

the Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6950

At this moment, in the base of Poqing Society, Jadiel reported to Sara respectfully: "Master Ying, the three elders have arrived in Nigeria. I have arranged for the Grand Commander of the Right Army Commandery to personally receive them and have also prepared a temporary training ground for them. Currently, the three elders have settled down in their base in Nigeria."

Sara hummed and asked him, "How's the plane going?"

Jadiel said: "We have staged a false alarm emergency according to the original plan. The flight route applied for by the plane is from Frankfurt, Germany to Johannesburg, South Africa. The route information of this cargo flight can be found on all aviation software. Emergency landings in the middle will not appear in the regular route information. Only by checking the specific flight track of the aircraft on that day can we see that the plane landed in Nigeria in the middle. It can be regarded as very covert. Most people will not pay attention to where a cargo plane has made an emergency landing in the middle, but as long as the other party has been secretly keeping a close eye on the flight track of our plane, he will definitely be able to see the track information and will definitely pay attention to Lagos, Nigeria. As long as he regards this emergency landing as a clue, he will definitely fall into our trap."

Sara asked again: "What's next? Are there any other clues that can make it difficult for the other party to find our base in Nigeria?"

Jadiel replied: "My Lord, this flight is transporting a batch of precision instruments and equipment made in Germany, worth more than 40 million US dollars. We completed the exchange of goods at the Nigerian airport, and then transported the exchanged goods out of the airport through special channels. Part of the goods are professional equipment in the oil and gas field specially prepared for our oil company in Nigeria, and another part is German high-precision processing equipment, the biggest use of which is to manufacture standard firearms;"

"This type of equipment is controlled equipment all over the world. Export requires strict inspection of the qualifications of the purchaser, and the purchaser's country also needs to issue complete approval documents. This time we used a South African finishing company, applied for an import license in South Africa, and applied for a sales license in Germany, so it was able to leave Germany smoothly. This is also one of the clues we deliberately left for the other party;"

"Once they check the flight and find out that the plane made an emergency landing in Nigeria, they will most likely check the cargo and the consignee's information. With a little more in-depth investigation, they will find out that the cargo contains oil and gas equipment and special equipment. In this way, they will firmly believe that this batch of equipment is for our own use, and then suspect that our emergency landing is just a cover-up. South Africa is not the real destination, but Lagos, Nigeria. In this way, they will definitely focus on Nigeria!”

“Combined with the oil and gas equipment, he can easily guess that our base in Nigeria is most likely an oil extraction base. Our base in Nigeria is an oil extraction base with an annual profit of more than 2 billion US dollars. It is the most profitable one among our many bases. Once we leak the clues, it will be very easy for the other party to find the base. There are only a few dozen companies to check one by one, and it can be easily found. The reason why we chose to use it as bait is that it can make the other party lower their guard. Maybe he thinks that he has caught a big fish this time and can cause us heavy damage!”

After listening to Jadiel’s introduction, Sara showed a rare look of satisfaction. She nodded slightly and sneered, “Not bad! The various clues are linked together, and they are fascinating. It is inevitable that people will have the illusion of catching a big fish. When he catches the exposed clues, I think he will probably shout excitedly, “God helps me.” When he unravels the mystery and finds the oil field, he will definitely be complacent. After all, the scale of the oil field is much larger than the copper mine in Cyprus. When he rushes over and wants to use the same trick again, the three elders will attack him together and will surely chop off his head! No more trouble for me!”
