

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6671

Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) chuckled and said quickly: “I went to the antique street to inquire about it today. When Zhou came back this time, he had a total of hundreds of thousands of funds. If he was blinded and lost all these hundreds of thousands, wouldn’t he? Is it over? Not only will you lose your money, but you will also lose your face. When the time comes, you will have to leave the antique street in despair. Then your revenge will be avenged!”

Jacob became excited when he heard this.

Yesterday, my daughter and charlie also said that it was possible to get in by beating someone. He is now the executive vice president of the Calligraphy and Painting Association and the most dominant competitor for the next president. If he is injured because of beating someone or hiring a murderer, if people are arrested, the calligraphy and painting association will definitely not be able to survive.

But Zhang Ermao ( Cade )’s method is much better. Not only does he not have to bear any responsibility, but it also does more harm to Zhou Liangyun!

Even if I let myself slap him twice, it would be meaningless. Watching him lose all his money and reputation would make me feel even happier!

Thinking of this, he immediately asked Zhang Ermao ( Cade ): “Is there anything that can ensure that people with the surname Zhou will definitely win the eyes?” Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) said with rare caution: “President Jacob, if you want to say something that will definitely hit the eyes with the surname Zhou, I can tell you There’s no guarantee, but I can find people who specialize in cheating experts.”

Jacob asked curiously: “What do you mean by people who specialize in cheating experts?”

Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) explained: “There are too many fakes in the antique industry, and they are sold at street stalls. Antiques and lies are inherited from ancestors or just excavated from the construction site. They are all pickled and aged handicrafts. They are the lowest form of deception. They are designed to deceive fools. They are used on antique streets to deceive foreigners or those who know a little bit. Fur lovers, that is another level. In addition, there are some masters of counterfeiting who specialize in making fake things that look like real things to deceive rich big players and even experts.”

After that, Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) said again: “This kind of master’s counterfeiting skills are very realistic. They usually first find a high imitation of something from the Tang, Song, Yuan and Ming Dynasties in modern times or even the middle and late Qing Dynasty, and then transform it into a top-notch product that matches the characteristics of those periods, such as using Qing imitations of the Yuan Dynasty. Porcelain, pretending to be Yuan Dynasty porcelain, something that cost tens of thousands, suddenly turned into hundreds or tens of millions. The most powerful ones were those who used Qing Dynasty imitation Chenghua Doucai to pass off as real Chenghua Doucai. There was a big collector who was I defrauded 100 million with such a chicken bowl cup!”

Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) continued with beaming eyebrows: “President Jacob, think about it, if we can find something like this, we can take it to Zhou Liangyun and ask for hundreds of thousands. When Zhou Liangyun takes a look, Good guy, this thing is worth at least a fucking million. You have to take it no matter what. When he really takes it, let’s find a channel to let it out. Just say that thing is fake, and he will smash his hand. Are you in?”

Jacob nodded and said with a smile: “It’s good to hit him in the hand, it’s good to hit him in the hand! You’ll lose all your money if you hit him! Damn you bastard, when you hit me, you never imagined that you would be where you are today!”

As he said that, he quickly asked: “Er Mao, if we really do this...is it illegal?”

“What kind of law is it illegal?” Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) said with a smile: “Antique transactions never promise fidelity. Auctions all over the world are not honest, let alone private transactions. They are all willing to accept defeat. “

“Okay, okay!” Jacob asked again, “Can you get such a thing?” Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) said with a smile: “You can get it, but I’m not sure how much it will cost, because although this kind of thing is fake, it is not worthless. On the contrary, the more realistic it is, the more expensive it will be.”

, Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) explained: “This thing is similar to counterfeit banknotes. If even the big yellow dog in the village can tell that it is fake if I draw it for 100 yuan, it will probably be worth one dollar bill.” .....One penny!”

“If you can only fool the old man and old lady selling vegetables at the morning market, I estimate that one piece is worth ten yuan and twenty, and the top is worth thirty; if most Neither the person nor the banknote detector can tell whether it is genuine or not. Even if it sells for fifty or sixty, some people are willing to buy it.”

At this point, Zhang Ermao ( Cade ) was afraid that Jacob would worry about the cost, so he immediately patted his chest and said, “President Jacob. Don’t worry, you don’t have to worry about this anymore. I’ll take care of it. No matter how much it costs, you don’t have to pay a penny!”

Jacob rolled his eyes and thought to himself: “Damn it, Zhang Ermao ( Cade ), you old fox said so. If this kind of thing is no longer illegal, then won’t all the money you defrauded from Zhou Liangyun fall into your own pocket? If you invest 50,000 and get back 500,000, this is a profit of 450,000. Don’t you let it go? If I pay, doesn’t that mean I won’t get a share of the pie?”

Thinking of this, Jacob immediately said righteously: “Er Mao, I can’t let you bear the cost for this kind of thing, I still have some money here. No matter how much money you have, I will pay for it!”

Although Jacob only said that he would pay for it himself, the subtext was that he would keep the profits for himself.