ARMIPOTENT Chapter 694

"Huh!? Meteorite Skeleton?" Tang Shaoyang had heard about obsidian before, and it was like a stone but harder than steel. That was his knowledge about Obsidian, but he never heard anything about Meteorite. "Is it related to the meteor?"

While Tang Shaoyang was in his own thoughts, Kaiser had finished the evolution. Kaiser's new frame was black-gold. The main frame was still black, but there were gold spots all over its frame. Those gold spots cheered Kaiser up for losing its golden frame. He did not care what the Meteorite Skeleton thought of its new frame as he opened the window status to check the new skills.

[Advanced Hardened Frame] became [Frame Reinforcement], [Advanced Regrowth] advanced to [Prompt Restoration], [Frame Molder] to [Advanced Frame Molder], [Advanced Sprint] to [Short Blink], [Skeletal Armor], and [Titanic Enrage]. The last two skills were the new skills, but he only knew what Skeletal Armor did. It must be a skill that gave Kaiser an armor on top of its frame.

'Is it similar to a skill like my Wrath?' Tang Shaoyang guessed it randomly since both had the same meaning but different words. Wrath and Enrage both were expressing anger, so he thought it might be similar skills. While checking the skills, he skipped to check the attributes, now he was checking on it.

Attributes:

Strength: 3216

Agility: 2976

Vitality: 2916

Stamina: 2806

Magic Power: 3006

Mana: 30060

All the attributes almost doubled, which was a good thing. 'This skeleton could be strong, so it's worth investing my time in this Necromastery. They could do the odd job for me, at least.' Tang Shaoyang did not know how strong the skeletons could be, but they should be enough to take care of his trivial matters.

'34 knights above level 400 for Kaiser to reach level 400…' Tang Shaoyang then looked at the captured people that amounted to over a thousand people. 'Let's pause Kaiser's evolution and upgrade the other three skeletons first.'

"Come over here. It's your brother's turn to kill these people." Tang Shaoyang called Kaiser back before motioning to Keeper to come over. Albeit reluctant, Kaiser followed his order as it kept glancing back at the three remaining people. The regret and disappointment were so clear on the Meteorite Skeleton's face.

"You can start with two!" Tang Shaoyang ignored Kaiser and ordered Keeper to kill only two people since it took Kaiser two people to level up to level 100. Meanwhile, he had Keeper's window status open to see how many levels Keeper would get from killing one of them.

Keeper nodded as its middle finger grew bigger and longer before it plucked the elongated middle finger from its own hand. Then Tang Shaoyang realized that Keeper was making a bone arrow from his finger, and he could see that the middle finger was regrowing back as Keeper plucked it off.

The Skeleton Archer did not show any cruelty as he just stabbed the arrow to the people's foreheads, killing them without pain but less gory. He could say that Keeper was more sensible than Kaiser. However, the Meteorite Skeleton was not satisfied with how his little brother did things. It was expressing its dissatisfaction to Keeper as the clanking noise filled the air.

Tang Shaoyang turned toward the Meteorite Skeleton while putting his index finger on his keeps and making a 'Sssshhh' noise. He thought Kaiser would not understand his gesture, but surprisingly, the latter immediately stopped.

Tang Shaoyang smiled and gave Kaiser a thumbs-up before processing the new information of the Skeleton Archer. There was a difference between Steel Skeleton and Skeleton Archer. The latter gained more experience than the former.

Keeper reached level 87 by killing one knight, while Kaiser reached level 79 by killing one knight. Eight levels were not a massive gap since they were still below level 100. 'Or maybe killed a higher-level knight instead. That could be the case since all knights have different levels.'

[Your {Skeleton Archer} has met the condition for the advancement!]

[Do you want to proceed {Skeleton Archer} advancement? {Yes} {No}]

Tang Shaoyang tapped yes, and he found another difference between the first and the second skeleton. Instead of giving him a choice of evolution, Keeper immediately evolved to the next evolution.

[Your Skeleton Archer has advanced to Elite Skeleton Archer!]

'So this is what happens if I choose the class from the start?' Tang Shaoyang thought to himself. He thought Keeper would have the choice for evolution just like Kaiser had the option to get a class. 'Nah, let's see the next evolution.'

Tang Shaoyang pulled four people and placed all of them in front of Keeper. He motioned The Elite Skeleton Archer to kill the five people. It took Kaiser five people to reach level 200, so it might be the same for Keeper. Sure enough, Keeper just needed to kill five people to reach level 200.

[Your {Elite Skeleton Archer} has met the condition for the advancement!]

[Do you want to proceed {Elite Skeleton Archer} advancement? {Yes} {No}]

Tang Shaoyang took his time before he tapped yes, and to his surprise, the system gave him choices for the next evolution. However, it was a different choice than the evolution or the class choice.

[Please choose your Elite Skeleton Archer's advancement: (Master Skeleton Archer) (Ranger) (Hunter) (Gunslinger)!]

Tang Shaoyang faced four choices for Keeper's next advancement. However, his focus was on the fourth choice. He kind of understood the first three choices since they were related to Archer in a way, but not the fourth one. There was one familiar word in it, gun, something he was familiar with. "But bow to a gun? The evolution is not going to be something I expect."

"I think you should choose the fourth one instead. I had never heard of such a class before, and it might be something like a rare class like yours?" Zara suggested the unexpected class.

Tang Shaoyang looked back with a surprised look… "You can see this?" He thought the summoned spirit could not see the system screen in front of him unless they were inside the Spiritual World.
