

Read Novel Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 27

Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 27-Natalia:

I frowned in confusion at the heavy feeling that suddenly settled in my chest.

My heart ached and for a second, it felt like it was being squeezed. My hands shook as I tried focusing on breathing calmly, my heart racing with each step I took to the meeting room to find my investors waiting for me.

I had to fight back my shocked expression as I couldn't find Blake anywhere, and seeming to understand my confusion, my secretary, Kylie, shook her head, letting me know that he wasn't here yet. I sat on my chair, his chair left empty as I waited for the investors to start their representations.

The door to the meeting opened, revealing Blake who smiled when he saw me. His eyes were cold and void of emotion, and I could swear that he let out a breath of relief upon seeing me "sorry for being late, I got caught in a little traffic"

I could tell that he was lying, his eyes spoke what his mouth couldn't, and seeing as he wasn't looking at me; I knew that something was wrong. I stood up when he approached me, and smiled as he wrapped his arm around me, kissing my temple before he took his seat beside me, waiting for the investors to start their demonstration.

"You okay?" I whispered feeling his odd vibe. It wasn't like him to just be late, and the heavy feeling that settled in my chest didn't make me feel any better. The fact that I knew that I could easily know what was happening wasn't unknown to me, all I needed to do was read his mind, but respecting his own privacy, I didn't get inside his head.

He simply nodded in response, taking my hand in his and kissing my knuckle. I was about to comment when he looked at the investors and nodded "shall we begin?"

"Blake, what is going on?" I asked taking his hand in mine, stopping him from leaving the meeting room. The man has been quiet throughout most of the meeting, only speaking when needed, and not to mention the fact that he tried leaving the second all the men left, not even bothering to look at me.

He didn't answer for a while before he turned to face me, wrapping his arms around me as a sob broke from his lips. I frowned in confusion and wrapped my arms around him, hugging him tightly. My chest felt like fire had been spilled on it as his body raked with each sob he let out.

"I had to kill him, he would have killed me or himself instead" he whispered.

"What?" I asked as I processed what he just said. He didn't answer for a few seconds before he pulled away, his hands shaking as he extended them between us making my eyes widen. I took his hands in mine and pulled him to sit down, giving him a glass of water to drink.

"I was heading to work earlier..." he gulped as he tried reciting the memory, reliving whatever pain he was in "and Mason came out of his room. He called me, he was drunk..."

I took his hand in mine, squeezing it, assuring him that I was there for him. His hand shook as I held it, Ares whimpered in pain at the loss of his friend and beta. Having to fight back the tears that were threatening to form in my eyes, I stayed quiet as I listened to what happened. The idea of him being forced to kill his best mate was something that I knew not only broke him but must have broken the whole family. As far as I understood, Blake and Mason grew up together, him putting Damon as his beta wasn't something that he wanted to begin with, but he knew that he couldn't have Mason as his beta when he was as broken as he was over his mate.

"I killed him, Nat. I was forced to do so, but I killed my best friend" he whispered the last part. I kissed his knuckles before getting up from my chair and wrapping my arms around him, hugging him tightly. I knew that I couldn't just tell him that things were going to be okay or that he would be getting over what happened; it was something that was going to leave its scar, I knew that. But what I also knew that even the deepest of scars heal, leaving a mark, maybe, but they do heal.

"I don't know what to do, Natalia" this was the first time that I've heard him as broken as he was. Seeming helpless, shattered, and confused. I wiped my tears and pulled away from him, getting down on my knees in front of him. Blake's eyes were fixed on my own as I placed my hands on his knees.

"I'm not going to tell you that it would be easy, or that you would be able to easily get over it" I said gently "and I'm not saying that it won't hurt. But I give you my word that whatever it is, whatever method you use to cope with this pain, and whatever you need me to do; I'll do for you. You won't be dealing with this pain alone, and no matter how much time it takes; I'll be helping you mend those scars, yeah?"

Blake didn't respond to what I said for a while, studying my expression before he got down from the chair, sliding it behind him, and getting on his knees in front of me. He wrapped his arms around me, pulling me to his chest as he hugged me, I hugged him back, gently massaging the back of his neck "I just want you to hold me, can you do that for me for now?"

"I'll hold you now, and until forever comes, okay? I'm not going to leave you, my love"

I took a cold bath as I fought to cool my body down.

Having been forced to stay calm throughout the day, I somewhat forgot about my own self until my body started over heating, almost burning my clothes in the process. Thankfully, no one saw or suspected anything as I sped toward the bedroom, stripped out of my clothes, and got inside the cold tub.

The cold water which was filling the tub gradually heated until it was at boiling point forcing me to drain and refill it another three times until my body managed to cool off. I knew that I wouldn't be able to hide this for long. It was only a matter of time before Blake found out, and having mated; I knew that he would most likely get inside my head one day and find out about this. The one thing I was worried about now was how he was feeling after losing his best mate.

Getting out of the tub, I wrapped my towel around my body and stared at my reflection. I would have been lying to myself if I said that my increasing powers couldn't be seen through my eyes. My eye colors which were now changing from blue to green to red and back to blue were enough to expose me, but I knew that Blake was somewhat used to my changing eye colors by now.

I had to go to the grand element manipulator, my grandfather, for help. But confronting Blake with the fact that he was alive when I think he believed that he was dead, considering that we never mentioned him, wouldn't be as appropriate at this point. However, I knew the consequences of delaying this anymore than necessary.

Forcing myself to take a deep breath. I needed proper training, and it had to happen fast. Me being self trained wasn't going to help me, and judging by the fact that my parents never allowed me to expose who or what I was; I knew that grandfather most probably didn't know about what I was able to do. Hell, I don't even think mum knew that her husband's father was an element manipulator.

I walked out of the bathroom and opened my closet, getting myself a pair of shorts and Blake's shirt only to smile when Blake wrapped his arms around me from the back, hugging me tightly. He kissed my shoulder before turning me around to face him, cupping my cheeks as he did "are you okay?"

Blake smiled at my question and though I knew the answer. I still asked to hear him say the words, clear his mind, talk about it "no, but I'll be fine with you beside me"

He ran his finger through my hair, tucking a strand behind my ear as he did "thank you for being beside me today. I know that you're going to tell me that you wouldn't have left me whether or not I asked for it, but thank you for this"

"You don't need to thank me, Blake. I'm your wife"

"I know, but judging by everything we've been through; I think that you deserve a thank you..." Blake said gently. I wrapped my arms around him before he could say a word and he wrapped his arms back, hugging me just as tightly.

"No matter what I do for you, I do it because I love you. You don't need to thank me for it, okay? It's you and me against the world, you're my Alpha, and I'm your Luna, never forget that, deal?"

Blake smiled as he heard the words leave my mouth, knowing that they were ones of truth. He cupped my cheeks and kissed me, his kiss gentle before he pulled away to look at me, resting his forehead against my own "so, do you want to tell me who your grandfather is? And why you haven't told me about what you've been going through?"

Read Novel Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 28

Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 28-Blake:

I ran my finger over my wife's fingers as I waited for her response, and though I already knew my answers, I wanted her to voice them out. Her speaking would make this a lot easier on her, and judging by the fact that she knew that I was aware of things, it would just make it easier on her. But there was a weight that she was carrying that I no longer wanted her to hold on her own.

"I want to hear you out, Nat. I know that I could easily hear your thoughts, but I want you to speak through this, I want you to let the pain out to me"

She looked down at her lap as the two of us sat on our bed. Her hands shook as she debated on whether or not to speak, but I didn't want her being afraid of me. I wanted her to be able speak her mind up to me, not keep things inside her.

"My grandfather is the grand element manipulator" she said avoiding my eyes "I need to go there to learn how to control my powers, learn how to use them, and he's the one person who can help me. Otherwise..."

"First, there will be no otherwise, wherever your grandfather is; we will find him. But I want to know, Natalia, why didn't you tell me?" I asked gently. Natalia bit her bottom lip as to stop herself from crying, her eyes met mine for the first time since we sat on the bed. Her lips quivered despite the bite, and I was already aware that she was fighting back her tears despite my calm tone. I wasn't there to argue with her, if anything, I wanted her to know that she meant the world to me.

"I was scared, Blake. You were losing too much, put under too much pressure, I just got you. I can't afford losing you..."

"But you were willing to let me lose you, Nat?" I asked, stopping her from what she was going to say. Her head dropped as a sob broke from her lips, a sob that made Ares whimper. I never expected to feel as shattered until that very second when I saw her unable to raise her head to look me in the eye.

I wrapped my arms around her, pulling her over my lap as to allow her to let her pain out. I kissed the crown of her head as I felt her body heat up "no, beauty, breathe, don't let the heat take over your body"

"I can't"

“You can” I said gently, encouraging her. I watched as she took a deep breath, one she could barely take “you can control it, and you will. Your body would not burn you alive. You won’t allow it, I won’t let you allow it, baby girl”

I pulled away from the hug, cupping her cheeks, motioning for her to breathe like I was.

Inhale.

Exhale.

Inhale.

Exhale.

One second after the other, my beauty’s burning body cooled. I smiled and wrapped my arms around her, pulling her to my chest as she listened to my calming heartbeat “you are not going to be alone, baby girl. Just like you’re being beside me through my battles, I’ll be by your side through thick and thin, and just like you want to be my strength, I’ll be that unbreakable wall that no one can cross over, okay?”

Natalia pulled away from my arms to look me in the eye. Her own heart which was racing a while ago, calmed down “I love you, Blake Knight”

“And I love you, my beauty”

“Are you sure that this is the right place?” I asked Natalia as we walked through the woods. The two of us have been walking around for a while now, and despite not catching a strange wolf’s scent, I was still weary about where we were in fear that we could be crossing a different territory. Natalia, however, seemed a lot calmer than usual, her body relaxed, and more content. I wrapped my arm around her, getting protective over my beauty. The grass floor formed a path in front of us, it was the same one we’ve been following for a while now, and Natalia believed that it was guiding us to the right place.

The idea of losing her was still playing in my head, and despite me playing calm about the whole thing. I was petrified of thinking that anything could happen to her.

“Yes, it is” Natalia said, she waved her hand and a few trees which were blocking our way, moved aside allowing us to pass. I raised an eyebrow at my beauty, kissing her temple before the two of us walked toward what looked like an ancient temple.

“Have you ever been here?” I asked.

“No, I was never allowed to be who I was and my parents kept me a secret, pretty much hid me from people. I wasn’t allowed to associate with many people in fear of anyone finding out of who I was, and as days went by and I grew older and stronger, they just concealed me from the world” Natalia explained as we walked through the path leading to the temple. People who were playing with elements stopped to look at us, but neither one of them spoke to stop us.

“What changed this time?” I asked. Natalia avoided my eyes as we walked, her eyes were fixed on the ground as I heard her heart race before she spoke her next words “don’t get me wrong, but what had you searching for this place after all this time?”

“I knew that I was growing stronger, and our rocky start gave me a lot of research time. It sometimes distracted me from thinking too much, and at the time, I was actually considering leaving, but I knew that going back to my parents would mean hell to me. Therefore, I knew that I needed to find a place to go to” I couldn’t describe the pain that I felt upon hearing her words, and despite knowing her reason and understanding it, I would be lying if I said that it didn’t feel like a dagger was pushed inside my chest. Catching on to that, Natalia turned to face me, scratching my scruff with her fingers as she leaned toward my ear “I’m not going anywhere, I’m right here by your side”

I opened my mouth to answer only to be stopped by a man clearing his throat. Both Natalia and I looked at the man whose hand was raised as a fireball formed in it. My own eyes widened, and exposing my canines, I pushed Natalia behind me, growing protective over her.

“Need I ask what brings you to my territory?” The man asked.

“She is an element manipulator...” the man didn’t give me time to complete my sentence before he shot the fireball at the two of us, and had it not been for Natalia who stopped it midair, flinging it back in his direction; the two of us would have been fried. I looked at my wife whose eyes were wide in fear, but the man seemed calm, un-phased by what just happened.

“An element manipulator who is mated to a wolf” the old man said nodding as he looked at me. His eyes studied me for a few seconds before Natalia spoke, catching his attention.

“You could have killed the two of us, and yet, you’re very calm about it?” Surprise laced my beauty’s voice, and I couldn’t blame her. I was just as surprised seeing as none of these people moved to actually stop him, most didn’t spare us a second glance.

“No, the fireball would have scared you off, back to where you came from” the man said turning around toward the temple’s door “follow me”

I looked at my wife, suddenly regretting the decision that I made. The man, being as cold as he was, both angered and scared me. Chills ran down my spine as Natalia and I walked into the temple. It was one of monks, they literally dressed like them, and seeing as both Natalia and I were wearing pants and shirts, we were a sight for them to see.

An old man stood from his chair, crossing his arms over his chest as he looked at both of us entering his place. But he said nothing to stop us until we’ve reached him “I see that you’ve found your way to where you belong”

“I’m sorry, do you even know who I am?” Natalia asked “and you knew our arrival?”

“Your dragon has already informed me of your presence, and as for who you are, how can I not?” the man’s voice was deep as he spoke, wise, and dare I say it, intimidating. His eyes were fixed on me for a few seconds before he nodded. My arm which was wrapped around Natalia tightened as I pulled her closer to my chest. The discomfort I felt around the man was one that I couldn’t describe, however, a feeling inside me told me that if my wife was to be safe, then it was here.

“I’m sorry, did you say, my dragon?” Natalia asked, breaking my train of thoughts “can I ask who you are? How would it be possible for you to know who I am...?”

“You are as impatient as your father. But to answer your question, yes, I did say dragon” he said stopping Natalia. I growled in response, getting annoyed by his cold, few worded answers. The man looked at me and shook his head “and an impatient wolf, what more could I have asked for?”

“Who the bloody hell are you?” I asked, growling at the man, warning him of any further game. He seemed unbothered by my behavior, if anything, he didn’t even bother looking at me as he answered my question. His eyes were fixed on Natalia who was frowning as she processed everything the man was telling her.

“The Grand Element Manipulator, isn’t that who you came to see?” The man asked casually “oh, I’m sorry, I believe that I forgot the right term to your wording. I believe that you’re supposed to address me as grandfather”

Read Novel Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 29

Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 29-Natalia:

I stared at the man who smiled at me, waiting for my reaction. His eyes mischievous, devious, and if I wasn’t mistaken, even angry.

The way he looked at Blake and I only made me regret coming here, mostly because I wasn’t even sure what to expect, but I surely didn’t expect this. The power that I felt radiating from this place made my heart race, and sensing my worry, Blake let out a low growl, growing protective over his mate.

Knowing that we were just attacked by some fireball, I didn’t know what this man could be capable of. Hell, I didn’t trust what he would do, and I didn’t want to think of how he could harm both Blake and I. He looked around the place, waiting for me to acknowledge anything about it, but I couldn’t help but fear getting distracted.

“You’re my grandfather?” I asked frowning at his behavior. The man opened his mouth to speak only for a voice to be cleared behind me, distracting us.

“Now, now, Alcazar, I told you not to scare my granddaughter. You just got your warning a few minutes ago” a man said from behind both Blake and I. We turned the face him, and smiling at us, the man gave us a gentle, curt nod, his eyes were fixed on my own for a few seconds before he looked at Blake “my apologies for my trainee’s behavior. He tends to be active, in all the wrong ways at times”

“Stay, put, Alcazar” the old man said, not bothering to turn his attention from Blake and I “your little Crystal grew impatient to meeting you, and I had to calm her down before she ended up burning the whole area to the ground. Eventually, she agreed on shrinking...”

My eyes widened and I took a step back as a scream broke from my lips at the sight of the little dragon in the man's hand. His own eyes widened in surprise as the dragon slid up his sleeve, hiding. Blake's hand tightened on my own, stopping me from moving as he let out a low purr. I went to take a step back, but was surprised when his purrs grew louder; however, the purrs weren't directed toward me.

The little creature slowly snuck out of the old man's sleeve, approaching Blake's call. Its blue eyes meeting my husband's green ones as it returned the purr "Blake?"

"This is you" Blake said taking a step forward, pulling me with him. I went to take a step back, but Blake wouldn't allow me to as he tightened his grip, encouraging me "just like I have Ares, you have..."

"Crystal" the dragon spoke. My eyes rolled to the back of my head as I lost balance, my vision blurring before everything went blank...

"Rise and shine, baby girl" Blake teased taking my hand in his. I shook my head as I went to sit up, his own eyes were fixed on my own as he helped me, giving me a glass of water to drink. The two of us were inside our bedroom, and I was laying on top of our bed. My mind, despite my throbbing head, was at ease knowing that I was at home.

"Thank you" I said taking a sip. Blake kissed my knuckle and I sighed pinching the bridge of my nose as I tried comprehending what was going on "I just had the weirdest... bloody hell, this thing is real!"

Blake laughed as the white dragon rested on his shoulder, looking down at me with weary eyes. I shook my head as I tried pinching my arm, wanting nothing more than to wake up from this odd dream. Blake took my hands in his, stopping me "just listen, Nat"

"You have a bloody dragon on your shoulder!" I said pointing at the thing.

"Yes, because this dragon is your guardian, baby girl" Blake said gently, stopping my rant. My hands were still in his as he ran his finger over them, wanting me to calm down a bit. My heart raced against my ribcage as the little thing looked at me with big blue eyes which matched my own. My beloved's emerald green eyes studied my expression for a second before he brought my hand to his lips, gently kissing my knuckle "you're yet to feel the connection" as you're too surprised to accept it, but I can feel your little dragon just as much as I can feel you"

"How?" I asked. The little lizard walked toward me, sniffing my finger as I fought the urge to flinch. It purred making my eyes widen and my heart drop to my stomach as it slowly neared my finger, scratching its cheek, showing affection, as a cat would do.

"Every element manipulator is born with a dragon hatchling. I am your guardian, in other words, I would keep you safe of harm" the white dragon said looking me in the eye. I looked at Blake who nodded in encouragement, not wanting me to grow afraid.

"How would you protect me when you're barely my arm's size?" I asked "and how the bloody hell are you even talking?"

"I am using this size to fit in this room, Natalia. I am a twenty-four-year-old dragon, do you really believe that I'm tinier than a hatchling?" The dragon asked sarcastically. I glared at the little thing making my husband chuckle as he shook his head at me "your husband felt my bond due to your mating, but it seems like you're far too distracted, or in too much pain to feel it"

"How did you know that I was in pain?" I asked, glaring at the thing. Blake avoided my eyes as he felt my pain, I knew that he was fighting the urge to wrap his arms around me and to cradle me, and the one thing keeping him calm was the fact that I was laying in bed rather than moving around.

"First, I am your guardian, your other half. Therefore, I can feel what you're feeling. Take it like this, the two of us are mostly linked, if you get hurt, I do, and vice versa. One of us dies, the other dies, there is no in between. Second, you're growing stronger just as I am, but now that we're together, the effect on you wouldn't be as harmful as I would be sucking the excess power, teaching you how to control it"

"Wait, wait, you'll be staying here? With us?"

"Yes, the mistake that your family did was keep me away from you for this long. It is what caused the excess power to weaken your body. You needed me by your side and you didn't seem to realize it. Grandpa wouldn't want to separate you from your mate as he knows that you two wouldn't be able to handle that. Therefore, he is downstairs, waiting for you to wake up. You two would talk, then he would leave to come back later to check on you"

“Nat, Crystal is here to help you...”

“If she, it, was here to help me, and if it’s really my guardian. This thing would have been here long before this happened” I said glaring at my husband whose eyes widened in surprise.

“I couldn’t have come if I wanted to. You needed to be the one to get me out of the element’s forest, and whether you choose to accept it or not; you are stuck with me. You have no other option, and believe me, just as it is hard for you to be away from your mate, it would be harder to be away from me. The more you grow, the stronger you are, and judging by the fact that you’re the grand manipulator’s heir, you are the strongest of element manipulators” Crystal said explaining the situation to me. Blake stayed quiet as he listened to me, his eyes were fixed on my own as he begged me not to say something that would end up harming me “most manipulators can only control one element, some, and only chosen guardian ones, control two. Leaders control them all, just like your grandfather”

“What about my father?” I asked “as far as I know, he was human...”

“You should speak to your grandfather, until then, I will not say another word. Get out of bed, you’ve gained your strength already, he’ll be the one to explain everything to you”

Read Novel Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 30

Arranged To The Alpha Chapter 30-Blake:

I stared at my wife as she got ready. Her body raging with fire as she stared at the clothes inside our closet.

Her eyes avoided mine as she grew angrier with each passing second, and getting into her mind; I knew the reason behind both her anger and her confusion.

“Nat, baby girl”

“Don’t you, baby girl, me” Natalia said stopping me. I laughed shaking my head and wrapping my arms around her, stopping her from getting dressed. She wore black pants and her red lace bra as she searched for a loose top to wear, but I was more focused on the fact of wanting to hold her in my arms for a while, wanting her to calm down “you brought a bloody damn dragon to our bedroom, a man almost set the two of us on fire, claiming to be my grandfather only for another man to say that he was only 'pretending'. What the bloody...?"

"Okay..." I kissed her bare shoulder, stopping her from her wild rant, leaving me kissed all the way up to her neck making her sigh as I reached her sweet spot. Slowly biting on the spot, I sucked on it as I attempted to give her a hickey, knowing that I was turning her on "a little distraction seems to be in order"

Natalia's eyes rolled to the back of her head as she laid her head on my shoulder, giving me better access to her neck. Slowly sliding my hand inside her pants, I ran my finger over her already soaked panties, loving the effect I had on her by just kissing her.

I rubbed my hardening cock against her bum, creating the friction that had her moaning my name as she neared her climax, her arousal hitting my nostrils making me growl in satisfaction.

I stripped off my shirt and pants in a matter of seconds before sliding her pants down, growling when I saw the matching red thong. The small fabric driving me nuts as pre cum dripped from my cock. I slid it down her body, watching as she kicked it away before I took her bra off, squeezing her boobs as I stood behind her, grinding my cock against her bare bum. Natalia moaned at the contact, clearly loving every second of it before I pushed her forward, bending her against the closet's door as I positioned myself at her entrance.

Pushing myself inside her in one swift motion, her eyes widened and her back arched as I pulled her back to my chest, holding her to my chest as I pulled out to push back inside, filling her completely.

"I believe that my baby girl needs a little taming today, doesn't she?" I whispered. I knew to be gentle despite my rough movement. Her body was still weak, and seeing as she just woke up a while ago, I needed to ensure that she was okay. However, knowing my beauty, I needed her to calm down a bit before she went down to meet her grandfather.

"Fvck" she moaned as I spanked her bum, watching as her flesh moved under my spank, I couldn't help but growl in satisfaction. Her eyes rolling to the back of her head as she grabbed my neck, holding me for stability.

“How about I bend you over...” I pushed her forward, watching as she held the closet’s door as to grip on anything as I pulled out completely to push back inside in a force that had her scream out. Repeating the movement a few times, I couldn’t help but shudder as I Natalia whimpered, her body shaking as she neared her own climax, holding it for a bit longer.

“Blake, I can’t...”

“You will hold it, Natalia” I ordered, bending down over her body, holding her to my chest as I pulled out and pushed back inside. My gr0ans and her m0ans filled the room, and the sounds of our skins clapping only made things a lot more heated. I bit on her shoulder as her legs shook, she raised her right leg in attempt to close her feet, her body no longer able to help her hold her pleasure. However, I was yet to want to give her it to her, a little foreplay was always in order.

Therefore, going against her, I pulled out of her completely, leaving her empty as she was a second away from c.umming. Natalia turned to face me, her eyes wide in surprise as I smirked, waiting for her reaction. My own c0ck throbbed as I neared my own end, and seeing her reaction as she walked toward me, feisty and furious only made my c0ck want to explode. However, I held myself as I lifted her in my arms, pinning her against the wall as she wrapped her arms around my neck, holding me tightly.

I didn’t give her time to ready herself before pushing myself inside her watching as her head rolled back against the closet as she reached up behind her, wanting to find anything to grip as I pulled out and pushed back inside in a speed that was somewhat inhuman, knowing that I was a few seconds from reaching my climax “fvck, Blake...”

My whole body shook as I came inside her, her own body tensing for a second as she embraced my hot liquid. However, I was quick to pull out of her, still not being done with her. My c0ck was still hard for her. But I had other plans for her today. Therefore, walking toward the bed, I threw her to lay down on top of it, her body bouncing a few times as she looked at me. She went to approach me, but I quickly turned her around, laying her on her stomach as I got on top of her.

Getting my phone from the nightstand, I was quick to dial Damon’s number. The two of us were going to be a while and there was no need to her grandfather to wait for her, not when I knew that she wouldn’t be able to walk after I was done anyway.

Positioning myself with her a.ssh0le, I k!ssed her shoulder as I waited for Damon to answer. Her focus was on me as I was dialing the man's number, that she didn't notice that I was we.tting her hole with my c.um which was dripping from her pvssy, and my pre c.um.

"Damon, send the man home, tell him our Luna is a little ill today" I said before hanging up.

"Blake?" Natalia asked frowning in confusion before I pushed the head inside her bum making her body tense as she gripped the sheets, her hole stretching to fit me "what?"

"You, my baby girl, need to be taught a little lesson" I whispered pushing myself inside her gently. Her back arched as she tried moving away, the pain getting too much on her when I was barely an inch inside "and I've kept that gorgeous a.ss of yours v!rigin for a while now"

"Blake..." she whimpered, shaking her head.

"Yes, baby girl?" I whispered, biting her shoulder as I slid my hand under her, gently rubbing her cl!t. She m0aned at the friction, my h!ps which moved forward slowly stopped her m0an as I was now half way through.

"It hurts" she said shaking her head.

"And yet, you're loving it" I k!ssed her earlobe, l!cking it making her m0an "don't worry, baby, you'll be begging me to go harder in a bit..."

I pushed all the way inside her making her scream out as my balls hit her pvssy. Her back arched and her body shook, but I stayed still, allowing her to adjust.

"Let me know when"

I k!ssed her shoulders, moving her hair aside as to k!ss her neck, l!cking it softly before she nodded. My finger moved on her cl!t as I pulled out to push back inside, her body tensing with each thrust, biting on the pillow as she fought a scream of both pain and pleasure. I smirked at the fact, wrapping my right arm around her neck as I raised her to k!ss her l!ps.

"Lose your body to me, Nat..."

I shoved two of my fingers inside her cl!t, smirking when she arched her bum, meeting my forceful thrust as she shook her head, this getting too much on her “c.um, baby”

Her body j.erked as she squ!rted over my finger, shaking as she tried pulling away from me, wanting to take a breath. However, I was yet to reach my climax and being determined in doing so, I pulled out and pushed back inside at a speed that had her reaching her second climax before she could process as her sensitive body gave in to my touch. My arms gripped her tightly, holding her still while I shuddered on top of her. The two of us reaching our second climax, only this time, reaching it together, before her body fell as she collapsed.

I laughed and pulled out of her, wrapping my arms around her as I ran my finger over her shoulder “how do you feel?”

“You’re a bloody bastard” Natalia muttered making me laugh “what did that have to do with calming me down?”

“I take it that you’ve gotten inside my head” I teased, k!ssing her shoulder “you needed a little exhaustion, and judging by your state; I know now that we can actually talk to other people without burning them alive”

“I wouldn’t be able to do that if I tried” Natalia muttered.

“Exactly my point, my little Luna” I teased, k!ssing her neck “I love you”

“I love you too”