Need it, no need it! “

They already knew charlie Wade’s plan this time. He dragged them to this place where they couldn’t tell where they were and asked them to record a video for their families. On the one hand, it showed that they were still alive, and on the other hand, it asked their families to pay for their lives.

If their families paid the money after receiving the video, they could return to Hong Wu’s dog farm and continue to live. If their families didn’t pay, then they would probably disappear in the vast ocean.

So, Steve Hogwitz spoke first and cried, “Wife, it’s me, I’m Steve, I’m still alive, Walter is still alive, but we are kidnapped now. During this period of time, we have been living like neither human nor ghost. It’s as hard as it can be, as miserable as it can be! Wife, please, for the safety of our lives, you must meet their requirements, otherwise we may be thrown into the sea behind us...”

Walter Hogwitz also cried and said, “Mom! Mom, you must save us! They are still very trustworthy. As long as you give us money, we will definitely survive. But if you don’t give us money, my dad and I will die! “

After saying this, Walter hugged his father and burst into tears.

His life during this period of time was as miserable as it could be. Some time ago, he was lying in a dog cage in the kennel for dialysis every day. Now he still has to do dialysis every day on the ship. The conditions on the ship are worse, and the turbulence caused by wind and waves is severe. It is extremely miserable for him, a patient with double renal failure. He now just wants to return to Hong Wu’s kennel as soon as possible. At least there, everything around him is fixed and will not shake, which is much more comfortable than on the ship.

Thinking that he was now beginning to miss the kennel involuntarily, Walter felt desperate in his heart and couldn’t hold back his tears.

The soldier who was responsible for taking close-ups of his face came closer and took pictures of him crying. This kind of true emotion is definitely the most valuable shot for kidnapping and extortion.

So he reminded loudly: “Young master, cry harder, shed more tears, and it’s better to have some snot, so that your mother can see it and pay the money more happily. “

Walter cried and said, “I’ve cried very hard...”

The soldier nodded, “It’s very sad, but not embarrassing enough. Just think about it. You may have to lie on a bed in a dog farm for decades for the rest of your life, with dialysis tubes inserted all over your body. This kind of dark life, just thinking about it is already very desperate, right?”

When Walter heard this, he burst into tears, not only tears streaming, but also snot flowing onto his father Steve.

The soldier was satisfied and said, “Okay, both of you, it’s almost done, we will edit the video for your family now

People sent it over. As for whether your family members will pay to save you, it depends on the blood relationship between your family and money, which is more important. “

After that, he said to the other soldiers: “Take them away. “

The crying father and son were taken back into the cabin. The soldier edited the video footage shot on the spot and sent it directly to Abbas, who then sent it to charlie Wade.

After receiving the video, charlie Wade watched it carefully several times. After making sure that no key information was revealed in it, he instructed Abbas to send the video to Steve Hogwitz’s wife, Jenny Hogwitz, through an encrypted channel.

During this time, Jenny Hogwitz, who was in the United States, had been waiting for good news from the Rothschild family.

For the sake of her husband and son, the head of the family, Howard, sent his eldest son and heir out. It should not be difficult to find their whereabouts with the strength of the Rothschild family.

However, as Steve Rothschild spent more and more time in China, Jenny couldn't help feeling nervous and uneasy. She felt that if even the Rothschild family couldn't find her husband and son, or any relevant information, then she might never find them in her lifetime.

Just When she was thinking about the whereabouts and safety of her husband and son every day, an email was sent directly to her email address in the Hogwitz family.

When she clicked on the video and saw her embarrassed son and husband in the picture, her tears burst out!

When she saw the masked man asking her to pay 1 billion US dollars in cryptocurrency at the end of the video, she immediately picked up the phone and called Howard, the patriarch of the Rothschild family.

Originally, Jenny's identity and status were not worthy of contacting Howard directly, but last time at the family meeting, Howard gave Jenny his contact information to show his importance to the collateral family, so that she could call him at any time if she had anything. However

, Jenny didn't dare to call directly to inquire about the progress of the matter, so this was the first time she called Howard.

Howard didn't record your mobile phone number. Seeing a strange number calling his private mobile phone, he asked in a cold tone: "Who is it?"

Jenny cried and said: "Your Excellency the Patriarch, it's me, Jenny Hogwitz. "

Howard suddenly realized and said calmly, "It's you. Steve is following up on your husband and son in China. Don't worry. I will let him inform you as soon as there is any progress."

Jenny said quickly, "Your Excellency the Patriarch, I just received a video from the robbers who kidnapped my husband and son! They are not in China, but at sea!"

"on the sea?"

When Howard heard this, he quickly asked, “Did the kidnappers make any demands?”

Jenny replied: “Yes! They want one billion dollars, and it has to be in cryptocurrency!”

“One billion dollars?” Howard shouted, “These kidnappers have a lot of appetite! One billion dollars? Who the hell dares to ask for a ransom of one billion dollars? They are really crazy!”

When Jenny heard that Howard thought it was too expensive, she couldn't help crying out of grievance, choking and saying, “Your Excellency Patriarch, they are a bunch of black-hearted demons! The 1 billion US dollars they want is not a ransom, but a life-saving money...”

“Life insurance?” Howard asked, “What does this mean?”

Jenny cried and said, “Only by giving them money can they save their lives. If I don't give them money, they will kill my husband and son and throw them into the sea...”

“Damn it.” Howard said angrily, “These aren't kidnappers, they're bandits! Ten billion dollars and they won't let him go?!”

“Yeah...” Jenny choked up, “They only give me 48 hours to think about it. If I don't give them the virtual cryptocurrency within 48 hours, they will kill my husband and son.”

Howard was silent for a moment and asked her, “What do you think now? Give it or not?”

Jenny cried and asked, “Mr. Chief, I want to ask if you have any way to locate them and ask the 6th Marine Squadron to rescue them. I remember you did this before...”

A few years ago, a young member of the core of the Rothschild family was kidnapped by local rebel armed elements while on vacation in South America. Howard mobilized the 6th Marine Squadron to rescue him.

Because the commotion was so loud at the time, the U.S. military specifically labeled the other party a terrorist organization, and then, in the name of anti-terrorism, sent the Marine 6th Squadron with thousands of people to wipe out the other party. The American people thought it was a perfect, surgical anti-terrorism operation, but in fact it was just to rescue a playboy from the Rothschild family.

However, the American people do not know the whole story, but the Rothschild family's collateral members know it very well.

When Howard heard that Jenny wanted him to mobilize the 6th Marine Squadron, he smacked his lips and asked her, "Do you think the 6th Marine Squadron can find them within 48 hours based on the information they revealed? Even if they find them, they still need to make a rescue plan temporarily. Do you think they can rescue them within 48 hours?"

Jenny said in a panic, "This... I'm not too sure about this... I can't see any key information in the video they gave me. It seems like it's just a vast white ocean."

"That's it." Howard said, "It's hard to find an aircraft carrier formation in the vast ocean, let alone two people."

After that, Howard continued, "Jenny, I advise you to analyze the situation rationally. $1 billion is not a small amount, especially for your Hogwitz family. And if you spend $1 billion and get the person back, it would be worth it. But the key is that you gave out $1 billion and still can't see the person. This is outrageous."

Jenny was startled and asked quickly, "Mr. Patriarch...you...you don't mean for me to give up, do you?"

Howard quickly denied it three times: "I didn't, don't talk nonsense, don't get me wrong, I mean you should think carefully about it and decide how to deal with it yourself, because the other party only gave you 48 hours and didn't reveal any key information. 48 hours..."

"I can't help you find the person within 48 hours. What's more, the person is on the sea, and he is moving. He was here for the first 48 hours, and ran thousands of miles away after 48 hours. Even if we know where they filmed the video, the area of the sea we need to search after 48 hours will be at least 1,000 nautical miles in radius. Are you good at math? How many square kilometers is a radius of 1,000 nautical miles?"

Jenny subconsciously said, "The area of a circle is equal to pi multiplied by the square of the radius... You said that you can sail a thousand nautical miles in 48 hours, which means 3.14 million square nautical miles..."

"That's it!" Howard sighed. "In this situation, even if we send out the entire U.S. Navy, we may not be able to find the person within 48 hours, so I advise you to just consider whether or not to give the money."

Jenny said awkwardly, "Your Excellency Patriarch, if 10 billion dollars can bring them back, I am willing to pay the money, but the current situation is that even if 10 billion dollars is paid, the people won't come back. I don't know if those people will continue to ask for money in the future, and I don't know if they will kill the hostages. So I think that the cost-effectiveness of this 10 billion dollars is not high, and it is very likely to be a waste of time."

Howard said bluntly: "Jenny, we are all family, there is no need to be so tactful. You don't want to pay the billion dollars now, right?"

"Yes." Before Jenny married into the Hogwitz family, she was a member of the Rothschild family. She was also surnamed Rothschild and was related to Howard by blood. So she sighed and said what she was thinking directly: "I really don't want to pay. If this money is paid, the Hogwitz family will be seriously injured and will probably never have a chance to stand up again. For the sake of this family, I don't want to pay."

Howard said: "Your decision is rational. If it were me, I would probably make the same choice."

At this point, Howard changed the subject and said, "But you have to think clearly. If these people can give you the video, they can make it public. If you don't give them money, they will definitely make the video public next, and even publicly criticize you for not wanting to spend money to save your husband and son. At that time, you will be under great pressure from public opinion, and the Rothschild family will also be affected. After all, once you become the subject of everyone's discussion, they will make all your situations public, and people will ask you questions. They will find out what your family's previous surname was, which is not a good thing for the reputation of the Rothschild family."

When Jenny heard this, she asked anxiously, “Sir Patriarch, do you mean... that I should give it to them?”

Howard sighed and said, “Jenny, instead of not giving the money and putting yourself at risk and becoming the target of public criticism, it is better to give the money and turn the passive situation into the active one, and make yourself a wife and mother that all Americans admire and respect.”

Jenny asked hurriedly, “Mr. Patriarch, do you want me to give you the money and then take the initiative to make this matter public?”

Howard said firmly: “That’s right, we have to pay the money first, and then report this matter to the media immediately!”

“I will then fan the flames behind the scenes and find a large group of media to interview and report on you. All you have to do is hold back your tears in front of the media cameras and show that you are willing to give everything for your husband and son, even your own life. In less than 24 hours, you will be the most famous mother in the United States! The greatest mother!”

“And the names of your Hogwitz family and the Rothschild family will also receive very positive publicity, which will be of great help to you in taking charge of the entire family and leading the family to glory again. By then, other members of your family will never dare to seize power from you because you have a very high reputation. The people of the United States will support you and stand up for you. And you also need to know that everyone likes to cooperate with celebrities, especially those who are extremely famous and excellent. Jenny, this is a good opportunity for you!”

Although Howard had no idea who kidnapped the unfortunate father and son from Hogwitz, he knew in his heart that the other party must be no easy target.

When everyone thought that they must be hidden somewhere in China, the two of them suddenly appeared at sea, and the first thing they asked for was 10 billion US dollars. Although it is rare for kidnappers to dare to ask for such a large amount of money, it does exist. However, it is the first time that someone dares to ask for so much money and directly tells the family that they will not release the kidnappers even if they are paid.

Faced with such a kidnapper, if Jenny didn't give the money, the other party would definitely expose the matter and make her be labeled as cold-blooded and profit-driven.

Jenny's last name was Rothschild before she got married, so once Jenny became the target of public criticism, the Rothschild family would face unprovoked disaster.

So, Howard naturally hoped that she would pay the money honestly.

And he was not trying to fool Jenny. As long as the money was given, he had countless ways to make Jenny famous all over the world.

The only thing I'm afraid of is that Jenny only cares about money and is unwilling to pay the 10 billion dollars. That would be troublesome.

But Jenny also has her own difficulties.

Originally, her husband was in charge of the Hogwitz family. After his son went missing, her husband went to China in an effort to save him, but he was also kidnapped. Although she is now in charge of all the family affairs, she cannot withstand the covetous eyes of her husband's younger brothers. As a woman, she is no match for the brothers who have joined forces.

Therefore, once I get old in the future, the family's control will naturally be gradually disintegrated, and by then I am afraid that a woman from another family will be directly sidelined.

Now I urgently need an opportunity to strengthen my control over the entire family.

If one billion dollars can really help him create a perfect persona, coupled with Howard Rothschild's promise, no one in the Hogwitz family will be able to threaten him anymore.

Thinking of this, she gritted her teeth and said to Howard, "Mr. Patriarch, I will listen to you! Give them the money!"

"Very good." Howard breathed a sigh of relief and soothed her, "Don't worry, Jenny. This money will definitely be worth it! Send them a reply and tell them that you will raise $1 billion in cryptocurrency as soon as possible. I will arrange for a team of reporters to go over and start filming you 24 hours a day. These will be used as hype material later.”

Jenny didn't expect Howard to be so concerned. She immediately felt as if she had taken a reassurance pill and said excitedly, “Then I will follow the instructions of the Patriarch!”

Just as the reporter team began to track and film Jenny in all directions, Steve Rothschild, who was far away in Aurous Hill, received a call from his father Howard.

Howard said on the phone, “Steve, it must have been very hard during your time in Aurous Hill.”
