

The Amazing son in law/Super Hero Charlie Wade - Charlie Wade Chapter 7286

When Tawana's plane landed in Aurous Hill, a crowd of enthusiastic fans erupted into cheers.

Around Aurous Hill Airport, some people set up live-streaming equipment to capture the entire process of Tawana's plane appearing over Aurous Hill and landing.

Dozens of these live-streaming channels were active, each attracting thousands or even tens of thousands of real-time viewers.

For Tawana's Chinese fans, this day held immense significance.

The international superstar was visiting China for the first time to host a concert tour. Over the next few days, she would deliver 20 spectacular performances for her Chinese audience.

The Aurous Hill police were on high alert, deploying a significant force to maintain order at the airport.

After Tawana's plane landed, it taxied to a VIP parking area. She and Trevor were then escorted by police to customs to complete their entry procedures.

As Tawana prepared to exit customs, her agent handed her a pair of sunglasses—her signature accessory for airport appearances. Given the fatigue from her flight, the sunglasses would help mask her tired look.

However, Tawana declined the sunglasses, saying, "I'll step out as naturally as possible; it's a gesture of respect."

Her agent was momentarily stunned. Unaware of the deeper meaning behind Tawana's visit to China, she assumed it was just another routine commercial tour.

In truth, this performance tour was of profound personal importance to Tawana.

Escorted by police, she exited customs to face an ecstatic crowd of fans waiting outside. Nearly all major media outlets were present, with flashes illuminating the scene continuously.

Reporters at the front pushed microphones toward her, shouting, "Ms. Tawana, please say a few words to your Chinese fans!"

Tawana paused, took the microphone, and said, "Hello, fans and friends in China! It's a great honor to be here in China and Aurous Hill. Twenty performances are coming your way—are you ready?"

The crowd erupted with excitement. Tawana handed the microphone back to the reporters and proceeded to leave the airport under police escort.

Her staff had sent an advance team ahead of her arrival, ensuring that hotel arrangements, transportation, and venue preparations were already underway. A motorcade organized by her team waited at the airport entrance.

The media, well-informed through various channels, knew that Tawana and her team were staying at the Shangri-La Hotel in Aurous Hill. As soon as Tawana got into her car, reporters rushed to the hotel, eager to capture her arrival.

However, Tawana's motorcade took an unexpected detour. Instead of heading directly to the hotel, it drove to a renowned local restaurant in Aurous Hill, Heaven Springs, a favorite among locals.

Meanwhile, Don Albert, who had reserved the diamond box as instructed, remained unaware of the distinguished guests he was hosting. charlie Wade had only asked him to prepare the room and wait there in person. Since Don Albert rarely followed online trends, he had no idea what was unfolding in Aurous Hill.

Before the reporters could arrive, charlie Wade showed up with Claire. Earlier, charlie Wade had told Claire he wanted to take her out for dinner and spend some quiet time together. She hadn't thought much about it.

After picking her up from work, charlie Wade drove her to Heaven Springs.

Noticing the choice of venue, Claire smiled and said, "Husband, it's just the two of us having dinner. Isn't Heaven Springs a bit too extravagant?"

charlie Wade grinned and replied, "It's not extravagant—it's convenient. I have a good relationship with Don Albert, so think of it as enjoying a free meal with a friend."

Claire hesitated and asked, "Isn't that a bit inappropriate?"

charlie Wade smiled and said, "There's nothing inappropriate about it. Last time I helped his friend with Feng Shui, and now he owes me a big favor."

Claire sighed and said, "In my opinion, Mr. Albert introduced you to the business, so you should owe him a favor. How did it turn into Mr. Albert owing you instead?"

charlie Wade chuckled and replied, "You don't quite get it. When people seek Feng Shui advice, it's like going to a temple for blessings—it's not purely a commercial transaction but a form of help. That's why even if you pay for an amulet at a temple, you still call it seeking blessings rather than just buying a product."

He continued, "In this case, Don Albert's friend needed Feng Shui help and asked him for assistance. Don Albert then came to me. So, Don Albert owes me a favor for helping his friend, and his friend owes him a favor for arranging it."

Claire listened carefully to Charlie Wade's explanation, nodded thoughtfully, and said, "Alright, I think I get it. But still, we can't let Mr. Albert spend too much. When you order later, just pick a few simple home-style dishes."

Charlie Wade laughed and said, "I'm fine with that, but you'll have to convince Don Albert."

As they talked, the car stopped, and Don Albert came out of the restaurant to greet them.

"Ah, Master Wade! Madam Wade!" Don Albert exclaimed enthusiastically, his deference unmistakable as though the words "loyal and devoted" were etched on his face.

Charlie Wade smiled and asked, "Is the box ready?"

Don Albert responded immediately, "Of course, Master Wade! The diamond box is all set, prepared to the highest standards!"

Claire, aware that the diamond box's minimum expense was in the six-figure range, quickly protested, "Mr. Albert, this is far too extravagant for just the two of us. A simple meal would have been more than enough."

Don Albert immediately replied, "How could I do otherwise? Whenever Madam Wade visits Heaven Springs, she must be treated with the highest standards. That's the only way to show my respect for you and Master Wade!"

Claire was at a loss for how to respond. Charlie Wade patted her gently and said, "Let's go upstairs now. Otherwise, it might get crowded soon."

Though unsure of his meaning, Claire nodded and followed Charlie Wade and Don Albert into Heaven Springs.

As Don Albert escorted them to the diamond box, Tawana's motorcade was nearing its destination.

Some reporters trailing the motorcade noticed that it didn't head to Shangri-La upon entering the city. They quickly relayed this update, sparking speculation about Tawana's actual first stop in Aurous Hill.

Many media outlets guessed that she might be visiting one of Aurous Hill's famous attractions. However, this seemed unlikely; after a long journey, heading straight to the hotel to rest would have made more sense. With several days planned in Aurous Hill, Tawana would have plenty of time to explore the city's sights later.

Fans online also joined the conversation, flooding social media with speculations and opinions about her unexpected detour.

When the motorcade pulled into the parking lot of Heaven Springs, it became clear: Tawana's first stop in Aurous Hill was to experience the city's renowned local cuisine.

With media coverage, the name Heaven Springs reached a wider audience, introducing people outside Aurous Hill to this famous local gem for the first time.

Tavana's motorcade came to a stop outside Heaven Springs, where several bodyguards exited the vehicles and positioned themselves on either side of the car she was in.

A staff member from the front passenger seat quickly stepped out and opened the rear door. Tavana and Trevor exited the vehicle one after the other and made their way toward the main entrance of Heaven Springs.

The accompanying media reporters hurriedly scrambled out of their cars, eager to capture photos. Some rushed up to the bodyguards and shouted questions: "Ms. Sweet, why did you choose Heaven Springs as your first stop after arriving in Aurous Hill? Is it because you've heard about Aurous Hill's famous cuisine?"

Tavana smiled warmly and replied, "Yes, I heard about this place before I arrived in China, so I came straight here to try it after landing."

At that moment, Don Albert was serving Charlie Wade and Claire in a private diamond suite. A staff member's voice came through the intercom, "Master Albert, please come downstairs immediately. A major celebrity is visiting our store!"

Don Albert was taken aback and turned to Charlie Wade, asking, "Master Wade, is this your guest?"

"Yes," Charlie Wade confirmed with a smile. "But it's more accurate to call her a client. Go ahead and welcome her."

Don Albert nodded eagerly. "Understood, Master Wade. Please wait a moment while I greet her!"

Claire looked at her husband in astonishment. "Hubby... Could it be Tavana?"

charlie Wade smiled knowingly. “Yes, it’s her.”

Claire was both surprised and delighted. “But... didn’t she just get off the plane? I saw on the news that her first stop was supposed to be Buckingham Palace. Why is she here?”

charlie Wade chuckled. “Her team hired me as the Feng Shui consultant for her 20 performances. The contract is substantial, and as her host, it’s only polite to treat her to a meal.”

“What?” Claire’s eyes widened in disbelief. “Her team hired you as a Feng Shui consultant? Do Americans really believe in this?”

charlie Wade nodded and said, “I didn’t believe it at first, but now I do. Remember when I helped Mr. Mitsui with Feng Shui in Japan? Even they found it convincing.”

Claire asked nervously, “Are we going to have dinner with Tavana later?”

“Yes,” charlie Wade replied with a smile. “I’ll be dining with her and her boyfriend, and I’ll also ask her to help promote Heaven Springs for Don Albert.”

Claire nodded softly and asked, “Then... can we take a photo with her?”

“Of course,” charlie Wade assured her.

When Don Albert came downstairs, Tavana was in the middle of a brief interview with reporters at the entrance.

She had declined interviews at the airport, answering only a single question. The reporters initially expected to meet her at Buckingham Palace but were surprised when the location was changed to Heaven Springs.

After answering a few quick questions, Don Albert stepped outside and invited Tavana to proceed to the diamond suite.

Tavana turned to the reporters and said, “I’m sorry, but today’s interview ends here. My team will arrange a dedicated interview session soon, and you’ll all be invited to join.”

With that, she and Trevor followed Don Albert into Heaven Springs.

The staff politely declined reporters’ requests to enter, but the media didn’t leave. On the contrary, more reporters and fans, alerted by the news, began to gather at Heaven Springs.

Before long, the restaurant became a trending topic on social media. People were curious about what made Heaven Springs special enough for Tavana to visit immediately after landing.

Don Albert was still unaware that immense wealth was about to rain down upon him. He escorted Tavana and Trevor to the diamond suite and said to Charlie Wade and Claire, “Master Wade, Madam Wade, I’ve brought your distinguished guests. Let me know if you need anything.”

Tavana’s eyes lit up with excitement when she saw Charlie Wade. She greeted him warmly, “Hello, Mr. Wade, Mrs. Wade. It’s a pleasure to meet you both again!”

Trevor stepped forward respectfully, adding, “Hello, Mr. Wade, Mrs. Wade!”

Charlie Wade nodded with a smile. “Please, have a seat. Let’s sit and enjoy a meal together today. I’ll do my best to be a gracious host and introduce you to the finest dishes Aurous Hill has to offer.”

Turning to Don Albert, Charlie Wade added, “Don Albert, with Miss Sweet visiting your restaurant today, by tomorrow, it will likely be the most famous restaurant in China. If I recall correctly, the market value of Haidilao Hotpot once reached nearly 100 billion Hong Kong dollars. If you can expand Heaven Springs into a national or even global chain, you might be able to establish your own publicly listed company.”

Don Albert was taken aback and asked, “Master Wade, are you suggesting I open branches?”

“Exactly,” Charlie Wade replied. “Starting tomorrow, your restaurant will become a hotspot where fans flock to check in. This popularity won’t fade quickly. You should seize the opportunity to open branches and spread Heaven Springs across the country.”

Don Albert had never considered expanding Heaven Springs before. As a man of the martial world, he enjoyed running a restaurant where he could host friends and acquaintances. While he took pride in the quality of his food, his focus was on hospitality, not business growth.

Even though Heaven Springs had become known for its delicious cuisine, Don Albert had never envisioned turning it into a larger enterprise.

But Charlie Wade’s words opened his mind to new possibilities. The idea of building a nationally renowned dining brand stirred something within him. The potential earnings aside, the sheer sense of accomplishment was exhilarating.

This was an opportunity Don Albert likely would never have experienced in the city of Aurous Hill.

He couldn’t contain his excitement and eagerly asked Charlie Wade, “Master Wade, can you give me some advice on what to do? To be honest, I started Heaven Springs as a small business, and I have no idea how to make it bigger and stronger.”

charlie Wade smiled reassuringly and said, “Don’t worry about that. Let’s take some time to discuss it in detail later.”

Don Albert was a trusted confidant who had shown absolute loyalty during his time with charlie Wade. In return, charlie Wade had always been generous with elixirs and cultivation guidance. Helping him manage and grow his business was only natural.

Previously, charlie Wade had secured over $100 million for Don Albert to fund the dog farm project. Even with renovations and expansions, the dog farm wouldn’t need nearly that amount. Allocating half of those funds to Heaven Springs’s first phase of expansion would be more than sufficient.

However, charlie Wade couldn’t disclose this in front of his wife. To her, he was just a Feng Shui master.

That’s why he subtly suggested to Don Albert that they discuss the details privately when they had time.

Don Albert immediately understood and was thrilled. He quickly replied, “Thank you, Master Wade, for your guidance. I’ll humbly seek your advice whenever you’re available.”

“Tomorrow,” charlie Wade said. “We’ll set aside some time to talk.”

“Understood!” Don Albert nodded earnestly and added respectfully, “Then I won’t disturb you, Madam wade, or your esteemed guests during your meal.”

Don Albert left the suite, leaving charlie Wade, Claire, and the visiting couple, Tavana and Trevor, to dine in peace.

Noticing that Tavana still looked eager and awestruck while glancing at charlie Wade, Trevor deliberately turned to him and said, “Mr. Wade, I have some exciting news! I’m planning to propose to Tavana!”

Super Hero Charlie Wade - Charlie Wade Chapter 7290

charlie Wade chuckled and said, “Trev, in the West, aren’t proposals supposed to be carefully planned surprises? Why are you casually bringing it up here?”

Feeling a bit awkward, Trevor scratched his head and explained, “Mr. Wade, our situation is a bit unusual. I have to rush back to the U.S. in two days for team training, and I probably won’t get another vacation anytime soon. So, on the plane, Tawanna and I discussed it. She told me to just pick a ring and propose to her. I guess the element of surprise is already gone.”

As he finished, he asked hesitantly, “Mr. Wade, if the proposal goes well, would you be willing to be a witness at our wedding?”

charlie Wade smiled and replied, “Isn’t it customary for Americans to have a pastor as the witness?”

Trevor quickly added, “That’s true, but we can change the ceremony a bit. We could take our vows with the pastor first and then hold a fusion wedding where you’d be our witness.”

charlie Wade chuckled and said, “You two are public figures, and I prefer to keep a low profile. Your wedding will attract a lot of media attention, so I’d rather not be in the spotlight.”

He continued, “But if you decide to honeymoon in China, I’d be happy to help you arrange a traditional Chinese wedding.”

Trevor immediately agreed, “That would be amazing! Thank you so much, Mr. Wade. I’ll finalize the details with you once the proposal is a success!”

Feeling a little embarrassed, Tawanna turned to Claire and said, “Trevor is such a typical straight man—he has no idea how to surprise a girl. If things continue like this, even if we have a wedding, it’ll be completely anticlimactic.”

Claire laughed and replied, “charlie Wade used to be the same. When we got married, there was no proposal or wedding ceremony. It wasn’t until three years later that we had a make-up ceremony, and that time, he gave me a huge surprise.”

Tawanna was stunned. “What? Why didn’t you have a wedding ceremony when you got married?”

Claire smiled and said, “Our marriage wasn’t based on free choice. My grandfather arranged it before he passed away and insisted we marry quickly. Not long after the wedding, he passed away, and due to complicated family circumstances, we never held a formal ceremony.”

Tawanna was unaware of the hardships charlie Wade faced when he married Claire. At that time, charlie Wade was looked down upon by the entire willson family, and Claire herself was deemed insignificant. Naturally, no one bothered to arrange a wedding for them.

Reflecting on those times, charlie Wade couldn’t help but sigh. Who would have thought that the once-despised son-in-law of the willson family would eventually rise above his circumstances?

Even charlie Wade himself hadn’t imagined this outcome. Everything he achieved was thanks to his late father’s meticulous planning, which gave him the opportunity to escape his struggles and turn his life around.

Learning that charlie Wade and Claire’s marriage was arranged by their elders, Tawanna’s curiosity about charlie Wade only deepened.

Eager to interact with him more, she turned to Claire and said, “Mrs. Wade, when I was in Tokyo, I witnessed the wonders of Feng Shui and saw Mr. Wade’s remarkable expertise firsthand. That’s why we hired him as the Feng Shui Director for our performances here in China. After this season’s shows, Mr. Wade might have to travel with our team for a while. I hope you won’t mind.”

Claire quickly responded, “Of course not. Charlie Wade has traveled for work many times before. I completely understand, as long as he can truly help you.”
