

The Amazing Son in Law/Super Hero Charlie Wade - Charlie Wade

Chapter 7266

As their meetings increased, Charlie Wade grew increasingly disdainful of Mitsui Yoshitaka.

Despite his lofty social status and powerful family background, Mitsui Yoshitaka's personal abilities and vision were notably unimpressive.

Given that Mitsui Shinmi was Nanako's best friend, Charlie Wade felt obligated to see things through to the end.

After resolving Tawanna's immediate issues, he said to Mitsui Yoshitaka, "It's about time you let your brother in."

Mitsui Yoshitaka's expression shifted to excitement as he bit his back teeth and said fiercely, "Honestly, Mr. Wade, I can't wait to see his reaction when he sees me!"

Having already spent too much time there, Charlie Wade was eager to leave and said, "With Hattori Hanzo and the Superintendent managing the situation, he won't be able to stir up any trouble. I won't waste more time here."

Mitsui Yoshitaka quickly asked, "Mr. Wade, are you leaving?"

"Yes," Charlie Wade replied. "Make sure you handle the aftermath properly. I don't want any Japanese police coming after me."

"Don't worry, Mr. Wade," Mitsui Yoshitaka assured him hurriedly. "I'll take care of everything and ensure there's no trouble for you!"

Charlie Wade nodded in satisfaction, then turned to Tawanna and Trevor. "Both of you should rest well tonight. Relax, and I'll see you in China."

Trevor, now idolizing Charlie Wade, said eagerly, "Thank you, Mr. Wade! I'm looking forward to seeing you again!"

Tawanna, on the other hand, appeared disappointed. Hesitantly, she asked, "Mr. Wade, may I have your contact information?"

Concerned her motives might be misunderstood, she quickly added, "It's primarily because there's still a lot of work to coordinate later. I'm worried it might become inconvenient."

Charlie Wade nodded and asked, "Do you use WeChat?"

“No...” Tawanna asked hesitantly, “Is WhatsApp or Instagram okay?”

charlie Wade replied, “You should download WeChat. I’ll give you my WeChat ID. Once you’ve downloaded it, register an account and add me. I’m not used to American apps.”

“Okay!” Tawanna agreed immediately, handing her phone to charlie Wade with respect. “Please enter your number, and I’ll save it.”

charlie Wade entered his WeChat ID into her phone and then turned to Fei Kexin. “Miss Fei, would you like to join us?”

“Sure!” Fei Kexin responded promptly, preparing to leave with charlie Wade.

As charlie Wade said his goodbyes and prepared to leave, Mitsui Xinmei seemed disheartened that he hadn’t acknowledged her. Eagerly, she offered, “Mr. Wade, let me escort you out. I’m concerned the police outside might not recognize you, which could cause communication issues.”

charlie Wade responded, “Your uncle is still outside.”

“That’s alright,” Mitsui Xinmei said quickly. “I’ll take you out through another exit.”

charlie Wade nodded. “Then I’ll trouble you, Miss Mitsui.”

Turning to her father and the Superintendent of Police, Mitsui Xinmei said, “Thank you, Mr. Watanabe. I’ll escort Mr. Wade through the other exit so the police won’t have any misunderstandings.”

“Of course,” the Superintendent of Police replied. Though he didn’t know charlie Wade’s identity, Mitsui Yoshitaka’s respectful demeanor toward him left no room for questions.

Mitsui Xinmei led charlie Wade and Fei Kexin to an alternate exit. Thanks to the Superintendent’s notice, the police didn’t stop or question them. At the exit, Mitsui Xinmei bowed slightly and said politely, “Thank you, Mr. Wade and Miss Fei. Xinmei won’t accompany you further.”

charlie Wade nodded. “Miss Mitsui, please return.”

Chapter 7267

After bidding farewell to Mitsui Xinmei, charlie Wade and Fei Kexin exited the dome together. As they walked, Fei Kexin couldn’t help but sigh, “If not for you, Mr. Wade, Japan might have made international headlines today.”

charlie Wade said, “If it weren’t for love and the special circumstances, I really wouldn’t want Japan to benefit from my efforts.”

Fei Kexin smiled and nodded before asking, “Mr. Wade, who do you plan to entrust with organizing Tawana’s dozens of concerts?”

charlie Wade replied, "I intend to let Bruce Automobile exclusively sponsor and host them. Tawana is an incredibly famous singer, and she has never held a concert in China. These concerts will undoubtedly attract unprecedented attention. This is a fantastic opportunity for Bruce Automobile to promote itself. With so many brands competing and various marketing strategies in play, keeping a brand visible is crucial. The higher the exposure, the better."

Fei Kexin agreed, saying, "Bruce Automobile held a press conference recently, which garnered a lot of attention. However, a press conference is merely an initial warm-up. Without a tangible car model to showcase, interest may fade over time. If Tawana holds 50 concerts exclusively sponsored by Bruce Automobile, the brand can maintain continuous exposure until the first car model is launched."

She added, "I also think Tawana greatly admires and is grateful to you, Mr. Wade. In the future, she could even become an image ambassador for Bruce Automobile."

charlie Wade said, "As a national brand, the global spokesperson for Bruce Automobile should be a talent from Huaxia. I already have someone suitable in mind. However, when we expand into the European and American markets, Tawana could be considered as a regional ambassador."

For the global image ambassador of Bruce Automobile, charlie Wade had already chosen the ideal candidate: Stefanie sun.

Bruce Automobile was established to honor his father, Bruce, and everyone familiar with the wade family knew about their close relationship with the Sun family. Orrin sun and Bruce wade were sworn brothers. Beyond his engagement to Stefanie sun, the deep ties between the two families made her the perfect choice to represent the brand.

Fei Kexin, guessing charlie Wade's thoughts, smiled and asked, "The best candidate in your mind is Miss Stefanie sun, isn't it?"

"Yes," charlie Wade nodded. "It's her."

Fei Kexin nodded in agreement and said, "I also think Miss Sun is an excellent choice. If Bruce Automobile's first model includes a neutral or even a feminine design, it would be even better!"

charlie Wade smiled and replied, "I'll need to ask Professor hank what type of model Bruce Automobile's first car will be—an SUV or a C-class sedan."

Fei Kexin remarked, "Many new brands tend to start with SUVs, but I personally think SUVs often alienate female users. In that regard, Remi's decision to debut with a C-class sedan was very well-targeted. A sedan has a neutral appeal without leaning too much toward either gender, and its sporty design resonates with a younger audience. By offering feminine, personalized paint options, they successfully attract female buyers. If Bruce Automobile plans to have Miss Sun as its spokesperson, launching with a sports sedan would align perfectly."

charlie Wade smiled and said, "That's an excellent suggestion, Miss Fei. When I return to Aurous Hill, I'll meet with Professor hank and share your insights with him!"

Chapter 7268

When charlie Wade returned to the hotel, he received a friend request on WeChat from Tawana.

After accepting the request, Tawana informed him that Mitsui Yoshitaka's brother, Mitsui Yoshiyasu, had been captured by Hattori Hanzo and the Iga Ninja. She also mentioned that she and Trevor had returned to the Mitsui family manor with Mitsui Xinmei.

In addition to providing the update, Tawana expressed her gratitude to charlie Wade once again. Tired of hearing repeated thanks, charlie Wade responded, "You've been through a lot. Get some rest tonight."

Tawana initially wanted to continue chatting with charlie Wade on WeChat, but seeing his lack of interest, she tactfully said, "Alright, Mr. Wade, you should rest too. You must be exhausted today."

When charlie Wade entered the hotel room, he found Loreen and Claire browsing social media. The unusual sight of several police helicopters flying over earlier had caused a stir online. Although the details were unclear, many speculated that something significant had occurred, as such a large police presence was highly unusual.

Seeing charlie Wade return, Claire quickly asked, "Honey, did something happen at the Dome? Social media is buzzing about it—there are videos of helicopters flying over. It looks really serious."

Loreen, still scrolling through her phone, added, "Some rumors claim there was an assassination attempt, possibly targeting Tawana."

charlie Wade smiled and replied, "That's nonsense. I was there, and there was no assassination."

Suspicious, Loreen pressed, "Then why were there so many police officers? You must have noticed something if you were at the scene."

"An exercise," charlie Wade lied, hoping to keep them from worrying or spreading rumors. "It looked like an anti-terrorism drill. I didn't get the details since I was busy discussing Feng Shui with Mr. Mitsui. I left once we wrapped up."

Feigning curiosity, he added, "Is the internet really blowing this out of proportion? Let me take a look."

charlie Wade casually browsed a few social media platforms and was surprised to find that the news had already begun spreading online.

Although no gunshots were heard at the scene, the sight of numerous police helicopters couldn't be concealed. Some users even shared videos of SWAT officers rappelling from helicopters onto a nearby building.

charlie Wade realized that even without solid evidence of an assassination attempt on Tawana, social media speculation could not be allowed to spiral. While most people might not be aware of the underground network's involvement, those connected to it would still grasp the situation. If someone anonymously disclosed the incident, it would undoubtedly spark widespread discussion, given the internet's reach. Regardless of whether any conclusions were drawn, it wouldn't bode well for Tawana.

To address this, Charlie Wade contacted Fei Kexin via WeChat, asking her to inform Mitsui Yoshitaka. He suggested that Mitsui Yoshitaka and the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Department release a joint statement claiming the events were part of an anti-terrorism drill at the Dome.

The Tokyo Dome, being the largest performance venue in the city, regularly hosts concerts by top stars and is a potential target for terrorist attacks. Conducting anti-terrorism drills there was entirely plausible.

Shortly after, the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Department announced the exercise through television and online media.

Tokyo TV, which was airing a variety show, interrupted with an emergency bulletin:

Chapter 7269

“Breaking news: At 10:35 p.m. tonight, the Tokyo anti-terrorism police conducted a rapid-response assault drill at the Dome. The exercise simulated a scenario where terrorists held the venue hostage or threatened to destroy it during a large-scale performance.

To maintain realism, no prior notice was given, not even to the participating SWAT officers. This approach showcased the exceptional mobility and preparedness of Tokyo's special police force in handling emergencies. The exercise has concluded successfully, and the SWAT teams are now evacuating the site in an orderly manner. The Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department praised the drill highly and assured the public that there is no cause for alarm.”

The video, broadcast in multiple languages for about 10 minutes, quickly put an end to the speculation. As soon as it aired, Loreen lost interest in gossiping and scrolling through her phone. Tossing it aside, she complained, “What? I thought there was going to be some big drama, but it turns out it was just an exercise.”

Claire chuckled and said, “Tokyo's public security seems solid. The chances of something major happening are probably low. Besides, you can't always hope for others to get into trouble.”

“That's not it,” Loreen replied with a grin. “I'm not wishing for trouble—I'm just curious!”

She then added, “By the way, Charlie Wade, the video of you calling out Tawana earlier has gone viral online! What you said was logical and convincing, and even her fans agree with you. People are now calling you ‘the man who educated Tawana.’ Everyone's curious about who you really are. If you went live right now, you'd be famous! With millions of fans, you could even start doing live-stream sales!”

charlie Wade smiled and replied, "I'm not interested in being in the public eye. I'd rather stay low-key. Plus, many so-called human rights organizations have an extreme approach. I don't want to be associated with them in any way."

"True," Loreen nodded. "Some environmental groups in Europe are especially extreme. They block entire roads, even stopping ambulances. I wonder if they'd still call an ambulance if it were them or their families needing one."

"Of course, they would," charlie Wade said with a smile. "Most extreme environmentalists aren't real activists; they make a living off this. There's capital backing them. For instance, if European corporations want to develop nuclear energy, they'll have environmentalists criticize coal power. If they want to promote artificial protein in the future, you can bet those same activists will protest traditional farming."

Loreen nodded in agreement. "That makes sense. Most of them are just hypocrites."

At that moment, the news looping on TV managed to silence much of the idle speculation from those who had been guessing wildly online.

Compared to revealing that a bloody battle took place that night with one or two hundred casualties, people found the explanation of an exercise much easier to accept.

Since the authorities officially addressed the situation, there wasn't much room for gossip or speculation online, and the matter was quickly subdued.

Shortly after, Tawana's team began flooding the internet with official photos and videos from her performance.

As a traffic powerhouse, Tawana's influence was undeniable. Once the stunning photos and videos of her performance were released, fans swiftly propelled the event to the top of major platform headlines. This effectively diverted public attention away from the special police activity.

charlie Wade couldn't help but admire Tawana's extraordinary influence. With just a few performance photos and videos, she managed to redirect most people's focus. If such a star were to collaborate with bruce Automobile and perform in China, the brand's reputation would likely reach unprecedented heights!

Chapter 7270

The Japanese people have fully embraced the art of performance. Even after Tawana's show, the city remains electrified, basking in the afterglow of the spectacle.

Late into the night, vehicles roam the streets blaring Tawana's songs, accompanied by the frenzied cheers of devoted fans.

Amid this lively atmosphere, key figures like the Metropolitan Police Department, the Mitsui family, the Yamaguchi Group, the Inagawa Association, and the Sumiyoshi Association are preoccupied with a grim task—managing the aftermath.

One by one, a large number of bodies are removed and discreetly transported for disposal. The scenes are meticulously cleaned and disinfected repeatedly to erase all traces.

Mitsui Xinmei returns home, still shaken. She can't help but replay images of Charlie Wade and his pivotal role in today's events. Deep in thought, she becomes mesmerized and eventually decides to call Ito Nanako to share the night's occurrences.

Upon hearing the account, Ito Nanako remains unfazed. She responds warmly, "Charlie Wade-kun is someone you can always trust and depend on. He saved me just as he saved you today. That kind of feeling stays with you forever."

Curious, Mitsui Xinmei asks her best friend, "Nanako, are you in love with him?"

"Of course," Ito Nanako replies without hesitation. "Not only do I love him, but I'd also give my life for him if needed."

Shocked, Mitsui Xinmei exclaims, "Isn't that a bit extreme?"

Ito Nanako smiles. "Not at all. When you truly love someone, you elevate them above yourself."

Mitsui Xinmei sighs, "I envy you, Nanako."

"Why envy me?" Ito Nanako asks gently. "When you fall in love, you'll feel the same way."

Playfully, she adds, "And if you fall for Charlie Wade-kun, you'll understand my feelings completely."

"Ah, this..." Mitsui Xinmei stammers, caught off guard.

Sanjing Xinmei stammered nervously, "... I didn't mean it that way... I just... I just feel that Mr. Wade is unlike anyone I've ever met."

Ito Nanako nodded. "He is truly different from others."

Sanjing Xinmei agreed, saying, "Yes, even Odo-san seemed somewhat embarrassed in front of him today. As Odo-san's only daughter, I probably shouldn't speak of him this way to others, but I have to admit that although Odo-san is the head of the Sanjing family, he falls short of Mr. Wade in every aspect."

Today's events had a profound effect on Sanjing Xinmei's view of her father. For her, Sanjing Yoshitaka had always been a figure of authority, adept at achieving his goals during times of ease. But true strength, she realized, is revealed in the face of adversity.

Sanjing Yoshitaka's inability to rise to the occasion had diminished the pedestal she had placed him on. In contrast, Charlie Wade's composure and capability in difficult moments highlighted the qualities that fascinated Sanjing Xinmei.

Ito Nanako said thoughtfully, "Odo-san and Mr. Wade had conflicts in the past. Odo-san gained nothing from him and even lost billions. I felt just like you do now. People like Odo-san, born into privilege, have never faced true hardship. Mr. Wade, on the other hand, has climbed out of the depths through his own efforts. If you spend more time with him, you'll realize he has so many admirable qualities beyond our reach."

Mitsui Xinmei couldn't help but ask, "Do you know that Mr. Wade is married?"

"I do," Ito Nanako replied with a gentle smile. "Isn't that why he came to Japan this time, to accompany his wife to Tawana's concert?"

Xinmei hesitated before asking, "You know he has a wife, but you still love him so deeply. Isn't that... painful?"