

The Amazing Son in Law /

Super Hero Charlie Wade - Charlie Wade Chapter 7354

He could easily come up with an excuse, like they were still raising funds or hadn't found a secure purchase channel yet. Any reason would buy them a day or two.

However, at this moment, Hank felt some resentment toward them. The reason? They would regain their virility after paying $1 billion, while he, after spending the same amount, would only get treatment for pancreatic cancer.

Once they paid, they might celebrate by throwing extravagant parties—but he wouldn't be able to participate.

Thinking about this, he felt increasingly bitter toward them.

With a sigh, he said, “Mr. Rothschild, to be honest, these people are just waiting on the sidelines. They're hesitant because they want to see what happens to me first.”

“To put it bluntly, they're using me as a test case to determine whether Mr. Wade's abilities are real.”

Steve chuckled and said, “In that case, I should suggest to Mr. Wade that they be charged a late payment fee.”

He then sighed and added, “A fair penalty would be at least $200 million per person. What do you think, Hank?”

Hank replied respectfully, “Mr. Rothschild, Mr. Wade—whatever you both decide, I will fully support it!”

Just as he finished speaking, the door swung open, and Charlie Wade walked in with a smile.

“Hank, what exactly are you so eager to support us in doing?” he asked.

As soon as Hank saw Charlie Wade approaching, he immediately stood up and said respectfully, “Mr. Wade, regarding those who are still hesitating, Mr. Rothschild suggests that if they continue to wait and see, they should be charged a late payment fee.”

Charlie Wade smiled and said, “That's a good idea. Matt, make a note of it and inform them when the time comes.”

Matt Finkelstein immediately responded, “Mr. Wade, don't worry, I've written it down.”

charlie Wade nodded, turned to Hank, and asked, “Hank, is your plane ready? When do you plan to return to the United States?”

Hank quickly replied, “Mr. Wade, my plane is scheduled. It will depart from Aurous Hill International Airport at midnight and head back to New York.”

“Good,” charlie Wade said with a slight smile, patting Hank’s shoulder twice.

A surge of spiritual energy flowed from charlie Wade’s meridians into Hank’s body, gathering directly in his pancreas.

By now, charlie Wade had perfected his control over spiritual energy. There was no longer a need to rely on rejuvenation pills or blood-dispersing pills to treat pancreatic cancer.

He could simply channel spiritual energy into the patient’s body, direct it to the affected area, and allow it to repair the damage naturally, achieving the same healing effect.

Spiritual energy is the fundamental force of all living things. Its most remarkable quality is its immediate response to anything that harms the body’s life source. It has the ability to reshape and restore damaged tissues almost instantly.

Unlike conventional medicine, treating illnesses with spiritual energy does not require specific prescriptions.

For example, if someone catches a cold due to a viral infection, the spiritual energy, once inside the body, will instinctively locate and eliminate the harmful virus while repairing any damage it caused.

Similarly, in the case of cancer, the spiritual energy will systematically eradicate cancerous cells and restore the organs affected by the disease.

In just a short time, Hank’s pancreatic cancer was completely cured.

However, since his illness had not yet caused noticeable symptoms, he had no idea he had already recovered.

He was still wondering when charlie Wade would begin his treatment.

Could it be that he had to wait until after dinner?

Eager to proceed, he quickly turned to Don Albert and said, “Mr. Albert, I appreciate your efforts. Please have the dishes served quickly so that Mr. Wade can treat me after dinner.”

charlie Wade responded casually, “Your illness is already cured. It doesn’t matter whether you eat or not. If you’re not in a hurry to leave, stay and enjoy the meal. If you are, just settle the bill and head to the airport.”

Hank was stunned. “Mr. Wade, when did you cure me? Why don’t I feel anything?”