

the Amazing Son In Law Chapter 6965

Nordic Palace.

The Rothschilds were invited here again a day later to attend the banquet hosted by Queen Helena.

Howard couldn't wait any longer, because he knew that the AI model had been handed over, and Helena should also fulfill her promise and sell him the half of the Blood-Rescuing Heart Pill.

Maybe this meal was for this matter. However

, he was a little confused in his heart. He had already reached an agreement with Helena not to discuss the pill in front of his son. If she wanted to sell the pill to him tonight, the timing didn't seem to be too appropriate.

As for Steve on the side, he no longer had any interest in the Nordic Palace. He just wanted to go back to New York to prepare, and then go to China as soon as possible, so he was a little absent-minded during this dinner.

Before the dinner started, Helena called Charlie Wade and asked, "Mr. Wade, I will have dinner with the Rothschild father and son later. I want to ask you, when are you going to give Howard Rothschild the half pill? If you are not going to give it to him today, I will tell him implicitly." Charlie Wade smiled and said, "Let him eat peacefully first. I will come to you later and give you the pill and meet Steve again."

Helena asked, "Then sell the pill to Howard tonight?"

"Yes." Charlie Wade said, "Sell it to him tonight, so that he can go back to the United States tomorrow."

"Okay!" Helena said with a smile, "Tell me when you get to the palace, I'll go see you."

After hanging up the phone, Helena got up and went to the banquet hall. The Rothschild father and son had been waiting there for a long time. Seeing that Helena hadn't arrived yet, Steve couldn't help but whispered to Howard, "Father, you should have done almost everything here, right? When do you plan to return to the United States?"

Howard was a little unsure. His work had been completed, and the AI model was successfully delivered. The only thing left was how Helena used the model, which had nothing to do with him. But the problem was that he hadn't received the reward he deserved. The 50 billion US dollars had been prepared long ago, just waiting to buy another half pill from Helena, but Helena had been slow to give him a definite answer, which made him a little uneasy.

He wasn't afraid that Helena would fool him, but he was mainly worried that there would be another change in the matter. If Helena felt that the AI model needed to continue to be tested and slowly accepted, then he would have to wait.

So, he said to Steve, "Though things are almost done, I still have some cooperation and would like to talk to Queen Iliad again. It will take one or two days at the earliest, but maybe I have to wait a few more days if I am slow."

Steve then said, "Father, if there is nothing for me to do here, I would like to go back to New York to prepare, and then hurry up to leave for China. Do you think that's okay?"

Howard's mind immediately started to work. Although Steve had stated his attitude before, that he would go to China alone to develop business, which was considered to be actively avoiding suspicion and reassuring himself, he was not 100% confident in Steve now. After all, before Steve went to China, he could not be completely sure whether he was sincere or not. What if he was throwing a smoke screen for him, and now he used the excuse of going back to New York to make arrangements, wouldn't he be passive?

After thinking for a while, Howard said, "I think my business will only take two days. We don't need to go back one after the other. You can wait for me for two more days."

Steve was helpless, but he couldn't say much, so he said, "Okay, father, I'll listen to you."

As he was speaking, Helena, who was dressed in a formal dress and dignified, walked in accompanied by the old queen.
