

the Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6941

Helena nodded and said, "Mr. Rothschild has come from afar. I have prepared a banquet in the palace today. Mr. Rothschild, if you have time in the evening, please come to the palace for the banquet."

When Howard heard that Helena invited him to a banquet at the palace, he instantly felt much happier. In the past, he actually looked down on Helena, a down-and-out noble. But now it was different. Helena was his adoptive parent, and he was naturally honored to be invited to a dinner by his adoptive parent.

So he said without hesitation: "Thank you for the invitation, Her Majesty. I will definitely go to the palace on time for the banquet!"

Helena nodded slightly and asked him, "By the way, Mr. Rothschild, did you bring your family with you to Northern Europe this time? If so, please invite them to come along."

Howard hesitated for a moment.

This time he brought his eldest son Steve Rothschild with him to Northern Europe. This was not Steve's initiative but a request he made.

The older Howard gets, the more he fears being deserted by his friends and family, especially being betrayed by his own son.

The Fei family's previous experiences and lessons were there. The old man went abroad and left his heir in the country, which gave the heir the opportunity to seize power.

So he didn't dare to leave Steve alone in the United States. What if Steve bribed other people behind his back and found an opportunity to undermine him, then he might not be able to go back.

He brought Steve along this time, under the pretext that he would feel more at ease with his help, but in fact he just wanted to keep him by his side to prevent any unexpected events.

It just so happened that Steve also wanted to come over to see what kind of cooperation Charlie Wade had with his grandfather that made the old man so obsessed. He guessed that the old man did this for Charlie Wade's magical elixir, so he thought that if the old man really got the elixir when he came to Northern Europe this time, although he could not do anything, he would have to take the opportunity to find Charlie Wade to express his grievances and grievances.

When Howard first heard Helena's invitation, he planned to go to the palace for the banquet by himself, but when he heard that Helena was also going to invite his family, he didn't know whether he should bring Steve with him.

If I take him with me, and if he finds out that I plan to live a few more years and postpone the day when he will inherit the family line for a few more years, there will definitely be some awkwardness between father and son. Moreover, once I reveal this intention, my son will get the message that I will try every possible means to prolong my life, which will make his son even more desperate.

But if I don't take her with me, if Helena knows that her son has also come to Northern Europe, she will definitely think that I am not honest.

After thinking about it, he tentatively said to Helena: "Your Majesty, my eldest son is also coming to Northern Europe this time. I will take him to the palace for a banquet tonight. But Your Majesty, since it will take time for the AI model to be accepted, can we not mention the pill at the banquet tonight?"

"No problem." Helena agreed readily and said with a smile: "It would be best if from now on, until the acceptance is over, neither you nor I would mention the matter of the elixir. To be honest, Mr. Rothschild, you just don't want me to mention it at the banquet, and I don't want to mention it at any time before the delivery."

Howard knew that Helena said this because she thought he was asking too many questions, so he quickly said, "Your Majesty, please rest assured that I will never mention anything related to the elixir again before the acceptance is completed!"
