Chapter 7122

“If he did that,” Jadiel said, “and you regrew two hands in the hospital, it would be the greatest medical miracle in human history. The entire medical community would come to see how you did it. You’d be the focus of every scientist in the world. Do you really think he’d risk exposing the existence of the pill?”

Wu Shuhang finally understood. “Grandpa, you’re right. The hospital is the safest place for me now. I’ll go immediately!”

“Go on,” Jadiel said. “You’ve been through a lot, and your body needs to recover. Stay in the hospital, and when the time is right, we’ll get you out. If not, just stay calm and wait.”

“Understood!” Wu Shuhang replied. “I’ll go now!”

After hanging up, Wu Shuhang struggled to hide his severed left hand in Andre’s clothes, then contacted Dong Mingchao from Moore Trade.

When Dong Mingchao saw the scene, he was shocked.

Wu Shuhang didn’t explain much and ordered, “Dispose of General Yuan’s body discreetly. Make sure nothing is left behind. Use a biochemical-grade body bag, burn it, and bury the remains. General Yuan committed suicide by poison, and his poison is extremely toxic. Anyone who touches it risks their life.”

Dong Mingchao nodded and said, “Understood, Grand Commander. I’ll handle it immediately!”

Wu Shuhang continued, “Drive me to the largest hospital in Casablanca. I’ll be staying there for the next few days. Tell the hospital it was a work-related injury and cover my medical expenses. Make sure I have a private room.”

Dong Mingchao quickly agreed, “Yes, Grand Commander, I’ll take care of everything!”

Later that night, the largest hospital in Casablanca admitted a seriously injured man. According to him, both his hands had been crushed by a machine and couldn’t be reattached.

The doctors treated his wounds, gave him blood transfusions, and administered antibiotics to prevent infection. His boss paid for him to have a private room.

Lying in the hospital bed, Wu Shuhang finally felt a sense of relief. Though both of his hands were gone, he knew his luck had changed.

Meanwhile, Charlie Wade had already left Casablanca with Li Yalin, heading for Spain by boat. However, their plan wasn't to stay in Spain—they would use it as a transit point to fly back to Northern Europe under new identities.

As they sailed, Li Yalin received an alert via satellite and said to Charlie Wade, "Mr. Wade, AI found Wu Shuhang in a hospital in Casablanca through facial recognition and captured an image of his missing hands."

He handed the phone to Charlie Wade, who smiled at the image of Wu Shuhang, both hands gone, walking through the emergency room with the help of another man.

Charlie Wade laughed, "Sara is really vengeful. Wu Shuhang's left hand grew from one of my Remodeling Pills, which is worth at least hundreds of billions. And she just had it chopped off!

When Charlie Wade and Li Yalin returned to Northern Europe together, Lin Wan'er (Alani) had already been in a hot relationship with Queen Helena.

It was late winter in Northern Europe, and there was only enough time for one meal during the day. The whole country had entered a semi-hibernation state, and the royal family was the same.

Every year in late winter, the Norwegian royal family entered its annual rest period, and foreign affairs activities and domestic public activities were basically vacant. The queen also entered a state of seclusion where she would not show up unless necessary, so Helena basically had few things to deal with, and she was basically with Lin Wan'er (Alani) every day.

The farm that Charlie Wade entrusted her to buy had been cleaned up, and the two would stay on the farm for half a day whenever they were free. In addition to playing with cats and dogs on the farm, they would also take care of the animals on the farm.

After a few days of contact, Helena became more and more curious about Lin Wan'er (Alani).

She found that although Lin Wan'er (Alani) looked very young, she was very calm and could learn many things without a teacher. She was very smart. Sometimes she didn't understand why a girl of 17 or 18 could master so many unpopular skills, and even feeding cows and horses could amaze professional farmers.

Lin Wan'er (Alani) attributed it to talent. There are always some people who are born to do certain things, and she is most suitable for taking care of animals and flowers.

After Charlie Wade and Li Yalin arrived at the palace, they learned from Susan, the housekeeper of the royal family, that the queen went to the farm with Lin Wan'er (Alani) to relax. Charlie Wade wanted them to have fun and not to tell them about his return in a hurry, but Susan still quietly told Helena, so she and Lin Wan'er (Alani) couldn't wait to rush back to the palace.

After Charlie Wade left for a few days, the two missed him very much. Knowing that he was back, they naturally looked forward to rushing back to meet him.

Seeing Charlie Wade again, Lin Wan'er (Alani) seemed much calmer. She just smiled and called Charlie Wade "brother". Helena, on the other hand, kept asking about Charlie Wade's well-being and whether his trip to Morocco was going well. She knew that there was a big industrial accident in Morocco and knew that it must be Charlie Wade's fault, so she was particularly concerned.

Charlie Wade said to the two of them, "This trip to Morocco was generally smooth and we gained a lot. Most of the people in the Right Army Governor's Office have been controlled by me. I will be the first to know about their movements in the future."

Charlie Wade said to Helena, "Helena, you should hurry up and upgrade the monitoring system of the palace and the surrounding area within a few kilometers. Equip all guards, sentinels and security personnel responsible for patrol and alert with portable recorders, and they must be equipped with devices that can upload video images to the cloud in real time, and then all monitoring equipment data is synchronized to Ai's server in real time. "

Helena asked curiously, "What is Mr. Wade's consideration?"

Charlie Wade said, "According to the territorial division of the Po Qing Society, the whole of Europe, except Russia, is under the responsibility of the Right Army Governor's Office, and Northern Europe is naturally no exception. If the Po Qing Society sends people to Northern Europe in the future, they must be from the Right Army Governor's Office. Ai has mastered a large number of facial features of members of the Right Army Governor's Office. As long as they appear, they can be warned immediately. "

Helena nodded and said, "I understand, Mr. Wade, don't worry, I will arrange it tomorrow to upgrade the security system. "

"Okay." Charlie Wade said, "You have been hard at work taking care of Wan'er for me these days. I have been out for so long, and things are almost done. We should go back."

Helena asked him hurriedly, "Mr. Wade, you just came back from Morocco, don't you want to rest for a few days before leaving?"

"No." Charlie Wade smiled and said, "There are still many things to do in Aurous Hill, so I won't delay any longer. I plan to set off early tomorrow morning."
