

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6701

By / April 24, 2024

Just when Jacob was getting carried away, Zhou Liangyun also completed uploading the information about the gilt bronze Buddha from the Northern Song Dynasty.

The website he uses is the largest collector communication and trading website in China and also has the highest overall level of collectors. On this website, everyone can set the type and age of the collection they focus on. For example, some people pay special attention to Tang Dynasty calligraphy and painting. For works, you only need to add this category to your special attention. Once a collector on the website uploads a Tang Dynasty painting and calligraphy work that he intends to sell, it will be sent to the users who focus on this type of work in the form of push notifications and text messages as soon as possible.

Copper products of the Northern Song Dynasty are rare, and some collectors who are interested in them have already paid special attention to such antiques. Therefore, when Zhou Liangyun completed the upload of the information, many collectors who were interested in the copper products of the Northern Song Dynasty immediately started collecting them. Information arrived.

And when these collectors saw the specific information about the collection, none of them could restrain their impulses.

After all, the gilt-bronze Buddhas of the Northern Song Dynasty are extremely expensive and beyond the reach of ordinary collectors.

As for this collection, the treasurer who sold it stated that it had major flaws in its appearance, so the price was only 20 million yuan.

This price is already considered a big leak.

Every item has its own value measurement system. Even a car that has been soaked in water or was involved in an accident is not worthless. According to the price measurement standards for gilt bronze wares, although damage to the gilt is a major flaw, it has an absolute impact on the value. It won't be a 20% discount all at once.

Therefore, in the eyes of professional collectors, the price of this gilt-bronze Buddha from the Northern Song Dynasty is 800 to 10 million different from the market price of normal transactions. Even if it is lowered a little to increase the sale speed, it will still There is at least a profit margin of about five million.

Moreover, based on the market conditions of gilt bronze wares in the Northern Song Dynasty in recent years, if you hold them in your hands, there is definitely room for good value-added.

Roughly speaking, this is equivalent to the original price of a Rolls-Royce Phantom of 10 million. After the accident, the industry recognized value was almost 3 million, but the seller only wanted 2 million.

Such a cost-effective price makes many people even doubt whether this thing is fake.

After all, the items are uploaded by Baoyou himself, and the platform will not conduct online appraisals of the collections released by Baoyou. Private transactions require both buyers and sellers to be responsible for themselves. If platform help is needed, the platform can contact relevant experts for a fee to help buyers conduct appraisals. .

Now through the picture information released by Zhou Liangyun, although we can get a rough idea, no one can be 100% sure of the authenticity through the photos.

Therefore, some buyers contacted Zhou Liangyun and expressed that they were very satisfied with the price. They just hoped that Zhou Liangyun could provide relevant appraisal reports or bring the items to Eastcliff to complete the transaction under the appraisal of a third-party appraisal agency. Moreover, these buyers also knew this. The price is already a good price for picking up leaks, so almost everyone expressed their willingness to bear Zhou Liangyun's travel expenses and all the expenses required for the appraisal.

Some people even made a condition that if Zhou Liangyun could cooperate with the appraisal, the transaction price could be increased by one million.

Zhou Liangyun's family has been in the antique industry for many years and is not short of 20 to 30 million yuan. He knows that you have to strike while the iron is hot. The most important thing now is to sell it as soon as possible. It is best to spread the news that this thing has been sold tomorrow morning. .

Moreover, the people in Aurous Hill Antique Street do not have high professional or moral standards. They now believe that this thing is fake. If this thing is sold in other places, they will never believe it. They will only think that it must be Zhou Liangyun himself. A lie made up to save face.

Therefore, the best way is to have someone come to Aurous Hill and buy this bronze Buddha at your own store.

Therefore, Zhou Liangyun told these buyers that the transaction location could only be in Aurous Hill, and that the price of 20 million was only valid within the next 24 hours. As long as they met these two requirements and accepted all forms of appraisals, they could bring experts there themselves. Aurous Hill conducts on-site appraisal and confirms it is correct before trading.

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6702

By _ / April 24, 2024

Moreover, Zhou Liangyun also said that for the price of 20 million, he will not accept any form of bargaining or any form of price increase. In a word, things are in Aurous Hill, first come, first served.

As a result, many Tibetan friends immediately began to contact relevant appraisal experts overnight, and some people had even booked overnight tickets to Aurous Hill tomorrow morning.

The most ruthless person is a collector in Eastcliff who specializes in collecting bronzes.

After a brief online communication with Zhou Liangyun, he immediately contacted relevant experts he was familiar with and asked the other party if he had time to take a business trip to Aurous Hill with him immediately. In order to prevent others from taking advantage of things, it is best to The solution is to drive out immediately tonight, because even if we take the earliest flight tomorrow, which takes off after six o'clock, it will be almost eight o'clock when we arrive in Aurous Hill. After leaving the airport and going to the antique street, it will probably be nine o'clock.

Therefore, it is the best choice to drive directly tonight. It is a thousand kilometers and you can drive at the fastest speed and you can arrive there in ten hours.

It is now nine o'clock in the evening. Let's set off immediately. We will arrive at Aurous Hill at six or seven o'clock tomorrow morning.

And he is not alone with this courage.

Therefore, when Jacob was happily packing his luggage, several capable collectors had already set off from all over the country, preparing to go to Aurous Hill to grab the treasure.

Many people have already booked the earliest flight for the next day and want to come to Aurous Hill to try their luck.

...

The next day, Jacob and Elaine got up separately at six o'clock. The two of them put on their best clothes, packed themselves neatly, and then took their suitcases to the first floor, ready to go straight to the airport after breakfast.

charlie and Claire also got up early and planned to send them there after dinner.

At this time, the antique street was far from opening.

Zhou Liangyun did not stay in the store last night, but went back to the hotel. Before leaving, he posted a notice at the door of his store. The content of the notice was "Open at nine o'clock. Please queue up to take a number and wait."

In this notice Below, the paper was cut into ten strips of paper, with the numbers one to ten written on them in Chinese characters.

The vendor who first tipped off Chen Yufei, after seeing this notice, took a video and sent it to the antique street group, mocking: "Look at it, everyone! Don't Zhou Liangyun think he is famous?" There will be a lot of people coming to his store to do business today, right? Isn't it ridiculous to put out a notice asking people to queue up?"

Someone echoed: "I guess they know that there will be a lot of people queuing up this morning. Look at him, that's why he posted this notice!"

The vendor laughed and said, "Don't tell me, I really want to ask him in person how he felt about being cheated of 300,000 yuan."

There was someone in the group. He shouted: "Then why don't you hurry up and take a number! Didn't you see that there are only ten numbers from one to ten? I guess those ten numbers will be used for the visit to Da Yue Zhong today."

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6703

By / April 24, 2024

The vendor curled his lips and said: "I'm not interested in visiting some big evil. I have to go and set up my stall quickly. If any of you are interested, remember to come and get your number quickly, hahaha!"

As soon as the news was sent out, Three people hurriedly came to the door of Zhou Liangyun's store. Seeing that the store was not open yet, they asked the vendor: "Hello, I want to ask you, is this Zhen Baoxuan? Is the boss here surnamed Zhou?"

The vendor asked in surprise: "Are you looking for Zhou Liangyun?"

The man said hurriedly: "We don't know the name of the shop owner. We only know that his surname is Zhou, and his online name is Zhen Baoxuan Lao Zhou."

The vendor said with a smile, "That should be him. This is his shop. Even if you don't see the sign, it's still handwritten."

After that, he asked curiously: "Are you here to see the wrongdoer?"

Although the man was curious, he didn't want to reveal the reason for coming here. After all, he was here to pick up the wrongdoer. Everyone thought that the lower profile the better, so they said in a somewhat cryptic manner: "We are here to talk to the boss about something."

"Oh..." The vendor glanced at Zhen Baoxuan's door and saw that the door was opened from the outside. After closing the lock, he knew that Zhou Liangyun was definitely not in the store, so he asked those people: "Are you here to buy things or sell things? If you are buying things, I advise you to be careful. This boss has a bad taste. He sells things." The things are definitely not much better. "

These three people drove over from Eastcliff last night. One of them is a collector worth nearly one billion, and the other is his driver and an expert he specially invited from Eastcliff. , the three of them drove over from Aurous Hill last night, just to collect Zhou Liangyun's gilt bronze Buddha from the Northern Song Dynasty as soon as possible.

On the way, experts have carefully studied the information sent by Zhou Liangyun, and initially determined that this thing should be fine and not much different from what the seller described. However, to be on the safe side, it is best to touch it in person and feel it carefully. , if there is no problem, buying it at 20 million is definitely a bargain.

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6704

By / April 25, 2024

The melon-eating people in the group were a little confused when they saw this video.

Some people wondered: "Is it possible that people from other places know that Zhou Liangyun is a big injustice and want to come here overnight to visit?"

Someone immediately replied: "Although Zhou Liangyun is very serious, it is not worth coming so far to see, right?"

Another person said Said: "Perhaps he knew that Zhou Liangyun was a big injustice, so he came over with fakes to sell to him?"

This statement was recognized by many people, and they all replied: "This is reliable! After all, such a injustice It's not easy to find!"

"Yes, knowing that there is such an evil person in Aurous Hill, the counterfeiters are probably all excited."

Chen Yufei just opened his eyes at this time, and replied with a voice message: "These scammers are probably following him. Like flies, they will come when they smell the smell.

"Oh! What a pity they don't know is that Zhou Liangyun has no money in his pocket!" The cost of opening a store of hundreds of thousands is probably lost at this time. These people even drove all night to cheat. I'm afraid they won't even be able to make back the gas and tolls they paid for it!"

the vendor continued as he walked ! Walking to his stall, he thought about the conversation he just heard, and then quickly said in the group: “Everyone, I seem to remember that there was a southerner with a not very standard accent just now, and he seemed to say that he was here to collect things this time. , not selling things.”

“Collecting things?” Someone asked in confusion: “His Zhou Liangyun’s store is cleaner than my pocket. Apart from the fake goods I received last night, what else can he collect? What did you find?”

Another person asked: “Damn it, could it be that Zhou Liangyun found a channel to sell this fake product?”

Another person asked: “Isn’t it obvious that it is a fake? Now, who else will accept it?”

The man said: “Others can deceive him, but he can’t deceive others? Maybe he cheated again and found a new successor?”

Someone asked: “Isn’t Zhou Liangyun famous for his eye-opening? ? Who would accept his things?”

The man smiled and said: “He is only famous in Aurous Hill, not in the whole country. Both groups of people drove here overnight, so he looks like an outsider. I don’t know about these local things, so maybe I was deceived by him?”

When Chen Yufei heard this, he quickly chatted with the vendor privately and said to him: “Go back and ask those two people if they are here to collect the fake bronze statue. Damn it, if so, show them the video of mine on the Internet. Don’t let them be deceived by Zhou Liangyun! I won’t treat you badly after it’s done!”

Chen Yufei is also afraid that Zhou Liangyun will come back to life. .

Even though he was defrauded of 300,000 yuan yesterday and became the laughing stock of everyone, as long as he can sell this thing for more than 300,000 yuan today, it proves that people are not blind when accepting this thing and they are sure to make money. .

In the antique industry, people will look down upon you if you don’t have money, you will be looked down upon if you are blind, and you will be looked down upon if you don't have good stuff and make a bunch of rags all day long. But as long as you make money, people will look down on you no matter what you do.

If nothing else, take the master cost maker as an example. As long as the fakes he makes can be sold at a high price, even if he is doing a marginal and unethical business, everyone will look at him high and praise him. He called him a teacher.

Although everyone mocked Zhou Liangyun last night for being wronged, as long as he made money today, it would be a good thing in the antique street. What if he bought it for 300,000 yuan and sold it for 350,000 yuan? He made 50,000 yuan in one night, who cares whether he makes money or not?

Therefore, Chen Yufei had an idea in his mind, no matter what, he wanted to disrupt Zhou Liangyun's business.

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6705

By / April 25, 2024

Seeing that Chen Yufei wanted something from him, the vendor also wanted to seize this opportunity to get close to him, so he quickly replied: "Don't worry, Manager Chen, I'll take care of it!"

After saying that, he immediately turned back and came to those few people. Next to me, the Tibetan friend from Eastcliff just now said, "Brother, are you here to buy Boss Zhou's bronze Buddha?"

The Tibetan friend from Eastcliff asked with some vigilance: "You know "That bronze Buddha?" "I know!" The vendor said with a smile, "I know that bronze Buddha very well. It is already famous in our three-acre area of Aurous Hill."

He quickly opened the short video platform on his mobile phone, clicked on the video that Chen Yufei had invested 5,000 yuan in yesterday, and said, "Take a look at this video!"

The Tibetan friend was a little curious, took the phone and started watching it seriously. As he started watching, the Tibetan friend from the south also quickly came up and watched intently.

As the video played, Don Albert's younger brother came in with something. Chen Yufei took the thing and looked at it, and then started a detailed review that he thought was very professional.

A Tibetan friend from Eastcliff said in surprise: "Oh, it's really this bronze Buddha."

A Tibetan friend from the South couldn't help but smacked his lips: "I'm sorry, what is the background of this manager?"

The vendor quickly said: "You don't know something, this Manager Chen He is the general manager of our largest antique store in Aurous Hill, Ji Qingtang, a very powerful and outstanding professional!"

"Professional?" The southern Tibetan friend felt a little unhappy because he didn't get the number one, and he didn't hide it at the moment. With disdain on his face, he said sarcastically: "Damn it, this guy can't say a single word right, and he's the damn general manager, so let him eat shit!"

The northern Tibetan friend was relatively restrained and turned to look at He asked the experts around him: "Teacher Liu, what do you think of this video?"

Teacher Liu shook his head and said with emotion: "The manager in the video really doesn't understand anything. Although this type of utensil is very similar to that of the Ming Dynasty, it is not the same, because the shape of the Ming Dynasty utensil itself is also an antique, in the strict sense. It is said that the bronzes of the past dynasties are not the new style of the sect, and they must have the shadow of some earlier objects. Just open Taobao now and choose a bronze Buddha at random. As long as it is a serious work, it must have antique elements. Besides, he didn't see the actual damage to the leather case at all, so he was considered relatively amateurish overall."

As he said that, he couldn't help but sigh: "Although Aurous Hill's antiques industry can only be considered second-tier in the country, it is still one of the best. It stands to reason that there should be some masters in a city with a rich heritage. I didn't expect that such a talented person could become the general manager of the largest antique store in Aurous Hill. This really surprised me."

The vendor heard this in confusion and quickly asked: "Everyone. "What do you guys mean, is this thing real?"

Several people kept a low profile on this issue. The expert smiled and said, “I have reservations about this. I still have to see it before I can draw a conclusion.”

The vendor quickly looked at the outspoken southern Tibetan friend and said, “You just said that everything Manager Chen said is wrong. Do you think this thing is true?”

Even though the southern Tibetan friend was angry, at this moment

He also said very vaguely: “Whether this thing is real or not, I can’t say anything without seeing the real thing. I just can’t stand that guy pretending to understand.” Feeling even more confused, he quickly walked aside and sent a voice message back to Chen Yufei: “Manager Chen, I just had a chat with them, and it seems that they are really coming for the bronze Buddha.”

Chen Yufei hurriedly asked: “What about you? Did you tell them that what you said was false? Did you let them watch the video? “

The vendor said, “They have already watched the video, but they don’t seem to agree with what you said in the video.”

Chen Yufei quickly asked. : “What do you mean by not quite recognizing it? What were their original words?