

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 193

Tang Shaoyang was standing on top of the rubble with a shredded red flag in his hand. There were three opened Treasure Chests five meters to his right. The same reward when he killed Troll Warlord but different at the same time.

20x Crystal Inventory Bags, A Class Change Scroll: Shield Breaker, and a Skill Scroll: Mana Mastery.

Besides the official reward, his level was raised by two from killing Three-Headed Ogre. Another three levels added up by defeating the Ogre Tribe and killed the Three-Headed Ogre. In total, he gained five levels from finishing off the Ogre Tribe.

Skill Points, he harvested a lot of skill points. From this battle, he has gotten 250 Skill Points. More than enough to evolve one of his reliable skills, [Spirit Integration].

"Before that, let's open the last chest," he squatted while his hand immediately opened the chest. By this time, he had gotten used to the annoying blinding light from opening Treasure Chest. After the blinding light dissipated, he could see a scroll laying down inside the chest. He grabbed the scroll and the information appeared in his eyes.

[Class Change Scroll]

Advance Class: Spearman

With this scroll in his hand, he had three Class Change Scrolls in his inventory. Spearman, Berserker, and Shield Breaker.

'Mnn, one for Yan Sheng. That brat is picky and wants an offensive class. Now I have three offensive classes, if he does not take any, I have to change his role,' he chose him for his contribution against the zombie horde.

From the people who survived against the zombie horde, mostly the young men who fought well. Tian Donghai and Yan Sheng were the prime examples of that. If the brat was still picky about the class, he would give the class to the others and let this person replace Yan Sheng's position as a Captain.

One class for Zhang Mengyao girls subordinates. They were working hard in the fourth portal to receive the deserved reward. The last one for Bai Yuan, he wanted to make him a model for the slave that as long as they worked hard, they would be rewarded as well.

[You have completed the Fourth Portal]

[Congratulations! You acquired +4 Levels]

[Portal to go back has been prepared in the fort!]

"The reward is truly generous, yet another four levels. Why don't I get a bonus reward from clearing the portal beforehand?" He wondered, but of course, he was not expecting an answer. It was just random thoughts that came into his head when the reward arrived.

[The first three portals are being considered as assistance, clearing the portal will not reward you!]

Unexpected to him, he heard the answer with a popped out screen that appeared in his eyes. His eyes widened slightly, the system rarely- Never answered every single of his questions before. He had to figure out everything by himself, including the fact that a chest that appeared out of nowhere was a reward.

"Assistance? What do you mean by assistance?" Tang Shaoyang tried his luck by asking again but it wasn't answering his question. He tried a few times but the result was negative, "Nah, who cares? I am just going to finish all portals and reap all the rewards," he shrugged and looked toward his subordinates.

They were still fighting against the ogre and he did not plan to join anytime soon. He was giving them all the monsters for them to level up.

"Nah, it's time to distribute my Skill Points. I have the last piece of sacrifice, I am going to summon a new spirit," Tang Shaoyang planned to use eight Bosses sacrificial to summon a new spirit, "Before that, I have to be prepared so I don't waste the sacrificial."

Karan and Zaneos was a special case where he did not need to fight them to form the contract. And just like Zaneos told him, not all spirits down for negotiation like him or Karan. A fight was inevitable, and he needed preparation for that, leveling up his skill for example.

"Status Screen!"

Contracted Spirit (2/6): [Karan - The Great Warrior] [Zaneos - The Demon Swordsman]

Tang Shaoyang allocated his attribute points into Strength, Vitality, Agility, and Stamina. Since his 2nd Class Advancement, he got four Attribute Points each level up, and he allocated them equally. Since he got +1 Magic Power each level up from his new class, he did not allocate any into Magic Power.

After fighting for months with his class, he realized that he did not need to focus to raise a certain attribute, his talent, and his spirit would help him in that matter. He just needed to make sure his attributes were not lopsided.

"Let's see, I have allocated all my Attribute Points- huh!?" He noticed his Sense increased by two. From his understanding of sense, he could only get one every ten levels, "I see, it's one every five levels now," he concluded with his limited data.

Tang Shaoyang proceeded to his skill page, "Which skill should I raise? Ah, evolving [Spirit Integration] is my goal," he tapped the skill.

[Do you wish to evolve [Spirit Integration] skill? Y/N (200 Skill Points)]

Of course, he said yes without hesitation.

[200 Skill Points consumed!]

[[Spirit Integration] has evolved into [Advance Spirit Integration - Lvl 1]]

A word added at the front of the skill, it had become advanced now. Curious, he tapped the skill again, wondering if he could level up the skill again.

[Do you wish to level up [Advance Spirit Integration - Lvl 1] to [Advance Spirit Integration - Lvl 2]? Y/N (150 Skill Points)]

He could level it up again, but he without hesitation said No. He wanted to level up the other skills as well.

"[Enhanced Strength]? Nah, no. I have Karan to increase my Strength. [Raged Alteration] is also no," he shook his head at his two new skills before his eyes fell the two other skills, [Lesser Regeneration] and [Tough Skin]. Again, he thought those two skills would not help him to defeat the spirit he would summon later.

"Should I level up my [Spirit Summoning] instead?" Tang Shaoyang immediately shook his head again, "Nah, that's a no as well. Even with level 2 [Spirit Summoning], I already summoned a strong spirit like Zaneos."

A stronger spirit was what he expected, but too strong would backfire on him. What was the use of summoning a powerful spirit if he could not establish the contract? That was pointless, what he needed was a strength that could be defeated within his capability.

"[Flash Step] is the only choice I have it seems," Tang Shaoyang thoughtfully looked at the skill. He could use [Flash Step] to surprise his enemy and defeat them just like how he defeated the Troll Warlord and Three-Headed Ogre. He caught them by surprise with extreme movement from [Flash Step] and finished them off with [Earth Split].

[Do you wish to level up [Flash Step - Lvl 3] to [Flash Step - Lvl 4]? Y/N? (60 Skill Points)]

"Yes!"

[Do you wish to level up [Flash Step - Lvl 4] to [Flash Step - Lvl 5]? Y/N? (120 Skill Points)]
