could kill you if he wanted to."

"He ruined our plan and tried to take the credit by himself!" Arsus did not feel he was wrong. In his eyes, it was Tang Shaoyang who tried to hog all the contributions for himself. That was what made him angry.

Nandra sneered at Arsus, "Look at him. He doesn't even reflect on his mistake and keeps defending himself. He still thought he did the right thing to attack The Reds' Captain."

"Haven't you realized that you almost caused a fight between two Administrator teams? If Executive Administrators dig this further and find you are the cause, we might get demoted one rank. That's the best scenario. The worst scenario is that we will lose our class. You are giving those scumbags a reason to bring us down!"

Nandra could not help to vent all frustration on Arsus. She had been holding back for a long time and could not hold it any longer.

"Enough! Let's focus on the mission first, Nandra. We will discuss the internal problem after we finish the mission. I will also talk with Chief Aeson after the mission!"

"We keep making mistake after mistake that those humans think we are incompetent. We can't ruin our reputation like this. Let's hunt the Void Creature and prove them wrong!"

Khaya was frustrated by herself deep inside. Once more, she made a newbie mistake, a misjudgment. The moment she saw the Void Creatures in the sky. She should conclude her task in the city immediately and chase after the Void Creatures.

Khaya understood why Tang Shaoyang called her and her team incompetent, and she could not get mad at him. The only one to blame was her. They left the capital of Salyra Kingdom after.

*** **

"I am so nervous! I thought we were going to fight The Daenelis Clan back there!"

As soon as they left the castle area, Nayla spoke what was in her mind. She was nervous after seeing Tang Shaoyang beat one of the snow elves. That would lead to a fight between the two teams most of the time. However, she was surprised that Khaya did not pursue it further and let it go.

"She is a Chief Administrator for a reason. You can't be a Chief Administrator with just looks and power, you need to be smart as well," Agnes added.

Deep inside, Agnes had a secret admiration for Khaya. She was the first elf Chief Administrator. If she maintained her performance, she might be the first elf to be an Executive Administrator.

"That's true. She is smart to identify that her team member is the one who caused trouble. Wise enough to put the matter down because she knows that she can't win against me. She might survive or escape, but not her team members."

Tang Shaoyang was also surprised that Khaya did not pursue the matter further. He did not mind fighting them before taking care of the Void Creatures.

If it was any other team, they would not care who was in the wrong. They would stand up for their team members and fight to avenge their beaten-up comrades. However, Khaya made an unusual decision. She still protected her team members, but she was wise not to fall for her team member's lies.

"It's rare for you to compliment someone else aside from your wives..." Nayla squinted her eyes, "Do you fall for Khaya!?"

Nayla was sharp to catch that. She never heard her captain compliment any of them, let alone the other teams. This was the first time she heard her captain praise someone.

Tang Shaoyang shrugged and chose not to answer. He did not fall for Khaya and did not hesitate to kill if he must. He was genuinely surprised that she was different than most of the people he encountered. Especially when the arrogant image was stuck on them.

They quickly left the capital and went in the direction where the army left. To their surprise, they met Anne, Torben, and Prodan not far from the city. They were returning to the city and met them.

"Have you finished Count Navares off and taken back the scroll?" Tang Shaoyang was surprised because it was fast.

Anne nodded, she looked pensive as she viewed the city from a distance. She knew it was not the time to care for the rebellion when there were hundreds of Void Creatures roaming around in this world.

"We killed Count Navares and his army, and we forced him to give us the scroll."

Anne took two black scrolls and handed them to Tang Shaoyang.

Tang Shaoyang checked the scroll, and they were exactly the same as the one in his hand. He stored them in his inventory.

"Then our mission is to hunt down the Void Creatures—"

"Wait! What happened to the Void Cult!?" Anne thought it was The Void Cult who opened the gate to The Void Realm.

"I captured one alive, killed seven, and one escaped. What was it again? The Corrupted Immortal Emperor? Yeah, that guy came and saved one mutant from me."

Anne, Torben, and Prodan made the same expression as Ira and the others when they first heard about The Emperor. In fact, they were much worse because they knew how scary that name implied. A former Executive Administrator turned into Void Cult. That was their worst enemy.
