

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7589

The commander-in-chief on the other end of the phone felt like he was not feeling well.

What he hated most was the feeling of hitting someone with a big stick, and just when he was about to smash his opponent's head and make him bleed, the big stick suddenly turned into air.

The President couldn't understand why Bernard Elno dared to challenge his authority and asked him to fine him 50 billion US dollars.

It feels like threatening someone and slapping them in the face for not listening, but instead of begging for mercy, they ask you to shoot them to death.

Furious and embarrassed, he still regarded Bernard Elno's sincerity as a provocation, so he said coldly: "Okay, I understand Elno, you think you are a hero now, that I dare not do anything to you, and you don't have to be afraid of anything, but don't worry, I will make you pay the price!"

After saying that, he gritted his teeth and hung up the phone, immediately calling out to his staff: "Find a way to strengthen Bernard Elno's group and see if we can reasonably and effectively increase its tariffs. Once the White Horse Island incident has passed, we'll find a way to exploit his group. Ideally, fine him a large sum! I want him to suffer!!!"

One of the chubby, bearded guys spoke up, "Sir, the whole world is watching Bernard Arnold right now. If we rashly impose tariffs on his industries or investigate his group, it's easy for the outside world to think we're deliberately retaliating for the White Horse Island incident and the Blackwater incident. So I think we should wait for now."

"Wait? I can't wait even a little bit!" The commander-in-chief smoothed his smooth bangs and said through gritted teeth, "This old bastard didn't even give me the slightest bit of respect and even had the audacity to ask me to fine him $50 billion! I really can't issue a $50 billion fine, but at least he should be fined $500 million, right?"

The bearded man was silent for a moment, then spoke, "Why don't we pass a bill calling on the American people to minimize unnecessary luxury spending? To achieve this goal, we'll raise tariffs on all luxury goods, whether they're from France, Italy, or even Britain. As long as they're luxury goods, the tax will be increased by 50%."

"If anyone asks us why we're doing this, we say that luxury goods from Europe are draining the wallets of the American people. Americans should use their money to buy industrial products produced by our own manufacturing industry and make America great again, rather than using their hard-earned money to buy European-made junk luxury goods that are only one-fiftieth of the actual value.”

The President’s eyes lit up. “That’s a good idea. After all, our supporters are all ordinary working-class people. Those high-income people not only don’t vote for us, but they also mock us all day long on social media. I can use this opportunity to give them a slap in the face.”

On the other side, after Bernard Elno hung up the call with the President, he felt extremely refreshed both physically and mentally.

He was like a player who found a bug in an online game to gain experience points, and he found the highest-level Boss to gain experience points. Now he was just waiting for the moment when his experience points would soar and the best equipment would be dropped.

Seeing him look so smug after mocking the President of the United States, his wife couldn’t help but complain, “I advise you not to get too carried away with being a hero. You’re going against the President of the United States for your ridiculous sense of justice. If he really sanctions you, you’ll lose at least hundreds of millions of dollars a year, or even more.”

“What do you know?” Bernard Arno snorted and laughed. Summer insects cannot talk about ice. His wife didn’t know about the rejuvenation pill. If she knew, she would definitely be crazier than him. After all, the money she spent on maintenance every year was already an astronomical figure.

So, he closed his eyes, crossed his legs, and thought to himself smugly, “This time when I go to America, I’m going to give the President a hard time!”

While Bernard was still flying over the ocean, the sunrise of a new day arrived on White Horse Island in the Maldives.

Today is charlie’s family’s last day on Baima Island.

According to the plan, they were to check out at noon and take a seaplane back to the capital Male. Then Elaine and Jacob would go to Dubai, and he and Claire would take an international flight back to China.

Elaine was naturally reluctant to leave.

The scenery here is beautiful and the climate is pleasant. Compared with the freezing cold weather in China and the hot and dry climate in Dubai, it is simply too great.

Fortunately, she now has a lot of US dollars in her hands, and the various shopping malls in Dubai still have great appeal to her.

As they were about to leave, Claire felt a little lonely. In her opinion, this trip to Maldives was her first and last time traveling with charlie.

After returning, I will be ready to leave him.

charlie noticed that she was in a low mood, and asked with special concern: "Wife, are you reluctant to leave? How about we stay here for a few more days?"

Claire forced a smile, shook his head and said, "No need. No matter how reluctant you are, you have to leave. After all, this is just a stop on our journey, not our life."

charlie couldn't hear the deep meaning in her words, he just smiled and said: "If you want to come in the future, we can come anytime."

charlie felt that Baima Island and JD Island would soon become industries under his actual control. Although he could not tell Claire, he could find various reasons to bring her here often.

So, he deliberately lowered his voice and said mysteriously, "Wife, I heard that the boss of this group also believes in Feng Shui. I'll ask Miss Sweet to help introduce him. Maybe I can get the position of Feng Shui Director here in the future."

After hearing what he said, Claire smiled even more reluctantly and helplessly.

Thinking of Tawanna, she asked curiously, "Miss Sweet is also on the island. You've been her Feng Shui director for so long. You two haven't met since she came to the island, right? We're going back today, so we have to say hello to her."

charlie has been trying his best to avoid meeting Tawanna with his wife, but what Claire said at this moment is human nature. According to the relationship between the characters he had laid out before, he and Tawanna have worked together. The two of them happened to land on the same island. It would be a bit unreasonable if they didn't meet to say hello.

So, he asked Claire: "Wife, why don't we go meet Miss Sweet together, say a few words to her, and then we'll go back."

Claire shook his head and said, "I won't make trouble anymore. Go and say hello to her."

charlie said: "If you don't go, then there's no point in me going alone. Why don't we just leave and not let her know we've been here?"

"Forget it." Claire said seriously, "It's such a great fate that two people can meet at the same time on a small island thousands of kilometers away. It's really not appropriate not to say hello. If they find out later, they will definitely blame you for being unkind. You go ahead. I'm just packing up in my room."
