By / August 20, 2024

Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s words left Charlie silent for a long time.

He knew that what Lin Wan'er (Alani) said was very objective and realistic.

One is a surprise attack, the other is a feint to the east and a counterattack in the west.

After these two times, Sara would never give herself the chance to get away with it again.

By then, if he wanted to destroy the base of the death squad, it would be difficult to take the remaining death squad away.

This will lead to a choice.

Should we attack the headquarters of the Anti-Qing Society and eliminate its manpower, completely disregarding the lives of those death warriors, or should we give up the attack on the headquarters in order not to harm those death warriors and their families?

It seems that no matter which one I choose, it will feel inappropriate.

At this time, Charlie asked Lin Wan'er (Alani): "What if I give them the antidote and let them escape?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) sighed and said, "Those assassins have almost never lived in society. They have no legal identity and do not control any means of production. Even if you give them the antidote and let them escape, it will be difficult for them to escape the pursuit of the Po Qing Society. If you give each of them some cash, thousands of people will probably need to pack several suitcases of cash, which is even more unrealistic. Of course, it will be difficult for the Po Qing Society to kill them all. More or less, some people can still get free, but out of ten people, not even two or three may survive."

Charlie asked her: "What if we give them the antidote and leave the problem to the government of the country where they are stationed? The local government should be able to protect the safety of these people."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) thought for a moment and said, "This kind of thing is a huge scandal in the field of national security for any country. No one would want to keep it secret. Moreover, these assassins are not their citizens. I am not sure whether these countries will shelter them. The probability of deportation may be higher. In that case, the danger will be even greater."

At this point, Lin Wan'er (Alani) said, "If you look at this problem more cruelly, you only need to ask Inspector Li for help. Using his criminal investigation awareness, the computing power of the AI model, the data and monitoring capabilities of the skyline, you should be able to find most of the dead soldiers of the Po Qing Society. You can hand over this information to the governments of the countries where the dead soldiers are stationed. As long as they have not been completely infiltrated by the Po Qing Society, they will definitely not allow such a time bomb-like organization to exist on their territory. By then, you don't need to take action. The governments and armies of these countries will do their best to eradicate the dead soldiers' bases..."

charlie's pupils shrank suddenly, and he frowned and said, "In this way, these death warriors and cavalry guards will basically have no way out, because once Sara decides to cut off her arm to survive, she doesn't even need to take action against these death warriors. She only needs to abandon the garrison and ignore it, and leave the death warriors and cavalry guards to the local government to deal with. The death warriors will be killed by the government army if they resist stubbornly, and they will not get the antidote if they surrender, and they will all die soon. Even if they surrender, there will be no valuable clues to reveal to the government. After all, all the secrets of the Qing-breaking Society they know are only about their garrison. The garrison has been destroyed, and the secrets naturally lose all meaning."

charlie sighed and said, "If we use this method, those death warriors and cavalry guards will eventually die."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded gently and said, "The number of the assassins and their families may be tens of thousands or even larger. My lord, you must face the reality. Saving them one by one is simply not possible."

charlie said subconsciously: "I understand what Miss Lin said, but it concerns the lives of tens of thousands of people, and I can't bear to let them die."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) sighed and said loudly, "Sir, you are not a god. Don't put too much pressure on yourself. Although the fate of the death soldiers is tragic, the innocent people who died in their hands are even more miserable. For hundreds of years, although the death soldiers were trapped by Sara, they also helped the tyrant. Village and city massacres have occurred frequently. Some death soldiers have been tortured themselves, but when facing innocent people, they are even more cruel and violent. Many of the crimes, I have witnessed with my own eyes, are too numerous to list. Even if they are handed over to the law, many of them will be sentenced to death. Therefore, I beg you, sir, not to be too kind to them, and don't put yourself in danger because of being kind to them."

When saying this, Lin Wan'er (Alani) firmly thought in her heart: "My lord, you are kind-hearted. If you can't make this decision, let me be the bad guy!"

charlie listened to Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s words and pondered for a long time. Then he suddenly remembered something and asked, "Miss Lin, if I can take over the Right Army Governor's Office, then I can deploy his assassins at will, right? I don't need to rush to provide antidotes for these assassins, because Sara will continue to supply them."

Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s clear eyes suddenly flashed with a gleam, and she blurted out, "Sara has always been a mysterious figure. Even the Grand Commander of the Five Military Commander Offices rarely has the opportunity to see her. This means that if the young master really has the opportunity to recruit the Grand Commander of the Right Military Commander Office as his own, it would be difficult for Sara to discover it."

After that, she added with some concern: "The Wu family is Sara's true direct line. As far as I know, they all have some cultivation. Even those who don't have the talent for enlightenment have been forcibly enlightened by Sara. If you want to control their minds, it depends on their specific cultivation. Moreover, if someone is like me, I'm afraid your plan will be difficult to advance."

charlie nodded and said, "If the identity of the Grand Commander of the Right Army Commandery can be confirmed this time, I can try to find a breakthrough from him."

The long journey in the dark night made charlie and Lin Wan'er (Alani), who had taken the Eternal Green Pill, feel almost no fatigue.

The two of them also enjoyed the feeling of being able to chat openly without any secrets or concerns.

To each other, they are the only people with whom they can share all their secrets, and the interior of a moving vehicle is one of the most private environments, where the two can naturally speak freely.

Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s words also gave charlie some inspiration.

He pondered for a moment, and murmured to himself: "Although Meng Changsheng (Willie) has been obsessed with immortality all his life, he still has some remaining emotions."

“When he had just achieved some results in his Taoism, he did make a special trip back to fulfill his promise to the ancestor of the Jiang family. It was a pity that the ancestor of the Jiang family was not blessed and did not wait for him for a few days;”

“After that, he was in seclusion in the Ten Thousand Mountains, and he was not able to stay out of the world and avoid the hustle and bustle. When he saw Senior Lin and Wu Feiyan being hunted by the Qing army, he, as a Han Chinese, also lent a hand to the two;”

“So it seems that when he gave Senior Lin the ring in the hope that he would support the Han Dynasty, it was not just a casual remark. In his opinion, this ring could really support the Han Dynasty in that era. Otherwise, if it only had the function of teleporting in times of crisis, how could it have defeated the millions of soldiers of the Qing Dynasty at that time.”

At this point, he asked Lin Wan'er (Alani), “Miss Lin, what other hidden abilities do you think this ring has?”

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said, “I dare not say anything about other things, but the recipe of the Hundred Turns and Thousands of Returns Pill should be related to the ring. Wu Feiyan's biggest motivation for wanting it is to get the Hundred Turns and Thousands of Returns Pill. “Return to the recipe of the elixir, and start your next five hundred years.”

charlie nodded and smacked his lips and said, “Perhaps it is also a magic weapon that contains an attack formation, but I am not strong enough and have not yet discovered its ability in this regard.”

As he said, charlie held the steering wheel with one hand, took out the ring from his pocket with the other hand, pinched it on his fingertips and looked at it, wondering, “When Meng Changsheng (Willie) gave the ring to Senior Lin, the Qing army had already swept across the Central Plains. If he really thought that this thing could help Senior Lin support the Han Dynasty, then it must have the strength to resist millions of soldiers...”

charlie suddenly felt a little yearning.

If this speculation is true, then this ring should be a magic weapon.

Of course, the ability of extreme teleportation is indeed very strong, but it looks more like a passive defensive life-saving skill. If you rely on this passive skill to overthrow the Qing court in that era, I am afraid you will have to die at least tens of thousands or even hundreds of thousands of times.

Moreover, the function of the ring cannot be recycled in this way. After each use, a large amount of spiritual energy must be injected into it. If it were not for the support of a large amount of elixirs, it would probably still be half-dead and unable to recover. It would be a pipe dream to want to restore the ring.

Therefore, if the ring is only capable of this, Meng Changsheng (Willie) gave it to Lin Zhulu and asked him to go out of the mountains alone to support the Han Dynasty. It is as unreasonable as the nine-headed insect in Journey to the West telling Benboerba to get rid of Tang Monk and his disciples.

At this time, Lin Wan'er (Alani) asked charlie: "Sir, you have been injecting spiritual energy into it before, have you ever tested how much spiritual energy it can hold?"

charlie shook his head and said self-deprecatingly: "Who dares to keep trying it... Every time I try, it can drain almost all of my spiritual energy in a very short time. I use Peiyuan Pills to replenish the spiritual energy, and it will drain it all in an instant. This has been repeated several times and there is still no sign of it stopping. It feels like no amount of spiritual energy is enough to fill its needs. It's like a bottomless pit. I have a limited number of Peiyuan Pills, so I have never been willing to try."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded slightly in understanding: "Spiritual energy is precious and invaluable. Compared to this, if it is really such an endless attempt, it is really a bit heartbreaking. "

After saying that, she added: "But Sir, this ring has saved your life after all. If you had not injected spiritual energy into it at the beginning, I am afraid it would not play a decisive role at the critical moment. So I think that even if you increase your investment in the ring, you will definitely get its rewards in the future. It saved you once, and it will definitely not let you down in the future. "

charlie nodded slightly and said: "After returning to China, I will take the time to refine another batch of Peiyuan Pills. At that time, I will go all out to build a furnace of Peiyuan Pills to see what effect it has! "

The vehicle drove in the dark night of Northern Europe for nearly ten hours. After spending less than two hours of daytime, it quickly turned into that kind of extremely ethereal black.

For the sake of convenience, the two decided to go directly to the Nordic royal family's holiday home after arriving in Lingen.

The Nordic royal family's holiday home is built on the gentle slope of the top of the hill in the north of Ling'en. A small road leads directly to the foot of the mountain, and the road ahead is blocked by an iron fence.

charlie took out the key given to him by the Nordic royal family's butler, got out of the car and opened the iron fence, and then drove all the way up the mountain.

The mountain here is not high or steep. On the contrary, the mountain here is like a bowl of rice turned upside down on the table. Not only is the terrain very flat, but even the lines are very soft.

This holiday home of the Nordic royal family is a very simple and elegant wooden building. The house is very large, with nine bedrooms, and the living room, study, and dining room are all available. It can accommodate at least 20 to 30 people living here.

charlie and Lin Wan'er (Alani) parked the car at the door of the holiday home and opened the door with the key. Although no one has lived here for a long time, the royal family has special people who come to ventilate and clean regularly, so the room is spotlessly clean, and the weather here is relatively dry, so there is no peculiar smell in the room.

In the middle of the huge living room, there is a real fire fireplace. Unlike many people in the city who use fireplaces as a decoration element, the fireplace here is the real source of heating for the house.

In winter, the mountains are covered with snow, and there is cold air from the north, so the weather here is also very cold. charlie saw some chopped firewood next to the fireplace, so he took some and lit the fireplace.

As the fire in the fireplace burned more and more vigorously, the coldness in the holiday home was gradually dispelled, and gradually reached a comfortable temperature.

Lin Wan'er (Alani) visited the layout and structure of the holiday house, and came back to say to charlie: "Sir, the rooms here are all very good, with complete facilities. Each floor has a large suite similar to the master bedroom. If you don't mind, why not live in the largest room on the first floor, and I will live next to you."

charlie said casually: "The largest room is for you, and I will sleep in the room next to you."

Upon hearing this, charlie Wade ignored his splitting headache and looked in the direction where the aurora appeared.

The aurora, which was originally like a wave vertically between the sky and the earth, suddenly seemed to be controlled by some force and began to twist in the same direction like a whirlpool. The original aurora seemed to be broken into molecules, and countless points of light began to slowly rotate in the air.

charlie Wade was amazed. Lin Wan'er (Alani) beside him blurted out, "How come this aurora suddenly looks like countless fireflies..."

charlie Wade agreed and said: "Miss Lin's description is very appropriate. The originally large patches of aurora now look like countless fireflies. Now those 'fireflies' have begun to disperse and rotate around a center. I really don't understand why this is happening..."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said solemnly, "It looks like a firefly, but it's not a firefly. This aurora is like ocean waves. Although ocean waves are made up of countless water droplets, it is impossible for water droplets to violate the physical laws of ocean waves. This seems a little strange..."

As she was speaking, Lin Wan'er (Alani) suddenly pointed at the green vortex spinning in the air and blurted out, "Look, sir! The aurora seems to be changing its form!"

Looking at the vortex again, it was no longer rotating vertically between heaven and earth.

The whirlpool seemed to have come to life. It began to tilt toward the horizontal plane until it was completely parallel to the sea level.

charlie Wade and Lin Wan'er (Alani) were watching the whirlpool spinning below and were so shocked that they were speechless.

charlie Wade couldn't help but pull Lin Wan'er (Alani), and the two of them ran all the way up the hill towards the swirling vortex.

Although Lin Wan'er (Alani) was panting, she did not dare to delay for a moment and followed charlie Wade's rhythm with all her strength.

A moment later, the two of them arrived under the vortex. When they looked up, they saw the vortex composed of green light spots spinning silently above their heads. charlie Wade had never seen such a magnificent sight before, and he couldn't help but say, "This... looks like the Milky Way..."

"Yes..." Lin Wan'er (Alani), who was holding hands with charlie Wade, looked up and exclaimed, "Countless points of light are spinning silently in the air. This feeling is just like the magnificent Milky Way I saw on the Qinghai-Tibet Plateau..."

After that, she asked charlie Wade: “Sir, what is the reason for this? I think this is definitely not a natural phenomenon. There must be some force affecting the aurora!”

charlie Wade blurted out: “I just felt as if something rushed out of my brain. I don’t know if it was an illusion.”

As he said that, he quickly took out the ring that Lin Wan’er (Alani) gave him, and found that the ring was still there and had not disappeared.

Moreover, the ring didn’t move at all at this time, and it seemed that the aurora didn’t seem to be related to it.

Seeing charlie Wade take out the ring, Lin Wan’er (Alani) quickly asked him, “Sir, do you feel any changes in the ring? Or any fluctuations?”

“No...” charlie Wade said, “It is lifeless at the moment, without any movement. It doesn’t seem to be related to it.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) asked hurriedly, “Does the young master have any other magic weapons?”

“Magic weapon?” charlie Wade smiled awkwardly, “I do have a Thunder Token, which was made from the lightning-struck wood of Pu Cha’s mother, but it seems that it has no movement.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) asked again: “Besides this, is there nothing else?”

“No more...” charlie Wade said, “A true magical weapon is extremely precious. I have only obtained two true magical weapons so far. One is the ring you gave me, and the other is the medicine cauldron that the head of Taizhen Dao lost to me.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) asked, “Sir, did you bring the medicine cauldron with you?”
