

The amazing son in law - The Amazing Son In Law

Chapter 7153

Hearing charlie Wade's words, Aurora felt as if her adrenaline surged instantly, and her fighting spirit was extremely high!

Looking at Haley Swain again, her eyes were full of the excitement of a hunter catching prey.

At this time, Haley Swain had just been hit hard on the waist by Aurora, and her whole body was instantly relieved. In such a short time, she could not adjust back to her state at all.

At this time, Aurora had already rushed towards him like a bloodthirsty cheetah.

Haley Swain wanted to dodge, but his reaction speed was no match for Aurora. Before his lower body could stand firm, Aurora had already rushed to him.

At this time, Aurora learned from the experience and lessons just now. She did not expose her chest to the opponent, but leaned forward to protect her chest, and at the same time, she made a bottom-fishing move and hit Haley Swain's chin with a full-strength hook directly from below.

Aurora leaned forward 45 degrees, and her center of gravity was not on her lower body, but leaned forward with her body. At this time, if the opponent reacted quickly enough, he could hold her head and attack her face to face.

In normal professional fighting, such actions are rarely seen.

However, Aurora no longer considered this risk.

She knew that the opponent's speed was not as fast as hers. As long as she took the initiative, the opponent would not be able to break through anyway.

And the reason why she did this was because she was taught by charlie Wade to completely defeat the opponent!

Seeing Aurora suddenly attacking, Hayley Swain wanted to raise her hand to block it, but it was too late. Aurora's heavy fist went straight through his arms that he had not had time to close, and hit his chin from bottom to top. With a bang, he only felt a crisp sound from his mandible, as if a bone fracture had occurred.

What was even more terrible was that the force of this punch was so great that it not only broke his jaw, but also caused his entire brain to be severely damaged instantly, just like a heavy old monitor suddenly fell to the ground from a height of two meters. With a loud bang, the screen instantly went black.

Hayley Swain's eyes went dark, and the whole person immediately lost consciousness and fell backwards.

The audience at the scene burst into thunderous applause that almost overturned the venue. No one expected that Aurora's counterattack would be so fierce, just like a small Beetle car provoked by a muscle car on the road, which instantly turned into a 100-ton heavy truck and directly crushed the opponent. It was extremely shocking.

The referee immediately came to Hayley Swain and began to count loudly.

When the referee shouted five, Hayley Swain regained consciousness a little. He kicked his legs randomly on the ground, as if he wanted to stand up, but his legs had no power at all. After struggling for a few seconds, his body hardly moved.

As the referee's ten-second countdown ended, Hayley Swain still couldn't stand up.

So the referee came directly to Aurora, raised her right hand, and announced loudly: "The champion of the women's group of this competition is, Aurora!"

The scene was once again drowned in thunderous cheers.

Aurora's female coach also rushed to the stage and hugged her tightly, while Hayley Swain's coaching team could only go up to the stage and help him down from the ring.

At this time, although Aurora was surrounded by many people, her eyes were always looking for Charlie Wade's figure. Soon, she found Charlie Wade with a smile on his face in the crowd in the front row. At this moment, she was extremely excited and couldn't help waving to Charlie Wade vigorously, shouting loudly: "Master Wade! Master Wade!"

The two looked at each other, Charlie Wade nodded to her, and then Charlie Wade pointed to the passage backstage, and Aurora immediately understood.

The two of them definitely couldn't communicate normally in such a place, and there was a men's final to be played soon. Aurora had to leave the stage and rest temporarily. After the men's final, she would go on stage with other award-winning members to receive the award.

Charlie Wade pointed to the backstage, which meant that he wanted to go backstage to talk to her.

Aurora immediately said to the coach beside her: "Coach HALL, did you see the handsome guy in black in the first row? He is my..."

At this point, Aurora suddenly got stuck.

She didn't know how to describe the relationship between her and Charlie Wade to the coach. Should she say they were friends? She had always respected Charlie Wade very much, and even her father respected him. If she said they were friends, it would obviously lack respect.

If she said he was a teacher, there would be no problem in essence, but that would definitely arouse the curiosity of the coach.

She knew that Charlie Wade had always been low-key and didn't want outsiders to know too much about him.

Seeing that Aurora was vague and didn't know how to describe it, the coach said with a look of "I know you" and smiled: "Your boyfriend came from China to cheer for you? It's really thoughtful, and this guy is handsome, and you are a good match."

Aurora was a little embarrassed for a moment, but the surroundings were in a mess, and he didn't want to explain too much, so he whispered in the coach's ear: "Coach HALL, please take him to the backcourt later, okay?"

The coach agreed without hesitation and said with a smile: "Okay! You go down and rest first, I will take him to see you later."

Aurora had just won the championship, and the coach was very happy at this time. Although it was a bit against the rules of the competition to bring someone into the backcourt casually, this kind of thing was originally turned a blind eye. She hung the coach's badge and brought someone in, and the staff would not stop her.
