

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 640

"Once you reach a dead-end, we just need to find a new opportunity." Crown Prince Virion said in a serious tone. "And our new opportunity is The Tang Empire. We can't win against them, so let's win together with The Tang Empire instead."

The Elven King looked at his eldest proudly, but he was also saddened at the same time. His son was amazing, but Elven's greatness ended in his era. He failed his son, and he failed to inherit The Elven as a whole to his son.

"Also, I am here to invite The Moonlight Tribe to The Elven's new king coronation." The Elven King Revalor looked up and closed his eyes. "I am too old for this so that I will abdicate as The Elven King. Virion will inherit the throne in three days."

Chief Moon was surprised by the news. The Elven King Revalor might be over five hundred years old, but from the elven's lifespan, The Elven King Revalor could live for at least another three or even five hundred years more. Moonsong quickly understood why The Elven King abdicated earlier.

'If I have a successor, I will choose the same path as him.' Chief Moon thought to himself. He would do the same if his son matured and was ready to lead the Moonlight Tribe. However, his son was too young for the role.

At this moment, Moonlight Maiden Sylvia walked together with Lusha toward them. Sylvia wore Moonlight Tribe's traditional dress. It was similar to the Japanese kimono with all white. The girl wore a gentle smile on his face, and she bowed her head when she saw The Elven King.

"Sylvia greets The Elven King and The Crown Prince."

The Elven King and The Crown Prince nodded their heads in response. "You are beautiful as always, Sylvia," Revalor commented at the girl who was supposed to be his daughter-in-law. Alas, fate did not allow it to happen. She would be The Emperor's woman, and the status between them would be switched soon.

After a short chat, a white carriage arrived at the next of the elven green carriage. While the elven carriage exuded elegance, Moonlight Tribe's carriage exuded the pureness of white. Lusha opened the door as Sylvia entered the white carriage.

"Alright then, leave everything to me, Father. I will do my best to fight for Elven's interests." After saying his farewell, The Crown Prince hopped on his horse and led the two carriages along with Lusha.

Tang Shaoyang was sitting in his new lodging, sitting naked at the table. He opened the window status to organize his attributes. There was no time for him to allocate all the attribute points he had.

He had to organize his army and adjust his force with the system rank he had created before, The Tarrior. He appointed Alton to be Marshal. Ashley and Aki were The Vice Marshal, one below the rank of Alton. Kalliyen refused the position, she would help the fight, but she did not want to be bothered with the work of the Officer.

Aki, Allan, and more of higher ranks become The Legion Commander. As for the remaining, he gave them the authority to appoint the officers below them. After choosing the officers, he had to approve all of them and listen to the report. Alton insisted on him hearing the progress of the appointment.

Tang Shaoyang laughed when he saw the number of the Attribute Points. He just spent over two million Attribute Points a few days ago, and now he had another 1.3 million Attribute Points. This higher world was a paradise for him where he could get stronger infinitely. At least, he felt like that with the time he spent in Lukan.

He then noticed that his sense had maxed out as well. He did not know it happened, but it did. "20-Start for Sense, huh!?" Tang Shaoyang closed his eyes, and he could sense everything around him. Stable breathings from the bed, the steps around his house, and the wind. He could picture everything in his head even though his eyes were closed.

He increased his focus, and he could even sense the dirt in the ground that got blown away by the wind. Everything was clear to him. "It's not the time to play around with my senses." Tang Shaoyang shook his head and opened his eyes. "It's time to allocate my attributes. If they don't give me a reply tomorrow, then I will give them what they want."

The first thing he did was to max out Strength. He spent two hundred thousand Attribute Points to max out Strength to 100-Star. 'Agility, Vitality, and Stamina... I don't think I will ever run out of my Stamina, just like in the early game.' That left out Agility and Vitality, and it did not take a long time for him to decide. He always chose a sturdier body than a high movement speed, so Vitality was his choice.

Tang Shaoyang used the remaining Attribute Points on Vitality. Thanks to [Attribute Shift], he did not need to spread Attribute Points to balance his attributes.

"Attribute Allocation is done. It's time to test out the new skill." Tang Shaoyang looked at the four new skills he got from evolving to Tang, the new race he created. As he looked at the skill, he subconsciously put his right hand on his chest. He could feel it, the three heartbeats that beat in rhythm.

"I feel like I have become a weirdo, now." Tang Shaoyang muttered in a low voice. He felt like he had become a monster now. "Me is still me, and it does not change." After saying that, he looked at the four skills, one of which was a passive skill, Demonic Energy.

"Shouldn't it appear on my attribute, The Demonic Energy?" He thought he would gain a new attribute from learning [Demonic Energy], but nothing changed on his attribute.

—It does not work that way, My Lord. The Demonic Energy should work the same as mana. No, Demonic Energy is the demonic creature's mana. In your case, your Demon Heart will change the mana into Demonic Energy for you to use. There's a certain skill that requires you to use Demonic Energy, like Demonification and Necromastery. In that, your Demon Heart will convert the mana into Demonic Energy automatically. Of course, that's just my conjecture. What about if you try the skill so we can study it.

It was surprising that Zowen The Grand Magus came up with the conjecture instead of Zaneos or Orlean, the demon.
