

Army 101

Chapter 101 Acceptance speech!

it was going to be on the shelf.

Last night, Lu Qiu had received a message from the station that the novel would be published at 12 am the next Friday and that the VIP chapter would be released.

He calculated carefully.

Time passed by quite quickly. From December 22,2019 to February 6,2020, he had been writing the new book for over a month.

it was not short.

Lu Qiu had thought that it would be released on February 1st.

I didn't expect terpsichorean giant to give me another recommendation.

In reality.

Lu Qiu had been a writer for many years, and he was an 'old failure'.

That's not right.

According to the big bosses, an author who didn't write a good book wasn't considered a failure, which meant that Lu Qiu wasn't even a failure. He was crying.

To tell the truth.

Lu Qiu had written many books, but he had never been to Sanjiang or even the sixth frequency. He felt a little regretful and unwilling to accept it.

Just for now.

This book's results could be said to be the best out of all the novels that Lu Qiu had written.

Whether it was “the best cultivation deity tycoon” or “the most awesome sect in History “, there were only slightly more than 1000 collections when they were put on the shelves, and the initial subscriptions had just broken 100.

such poor results.

Of course.

Lu Qiu did not have any purpose in saying all this. The only thing he wanted to express was that he would definitely finish the book ‘super mecha Army’.

After all ...

Before the Super mecha Army was put on the shelves, there were already more than 9000 collected.

It was much better than the previous two books.

This meant that Lu Qiu had improved. Smile

Lu Qiu was quite happy that his story could get everyone's support and love. He also felt an indescribable sense of achievement.

So ...

Lu Qiu would definitely work hard to write this story well and win more people's love. He guaranteed that he would keep updating without any delay.

emmm.....

okay.

After saying so much, it was time to get to the main topic.

Before it was put on the shelf.

It was a routine that every author would do.

Please subscribe!

please get! first order!

I'm rolling around and acting cute, begging for your subscription support!

The initial subscription was very important!

The initial subscriptions were very important!

The initial subscriptions were very important!

This was because if the subscription ratio was too low, it would directly affect the subsequent recommendations of the book. If there were no recommendations after the book was published, it would definitely not be able to rise up, and there would be no royalties.

No royalties.

Lu Qiu was about to starve to death.

so,

Lu Qiu hoped that everyone could support the original subscription and subscribe to the novels that they liked as much as possible. Many authors ended their writing in a hurry because their subscriptions got worse and worse, which seriously affected their writing mentality.

If anyone felt that Lu Qiu's book was worthy of a genuine subscription, they could activate the automatic subscription of this book. Lu Qiu would be extremely grateful.

Finally.

Thank you, editor-in-charge, Jing Hong, for arranging a series of recommendations for this book. Thank you, chief editor Tai Shan. Thank you, Qidian Chinese network. Thank you, yuewen group, for providing a platform. Thank you, readers, for supporting Lu Qiu. You are the cutest ~~~

At the very last moment.

Let's talk about tomorrow's update.

On the day of the broadcast.

Lu Qiu would Update 10 chapters directly.

if the initial subscription could break 500, lu qiu would add one chapter, and then another for every 100 chapters, one more for the 10000 rewards, and three more for the alliance master.

Lu Qiu added.
