

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7439

“No,” Stefanie sun snorted, then added seriously, “She’s the third party who interfered, but I’m not bothered by her.”

“Okay, okay, okay,” charlie Wade replied, knowing there was no winning an argument with Stefanie sun on this topic.

If it came down to who knew him first, Stefanie sun would insist she had known him since childhood—long before Claire entered the picture.

If it came down to legal marriage, she’d say that nothing outweighed the will of their parents and the matchmaker’s arrangements; in her eyes, legal marriage didn’t matter.

No matter what, this girl was always right.

More importantly, charlie Wade knew he was in the wrong, so arguing was pointless.

So he surrendered and said, “If you say she’s Miss Claire, then she’s Miss Claire. I’ve been away from home for days—it’s time I head back.”

Stefanie sun didn’t make things difficult and said, “Then I’ll take you to the airport.”

charlie Wade replied, “I’ll take you home first and then drive myself. I’ll leave the car at the airport and Isaac Cameron will send someone to pick it up.”

Stefanie sun said, “Then I’ll take you to the airport and drive the car back myself!”

charlie Wade had no choice. It was already past nine, and the last regular flight to Aurous Hill that night was at eleven. If he rushed, he could still make it. If he missed check-in, the Ye family would have to arrange a private jet.

While private jets were convenient, their unlisted landing times could raise suspicion.

Claire could easily check that no flights landed during that time, and with the high-speed rail also shut down at night, it would raise the question—how exactly did charlie Wade return?

To avoid complications, charlie Wade said, “Okay, let’s go to the airport together. But I’ll ask Lao Chen to arrange a helicopter to take you home from the airport. I don’t want you driving alone—it’s not safe.”

“It’s fine,” Stefanie sun smiled. “As long as I can see you off at the airport!”

Meanwhile, back in Aurous Hill, Claire noticed in the live broadcast that the mysterious male dancer had left the stage.

So she waited a few minutes, then called charlie Wade again.

His phone was still sitting on the dressing room table.

At that moment, the phone suddenly rang, and the incoming call screen replaced the previous missed call notification.

charlie Wade had no idea Claire had called earlier while he was on stage performing.

He quickly gestured to Stefanie sun to be quiet, lowered his voice, and answered the call with a smile. "Claire."

Claire's heart sank, and she immediately felt a bit flustered.

She asked, "Honey, what are you doing?"

charlie Wade replied, "I'm just about to head to the airport."

"To the airport?" Claire was surprised. "Why are you going to the airport at this hour? Isn't the show still going on?"

charlie Wade said, "My part is done. There happens to be a flight back to Aurous Hill tonight, so I'm planning to leave now and catch it."

Claire's uneasiness deepened.

"What's really going on here?"

"Is charlie Wade actually the mysterious male dancer?"

"Why didn't he answer my call when the dancers were still on stage?"

"And just a few minutes after the dancer left the stage, he suddenly picks up?"

"On top of that, the dancer is flying to Aurous Hill right after the performance... isn't that timing a little too perfect?"

"Could it be... could the mysterious male dancer who's been all over Tawanna for the past four days really be... him?!"