

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 711

An unknown man with a Dragon Bloodline suddenly appeared with a Legend Rank knight and a Legend Rank Angel. Even if they outnumbered them, this was not something they could overcome with numbers. The best outcome from this encounter was to retreat safely, and Robert Kingsley used the Left-Wing Guardian as bait to force this man to retreat.

"We have an army under the leadership of the Left-Wing Guardian Lorian heading toward Bareham City. If you care about your people, you should go back and save them." Robert Kingsley smiled, faking his nervousness outside. Little did he know that the one in front of him could feel his emotion.

Tang Shaoyang grinned, showing rows of his sharp teeth while glancing back to Marshal Alton and Vice Marshal Allan. Marshal Alton also smiled in response, and there was a meaning behind that smile that the Right-Wing Guardian was not aware of.

"Why would you be so concerned about my people? Should you worry about yourself?" Tang Shaoyang was shaking his head. "I thought it would take some time to fight you, but we can finish everything right now and today." He then raised his right hand, and the sky darkened as thunder rumbled beyond the dark sky.

"Spread out!" Robert Kingsley commanded the Revolution Army as soon as he sensed the danger. "Powan and I will face this man and the angel, and you focus on attacking the city!" The Right-Wing Guardian ordered the two princes and Archdukes to lead the Revolution Army.

Even though the second Prince and the two Archdukes were Primordial Ranks, they could not affect the fight of the Legend Rank. However, the furious second prince had lost his reason when he met with his third brother's killer. "No! I will kill this bastard with my own hand, Grandfather. I will end his life with my hand!"

Swoosh!

"Noooooo!" Robert Kingsley screamed, but he failed to catch his grandson. The Second Prince broke free from his grandfather and rushed toward Tang Shaoyang. Prince Wilis left a trail of flame as he pointed the sword at Tang Shaoyang's chest.

However, before the second prince arrived at his target, the thunder struck him down repeatedly. Instead of blocking the thunder, Wilis formed a flame shield and let the thunder hit him. The flame shield disintegrated when the third thunder hit Wilis, but the second prince did not care. He received the following three thunder with his body,

By the time Second Prince Wilis arrived in front of Tang Shaoyang, the latter was ready with his battle-ax. He raised the Dragon Destroyer and brought it toward the Second Prince Wilis. Even though his enemy was just Primordial Rank, he did not underestimate Wilis. He imbued the Dragon Destroyer with Slayer Energy.

The tip of the sword clashed against the battle-ax's blade. The fire exploded from the Second Prince Wilis sword, and it tried to engulf Tang Shaoyang. However, Slayer Energy easily reflected the fire and pushed it back toward the Revolution Army. The storm of flame headed toward the Revolution Army.

Robert Kingsley did not waste his time and used his Bloodline Transformation. The grandfather and grandson had the same bloodline, and he also transformed into the flaming lion. The Right-Wing Guardian extended his hand toward the storm of flame caused by his grandson and absorbed all the flame to protect the knights behind him.

By the time the flame had disappeared, Robert Kingsley glanced back at Sir Powan. "We have to defeat this man and the angel quickly. Don't give Alton a chance to join the fight, and then we have a chance to turn the situation around."

Sir Powan nodded and activated his bloodline transformation. Two horns sprouted from the side of Powan's head, curved upward while his body grew up to three meters. His body buffed out, showing the buffed muscles after the transformation. Berserk-Bull, that was Sir Powan's bloodline, a bloodline that relied on physical power instead of magic.

"ARGHHHHH!" A pained roar echoed through the air. Robert turned toward the voice only to see the man with Dragon Bloodline strangled his grandson to the air. The lightning engulfed his grandson, who was still screaming in pain.

"What are you doing!?" Robert was about to launch his attack to save his grandson, but he noticed the army behind him was not moving. He scolded Crown Prince Chandler and the two Archdukes. "Leave this man to us and command the army to capture the city!" He was using the army to distract Alton; at least, he hoped so because their chance to turn the situation was almost zero if Alton joined the fight.

Only then did the Crown Prince and the two Archdukes move. They led the Revolution Army to the other side of Ailo City.

Robert glanced at Powan and said. "Step back for a moment." Powan did not know what Robert wanted to do, but he followed the request. He stepped back a few meters away from Robert, and then he saw the land turned into lava. Not just the spot where he stood, but the dozens of meters of the area turned into lava, and it kept expanding.

In the next second, hundreds of meters of the area turned into an ocean of lava. Of course, the area where Tang Shaoyang was standing and the city was still normal. Powan had to keep his distance from Robert, or else he might get hurt.

The lava then turned into a giant wave and moved toward Tang Shaoyang. The lava wave reached twenty meters tall and accelerated toward Tang Shaoyang. Robert did not care about the city. What mattered to him was his grandson. Since his son had transformed into Flaming Lion, the lava would not hurt Wilis.

Tang Shaoyang looked at the giant wave and smiled. His smile widened even the twenty-meters tall lava wave was in front of him. "Let's see... Water should counter the flame. But that would be boring. Let's compare who's fire stronger, shall we?"

Instead of using Elemental Manipulation to use Water Elemental Power, Tang Shaoyang activated [Realm of Fire]. The land around him turned into a black flame, and the black flame pillar shot up from the ground... Within the blink of an eye, the land around Tang Shaoyang had turned into the land of black flame.