

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 691

The Skeleton was enveloped by the bright for ten seconds before the light slowly dimmed down, revealing the new figure. It could be said as a new figure because the third Skeleton became taller. It was not just ten or twenty centimeters taller, but a meter taller. Tang Shaoyang had to look up to see the third skeleton.

[Your Skeleton has advanced to Elite Skeleton!]

Tang Shaoyang chose to evolve the Skeleton into Elite Skeleton. The third path for the Skeleton as he wanted to compare the three skeletons. "But I need one more sample. I have chosen two evolutions and one class; there's still the third option I haven't tried."

"The spear also changed!" Zara spoke to his ears. Tang Shaoyang followed her gaze and noticed that the Elite Skeleton was still holding a spear, but it was not the same spear he gave the Skeleton. The spear had turned into a bone spear, but it was grey instead of white.

"Wait. That spear is a Tier B Spear, and I just made a loss by turning that spear into a bone spear." Tang Shaoyang slapped his forehead with his right hand. Tier B Spear might be nothing in Lukan, but it was a precious treasure for the people on Earth. He got the spear from the Survival Game.

Tang Shaoyang then motioned the Elite Skeleton to come over with his left hand. The Elite Skeleton walked toward him obediently as it kept glancing at the people. "Give me your spear!" He demanded the Skeleton as he wanted to examine the bone spear.

There was a slight hesitation from the Elite Skeleton. It did not immediately give the spear to him. There was like fifteen seconds pause before the Elite Skeleton presented the bone spear to Tang Shaoyang with its two hands.

Tang Shaoyang furrowed his brows and inspected the spear from a close range. For sure, the spear also got longer, and the spear was now around 2.3 meters long. He then snatched the spear with his right hand, and a box screen appeared in front of his eyes. The screen contained the details of the spear.

-----

[Bone Spear (Growth)]

Tier: B+

Attribute Bonus: +90 Strength, +50 Vitality

Description: The Spear that grows along with its owner

Owner: The Third Skeleton (Tang Shaoyang)

-----

Tang Shaoyang was surprised to see the details about the bone spear. This was his first time seeing equipment with a description. As for the owner thingy, he learned from the Lionax Kingdom's third prince Epic Tier Sword. But the most interesting was the fact that the spear could grow stronger along with its owner.

Tang Shaoyang then realized why the Elite Skeleton was reluctant to give the spear. The spear had become part of it, so it was reluctant to give the spear to the other. "This is just getting even more interesting." He smiled as he assessed the spear in his hand.

"From now on, you will be called Skelly1. That's your name until you perish, understand?" Tang Shaoyang named the third Skeleton. There was something he wanted to test out, and it was about the naming. He wondered if the naming mattered, and he checked the bone spear again.

He saw the change on the screen, and it was the name of the owner. It was no longer Third Skeleton, but Skelly1. He wanted to try if the system recognized the name when he gave the skeleton a name. He did not expect it would work since there was no notification from the system.

"Here you are. I am not going to take it from you." Tang Shaoyang threw the spear back to Skelly1. The latter caught the spear and put the spear on its chest. Skelly1 did really treasure the spear, and Tang Shaoyang got the gist of it. 'I should not think badly about this guy.'

Skelly1 treasured the spear because it was a gift from him. 'This is why you have to make a good impression, or else people will think badly about them.' He thought to himself. Skelly1 gave him a psychopath impression and did something stupid by trying to bite the man to death. That was a bad impression, so he did not think that Skelly1 would be this emotional.

"Alright, you can stay next to me for..." Tang Shaoyang paused for a moment before he summoned Kaiser and Keeper. "Why don't you talk with your new family?"

Tang Shaoyang told Skelly1 about the Skelly Family. "These two are your big brothers, so you should listen to them from now on."

Skelly1 glanced at Kaiser and Keeper, and even though Skelly1 did not say anything, Tang Shaoyang could tell that Skelly1 was thinking right now. 'Why would I listen to these two when I am stronger than them? It's them who should listen to me!'

Skelly1 was displeased with his decision to put him under someone else. "That's my order!" Tang Shaoyang emphasized it to Skelly1 before looking at Kaiser and Keeper. "Treat your new member family well, and his name is Skelly1."

Keeper glanced at Skelly1 and nodded while Kaiser acted overly friendly by hooking Skelly1 waist and making a clanking noise with its steel jaw.

Tang Shaoyang had an idea of having the Skeletons fight each other to find out which one was stronger. However, he did not have the time to do that now. He wanted to evolve all the Skeletons further to get the strongest evolution for the mass-producing skeleton armies.

The clanking and clacking noises filled the air though it was a little bit annoying. Tang Shaoyang ignored them and extended his hand to one of the hostages. He used [Gravity Pull] and retrieved five bodies as the Slayer Blades cut through their necks.

[You have summoned a Skeleton!]

When the new skeleton was summoned, Kaiser and Skelly1 stopped making noise. The two Skeletons looked at the new Skeleton, and for some reason, he could not tell why these two feelings. He did not pay attention to it anymore as he pulled another body and put it in front of the newly summoned skeleton.

The new Skeleton looked at the body and looked back at Tang Shaoyang. He then took out a sword from his inventory, and this time, he gave the skeleton Tier C Sword. He was hoping the sword would evolve into a growth-type weapon like the spear he gave to Skelly1.

"Kill him." The new Skeleton nodded and picked up the sword, and it immediately stabbed the man's head with the sword.

[Your {Skeleton} has met the condition for the advancement!]

[Do you want to proceed {Skeleton} advancement? {Yes} {No}]

[Please choose your Skeleton's advancement: (Evolution) (Class)]

[Please choose the advancement for your Skeleton: (Elite Skeleton) (Steel Skeleton) (Elemental Skeleton)]

Tang Shaoyang's flicked for a moment as he saw something different appear in the option. It was always (Elite Skeleton) (Steel Skeleton) and (Earth Skeleton), yet this one had a different option which was (Elemental Skeleton).

At least, Kaiser and Skelly did not have this (Elemental Skeleton) option. As for Keeper, he chose class evolution, so he did not know if Keeper had a different evolution option... 'The third option may be random and different for each skeleton.'