

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 664

Tang Shaoyang was sitting on the branch of the tree and gazed at the blue moon. "Is the moon supposed to be blue?" He muttered in a low voice because he remembered the moon was supposed to be white or even a bit yellowy.

"I think so," Aleesa replied as she looked at the same moon in the sky. "At least, the moon Lukan was blue. Does the moon on Earth have a different color?"

"I don't know. Before and after the game, I never had the chance to enjoy the view of the night sky." Tang Shaoyang was not lying because he truly did not remember the color of them on Earth. He focused on a lot of things, and he did not remember such a trivial thing.

He had to survive by joining a gang, spending his time fighting against the other gangsters. When the game started, he had to survive by fighting the monster. He continued to fight in order to survive. However, it was different because he fought not just to survive but to conquer as well. Tomorrow would be his first official war for his Empire, a war to expand his territory. To strengthen his army, ensuring he would be on the top and give the order instead of receiving the order.

"We can confirm that after we finish our business here." Aleesa smiled and glanced at Tang Shaoyang. "Don't we return to Earth after we defeat the three kingdoms? I don't think it will not take long until we defeat them all with our current force. Unless you want to advance to the main continent?"

"That's true. We can confirm that once we return to Earth." Tang Shaoyang nodded his head. "But I don't like to underestimate my enemy. We will go all out from the start and secure our victory as soon as possible. As for the main continent, it will be better for us to send our people to investigate the main continent before thinking of invading them."

Tang Shaoyang bent his head backward and looked at the stars this time. He remembered that back on Earth did not have a lot of stars. "I don't think we will go to the main continent any time soon. We have a tower that will appear on Earth too."

"Tower?" Aleesa never heard anything about the tower from Selena and Ashley. Tang Shaoyang responded with a nod. "Yes, a tower will appear, and it's supposed to be part of the Game as well. I don't know what kind of tower, though."

"Anyway, we will attack The Lionax Kingdom tomorrow. Alton has prepared our full force to attack the north of The Lionax Kingdom. We will meet with The Lionax Kingdom's main force and also The Revolution Army's force. Have a good rest; I don't think Alton is enough to defeat the two Guardians of The Lionax Kingdom. We need you~" After saying that, Aleesa kissed Tang Shaoyang on the cheek.

She had dedicated her life to the sake of The Elven King for over two hundred years. She knew little about the relationship between man and woman. Her cheeks blushed after kissing him, and Aleesa immediately hopped off from the tree before running away.

"I thought she was almost three hundred years old, but she can still get shy like that." Tang Shaoyang shook his head, but there was a slight smile on his face. His weird sense was detecting that The Elven Elder was now dedicating her life to him and his empire. He could tell her feelings by sitting next to her. "I kinda don't like this power even though it is very useful. Now I am burdened by her feelings. I guess I have to learn to accept her as well, just like she accepted me."

"What prisoner is doing, wandering around in this late night?" Tang Shaoyang detected a present coming toward him, a person. He could detect her from a hundred meters radius. He thought she was simply wandering around for fresh air, but he was wrong. She came for him.

The noble lady with orchid-colored hair came out of her hiding spot and approached the tree where Tang Shaoyang was. When she arrived at the tree, she bowed his head toward Tang Shaoyang. "My name is Viona Ros- My name is Viona, a fallen noble of The Lionax Kingdom."

"I already know about you? What do you want?" Tang Shaoyang did not bother to glance at the lady below him as he simply stared at the night sky. 'Hah, I sense it again, her feelings. Nervousness, guilt, anxiousness, fear, determination, and desperation. Everything mixed together weirdly.'

Plop!

The lady fell on her knee. "Please grant me power, Great Lord. Grant me the power to kill The Revolution Army. Give Julian, the leader of the Revolution Army, to me, and I will do anything for you. I will give you everything!"

"Give me everything?" Tang Shaoyang bent his head and looked at the kneeling lady. "It seems you haven't realized your situation yet, Viona, is it? You have nothing to give me. You and your children are relying on my Empire to live. The Empire gives the food you ate last night and lodging for your family to sleep."

"Why don't you just continue to live and raise your children peacefully so your children can make a contribution to my Empire? What you are doing right now is foolish. Furthermore, I am not a God that can bestow any power to you. If you want the power, you should gain it with your hands, and you already know how to obtain the power."

"I need to increase my power quickly. I want to join the war with the Empire. I want to kill the people who have invaded my city and kill my husband!" Tears flowed from Viona's eyes as words filled with hatred came out of her mouth. She no longer had the bearing of a noble lady. "I want to kill them with my hands. I want to kill Julius with my hand!"

Tang Shaoyang let out a chuckle. "Even if I am a God, I don't think I can increase your strength to the Myth Rank within a week, let alone one night. You are asking for a ridiculous thing. Just like I said, there's nothing you can give me either for me to help you-"

"My Body! My soul! You can do anything to me as long as you can grant my wish!"