charlie Wade accompanied Lin Wan'er (Alani) as they walked and stopped in Bergen, and did not start their return journey back to Osu City until dark.

On the way back, Lin Wan'er (Alani) suggested to charlie Wade: "Since you want to wait for the three elders of the Poqing Society to leave Nigeria before making a surprise attack, why not hurry up and extend the ground network to Nigeria in the near future? The three elders will most likely leave the country by plane. If you make preparations in advance, you may be able to locate them among the people leaving the country."

charlie Wade nodded and said, "This matter needs to be done in two steps. One is to send someone to Nigeria to buy the existing vending machine company. The other is to hurry up and customize a batch of hardware. The vending machines that are currently operating in places like Africa may not have monitoring equipment."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) agreed and said, "Customizing hardware can also be divided into two steps. The first step is to customize a batch of Internet-enabled monitoring equipment, which can be used to directly transform their old equipment and put it into use as soon as possible. The second step is to directly customize brand new vending machines and integrate all the desired functions into them."

charlie Wade thought about it and asked her: "It shouldn't be difficult to customize monitoring equipment that can be connected to the Internet, right?"

"It's very simple." Lin Wan'er (Alani), who is well-informed and has a knowledge reserve far exceeding charlie Wade, explained: "To achieve this demand, there are only two modules, monitoring and communication. The world's largest monitoring company is in China, and all kinds of monitoring equipment can be found. As for communication, we also have many world-leading large companies, and the hardware is also easy to solve. China has a complete industrial chain for these two sections. As long as you think about the needs, you can quickly match hardware suppliers. Many monitoring companies even have wireless monitoring equipment based on operator networks. Some are based on WIFI, and some don't even need WIFI. Real-time transmission can be achieved based on the data services of local operators. We just need to ask them to slightly modify the hardware and transform it into something suitable for vending machines."

charlie Wade asked her: "If we use the solutions provided by these manufacturers, then all surveillance videos will be uploaded to their servers first, right?"

"Yes." Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded and said, "Based on their solution, we have to use their cloud service. It is nothing more than the real-time images captured by the camera, which are transmitted to their server through the network, and then sent to the terminal by their server for customers to view at any time. We can use this method to achieve monitoring first, and then let our technology synchronize all video data from their server to the database of the AI model. The only drawback is that the monitoring images cannot be absolutely private, but this is not a problem, because these suppliers have to provide data services for a large number of devices. In order to save server capacity, they will not actively save customers' video data. If you want them to help save data, you have to pay, and there is basically no risk of leakage."

"Okay!" charlie Wade said immediately: "Then I will have someone buy all the vending machine companies in Nigeria, and at the same time find a hardware solution in China to realize the monitoring of major airports and ports in Nigeria as soon as possible!"

At first, the old man was intoxicated by watching the scenery and sunset from the helicopter every day, but as time went on, the scenery he saw was pretty much the same everywhere, and he gradually felt a little bored. He just hoped that the villa would be built quickly so that he could live out his old age in peace.

Just as he landed in the helicopter, the old butler who had been with him for many years ran over with a satellite phone and said hurriedly, "Master, Miss Zara called you and said she had something urgent, and asked you to call her back as soon as you get back!"

The territory where the old man lives has no wireless communication network coverage, so he can only make and receive calls by satellite. The same goes for surfing the Internet. He can only make calls using clumsy satellite phones with few functions, so the old man almost never carries it with him. He always has the housekeeper put it on his waist. When he heard that his granddaughter was looking for him for something important, he quickly took the phone and called back Zara banks with both hands.

The call was quickly connected, and Zara banks on the other end of the phone said, "Grandpa, I have good news to tell you!"

"What good news?" Lord Banks asked her subconsciously: "Could it be that charlie Wade asked me to go back?"

Zara banks answered him: "It's not that good..."

After that, Zara banks continued, "But Mr. Wade called me and said that he has an urgent task for you. If you can complete it well, he will provide you with more convenience as appropriate."

"Really?" Lord Banks asked her quickly, "What urgent task? Does he want the lemurs in Madagascar or the breadfruit trees here?"

“Neither...” Zara banks said, “Mr. Wade asked you to buy all the vending machine companies in Africa, starting with Nigeria.”

“A company that operates vending machines?” Lord Banks thought he had misheard and asked in confusion, “What kind of business genius is charlie Wade? Why did he set his sights on the vending machine business in Africa?”

Although charlie Wade did not have any evidence to prove that the three elders of the Poqing Society were waiting for him in Nigeria at this moment, he intuitively judged that the three of them must be there.

The reason was that he felt that Sara would definitely understand a truth from the successive losses of the four earls, that is, when facing a powerful and unknown enemy, one must never break up the whole into small pieces, disperse the living forces, and send them to the front line little by little, but must unite the small pieces into a whole and gather all the strength to accomplish the goal in one battle.

Since she hated me so much and wanted to kill me in her dreams, she had deliberately set up a base as bait this time, and she had to make sure that she would never come back.

She had no idea of her true strength, she only knew that she had survived Meng Changsheng (Willie)’s self-explosion. Based on this criterion, she could be sure of victory only if the three elders acted together.

Moreover, charlie Wade deduced that since the three elders had already arrived in Nigeria, they would never leave easily before he showed up. While they were waiting, he could seize the time to lay out the underground network in Nigeria. Once the underground network was fully deployed, he would make a feint to the east and attack in the west, forcing the three elders to evacuate from Nigeria. As long as they came out of their base, it would not be difficult to find the trace of these three yellow old men in this country dominated by black people.

As for why he was certain that they were three old men, it was mainly because charlie Wade learned from Lin Wan’er that these three men were all over a hundred years old, and they did not have the Eternal Green Pill to take. Even if they were still alive and well now, they would definitely not be able to restore the appearance of young people, and they must look very old.

So charlie Wade’s current plan, to put it simply, is to continue to keep a low profile and not give Sara any chance to find him. On the one hand, he will let Li Yalin use his criminal investigation thinking to train the AI model, and on the other hand, he will let Lord Banks come forward to lay the ground network throughout the entire Nigerian traffic throat. Everything is ready. Once Li Yalin finds clues to the other bases of the Qing Society in Africa, he can take the initiative to attack.

When Charlie Wade and Lin Wan'er returned from their travels and returned to the palace, Helena also rushed over after hearing the news. She brought Charlie Wade a good news that the farm that Charlie Wade asked her to find had already found a suitable option.

It is winter now, and some farmers want to take advantage of the free time to try to sell their farms. The next farmer will have enough time to plan and prepare if he buys it now, so as not to delay planting next spring.

Helena told Charlie Wade, "Mr. Wade, I have asked people to find more than a dozen farms that are interested in selling within a hundred kilometers around Osu City. The information has been brought back and is being sorted. Once it is sorted, I will let you take a look. If there are any that you like, I will arrange for someone to discuss the details and finalize the contract."
