

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 977

Tang Shaoyang woke up upon hearing the gentle moan. Liang Suyin's beautiful face came into his sight the moment he opened his eyes. She slept on top of him, and he could feel that little Shaoyang was still inside her. They went crazy last night, and the red-haired girl immediately fell asleep on top of him after two hours. That was right, they were doing it for two hours. Liang Suyin never had a chance for exclusivity with Tang Shaoyang; that was why she was unrestrained last night.

Tang Shaoyang caressed Liang Suyin's silky cheek. He still felt bad for doing this to her, but at the same time, he did not want to lose her. The feeling was conflicting, but he had reached the acceptance phase. He accepted what he deemed wrong and moved on with the change within him, 'I have to treat my women with care and not hurt their feelings. I have to treasure them because they are willing to share him with the other girls. For example, having a date with them one by one might be a good start.'

He had been thinking about how to move on, making sure that all his women did not feel abandoned or ignored by him. He never got the answer until now, spending quality time with just two of them. That was what they needed from him, or at least, that was what he needed to do. He should make his women to Tang Shaoyang raised his upper body and planted a kiss on Liang Suyin's forehead. He accidentally made a movement on his hips, and a moan escaped from Liang Suyin's mouth. She rubbed her eyes and looked at the man below her. It took her a few seconds to realize they were still connected. Her eyes awoke, and she sat up before starting to move her hips up and down. That was her subconscious movement when she realized the little Shaoyang was still inside her.

The morning rush started, but it did not last as long as last night. After Tang Shaoyang came inside her, they were done. More important things awaited them, the mission to clear the third floor. Both took a bath together before going to the dining hall on the first floor. By the time both arrived in the dining hall, the others had already arrived with some food on the table. There were barely any people in the dining hall. A pair at the corner and a lone man on another corner.

The inn business was not that good since the distance between one town to another town was too far and dangerous. The people who stayed in the inn were from the village.

'Three plates of bread and ten bowls of cream soup?' Tang Shaoyang was not picky with his food, but he found it weird that the people here had the same habit as the people from the Arkania Continent, 'Are the bread and cream soup a common food in the whole universe?' He could not help but question it.

Elinova also made the same food at first before she learned more recipes from the people in the main base. Even until now, Elin was known for her bread.

He was not going to complain about the food as he took the seat next to Ava and started to eat the food. After the Emperor ate the food, the others joined as well.

"I went to the Adventurer Guild earlier to check for our next quests," Ava started with her briefing, "I have picked three Copper Rank quests today, and all of them are monster subjugation. I chose the quest considering the monster's area and the village that posted the quest."

"Only three quests?" Three quests a day that would take them a long time to finish a hundred quests. Tang Shaoyang did not want to waste his time on this floor for more than a week, if possible.

"The subjugation quest is a party quest, but we can take the individual quests too. There is a lot of gathering quests for the copper rank, and we can take that for the individual quest. Since we have finished the novice quest, there should be no issue for us to take all these quests at the same time," Ava knew that three quests a day was not enough.

"We have no time to dilly dally. Finish our breakfast, and we will go to the Adventurer Guild after," Tang Shaoyang nodded, satisfied with what everyone was doing. They took the initiative without him ordering them around.

The morning in the town was bustling at the inn they were staying near the market. People stared at them as they realized they were travelers, but the gaze did not bother Tang Shaoyang much. He could tell it was more curiosity than anything.

While the market was bustling with people, the Adventurer Guild was empty with seven people inside, and four of them were the attendant behind the counter. Ava went to the quest board and picked up all the quests she had checked earlier. She brought back eight pieces of quest papers from the board, three subjugation quests, and five gathering quests.

The lady behind the counter was the same lady from yesterday afternoon. She recognized the group and accepted the quest without question despite the abnormal quest the group took. The Guild Master had instructed them to treat the traveler with the utmost respect and agreed with the reasonable request. Of course, the Guild Master assured them that the guild and the town would protect them if the traveler tried to hurt them or requested something outrageous. The traveler taking the eight quests was something reasonable even though it broke the guild's guidelines as the Guild Master allowed the traveler to do so.

"There are a lot of goblins around the town, huh?" Tang Shaoyang muttered after checking the subjugation quests. The quest paper gave the basic information they needed, such as the location they needed to go to and what kind of monster they would face. Three subjugation quests, and all of them were goblins.

"Should we split the group and take care of the goblin and do the gathering quest separately?" Liang Suyin proposed a great idea as they departed from the guild.

The four female attendants heard the words, and they all frowned. When the traveler group got out of the guild, one of them spoke up, "Can't we really trust them? If they fail to subjugate the goblin because they split up, those monsters will become even more aggressive. The villagers might be in danger."

While the goblin was one of the weakest monsters outside there, their number was the main concern. The number might not really matter for a strong adventurer, but not for the villager who lived outside the town. If the party failed to subjugate the goblin, those goblins would become more aggressive and would start attacking the village nearby their nest. So far, the goblin had been hunting the livestock secretly and stalking the village from afar. There was no attack yet; that was why the Adventurer Guild did not enforce the quest to the adventurers.

"We usually have the adventurer's basic information such as level and class, so we can prevent the adventurer from taking a dangerous quest if we deem they are not capable of the quest. However, we don't have any information about the traveler," Another female attendant let out a sigh, being concerned for the villagers.

"There's nothing we can do about it; it's Guild Master's order. We can only trust the Guild Master for this matter."