

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7371

Early in the morning, charlie Wade drove an unassuming business car and left the wade family estate for the airport.

Since Stefanie sun was arriving on a private jet, her itinerary remained unknown to the public.

At dawn, the plane landed. charlie Wade waited outside the VIP terminal as a group of well-trained men and women in black escorted a young woman wearing a peaked cap and a mask toward him.

charlie Wade lowered the passenger-side window, and the moment Stefanie sun spotted him, she took a few quick steps before running toward the car.

Although she was wrapped up tightly, with only her large eyes visible, charlie Wade could still sense the joy and excitement in her expression.

A female bodyguard from the Sun family swiftly stepped forward and opened the passenger door.

Stefanie sun immediately got in, her eyes bright with happiness as she looked at charlie Wade and said sweetly, "Brother charlie Wade, how long have you been waiting?"

charlie Wade smiled. "I just got here a little while ago."

Stefanie sun quickly shut the car door and rolled up the window before turning to him. "Brother charlie Wade, let's go straight home. My parents are waiting for us."

charlie Wade glanced at her. "Uncle sun and Aunt Angie are up this early?"

Stefanie sun grinned. "They usually don't wake up so early, but today is special because we're coming home!"

"I see."

charlie Wade nodded, then drove out of the airport and headed toward the Sun family estate.

By then, the sun had just risen halfway, and the roads in Yanjing were clear. In less than 40 minutes, they arrived at the entrance of the Sun family mansion.

Orrin sun and Angie personally came out to welcome them. As soon as charlie Wade parked the car and stepped out with Stefanie sun, the couple's faces lit up with happiness.

Orrin sun hadn't seen charlie Wade and Stefanie sun for some time. With his daughter abroad during this period, he missed her dearly.

Now, seeing them return together gave him the warm feeling of a daughter visiting her parents' home with her husband after marriage.

He couldn't help but imagine that if they truly got married one day, regular visits like this would become a cherished routine.

After yesterday's conversation with his grandfather, charlie Wade felt a bit nervous and self-conscious facing the couple.

He approached awkwardly and greeted them, "Hello, Uncle sun, Aunt Angie."

Orrin sun had long regarded charlie Wade as his own son. Patting his shoulder with a satisfied smile, he said, "Your Aunt Angie and I were just talking about when you'd come home. We didn't expect our wish to come true so soon."

Angie gently caressed Stefanie sun's face and smiled at charlie Wade. "charlie, you don't know how often your Uncle sun talks about you—more than he talks about Stefanie."

Orrin sun chuckled. "Stefanie is out performing, and while I worry about her, I know she's safe. But you, charlie, constantly face both open and hidden dangers. As an elder, how could I not worry?"

Gripping charlie Wade's arm, he smiled warmly. "Come, charlie, let's go inside and talk. I have many things to ask you."

Despite his nervousness, charlie Wade had no choice but to follow him in.

Once inside, Orrin sun invited him to sit on the sofa. The Sun family's living room had three sofas—Orrin sun and charlie Wade sat on one side, while Angie and Stefanie sun sat on the other.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7372

Orrin sun looked at charlie Wade with concern and asked, "charlie, how is your business going lately?"

charlie Wade knew Orrin sun was referring to the Po Qing Society, so he replied, "Overall, we've made some progress. Just recently, we dismantled one of their bases in Africa."

"That's great!" Orrin sun exclaimed excitedly. "As long as you keep chipping away at them, no matter how strong they are, there will come a day when you'll catch up to them—or even surpass them!"

charlie Wade sighed. "I'm afraid it won't be that easy moving forward. While in Africa, I discovered that they're implementing an internal restructuring plan. They're breaking up the families of their death warriors, using them as leverage to force loyalty to the Po Qing Society. This means persuading entire bases to surrender will be nearly impossible in the future. The only way would be mass elimination, but those death warriors... as much as their hands are stained with innocent blood, their families and children are still blameless."

Orrin sun let out a deep sigh. "If we can neither convince them to surrender nor eliminate them completely, then things will only get more complicated."

charlie Wade nodded. "Exactly. That's why I've started adjusting my strategy. For now, I won't take direct action but will rely on an AI model to monitor global movements. Once I gather more intelligence, I'll plan my next steps accordingly."

Orrin sun nodded in understanding. The reason he had urged Stefanie sun to start a family with charlie Wade was that he feared charlie Wade's path to revenge would be a long one. Given his character, charlie Wade wouldn't focus on marriage or family until the Po Qing Society was completely eradicated. If that were the case, the three-year agreement he had made with charlie Wade might become meaningless.

Back when the agreement was made, neither of them fully understood the hidden complexities of the Po Qing Society. At the time, Orrin sun had hoped to give charlie Wade three years to resolve his entanglement with Xiao Churan, assuming that once that relationship ended, charlie Wade would marry his daughter and take his rightful place as the heir of the wade family.

However, after learning about the Po Qing Society's existence, Orrin sun realized the situation was far more complicated. The organization wasn't just a personal enemy; it posed a massive threat. Understanding that he couldn't help charlie Wade eliminate the Po Qing Society, Orrin sun chose to stop mentioning the three-year agreement altogether.

He wanted to wait until charlie Wade had successfully eradicated the Po Qing Society before discussing a new timeline with him.

However, the road ahead was full of danger. Knowing his own limitations and fearing that charlie Wade might face an accident, he considered having his daughter bear charlie Wade's children first.

At first, he felt conflicted—what kind of father would have such an idea?

But when he brought it up with his wife, he was surprised to find that she fully supported him.

The Sun family owed much of its success to bruce Wade's support in the past.

Orrin sun himself had survived to this day thanks to charlie Wade's Rejuvenation Pill, which extended his life.

Meanwhile, his daughter, Stefanie sun, had been devoted to charlie Wade for many years, never wavering in her feelings.

Angie also believed it was time for the Sun family to take the initiative.

With both of them in agreement, Orrin sun entrusted the task of persuading their daughter to Angie.

During a video call, Angie subtly mentioned that her father was worried about charlie Wade's future and the possibility of losing the bloodline of bruce Wade and Lydia (Ava) (Charlie's mom ). Without hesitation, Stefanie sun immediately responded, "I'm about to retire from the entertainment industry soon. If Brother charlie Wade is willing, I can give him a child first. If he doesn't want physical contact, I'm even willing to go through IVF!"

Angie hadn't expected her daughter to take the matter so lightly.

She knew that Stefanie sun had remained chaste for charlie Wade all these years. Even in her twenties, she was still a virgin. Because of this, Angie firmly rejected the idea. She said to her daughter, "You are still a virgin—how could you go through IVF? charlie may not be able to give you an official identity or a grand wedding just yet, but as a man, he must at least give you the respect and ceremony you deserve."

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7373

Angie looked at charlie Wade in a familiar way—the more she observed her son-in-law, the more she liked him. Back when bruce Wade captivated countless wealthy ladies in Beijing, Angie had been one of his many admirers. However, her admiration for bruce Wade was more like that of a fan idolizing a celebrity rather than romantic love.

In her youth, she had witnessed bruce Wade's unmatched brilliance. Now, in recent years, she had watched charlie Wade rise to prominence. Naturally, this made her even more eager for charlie Wade to become her son-in-law. However, she also understood that charlie Wade had endured many hardships while wandering the world, and she knew she could not force anything. Instead, she hoped her daughter would at least carry on charlie Wade's bloodline.

This wasn't just about ensuring her daughter bore children for the wade family—it was more about a deeper fear. Angie worried that charlie Wade might ultimately be unable to fulfill his three-year promise. If he failed, given his character, he would likely keep his relationship with her daughter purely respectful.

That would mean her daughter would miss the chance to be with charlie Wade forever.

As a woman with life experience, she had personally seen the pain of Deana, Zayne's ex-wife, who had suffered for decades because she never got to marry Bruce Wade.

She couldn't allow her daughter to make the same mistake.

In truth, everyone understood that if Bruce Wade had ever given Deana a chance—if she had been able to give him the most precious thing a woman could—she wouldn't have spent the next 20 or 30 years in regret and sorrow.

To love someone but never have them is the cruelest fate.

Even a fleeting moment of fulfillment would ease the pain.

Had Deana borne Bruce Wade's child, Angie firmly believed she would have lived a much happier life, even if they had never married.

With this in mind, she started contemplating whether she should be upfront with Charlie Wade and tell him exactly what she was thinking.

Our sun family does not mind if our daughter becomes your mistress or even gets pregnant before marriage. For the sake of her lifelong happiness, we are willing to humble ourselves this much. We are willing to be this humble. Can you still reject us so cruelly?

After hesitating for a long time, she was just about to speak when Charlie Wade suddenly turned to Stefanie Sun and said, "By the way, Stefanie, I have some good news. I wonder if you'd be interested."

Stefanie Sun's curiosity was piqued. "Brother Charlie Wade, what good news? Tell me quickly!"

Charlie Wade smiled. "Isn't Tawana Sweet holding four concerts in Eastcliff? She found out you're back and wants to invite you as a guest performer for all four shows. Are you interested?"

Stefanie Sun's eyes lit up with excitement. "Really?! Tawana invited me as a guest?! But... why would she think of me? We're not even that familiar!"

Then, as if realizing something, she looked at Charlie Wade and asked, "Brother Charlie Wade, did you ask her to invite me?"

Charlie Wade shook his head with a smile. "No, she overheard us talking on the phone during the flight. I think she wants to get to know you better. If you'd like to do it, I can take you to meet her later. If not, I'll let her know and turn down the offer."

“I do!” Stefanie sun said excitedly. “I’ve always liked her—she’s so talented! She writes most of her own songs, which is incredible. I used to listen to her music even before I debuted. Performing on the same stage as her would be a great experience before I leave the entertainment industry.”

charlie Wade nodded. “Since you’re interested, I’ll set up a meeting with her so you two can talk.”

“Great!” Stefanie sun agreed without hesitation. “I’ll leave the arrangements to you, Brother charlie Wade!”

charlie Wade said, “Then I’ll call her now and ask if she wants to join us for breakfast.”

Angie quickly interjected, “charlie, have lunch at home later. I’ve already informed your Uncle sun.”

charlie Wade nodded and said, “Aunt Angien, don’t worry. Stefanie and I will meet with Tawana to discuss business and return in time for lunch.”

As he spoke, he recalled the old man’s instructions and added, “By the way, Aunt Angien, Uncle sun, my grandfather would like to invite your family over for dinner at our home this evening. Do you have time?”

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7374

Hearing that charlie Wade would be joining them for lunch, Angie felt her nerves ease.

Now, upon learning that Lord Wade had invited their entire family for dinner at the wade residence, she assumed the old man must be involved in this arrangement. This reassured her even more, and she replied with a smile, “Of course! Your Uncle sun and I are retired and spend most of our time at home, so we’re free. Stefanie, you just came back on vacation—you don’t have any plans, do you?”

Stefanie sun smiled and said, “I originally planned to rest until my last concert, but it looks like I’ll be busy for the next few days. Being invited as a guest performer for Tawana is such an honor, and since I’m a Eastcliff native, it feels fitting to welcome her to our city by performing alongside her.”

Angie nodded approvingly and smiled. “As long as you’re happy, Mom supports you.”

With everything arranged and no scheduling conflicts, charlie Wade took out his phone and called Tawana.

It was still early, and he wasn’t sure if Tawana was awake yet—but that didn’t concern him too much.

The phone rang for a long time before it was finally answered. Tawana's groggy voice came through the line. "Mr. Wade, why are you calling so early?"

charlie Wade chuckled. "Sorry to bother you at this hour."

"No, no, it's fine," Tawana replied, suddenly more alert. "Is there something you need?"

charlie Wade said, "I'd like to meet you at Buckingham Palace. I'll be bringing Miss Sun so we can discuss the performance."

Tawana asked in surprise, "Did Miss Sun agree?"

charlie Wade smiled. "Of course! She's excited to perform alongside you, so I wanted to finalize everything as soon as possible. Your concert is only two days away."

"Yes, yes!" Tawana said eagerly. "We need to move quickly and finalize the details—performance time, song choices, and ideally, more interactions between us on stage."

charlie Wade immediately responded, "Then we should meet as soon as possible. How about we talk now?"

Tawana chuckled. "Perfect. I just booked the presidential suite, which has a conference room. If you and Miss Sun haven't had breakfast yet, I can have someone arrange it for you. We can eat while we discuss everything."

"Sounds good," charlie Wade said decisively. "We'll head over now."

After hanging up, he turned to Stefanie sun. "Stefanie, let's go now. The sooner we discuss things, the sooner we can return for lunch."

Stefanie sun readily agreed.

Seeing charlie Wade so eager to leave, Angie grew slightly suspicious. She couldn't shake the feeling that discussing the concert was just an excuse—his real goal seemed to be escaping.

However, knowing that Old Master Wade had arranged a family dinner for the evening, she decided not to push the issue. Instead, she simply said, "Since you have things to take care of, go ahead. Your Uncle sun and I will wait for you to return for lunch."

"Okay!" charlie Wade agreed quickly and left with Stefanie sun.

Once inside the business car, charlie Wade let out a deep breath, feeling relieved.

He had been worried that Angie or Orrin sun would bring up that sensitive topic in front of him and Stefanie sun. If that happened, it would have been incredibly awkward and difficult to navigate.

For now, at least, he had managed to dodge the situation.

Just as he was feeling at ease and starting the car to leave the sun residence, Stefanie sun turned to him with a playful smile. “Brother charlie Wade, are you trying to avoid my parents?”

Stefanie sun’s words left charlie Wade feeling slightly embarrassed.

He hadn’t expected the sharp-witted Stefanie sun to see through his thoughts so effortlessly.

As he drove, he smiled and said, “I’m not exactly avoiding them. It’s just that I need to discuss business with Tawana...”

Stefanie sun shook her head with a knowing smile and said, “Brother charlie Wade, even though we haven’t seen each other in years, I still understand you.”

She didn’t spell it out, but charlie Wade knew that her heart was as clear as a mirror.

When he hesitated to respond, Stefanie sun spoke again. “Brother charlie Wade, there’s no need to overthink things. Priorities matter, and a slight delay won’t change much.”

charlie Wade nodded slightly and sighed. “It’s just that the elders seem a bit anxious.”

Stefanie sun replied seriously, “They’re worried—especially about the possibility of failure. But I’m not like them. I have no worries at all.”

charlie Wade smiled and asked, “Are you really that confident in me?”

“Of course!” Stefanie sun answered without hesitation.

She had always trusted charlie Wade unconditionally.

If charlie Wade ever told her that the earth was square, she wouldn’t suspect him of lying. Instead, she would believe he had the power to make it so.

charlie Wade was touched and said, “Stefanie, since you believe in me, then give me a little more time.”

“Okay!” Stefanie sun smiled warmly. “I’ll wait for you, no matter how long it takes. And if I grow old or fall ill and can’t wait any longer, Brother charlie Wade can just give me a few rejuvenation pills. I’ll take them while waiting for you.”

charlie Wade felt even more moved—and a little ashamed.

What virtues or abilities did he possess to make Stefanie sun think about him for so many years?

Although Stefanie sun trusted him completely and believed he would emerge victorious, charlie Wade couldn’t help but feel a sense of unease.

Sara had lived for more than 400 years—he had never encountered such an existence before.

For now, he remained in the shadows, temporarily avoiding direct confrontation, so there wasn’t much pressure.

But once he faced Sara, he feared he would stand no chance of winning.

So, he couldn’t help but ask Stefanie sun, “Stefanie, if one day I’m killed by the people of Poqinghui, will you be able to let go and move on?”

“No,” Stefanie sun shook her head and said firmly. “If Brother charlie Wade dies and my parents are still alive, I will stay by your grave on Yeling Mountain. When my parents grow old, I will follow you, and the Ye family can bury us together.”

“That’s a bit extreme, don’t you think?” charlie Wade blurted out. “It’s the 21st century—dying for love isn’t exactly in fashion anymore.”

Stefanie sun muttered, “Who said anything about dying for love? I just wouldn’t have any motivation to go on. In my life, aside from my parents and Brother charlie Wade, there’s nothing else I care about. If all of you are gone, living would only be suffering.”

charlie Wade stopped the car at a red light, turned to her seriously, and said, “Stefanie, I need you to promise me something, okay?”

Stefanie sun nodded. “Brother charlie Wade, tell me.”

charlie Wade spoke solemnly, “I don’t even know the true strength of the enemies I’m up against. If one day I die unexpectedly, I want you to take Uncle sun and Aunt Angie somewhere safe, where they can live well. I’ll prepare enough rejuvenation pills in advance so you can stay with them for as long as possible.”

After a brief pause, Charlie Wade continued, "And when they eventually pass away from old age, I want you to keep living. With the rejuvenation pill, you can easily live to 150. Even if people find out, it won't be too shocking."

"I don't want that!" Stefanie shook her head stubbornly. "Without you and my parents, living would be nothing but torture. Even if I could live to 150, I'd still have to spend more than 20 years alone after they're gone."
