“Acquisition of a company?”

Trent was taken aback by Charlie's words, and said, “Mr. Wade, if you want to acquire a communication company with sufficient foundation, the cost will be at least one billion US dollars. Will the investment be too high?” , I'm afraid it's hard to make a profit...”

Charlie shook his head and said, “Profit is not the most important thing, how to solve our immediate needs is the most important.”

Then, Charlie said, “Our biggest pain point right now is time. Urgency, not to mention a year or a month, even a day or an hour, we must strive for it, time is far more important than money.”

Charlie paused slightly, and continued, “I want to go faster than ordinary people. To develop, it is necessary to change the thinking mode that only solves the immediate needs. If there is no one, or if you can't recruit people, if you still stay on how to solve the problem of recruiting people, it is basically difficult to achieve great things

; The pattern must be large enough. When those big companies face the same problem, they will not think about how to build a team from scratch, and then develop a product. buy our products.”

Then, Charlie said, “Elon Musk will not waste his precious time and energy to create a Twitter by himself, and buy Twitter directly, which is the most economical for him. Yes, in fact, we are the same, if we still need to recruit employees one by one, then there are too many variables, even if you expect to solve the problem in two years, once there is a change in personnel, this time will become indefinitely. “

“First of all, the recruitment cycle must be longer than expected. It was originally planned to recruit enough people in three months, but it may actually take at least half a year or even longer;”

“Secondly, the lack of stability of personnel. It will take at least a few months for the team to be cultivated, but once the newcomers who have worked hard to cultivate suddenly want to leave, then these months may be wasted. There is no other way but to start the process all over again.”

“Also, it's not enough for employees to be stable. The premise of stability is that they have enough ability to cope with their work. This also requires us to invest in unknown trial and error costs. If the wrong person is selected, everything will be lost. We have to start over.”

“In this way, even in three years, we may not be able to achieve the goal we want to achieve.”

“Besides, we always pay attention to doing things in one go. If we stumble and stumble at the beginning, we will not be able to achieve our ambition and confidence. The loss is beyond imagination, so it must be difficult to make it bigger and stronger.”

Speaking of this, Charlie looked at Trent and said seriously, “Brother, although you are high-spirited now, if you really encounter various difficulties in the early personnel stage. After a year or two, you won’t have the strength you have now.”

Trent pondered for a moment, nodded slightly, and sighed, “You are right, the energy and confidence are getting less and less. In the end, the whole person was depressed. I was like this before. I was resigned from my first job. I still thought it was nothing special. All my fighting spirit has been worn out...”

At this point, Trent suddenly froze on the spot, muttering, “This is how I am, from an arrogant communication expert to one who is willing to go to Mexico to do a job. A famous coolie...”

Charlie smiled slightly, and asked, “Brother, which company did you have the job with the highest salary?”

Trent hurriedly said, “It’s an old American communication company.”

Charlie asked again, “What is the current market value of the company?”

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5244 -

Trent thought for a while, and said, “The company was very prosperous in the past few years. When the market value was the highest, it exceeded 10 billion U.S. dollars, but as the bubble continued to burst and the performance continued to decline, I was fired. At that time, the market value should be only more than one billion.”

Charlie nodded and asked him, “How is the foundation of this company?”

Trent said, “The technical foundation of software and hardware is very good, but the reason why it has gone downhill these years is mainly because the market direction has not been found correctly. It died, and then turned to earn money and switch to hardware equipment and technical support for other communication companies.”

Charlie said pleasantly, “That’s just right for us. If its business is doing well and its market value is high, we will instead. It is difficult to take it down, and after it is taken down, the business of TOC will involve a lot of our experience, but now that it specializes in hardware equipment and technical support, isn’t it just suitable for us? After all, we don’t pursue in the whole world is setting up a new communication company, and we just hope to establish our own communication network as soon as possible.”

Trent nodded and said, "If it is combined with our situation, it is really suitable. We can take many technologies from this company directly. Yes, and the rest of this company are almost all scientific researchers. Although the market is in a mess, the R&D strength should not be underestimated."

charlie said without hesitation, "That's it! Brother, pack up and come back with me right away. America!"

Trent said in surprise, "Back to the United States? Mr. Wade, I have only been here for a few days, and I haven't sorted out anything..."

charlie said, "It is more important to buy your old company as soon as possible. After arriving in the United States, you can directly talk to the boss of this company about the acquisition. Didn't you say that its market value is probably in the early billion dollars? As long as he is willing to sell, I can offer up to two billion dollars. As for how much If we can talk about it, it depends on your ability, brother."

Trent was dumbfounded, and blurted out, "Mr. Wade...do you really want to buy that company?"

"Yes." charlie nodded firmly, and said Dao said, "Buy it and let it design the satellite for us. Since it has ready-made technology, it should be able to design the satellite in a few months, right? Then it will be produced in a few months, and it can be launched in the first half of next year. "

Trent said excitedly, "It doesn't take so long! That company itself is developing communication satellites for many large companies. Both the technology and the supply chain are complete. If we can successfully acquire them, we only need On the basis of some customized adjustments, it can be put into use, and within three months at the earliest, we can develop our own communication satellites according to our own needs."

Then, Trent said again, "If we do it now If we reserve a launch quota with a commercial launch company, our own satellite will be put into orbit as soon as this autumn and winter!"

charlie heard this and said without hesitation, "Okay! Great! Brother, you are going back to the United States with me this time, you must overcome all difficulties and take this company down! "

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5245 -

A few hours later, charlie and Trent returned to the United States together.

The plane first landed in Providence, and after Charlie got off the plane, it immediately took off again, carrying Trent, Don Albert, and Isaac Cameron to Silicon Valley.

The reason why Don Albert and Isaac Cameron were allowed to accompany Trent was mainly to protect Trent's personal safety. After all, it was to discuss a billion-dollar business, and it was not sure whether Soleil had other unknowns in the United States before. With the two of them as companions who are in love, Charlie is relatively relieved.

Charlie got off the plane alone, and drove back to the hotel where he and Claire were staying.

In the next few days, he asked Fei Kexin to help deliver a batch of medicinal materials, and while Claire was in class during the day, he refined a new batch of Sanxuejiuxin Pill.

Afterwards, he mixed one Peiyuan Pill and two Rejuvenating Pills into it, and mixed it with a lot of medicinal materials mainly for physical fitness, and fused thousands of pills that contained enough medicinal power and a little spiritual energy.

The medicinal effect of this kind of elixir is not as good as that of Sanxuejiuxin Pill, but it can easily dissolve the poison in the bodies of those dead soldiers and knight guards, and help them completely break the shackles passed down from generation to generation for hundreds of years.

In addition to preparing the antidote, Charlie also made two sets of action plans for himself.

The preferred solution is to look for opportunities at sea to sneak into the freighter carrying the antidote, seize the line of drug delivery, find a way to obtain a higher level of secrets about this organization, and then look for opportunities to drop the antidote;

alternative The best plan is to find a way to sneak into the copper mine, wait for the Jiedu Envoy to get the antidote, and then quietly attack the Jiedu Envoy.

The advantage of the former is not only the ability to get in touch with higher-level personnel, but also a step earlier in time. In this way, if this plan fails, the latter can also be used, but if the latter is the preferred plan, there are basically no suitable alternatives.

As for how to quietly board a moving freighter, Charlie also thought of a feasible plan, and informed Abbas of his request in advance, so that he could prepare for himself in advance.

Four days later.

charlie said goodbye to Claire for the time-tested reason of “showing customers Feng Shui”. Carrying a black waterproof backpack, he took a Concorde airliner and took off directly from Providence to Beirut, the capital of Lebanon.

Beirut is located on the westernmost side of the Middle East and on the easternmost coast of the entire Mediterranean Sea.

The city faces Cyprus across the sea, and the shortest distance is only two hundred kilometers.

When charlie arrived in Beirut, it was already dark, and the Wan Po Army was already waiting here to welcome him.

The first time he saw charlie, he reported to charliehui, “Mr. Wade, those seven Xiao cavalry guards, as well as Wu Siqi, have already arranged to board the ship in advance. It just so happens that a freighter from Yisu Shipping just passed by.” The first destination of the Suez Canal is Cyprus, so I used a helicopter to send people on board at the Suez Canal in advance, and they will arrive at Limassol, the largest port in Cyprus later today.”

charlie nodded, Ask him, “Their copper mine is in Limassol, right?”

” The wharf.” charlie asked again, “Have you found out where the ship that transported the supplies departed from Turkey?”

It was sold to a copper smelter in Hatay Province, Turkey. On the surface, in order to reduce transportation costs, the copper smelter purchased an 8,000-ton freighter for transporting copper ore from Cyprus. Their The shipping route is also very fixed, that is, from Iskenderun Port in Hatay Province, Turkey, to Limassol Copper Mine’s own port, the whole journey is about 210 nautical miles, almost 390 kilometers.”

charlie asked him, “Have you mastered the movement of this ship?”
