

charlie wade - The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6441

Since enlightenment, Sara has never doubted herself as much as she does today.

Everything around her seemed to be trapping her here with shackles, leaving her with absolutely no way to break free.

The feeling of being angry but not daring to explode made her feel like a lump in her throat and a thorn in her heart, making her miserable.

And time is still passing by minute by minute.

The plane rented by Chen Zhimin was flying rapidly towards the U.S.-Canada border, getting closer and closer to the target airport.

However, half an hour has passed. There are still nine helicopters waiting for inspection in front of Sara. At this speed, it will take at least more than an hour before it is her turn. Including the time required for the inspection, by the time she completes the inspection, when the takeoff permission was obtained, the plane should also land.

Therefore, what was now placed in front of Sara was a question of choosing one of the two.

Either, let the members of the Po Qing Society rush over from the outside to storm the airport and see if they can grab the Sifang Baozhu. But if you are not there, just rely on those scouts, the result may be a narrow escape; or, you can only wait for the plane to land first, Let's see if the U.S. military can find the Sifang Treasure Building. If so, it will wait to snatch it back from the Rothschild family.

However, this choice also comes with a lot of uncertainty.

The Rothschild family has combined AI and surveillance this time, and its security capabilities have been greatly improved. If they get the Sifang Treasure Mansion and want to snatch it back, it may not be that easy.

Just when Sara didn't know what to choose, Sun Zhidong (Meir) had quietly landed at the military airport on the outskirts of Eastcliff with his Sifang Baozhuang.

In order to welcome Sifang Baozhu back to the country, complete martial law has been implemented here. A large number of armed personnel and top experts are all waiting here. There are also three-in-one modern detection equipment to ensure the safety of the place.

The officials knew the origin and background of the Sifang Baozhuang, and that it was finally returning to the motherland after wandering for two hundred years, so they attached great importance to it.

The plane stopped in the hangar, and Sun Zhidong (Meir) stepped off the plane holding the Sifang Baozhu in both hands. Top archaeological experts were already waiting here to conduct a comprehensive inspection and evaluation of the Sifang Baozhu.

Several special photographers have also been on standby here for a long time. They want to continuously record the entire process of Sifang Baozhu's return to China. After the handover is completed, the official will also use the materials they shot to officially announce Sifang Baozhu's return to the country. information.

The official person in charge of this handover personally came to greet Sun Zhidong (Meir) at the bottom of the aircraft spiral staircase and said to Sun Zhidong (Meir): "Mr. Sun, it's really hard for you to return the national treasure this time!" Sun Zhidong (Meir) said with a serious expression: "It's not hard work! I can escort the national treasure back to the country. , It is my duty as a son and daughter of China, and it is also my supreme personal honor!"

The person in charge nodded slightly, pointed to several experts around him, and said: "Mr. Sun, these are the best archaeological research projects in the country. Family, from now on, I will work with them to participate in every aspect of the handover of the national treasure to ensure that there are no mistakes in the process. Please supervise with me!"

Sun Zhidong (Meir) nodded and said: "No problem, I will be with you. Complete all the processes."

"Okay!"

the person in charge responded, took the Sifang Baozhu from Sun Zhidong (Meir)'s hands, and then handed it over to the leader of the expert team.

Subsequently, the expert team began to use the prepared equipment to conduct on-site inspections of the Sifang Baozhu.

Sun Zhidong (Meir) asked with some concern: "I would like to ask on behalf of the patriots who anonymously escorted the national treasure back to the country this time, when can we announce the news of Sifang Baozhu's return to the country?" The person in charge said: "As long as it is confirmed that Sifang Baozhu is indeed produced. Since the Tang Dynasty, we can basically be sure that it is genuine. At that time, we will send the material to the TV station as soon as possible, and they will announce it to the public in the form of emergency news." "

Okay!" Sun Zhidong (Meir) nodded: "Then I can rest assured. Got it."

a few minutes later.

Ottawa, the capital of Canada.
